Good Taste Determines Best Fashion

Certainly with the urgency of our times and the great speed with which everything, including ourselves, is forced to move, no one will be fool-hardy enough to be hampered by too-long, voluminous skirts, oversized hats and sleeves and Victorian ruffles and laces.

If we must change—and change we must—then let's have the clothes that are right for 1948 rather than those of 1868, 78, 88, 98, 1900. Most women want clothes to "do something" for them, to be functional and to be suited to their way of life. Most American women do not feel up to making a "production" of going to market.

Also, with shortages of fabrics of all types, too much fabric is as poor taste as filling your plate with meat when there is a shortage. It is time for women to use common sense and take a look at ourselves, find out how tall, how wide or how slim we are and balance our figures. If our shoulders look badly rounded, then we should keep them moderately square. If we need long jackets, then let us wear five gored skirts or pleated skirts.

If we can wear flared coats and swirl skirts, by all means we should wear them.

Find the skirt length that looks just right and then stick to it. If you can wear a pretty hat and veil, wear it. If you can't have have your hat made to suit your profile.

Gloves, bags and shoes are very important. They too are so much better when geared to the wearer's scale than when oversized.

Taste is more important than style. Fashion is not to be followed blindly. It is like a table of hors d'oeuvres. Take the things that you can use to make you more attractive and better dressed to your type.

Don't risk being ridiculous because you think you are in fashion. Well dressed women select and balance and weigh. They coordinate their clothes and accessories and also spend less by so doing. Don't waste anything and give away everything you cannot use.

Of Interest to Women

Wear Slip Cover Skirt To Revi 1947 Dress

With spring just around the corner, women will be thinking about spring housecleaning and new slip covers and this sets me to thinking why not slip covers for women the same as for furniture?

Slip covers which can be worn over last year's dresses to give them a 1948 look. The most important slip cover idea is the slip cover skirt . . . or overskirt. This can be gathered, or gored, or pleated or circular.

These skirts can tie or button in back or front. These of course, are for the dress that is too short but has a becoming top. You can add a matching scarf, but be sure that both scarf or cape button or tie at the same spot. If the skirt butons in back, your scarf should button or tie in back. For the solid color dress you can make your overskirt out of one of the lovely pure silk prints once again available. Of you can select chintz, chaille, embroided eyelet organdy. For a print dress your overskirt can be of solid colored silk, linen, net organdy or any number of other materials.

Then there are the dresses which can be lengthened but the top is out of style or unbecoming. The slip cover treatment here is the revival of the cape (pleated or plain), shawl, scarf, fichu, stole, poncho or sari. Tie thing around your shoulders in bright colors to restore life to some dress gone dull. The stores are full of beautiful and inxpensive pure silk scarves these days, and scarves can be used not only around the neck or shoulders but also draped around the hips or cascading from your belt.

The slip cover theme can be extended even to accessories and the newest thing is the slip cover for your big envelope bags. If you don't have a big envelope bag, buy an inexpensive one and make slip covers in different materials to match your scarves or overskirts.

Mona Freeman started rehearsals for her next picture six weeks after her baby arrived so she has had no time for shopping. We took one of her favorite dresses from last year — a blue gray crepe — and made a very full gathered skirt of blue and white silk crepe sewed onto a wide blue grosgrain sash to wear over it. A three-cornered scarf of the same material knotted at the back of the neck, because the skirt ties in back, gives a bib effect in front.

When Florence Marly, the beautiful European actress arrived in Hollywood she had an ample wardrobe for street and informal wear, but she needed an at-home dress. So we pleated two full lengths of cocoa and gold lame and sewed it on a black velvet band. This she wears over a simple long-sleeved black dress. We repeated the color at her neck by making a Windsor tie of the same lame.

Then there is the suntan silk jersey dinner dress which Donna Reed thought was dull. We talked her into making a huge overskirt of suntan net, tied in back to form a bustle. We tucked a net muffler into the plan neckline, and the result is an enchantingly feminine evening dress at little cost.

No Person Wants Destructive Lambikins in Their Home

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I love all children, but my experience with them has made it so that I can hardly welcome children in my house because of the destruction parents allow them to practice. Recently a 4-year-old crawled through the bottom of a valuable piece of my furniture, breaking it beyond repairs. A larger boy managed to play with everything he could reach and broke three things that I had treasured for years, in spite of my efforts to avoid the happening.

Dorothy Dix

His parents looked on without even trying to stop the vandalism. If these parents could only know how people dread having children come to their homes because of the depredations they commit, they might do something about the problem. For it is nonsense to say that youngsters cannot be taught to respect other people's property. They can, as is proven by many children who behave like little ladies and gentlemen instead of savages.

ANSWER: So say we all, for there are few of us, if any, who do not have memories that blister and burn of when somebody's darling little imp and its mother made us a visit, and left behind a room that was a wreck—a rare book with its back torn off, a broken carved chair where little Cuteyums played horsey, curtains torn from their hanging, milk spilt all over a newly unholstered couch.

Unconcerned Mother

I still remember, after thirty years, of a fond mother reaching up and taking down a costly Parisian marble statuete from the mantel and giving it to a fretful child to play with, who in the space of five minutes, had reduced the ornament to smithereems. Yet the mothers only comment was: "oh, did you break the pretty doily?"

Yet I have known other children who were a joy and delight to have in your house because they had been taught not to touch other peoples' belongings, and to respect nice things, which, by the way, is the foundation stone of culture and refinement.

Of course, it takes time and worry and unceasing viligance to teach children how to behave when they go abroad, but if mothers are not willing to make that effort, they should leave the youngsters where they can break the cups and saucers, and saw the legs off the sofa, without getting in other peoples' hair.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged to a boy seven months and we feel that we are ready to get married, but my mother thinks that we should wait until June. We have discussed this matter and have come to the conclusion that we will go ahead and get married without my mother's consent.

What would be the proper way of preparing for such a wedding? Could we go ahead with wedding plans and have our friends and relatives present at the ceremony? Or would it be better just to have two people as witnesses?

F.J.R.

ANSWER: It seems perfectly foolish for your mother to upset all of your wedding plans by insisting on your being married in that month that makes it preferable to any other month. But the fight she has made against it is robbing your wedding of the romance and glamour it should have.

There is no reason, apparently, why your wedding should not follow the traditional plans for weddings nor why you should cut it down to just having two persons as witnesses, which would certainly give rise to a lot of gossip.

DEAR DOROTHY: I am a young married woman with one child by a previous marriage. My present husband is a very nice person, kind to me and my son. But lately I have found out that he has been married before and is not divorced from his first wife. This has made me lack confidence in him.

What shall I do? Shall I continue to live with him? I hate to break up my home which might cause my child suffering. What SHALL I do?

UNDECIDED

ANSWER: Did you go through a marriage ceremony with this Number Two Husband? If so, he is a double-dyed villain, because he took advantage of your ignorance to enter into a relationship with you that is not recognized by the law. He knows, even if you do not, that it is the marriage license that makes a marriage legal. Otherwise, you are living in sin, as the old phrase goes.

Have a frank talk with your husband and find out why he didn't get a divorce and why he deceived you into a mock marriage. If he cannot clear himself leave him at once, even if it does work hardship on your child.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, March 20

PARTICULARLY auspicious stellar activities give impetus to ambitions and high objectives, with the strength and stimulation to forge ahead to heights of desired hopes and wishes. An astute and determined effort in such direction, with well-planned tactics and execution should find it not difficult to get reinforcement from superiors, employers of other important collaborators.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves keyed to advanced ambitions, with lofty goals in sight, and the concentrated energy and initiative to attain cherished plans and objectives. Such show of initiative and enterprise are bound to attract substantial cooperation from potent and willing sources. Go after it with zeal and confidence. Many things conspire to promote and help attainment.

A child born on this day has sound and high ambitions which it should reach by its own efficiency, reinforced by the interest of authority and power.

Hats Were Never So Lovely Plenty of Flora and Fauna

Fragile, feminine hats designed to make the plainest Jane look pretty are the perfect complement to the already firmly-established "look" of Fashion 1948. With snug bodices, short-and-simple hairdos and softer, longer skirts, designers prescribe demure little bonnets, sailors and cloches for women of all ages. But especially for post-Easter afternoons and evenings, there is a nostalgic return to the frankly beautiful picture hat that so effectively balances the full, flowing skirt.

The subtle difference between the small, flowered hat of the new season and those seen earlier is its forward-moving line. Crowns continue to fit comfortably to the head and brims are narrower at the sides but extending forward from just above the hairline. At the nape, the brim is either turned up Watteau-fashion or cut away completely.

The profile-flattering side tilt in bonnets, toques and pillboxes is high on the hit parade of popular-priced hat fashions and will undoubtedly continue through the summer months. But even in their softly rippling picture hats, most of the name designers prefer the simple, straightforward pose of the head-fitting round crown.

The flowers and the flower-toned ribbons, straws, felts and veilings of this Easter season are exquisite. Pastels are beguiling. They may be deep-toned or the most delicates tints. Pinks, mauves, orchid and periwinkle blues are marvelously lovely and many bonnets are trimmed with silk roses, fragile lilac blossoms, honeysuckle and lilies of the valley. Apricot, buttercup, jonquil and tangerine are among the soft sunny shades that also look wonderful with spring navy, grey and black costumes, as well as with harmoninzing pastels.

Sailors, worn on the hariline rather than on the back of the head, may be simply tailored or flowered, and feminine. Veils and scarves increase the softly feminine charm of hat silhouettes. Dainty laces are used on straws or to make entire hats, as are petticoats ruffles of embroidery or lacy straw.

Petrillo Lifts Embargo Musicians On Television

NEW YORK, March 19 — (AP). — Toscanini will come to television under a three-year agreement reached yesterday by James C. Petrillo and the networks on employment of radio musicians. The agreement ends the three-year-old ban by Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, on performances by union members for television.

It also guarantees that there will be no walkout by network musicians on March 31, when a 60-day extension of the old radio contract expires.

Television broadcasters hailed the agreement as a boon for their industry and immediately started planning shows with live music. Under the ban, television had been limited to recordings for instrumental music.

Frank E. Mullen, executive vice-president of the National Broadcasting Co., said the NBC eastern television network would tee off with a telecast of Arturo Toscanini's concert Saturday. Television cameras will be trained on Toscanini and the NBC Symphony Orchestra during their regular radio broadcast.

Petrillo himself may be the first member of his union to perform of television after the lifting of the ban. At the meeting at which the agreement was announced, Petrillo tooted a few bars on a trumpet presented to him by Mullen. His brief performance was recorded on an NBC television newsreel for use tomorrow night.

The contract provided for a three-year continuation of present wage scales and quotas of musicians employed by the radio networks and network-owned stations. Petrillo had asked for higher pay and employment of more musicians.

On the other hand, Petrillo got a commitment from the networks not to reduce their employment of musicians.

MORE ABOUT—

Secret Orders

Techniques Are Explained

S-units should consist of from three to five "triple-tested activists". Comrades in S-units should ostensibly sever all connections with the party. Their task is to find the most vulnerable link in the process of production or transport and strike when it is needed most by the class enemy.

Use of fire and explosives should be limited to centrally-planned, large-scale operations. Instructors will train special groups in explosives use. Expert chemists should be sought as consultants in the construction of incendiary bombs, etc.

For sabotaging machinery, useful materials are ground glass, sand, grit, cement, steel filings, etc., mixed with lubricants or inserted into engine cylinders. A pailful of sand, correctly applied, is sufficient to disable a factory, warship or the largest liner, necessitating days or weeks for repair.

Cargoes of wheat, soybeans, etc., soaked with water, will swell and burst the sides of the strongest ships. Water in coal bunkers or cargoes often will cause spontaneous combustion. Heavy machinery and locomotives, lashed to decks, may be loosened to roll about and smash a ship. Disable refrigeration, or douse with coal oil or fuel oil, to make meat cargoes unfit for human consumption.

Wheels and brake systems may be damaged to slow or stop rail transport. Other ways are to saw through the connections between cars, remove rails, wreck tracks by blasts and trains by barriers, and when possible desynchronize signal systems.

More From Communist Files

These are only a few examples of many. However, they serve to indicate what chaos a comparatively small group of desperate, disciplined, determined men could create in a time of emergency.

Further instructions, this time issued only to Communist subleaders, are contained in 32 single spaced typewritten sheets that not long ago reposed in the secret file of one of Canada's big-city Red headquarters. Out of the manuscript, which contains nearly 20,000 words, the following paragraphs and sentences are quoted at random.

"One of the members of the (Action) Committee should undertake the duty of the organization of proletarian self-defence . . . During recent demonstrations . . . when the police attacked them they (the demonstrators) did not know how to resist . . . In many cases the comrades . . . defended themselves with stones . . . But again here is evidence . . . showing that our comrades don't know how to throw stones . . . But if meanwhile members of proletarian self-defence organizations systematically train themselves in throwing stones and set themselves to the aim, let us say, of each evening when they finish work and each morning, instead of going through gymnastic exercises, throwing stones at a target 25 paces away, we can say beforehand that in two weeks the results of such a training on any attack would be quite different."

"Besides flats for reporting points, link flats are also needed for communication by letter, and these flats must in no case coincide. And finally, there must be flats for the sheltering of illegal comrades, comrades whom the police are looking for, comrades who have escaped from prison, etc., etc. . . . When it was necessary to shelter comrades hiding from the police in Czechoslovakia and France, very great difficulties occurred . . . It is essential for all (comrades) to occupy themselves with the 'housing' problem."

Legal and Illegal Work

"All legal parties are now under the greatest responsibility in respect to the creation and strengthening of an illegal party apparatus. All of them must immediately undertake measures to have within the legally existing party committees an illegal directing core . . . Prominent leaders of the Communist Party must have the possibility of quickly passing underground at the necessary moment, must have the necessary living accommodation for this, must have facilities for quickly changing their name and all other means of swiftly avoiding the pursuits of the police so that the police should look for them in quite a different direction to the one in which they have gone."

"The experience of the —— strike must be definitely learned by all Communists, as it gives an excellent example of how in circumstances of complete underground work, the party can in an open way create mass non-party organizations, which then turn into a powerful lever for the direction of thousand-strong movements of the proletarian masses, even when there is a numerically weak party organization."

So much for a wordy monograph for the instruction of revolutionaries within Canada, the author of which displays a much greater familiarity with the techniques of violence and conspiratorial destruction than with the more graceful nuances of the English language.

Here is a third document worthy of notice, which treats of a subject that goes back to a period of emergency long before our present one. It is a confidential report of the behind-the-scenes machinery of the general strike which, in 1919, completely immobilized the city of Winnipeg.

Inspired by Communists

The Winnipeg general strike—the most serious in Canadian labor history—was brought about by the One Big Union movement, two years before the Communist Party of Canada was organized at a secret meeting in a barn near Guelph, Ontario.

In everything but name, however, it was a Communist strike, aimed at setting an example for other cities to follow with the final intent of usurping the powers of the Canadian government. It was inspired by the success of the Communist revolutions in Russia and Germany, and was led by men following the rules laid down by Karl Marx, most of whom later became members of the Communist Party.

For six weeks the city was paralyzed industrially and commercially. The strike committee called out members of the fire department, the high pressure water department, the health department and the light and power workers. Telephone and postal service ceased. All civic services were disrupted and there were breadlines in the streets. The police force remained on duty, but only under strike committee orders.

Strike leaders permitted a few necessary activities, such as deliveries of milk and bread, but had not yet got the city running smoothly when a series of riots and clashes with the police finally brought the business to an end and the leaders to prison.

But the point this writer wants to bring out is contained in the following direct quotation from the report:

"Lenin himself had expressed great admiration for the spirit displayed by the workers of Winnipeg and Western Canada generally and characterized the event as one of the greatest single manifestations of labor solidarity ever witnessed.

"He attributed the failure of the strike to the sentimentality of its leaders, to a lack of ruthlessness, and claimed the leaders made a great error by giving in when the bourgeoisie begged for 'milk for our babies.' This acquiescence proved fatal; it provided the thin end of the wedge and marked the beginning of the end.

"The milk bottle, Lenin maintained, played a very great role in the downfall of the strike."

Communists never fail to proattempt to take over a Canadian fit by their mistakes as well as their victories. When next they city, or all of Canada, they are not likely to give way again to senitimentality or a lack of ruthlessness. It is not likely there will be any answer to pleas for "milk for our babies."

When men are gambling for undisputed control of all the wealth and power in the world, they won't let a milk bottle get in their way.

Tomorrow — What are the circumstances that enable Communism to flourish in Canada?

WIDOW REFUSES TO PAY INCOME TAX—Because she is a pacifist and a Quaker, bed-ridden 74-year-old Mrs. Caroline Urie, Yellow Spring, Ohio, above, refuses to pay income tax to the federal government which would be used for war purposes. Mrs. Urie, who is partially crippled with arthritis, sent the U.S. government 65.4 per cent of her tax and sent the remaining 34.6 to non-profit pacifist organizations. The bureau of internal revenue declined to comment.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

NOT A BIG SLAM PLAY

EVERY fancy play which may be used to make a grand slam or small slam is also applicable to lower contracts. That is true even of the most intricate squeeze among all of the standard types—the progressive or repeated squeeze, the kind of squeeze whereby you make not one but two additional tricks blossom where no tricks existed before. It is performed by squeezing the same defender twice.

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl
1 ♠	Dbl	Pass	2 ♦
2 ♥	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 ♦	Pass	3 NT

Boy, oh, boy, what bidding for combative kibitzers to note—especially West's pass of the No Trump game for fear that a double would scare his opponents into a well-fitting diamond contract. The instant project seemed easy to beat.

Getting no encouragement from his partner's discards, West raked in the heart K, Q and A, then switched to the club K.

South happened to be a very fine and thoughtful player, Harry Lees, of St. Louis, president of the Mid-West Bridge Conference. Knowing his squeezes, he played low and let the K win the first club, then came in with his A on the J.

It was pretty to see what he then did to West. He scored the diamond Q, K and A, the heart 10 and then the diamond J, on which West had to discard. He had pared down to the spade K-Q, heart 9 and club Q. Fearing that a spade discard would set up all the dummy if South had the J, and knowing a toss of the heart 9 would establish South's 8, he threw the club Q, hoping East had the 10. But South had it and laid it down. See how that squeezed West again, in the majors. Clinging to his heart 9 over the 8, he discarded the spade Q in the hope that East had the J. The spade J to the A then felled the K, and the spade 10 gave the brilliant declarer the final trick.

Either South's failure to hold up his club A on the fourth trick, or a spade shift by West on the fifth would have made the beautiful finishing play impossible.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

How should North play at 3-No Trumps following the club 4 lead?

SUPPORT RETURN OF TRIESTE TO ITALY

LOCAL FLOOD MENACE—Bottom ice that came down Jackson Park Creek Friday afternoon on the rushing flood of an all-day rain was prevented from jamming at low "street-bridge" crossings by the Parks department personnel using dynamite to keep the floes moving. The nasty looking ice field above shows crowds watching it from the Hunter St. overpass. The view is looking south toward Hunter.

Ontario Rivers On Rampage Damage to Run Into Millions

With creeks and rivers around Toronto taking on that "new spring look", smaller localities in the district are looking to their waterways and manning banks to keep the ice floes moving to prevent flood damage. Peterborough's own Jackson Creek that trickles through the city for most of the year rose up in all its might Friday, assisted by an all-day rain, .87 inches.

There were some tense moments in the afternoon as Parks Department employees worked hard to keep ice from jamming the overpass "bridges" on Hunter St. W., and again at the creek's outlet at Townsend St. They kept the ice rolling with poles and dynamite and this morning with the sun trying to break through the low foggy overcast, the black flood is sweeping down into Little Lake to swell Father Otonabee. Two small creeks west of the Filtration plant in the north end have doing their best to run over the right-of-way, but the Department of Highways have sandbagged the flows into the west ditch and things to date are under control in that section.

Out in Millbrook creeks are running higher than usual but staying within the banks. The best water "display" is below the flume at Atwooll's and Sheppard's mill. The King St. creek came close to the top of the cement revetments to a new high of five feet and overflowed onto the flats below Tupper and Bank St. properties. A couple of places on the county road, between Highway 28 and the village were covered with water from water-choked ditches on Friday morning but by evening the road was dry again.

Ganaraska Behaves

Port Hope's Ganaraska River is proving a disappointment by behaving itself for the first time in years and staying within bounds. J. R. Record, Fire Chief, reports this morning that the water is three feet higher than former spring flood levels but lack of ice and jamming, so far, has kept the water racing to Lake Ontario. He says that merchants and riverside residents are not worrying about quick evacuation this year although from past experience, they are keeping an eye on the river level, just in case. There may be ructions yet, as bottom ice is still anchored above the File factory dam and again to the north at Garden Hill and Canton dams.

LONDON, Ont., March 20 (CP). — The almost ice-less Thames river continued on its rampage today spilling over its banks at St. Marys, 25 miles northwest of here, and threatened to overflow its bangs at both Ingersoll and London before noon.

On London's west side sewers were reported backing up and flooding cellars. On the northern outskirts of the city, several farm homes and barns were surrounded by water. Animals had to be removed to higher land for safety. Partially inundated centres included Listowel, Mitchell, Clinton, Wingham and Grand Valley.

Rail service between London and Clinton was suspended last night after a Canadian National Railways bridge was flooded. Passengers on buses travelling between Wingham and London were stranded near Clinton.

Missing and believed drowned in the ice-filled Thames were three Nicholls brothers, Peter, 28, Charles, 20, and Cedric, 9 They were swept downstream on a half-built raft and an eight-hour search revealed no trace of them.

Swollen by heavy rains and the first rush of the spring run-off, the ice-laden stream raced so swiftly toward Lake Erie that their flood crests caught most communities along their banks unawares. Muddy water rolled into dozens of houses and many persons were marooned until rescuers in rowboats reached them.

Listowel, in North Perth county, had the worst flood in its 96-year history as the Maitland river sent five feet of water down business streets. The flood split the town into two sections linked only by a C.N.R. bridge. The town hospital was reported without heat after electric motors in the basement became soaked.

Riots Sweep Rome

ROME, March 20 (AP)—One person was reported killed and 10 wounded near Naples yesterday when Communists fought young Government Party members. Violence also broke out in Rome and other parts of Italy as parties speeded up their campaigning for the April 18 election. Communism is the prime issue. The fatal clash occurred as Communists were reported to have tried to break up a St. Joseph's Day parade of Christian Democratic Party youths at Castlelamaire di Stabia, south of Naples.

Canadian Wins $40,000 On Sweep

AINTREE, Lancs., Eng., March 20—(AP).—Sheila's Cottage won the 102nd running of the Grand National Steeplechase today.

First of the Dandies, a leader through most of the race, was second.

Cromwell, owned and ridden by Lord Mildway, was third.

Silver Fame, the 8 to 1 betting favorite, owned by Lord Bicester, fell the first time around at Becher's Brook, the treacherous water jump and hedge.

Sella's Cottage, a 50 to 1 shot, owned by J. Proctor, won by a length over First of the Dandies.

At least one Canadian will become considerably richer as a result of the 102nd running of the Grand National Steeplechase today—F. Hampshire of 1220 Fort Street, Montreal. He held an Army and Navy sweepstake ticket on Sheila's Cottage, winner of the most testing event ever devised for jumping horses, and it is reported that his winnings will be about $40,000.

Only numbers of ticket holders in the large Irish Hospital sweepstakes were published and to date no Canadian holders on the winner in the overseas draw have made their identities known. No Canadians have come forward as holders of tickets in either sweep on the second and third horses respectively, First of the Dandies and Cromwell.

Tornado Rips Across Windsor

WINDSOR, March 20—(CP)—Its business section ripped by a 57-mile-an-hour storm which left at least 12 persons injured, this city today set about estimating damage expected to run to several thousand dollars.

The city's worst windstorm since the tornado of June, 1946, yesterday shattered plate glass windows, toppled chimneys and punched in the front of an apartment building. Heavy rain lashed terrified citizens as they picked their way to shelter.

As residents hurried out to inspect damage left by this whiplash of an Illinois tornado's wake, they were warned a second storm was on its way. However, the late disturbance swung away from this Essex County community although strong winds blew for several hours.

Cripple Wishes For Peace

Foregoes Wish To Regain Health

NEW YORK, March 20—(CP).—Elliot Sprechman, 17-year-old crippled High School student, would not choose to walk if one miracle could be performed for him.

Yesterday his wish for a miracle to bring peace to the world won him a $500 Savings Bond in a contest entered by more than 6,000 High School children who wrote about "The Modern Miracle I Would Like To See."

Elliot, who has suffered from infantile paralysis since infancy wrote:

"I am tempted to wish for a modern miracle to take the shape of a return to health for me so that I could walk and run the way my friends do. However, after reading each morning's newspapers I forget my disability and wish for a modern miracle that will fulfill the aims of a 1,900-year-old miracle - maker named Jesus of Nazareth.

"The modern miracle I would most like to see is the union of people everywhere in the world in a true brotherhood that will bring light and peace into the lives of all men everywhere and for all time."

7 States Hit, 50 Perish In Tornadoes

Hundreds Homeless As Gales Flatten Entire Communities

CHICAGO, March 20 (AP). — The death toll mounted to more than 50 today in the series of tornadoes and destructive gales which whipped across wide sections of the United States yesterday and extended into southwestern Ontario. No deaths were reported in Canada.

The wave of destruction in the United States left more than 300 injured. Hundreds were homeless. Proprty damage was in the millions.

The storms, striking on the last official day of winter, hit hardest in southwestern Illinois near St. Louis, where 41 were repected killed. The storm crest formed in Texas Thursday night and moved northeastward. Small tornadoes struck sections of Oklahoma and Kansas Thursday night but the twister swept with devastating force yesterday in southern Illinois.

The tornadoes or damaging winds fanned across sections of Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Kansas, Pennsylvania and New York, then moved northeastward into Canada.

Four persons were killed in Ohio. Two others lost their lives in Kentucky, two in Missouri and one each in Michigan, Pennsylvania and New York.

An allotment of $250,000 was made by the American Red Cross to aid victims in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio.

Homes, stores, factories, schools and churches fell before the smashing attack of the tornadoes and gale-like winds. Drenching rains throughout the storm belt added to the suffering and damage. Some towns in Illinois were isolated. Travel was impeded and communications disrupted in many areas.

Four small communities in Illinois suffered the heaviest damage in loss of life and property and in the number injured.

In Bunker Hill, about 80 per cent of the town of 1,500 was flattened. The Red Cross said the death toll was 19—the most in any of the towns smashed by the tornadoes. Property damage was estimated at $500,000.

In nearby Fosterburg 13 persons were killed, scores injured and nearly all of the town's 100 homes and stores were wrecked or damaged. Five persons lost their lives in Gillespie and the estimated property damage in the city of 4,500 was about $300,000.

The weather bureau described the storms as a "partly seasonal" occurrence, most common in March, April, May and June.

Black Market Too

TOKYO, March 20—(AP).—Japan's Minister of Agriculture got caught in one of Tokyo's popular "Man in the Street" broadcasts yesterday and was asked by a bystander how he managed to live, the food situation being what it is. "On black market rice," replied the Minister, Kazuo Nagae, who directs the rice collection program and has much to do with rationing. The crowd roared approval as someone shouted, 'Good! At least, you're honest!"

Britain Decides To Stand Pat On Palestine

LONDON, March 20 (AP)—The colonial office announced today Britain stands pat in its determination to surrender the Palestine mandate May 15.

British troops, the office said, will be pulled out not later than Aug. 1, regardless of the situation created by the withdrawal of American support for partition.

The text of the colonial office statement:

"The new situation created by the United States proposal is now being studied in London. Nothing in the new situation affects the determination of His Majesty's government to terminate the mandate not later than May 15 and withdraw all our troops by Aug. 1."

Only yesterday the House of Commons wrote in "May 15" as the definite date for termination of the British mandate over the Holy Land.

Government sources said it was too soon to make a definite statement about Britain's position in view of the United States' sudden shift in policy.

One informant said evacuation of the British troops is "already in full swing and it would be difficult to reverse the process."

The United States made its proposal of trusteeship instead of partition as Britain faced a serious decision regarding the Arab world. This was brought about by the reported occupation of two Arab districts of Palestine this week by the British-subsidized Trans-Jordan Arab Legion, acting in the name of the Arab League.

British morning papers gave banner play to the American proposal. Headlines read "U.S. throws over partition," "America backs out of Palestine partition" and "U. S. somersaults on partition plan."

The Times of London said: "The United States government has accepted the hard logic of facts in Palestine . . . both the security council and the assembly have been discussing this grave matter with their heads in the clouds . . . time is short."

Wm. Wright Marmora Fatally Hurt

Left Lying In Ditch For 15 Hours By Hit, Run Driver

GARDEN HILL, March 20.—(Staff)—William (Curly) Wright, 56, Marmora, a wood cutter employed by Bruce Parker, Peterborough, died in Civic Hospital last night, apparently the victim of a hit-and-run accident near Garden Hill.

Wright, who lived at the wood camp near Garden Hill, was found lying in the ditch Friday morning, by two other Parker employees, and was taken to Dr. Jack Wright at Millbrook, who rushed him to hospital after examining him. Wright had his right shoulder fractured, a bruised right hip, and a possible skull fracture. An autopsy is being performed today, and Dr. H. G. Carleton, coroner, says an inquest is likely.

When taken to the doctor, Wright said he had been in the ditch about 15 hours, but he could not remember what had happened previous to his regaining consciousness. The workmen who found him report they heard his shout as they drove the truck toward the wood camp to start work for the day. The spot is on the boundary between Hope and Cavan townships, about ten miles south of Millbrook.

Provincial police are working on the unusual case, but so far have not been able to obtain any specific data which would indicate how Wright obtained the injuries.

Wright's wive and daughter survive at Marmora.

Greeks Quicken Drive On Reds

By L. S. CHAKALES

ATHENS, March 20—(AP).—A sharply increased tempo in the Greek army's war on Communist-led guerrillas appeared in prospect today.

The Greek high command drew the plans less than 48 hours after President Truman told the United States Congress Greece is "under direct attack from rebels actively supported by her Communist-dominated neighbors."

Last night high United States army officers had helped the Greek chief of staff plan a quickening of the campaign against rebel chieftain Markos Vafiades and his self-proclaimed Communist government.

Greek commanders and division heads were called into the conference with Maj.-Gen. James Alward Van Fleet, military chief of the United States mission to aid Greece.

REPLACES BRIDGES—Former ace trouble shooter for the CIO, Tim Flynn, has been named to replace Harry Bridges, recently ousted from his post as northern California regional director of the CIO. Flynn, who will maintain offices in San Francisco, was expected to meet considerable opposition from Bridges and his followers. The appointment was made by Philip Murray, national president of the CIO.

Hebrew Republic Possibility Jews Declare

JERUSALEM, March 20—(AP).—Palestine's Jews may proclaim a Hebrew republic as an answer to United States abandonment of partition, an informed Jewish source said today.

Then "it will be up to the United Nations to recognize it, ignore it or suppress it," the informant said.

A framework for a Jewish government already exists. It is a 32-member provisional council established several weeks ago by the Jewish agency and the Jewish National Council (Vaad Leumi). Hagana, the Jewish militia, says it is ready and able to take and to hold Jewish sovereignty in predominantly Jewish areas of the Holy Land.

Both Arabs and Jews turned thumbs down on the United States proposal of trusteeship for Palestine. Both said they will fight on, and warfare continued. The toll of death since partition was voted by the United Nations is almost 1,900.

Arabs hailed the American abandonment of partition. Secretary-General Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha of the Arab League said the United States action was "wonderful." He said "justice always prevails ni the long run

Three Powers Favor Latest Move

Much Disputed Area Would Be Returned To Italian Nation

TURIN, Italy, March 20 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France have decided that Trieste must be returned to Italy, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France announced here today.

The area is disputed between Italy and Yugoslavia, and Bidault said the western powers feel it must go to Italy in order to preserve peace between the neighboring countries.

The western powers will take up with Russia the question of returning the area to Italy, which held it before the war.

A revision of the Italian peace treaty would be necessary to end Trieste's status as a free territory. The peace treaty provided that it be governed under United Nations trusteeship, but the U.N. Security Council has been unable to agree on a governor to head the trust government.

The area is occupied by American, British and Yugoslav troops. Many Italians have fled from Pola and the surrounding area, which are under Yugoslav control.

Bidault made the announcement here in a speech following a ceremony at which he and the Italian Foreign Minister, Carlo Sforza, signed an agreement for a customs union between their countries.

Take 2 Line story

This is the second reversal in United Nations relations to be projected in two days. Yesterday the United States announced its withdrawal from the U.N. decision to partition Palestine.

Bidault, declaring France agreed to make Trieste a free territory only because "certain of our partners refused absolutely to give Trieste to Italy," said:

"The French government has come to the conclusion that he regime is no longer tenable (the French word viable) and interest of peace between Italy and Yugoslavia it is important to find another solution.

"This solution, it believes, cannot but be the return purely and simply of Trieste to Italy."

Bidault added:

"Consultations have taken place in this respect among the French, British and American governments.

"All are in agreement on this conclusion (that Trieste must be given back to Italy) and they have decided to inform the Soviet Government and propose to examine the problem together."

Canada's Red Tell Why They Want Revolution

Communists Are Cold, Cynical Schemers, Intent On Using Other Men As Dopes

(Editor's Note—Here is the tenth of a series of articles in which Don Cameron, staff reporter of The Windsor Star, tells how Communists have gained strength in Canada. His story is based on facts gathered in the course of long and far-reaching investigations.)

By DON CAMERON

How do Canada's Communists get that way?

Are they really the resentful victims of a heartless economic system that discriminates unfairly between the "haves" and the "have-nots," or are they congenital malcontents who would find fault with perfection itself?

Are they motivated by lofty idealism, by honest indignation against real or imagined injustices, or merely by a cynical and selfish desire to seize and use incalculable wealth and power for their own satisfaction?

Answers Are Contradictory

The answers to these questions are many and contradictory. None is conclusive, because in the final analysis they must be reduced to terms of individuals, notwithstanding the Marxist-Leninist-Stalinist theory that all but a handful of human beings are mindless masses to be regimented and ruled for their own good.

Communists are rogues and criminals. Communists are psychopathics with a compulsion towards violence. Communists are cold, cynical schemers intent on using other men as dupes to achieve purely personal ambitions.

Communists are sincere, earnest people, too, who actually believe in their hearts that the extremes of violence and destruction to which they subscribe now are justifiable means to an end that will improve the lot of all mankind.

This reporter talked with a good many of them before starting to write these articles. He asked them how they got that way, and some of their answers were interesting.

A swart, skinny youth with knife-sharp features and a cauliflower ear gained in a Ward 5 street brawl in Toronto said:

"I was a poolroom bum when the neighborhood L.P.P. Club took an interest in me. I left home when I was 15 after a fight with my old man and worked for a bootlegger, delivering liquor, till the cops sent me away for a stretch. I was headed for a second stretch for gambling when one of the fellows at the club sent around a lawyer to bail me out and get the charge dismissed.

System Gets the Blame

"I'd never paid much attention to all this talk about Communists and capitalists, because I figured it was my own fault if I didn't get ahead. But this lawyer proved it was the system, not me, that was haywire, and I couldn't ever beat it by knuckling down to the bosses.

"Maybe you don't like Communists, since you make your living by playing the capitalists' game, but you can't deny our system needs plenty of changing. Well, we're going to change it, and I'm helping. I never used to hold a job more than a few weeks, but now I'm assistant foreman in a factory where I've been for two years. I've done a lot of good on the side, organizing the men in my department, making them see where their real interests lie.

"I'm not a big shot and I never will be. But I've got a goal in life, mister, and I feel pretty good about it. I'll never be a bum again. We Reds are going to be on top of the world pretty soon, instead of at the bottom of the heap, and if you were smart you'd be joining up with us while you've got the chance."

A blond giant who worked underground in a gold mine near Kirkland Lake gave his answer with clear-eyed anger:

"My father got killed on a job like mine when I was a kid. One of my sisters died of tuberculosis because there wasn't enough money to buy the food that would have have kept her healthy. I went to work when I was 12, at a man's job, to help out.

Wants Family Security

"Now I've got three kids of my own, and I want to be sure they never go through what I had to go through. Sure, I know about unemployment insurance, pensions and all the benefits the government is talking about. But it's not nearly enough for security — and when another depression comes, who'll pay the taxes to keep it up? I'm willing to stand on my own feet and look out for my wife and kids as long as there's a job for me and I'm able to handle it — but look what happened to my father.

"That's why I figure the Communists are the only ones in the world today who know both what they want and how to get it. I'm with them a hundred per cent and the bosses can argue and offer bribes till Doomsday without changing my mind. They are the same bosses who let my mother and my brothers and sisters go hungry after my father lost his life digging their gold for them, and believe me I won't shed any tears when the revolution puts them in their places."

A poet and novelist who had achieved something like fame 20 years ago, only to drink himself into the gutter — a man this reporter last saw being hustled into a patrol wagon in New York's Greenwich Village in the midst of the depression for taking part in a Red "hunger march" — had a different kind of answer:

"Remember when I was getting kicked out of every place and the newspapers were making nasty jokes about my meteoric progress from writing filth to wallowing in it? The only ones who stuck by me then were my Communist friends. They kept me from starving and eventually they got me off the booze altogether. They saved my life.

Wants to See World Wrecked

"I happen to believe in Communism, but even if I didn't I'd stick with it and work for it because I'm sick of the kind of world that fawns on a man when he's riding high and spits on him when he's down. I'd like to see it wrecked even if nothing would

All-Out Food Plan Commendable 200 Farmers Told

The population of the world has increased by 200,000,000 in the last ten years in spite of its decimation by the Second World War, Mr. Watson H. Porter of London, Ont., editor of the Farmers' Advocate, said in his address at the Quinte District Seed Fair dinner, Friday night at George St. United Church.

The estimate was quoted from the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) of the United Nations whose information indicated that the world's increase is from 15 to 20 million people. A survey by FAO at the end of 1947 showed a deficit of 10 million tons of food that could be moved from the area of surplus to maintain a necessary ratio in the deficit area, but the balance has not been greatly improved. The result, Mr. Porter said, was that food shortages would continue in many countries until this year's harvest is available. Three-fifths of the food scarcity exists in the northern hemisphere with a shortage of 4½ million tons of rice in the Orient alone. Mr. Porter said it was expected that this lack would not be made up until sometime in the 1950's. He also expressed doubt that food supply in the western world would equal requirements until well on into the 1950's.

One of the factors in that prospect was high percentage of cereal grains used in the making of bread, 90 to 95 per cent, with comparatively small quantities of byproducts that could be utilized for mill feeds.

A Fine Example

Mr. Porter said the farmers of Canada had given an example to the world in their all-out production and also in their acceptance of wheat contracts at half the world price. That was Canadian agriculture's pattern of assistance, and Mr. Porter said that no other country and no other industry had made such a large and generous contribution in the world's need.

This action of the Canadian farmer was of the greatest credit to them as a group. It was a practical demonstration of their realization of an opportunity and a responsibility at a critical time in the history of the world.

With that compliment, Mr. Porter coupled a warning to farmers not to ruin the soil of Canada by exhausting its fertility in maintaining their production of foods. One of his striking statements was that half the fertility of Canada's farmlands was going down the sewers of the world. And the replacement of that fertility by use of mineral and other fertilizers was so slight that it was almost negligible.

Inherent in every food price structure Mr. Porter proposed should be an item of cost enabling the producer to put back into the soil the amount of the essential plant foods taken from it. If such a price structure could be accomplished, the State should see to it that farm owners and operators should restore to the soil the fertility withdrawn from it as the means of maintaining its productive resources.

In that respect, the stewardship of the land should be a greater concern of the State, Mr. Porter declared with a seeming implication which was not pursued.

The dinner of the Quinte District Seed Growers Association was attended by some 200 farmers and their wives. The company included visiting junior from the associated resources of east—Central Ontario, representatives of the Federal and provincial and Departments of Agriculture. Mr. John Rickard, president of the association, was dinner chairman.

If the issue boiled up, Norway will probably request it be referred to the United Nations.

Moscow Eyes Spitzbergen

OTTAWA, March 20. (CP) — Any Russian pressure on Scandinavia may include renewed demands by the Soviet Union for joint militarization with Norway of the Spitsbergen Archipeligo.

This collection of barren, mountainous Arctic islands, lying north of Norway and only 600 miles from the North Pole, was raided by a Canadian Army force in 1941. In strategic concepts of Arctic warfare, Spitsbergen is considered by some military authorities to have significant importance.

A number of foreign affairs observers expect that one of Moscow's next moves will be an attempt to put the finger on Scandinavia. The premiers of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, apparently anticipating such ominous developments, have jointly denounced Communism and dictatorship and affirmed their decision to defend their countries against aggression.

So far the Norwegian government has been able to stall Russian efforts to achieve joint militarization of Spitsbergen.

LPP Sabotaging Liquor Act—Blackwell

Want Right To Object To Location Of Any Cocktail Bar

TORONTO, March 20.—(CP). Attorney General Blackwell charged inn the Ontario Legislature yesterday that the two Labor-Progressive party representatives were trying to sabotage the province's Liquor Control Act.

He was speaking to an L.P.P. bill which would have given municipalities authority to object to issue of any particular cocktail bar license within its confines.

The CCF and Liberals lined up with the government in defeating the bill 63 to 2.

In the short Friday sitting the House gave second reading to 12 private bills and 10 government measures.

One government bill, the one authorizing southern Ontario Hydro frequency conversion, passed second reading without comment.

In committee of the House approval was given to the Industrial Standards Act amendment, giving gasoline station hour-setting authority back to the municipalities, and a bill amending the Vital Statistics Act.

On the liquor amendment, Attorney General Blackwell said that what the L.P.P. members were trying to "is to completely destroy the judicial system of dealing with liquor licences."

Premier Drew offered congratulations to the Attorney General for his arguments on the bill, stating that apparently he had influenced the opposition members to come around to the government's way of thinking on the issue.

A. A. MacLeod (L.P.P. — Toronto Bellwoods), who sponsored the bill with support of J. B. Salsberg (L.P.P.—Toronto St. Andrews), declared:

"It does seem to me that the municipalities should have prior rights in protecting the welfare and the morale of the community over which it exercises the responsibilities of government."

Liberal opposition leader Farquhar Oliver, although he voted against the bill, said he didn't think the broad structure of the whole act was involved in the amendment before the House.

W. J. Grummett, C.C.F. House leader, said the municipal councils are saddled with enough work now without adding this new unnecessary field.

U.S. Move Stuns UN Delegates

LAKE SUCCESS, March 20—(AP).—United States sources expressed confidence today that the United Nations will accept the surprise American proposal to abandon the Palestine partition plan. The reversal of American policy came with dramatic suddenness late yesterday. The United States now wants a temporary UN trusteeship over the embattled Holy Land. A special session of the UN Assembly was asked immediately to approve the interim plan and consider a permanent solution. Most delegates were stunned by the move and hurriedly cabled their governments for instructions. Russia, however, announced immediate opposition.

The Jewish agency for Palestine called the move an "amazing reversal," and added that the Jews will resist trusteeship by force.

Arab delegates said little. They still demand one independent country in Palestine but welcomed the blow to partition.

The Security Council will meet next Wednesday to start debate on the new American stand.

The United States was the strongest supporter of the partition plan when it was pushed through the Assembly, 33 to 13, last Nov. 29. At that time the Soviet Union joined with the United States in one of the rare instances of American-Russian agreement within the UN.

It was understood here that the American decision came from the White House and was of Cabinet level.

The United States statement left a loophole for the possible reinstatement of the scheme to split the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab countries by next Oct. 1. However, a high U.N. official said bluntly: "This means the end of partition."

Reports and rumors that Washington was abandoning partition have been current here for some time but in each instance the State Department has issued careful statements of denial.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, presented the proposal at a private session of the Big Five powers and then to the Council. The Council was asked to call the special Assembly session, endorse the interim trusteeship under the U.N. trusteeship council and instruct the U.N. Palestine Commission too give up efforts to put through partition. The Commission already has a small advance party in the Holy Land.

Austin anticipated Russian opposition but is understood to feel thta the program is veto-proof. It was conceded that Soviet delegate Andrei A. Gromyko might exercise the big power veto in the Council to stop any of the three requests. However, alternative routes were open.

Residents of lower Wingham left their homes after water lapped first-storey windows. A large section of a bridge was torn loose and carried away at Mitchell by the ice-and-debris-laden upper tributary of the Thames. Workmen piled sandbags on the river banks as officials reported the stream more than two feet higher than at any time in recent years.

On the northern outskirts of London, the Thames flooded houses and barns. Main streets in Clinton and Exeter also were flooded. Grand river waters lay several feet deep over low-lying sections of Grand Valley in Dufferin county.

A mighty heave by a five-mile long ice jam wrecked docks, pilings and a fish house at Port Maitland. A huge ice field which spilled from the mouth of the Maitland river at Goderich damaged harbor installations and small boats.

For the second time this week streams in the Toronto area rose. Etobicoke creek, the Humber river and Highland careek ran high and caused flood troubles.

It Costs Money

BROCKVILE, March 20 (CP). —It's getting tough to run a municipality these days. On the heels of Ottawa's announced 1948 tax rate—the highest in its history—Brockville declared its rate, another all-time high. Cause of the 4½-mill jump to 52½ mills in Brockville was attributed by the Town Council to increases in salaries to municipal workers, costs of the hospital and Children's Aid Society, and an increased share in the upkeep of the counties jail.

Canada Gains New Citizen

At a simple but impressive ceremony at the Court House on Friday afternoon Canada gained a new citizen. He was Hum Hoy, popular local Chinese and former owner of the Paris Cafe, who is leaving for China in a month or so for an extended visit.

His Worship Mayor William Ovens, Rev. Dr. James Semple, and Alderman Max Swanston were among the friends who attended as Mr. Hoy received his citizenship from His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke, at a sitting of the County Court.

After he had taken the oath of allegiance, Judge Smoke gave a short address. "I welcome you as a member of the Canadian family," he said.

"The admission to citizenship is the highest honor a nation can confer on a subject of another country. You have taken the oath of allegiance and I would point out that without allegiance citizenship is meaningless.

"In the case of Canada, it is a particular honor to become a citizen because while there are larger countries, no country in the world holds a higher place in the esteem of other nations."

Concluding, Judge Smoke said: "The future success of this country depends on the unity which we employ in working together."

Dr. Semple offered his congratulations, and said he had known Hum Hoy for a long time and the honor of citizenship was really earned. Continuing, Dr. Semple said he was a very fine citizen and a great credit to the Chinese race.

Mayor Ovens concurred in these remarks and congratulated him on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough.

Hum Hoy has been a resident of Canada, since he landed in 1902. He came to Peterborough in 1908, since then making a host of friends and winning the respect of his fellow-citizens.

Hospital Plan Cares For 140,000

REGINA, March 20 —(CP)— More than 140,000 people—nearly one-sixth of the province's population—had their basic hospital bills paid last year under Saskatchewan's Government-operated hospital plan, it was shown in the Legislature yesterday by Premier T. C. Douglas.

A report showed it cost $7,338,000 to provide basic hospital services—which include public-ward care, nursing and all but the most expensive drugs and medicine—for the 142,366 patients discharged from hospitals after treatment during 1947.

Under the plan all residents pay an annual $5 tax, with a maximum of $30 a family, which entitles them to free hospital care as long as their doctor deems it necessary.

Annual cost of the plan was estimated at $9.40 per capita. Individual tax collections totalled $3,771,000 with the rest of the cost—approximately $3,549,000—paid by the provincial government.

Had the plan not been in operation, the report said, the government still would have been liable for annual payments of $1,125,000.

Indians Feared Lost Found On River Banks

LONDON, Ont., March 20 (CP) —Three Indians believed drowned last night after they were swept on a raft down the rampaging Thames river from Muncey village, 25 miles southwest of here, were found this morning wandering near the banks of the river.

Police at London reported they received a telephone call from Muncey about 10.30 a.m. that the trio was safe. No further details were immediately available.

Eldorado Mines Focal Point In Defence Plan

OTTAWA, March 20 (CP)—Defence of Canada's sprawling, barren Arctic—land of the Eskimo and northern lights — does not mean deploying thousands of troops. There's no reason to throw a thin red line of fighting men across the frigid 2,500-mile frontier.

The problem boils down to defending a few vital areas and established lines of communications against localized attacks that might be attempted. Defence of the vast area is not the impossible problem it seems. There are comparatively few places that would be valuable to an enemy.

Topping list, in event of war, is the Eldorado Uranium Mines—source of atomic energy — on Great Slave lake inside the Northwest Territories, and the northwest highway system from Edmonton to Alaska. The cold-weather proving station at Churchill, Man., also would be defended, together with vital communications between Winnipeg and Regina.

This is likely the line along which Canadian military strategists are thinking in planning of Arctic defence.

Military authorities who know Arctic problems are extremely skeptical that any extensive ground force operations could take place in that gigantic wasteland.

If certain points are threatened, regular combat troops could quickly be rushed by air.

At present, Canada has a single brigade of about 3,000 combat troops, composed of the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal 22nd Regiment and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry—all permanent force units.

The other permanent force unit is an armored regiment, the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

None of these regiments is up to strength and they are scattered in various training camps across the country. It is the intention to train them to be air transportable, but this work is far from completed.

Any idea that they would be rushed off to the Arctic if war started is laughed at here.

Until a division or two was under arms, no real plan of ground defence of the Dominion could be followed.

that Arabs would agree to a short, definitely limited trusteeship period, "but if they're going to shelve independence for Palestine indefinitely, then we will never agree to that." He said it is even possible to reach agreement with the Jews.

But the war in Palestine may grow even more fierce. In the Holy Land itself Arab officialdom is largely silent save for one brief statement. Leaders are saying privately they would accept trusteeship if the trust power were the Arab League, but meanwhile would try to wipe out Zionism completely."

A statement of the Palestine Arab higher committee said: "We find in this withdrawal by the United States of its support of the Jews a return to recognition of the natural rights of Arabs."

An Arab spokesman of the military organizations fighting under the higher committee added, "we will not stop our struggle."

A source in the Jewish army Hagana said of the United States stand: "This in no way changes our plans. We must fight on to establish and hold Jewish sovereignty in whatever parts of Palestine we can."

Another authoritative Jewish source referred to a temporary draft constitution now being written for a transitory Jewish state to function between the planned end of the British mandate May 15 and the constitutional assembly meeting next October He said:

"It will continue to be based on the United Nations partition recommended of Nov. 29."

The temporary draft constitution referred to the partition decision, the U.N. implementation commission and economic union with the proposed neighboring Arab state.

600,000-Hour CGE Record

The man hour record without a lost time accident of the Canadian General Electric Company was broken at the 600,000-hour mark, when a woman employee suffered an infection as a result of not reporting for first aid after a minor injury. The infection caused lost time and the Works has started on its third attempt to reach a million man hours without a lost time accident. Similar cases, where employees fail to report small injuries and infection develops later, have been a course of worry to the Safety Committee of the CGE.

Since the safety campaign started, the factory has had a total of 1,135,000 man hours with only one and a half days lost time. During the same period, there has been one period of 250,000 man hours without an accident of any kind to any of the 4,700 employees.

275 WOMEN TAKE DRESSMAKING COURSE AT P.C.V.S. NIGHT SCHOOL

SEMESTER FOR SEAMSTRESSES—Sewing a fine seam is a matter of instruction, there are few "naturals" in this complicated craft. Two hundred and seventy-five women are availing themselves this year, one night a week for six months, attending the PCVS night classes in sewing. The course has been provided by the Board of Education for 20 years. The big moment is shown in Top photo as Mrs. Leonard Anthony, Left, finally picks an appealing project from a stack of pattern books; Mrs. Wallace Muir approves. Actual headaches begin, in the Lower picture, as Mrs. Andrew McCabe, Right, wrestles with the blueprint while Mrs. Walter Smith starts cutting the cloth with little confidence, at first.

—Examiner Staff Photos

THINGS TAKE SHAPE—As projects progress, there is quite a lot of satisfaction in basting the garment together and fitting it on the forms. Mrs. B. Boland (at Top), in background, fitting a belt to a semi-finished dress while Mrs. William Shaughnessy, foreground, pins material to a 'judy.' She puts pins in her mouth at the request of the photographer but this practice is taboo. Lower photo shows instructress, Mrs. William Tollington, demonstrating to members of the junior class how to pin a yoke over gathers in a semi-finished dress.

SMILE OF SATISFACTION—Mrs. Reginald Harran has reason to be happy as she completes her fourth project of the term on the power sewing machine. Things are not too serious at sewing circles and ladies do take time out for good-natured kidding. There is also some gossip.

CCF Fears Lifting of Ban On Uranium Great Risk

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, March 20 — (CP) — The Commons, driving to clear away emergency government legislation before the Easter recess begins next week, yesterday touched on sugar, briefly discussed wheat, verged on a full-dress debate on atomic energy and finished with a slowly-moving discussion on the new 25-per-cent excise tax.

Sugar and atomic energy came before the chamber as it completed study of a measure empowering the government to continue certain wartime controls until April 1, 1949. The bill was given third and final reading.

A highlight of the sugar debate was a suggestion by Jean Francois Pouliot (Ind. L.—Temiscouata) that Canada asks Britain for the outright transfer to Dominion sovereignity of the British West Indies in return for the "sacrifices in men, money and food . . . . we have made for the empire." No response came from cabinet benches.

The atomic energy discussion began with C.C.F. members protesting against the government's action in opening the prospecting and mining of uranium and other radioactive minerals to private companies and closed with Reconstruction Minister Howe's assurance that no great wealth would be lost to the country and that there would be adequate control on "every fraction of uranium" mined.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said he could give no information as to whether steps will be taken to extend the five-power western union treaty to Canada, the United States, the commonwealth and other nations interested in keeping the peace.

Trade Minister Howe said he could not accept a suggestion by the Canadian Federation of Mayors that the Federal government advance money to provinces and municipalities for housing construction.

importance of the work done by the probation officers in this city.

Interest of the audience was shown by a period of lively questioning which followed the main address.

The speaker was introduced by Donald Munro and thanked by R. K. McKee.

Third Party Candidates Turn Heat On Democrats

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, March 20—(CP).—Democratic Congressmen are receiving information from their constituencies indicating that third-party candidates will be entered against them unless they go all out for the Henry Wallace ideas on foreign policy. It will not be enough for a congressman to be a "liberal" democrat, according to advices reaching them If they vote for the administration's foreign aid plan they will be opposed in the November elections.

This would mean that Henry Wallace's old friend and supporter Senator Claude Pepper of Florida would be opposed by a third-party candidate if the Wallace policy is followed through. Pepper voted for the rehabilitation program.

Veteran observers here concluded that the progressive record of a democratic congressman will not count in his favor with the Wallace party if he now votes for aid to Greece and Turkey, or for the E. R. P. They foresee that this will not send a big bloc of third party candidates to congress but holds the direct threat of ensuring a till greater Congression majority for republic.

The conclusion of some observers is that defeat of as many democrats as possible is the chief Wallace aim in this year's campaign with hopes of a more successful third party campain in 1950 and 1952 on the issue of "reaction."

Opposition Warning

Such heretofore friendly Democrats as Helen Gahagan Douglas of California have been warned of Wallace candidate opposition and a growing list of so-called liberals and "middle-of-the-road" Democrats in the North and West have received similar indications

Many of these targets of third party opposition represent constituencies in which last election voting records show that a slight inroad by a third party candidate might shift the majority to the Republican candidates.

In the whole of congress there are only three who might be said at the moment to be Wallace spokesmen

They are Senator Glen Taylor Idaho Democrat who left that party to line up as second man on the Wallace presidential ticket; Vito Marcantonin and Leo Isacon, both American Labour party members of the house of representatives from New York city districts.

Brantford Bus Fares Increased

Brantford's bus lines, operated by its Public Utilities Commission, are increasing fare beginning April 19. The present five-cent fare will go up to seven cents, or four tickets for 25c. The adult drop fare will be ten cents unless the passenger has the exact seven cents to drop in the box. The decision not to have drivers make change into coppers was made by the commission to reduce delays in service.

Books of tickets for one dollar, now containing 21 tickets, will be cut to 17, the cover of the book serving as the 17th. The transportaion manager's estimate of additional expenditure this week include: $85,000 for six new buses; construction of service and storage buildings, $40,000; wage increase, $12,000; increases due to rising costs of materials, $9,000.

Peterborough City Council is obtaining from the Legislature authority to extend the franchise of the local bus company. Before any action to that end is taken the council will discuss with the company terms of a new agreement which was deferred several months ago until the franchise assent was received.

Won't Raise Beer Price

TORONTO, March 20 — (CP) — A request to increase beverage room price of bottled beer from 21 to 25 cents has been rejected by the Ontario Liquor Licence Board, George A. Wilson, president of the Association of Toronto Hotel Proprietors said yesterday. However, Attorney - General Blackwell advised the Association he would consider advisability of granting some relief in connection with reduced beer gallonage tax to hotels.

CNR Has Deficit

OTTAWA, March 20.—(CP).—The Canadian National Railways had an operating deficit of $15,885,000 in 1947 for its second straight post-war loss, Finance Minister Abbott disclosed in the Commons yesterday.

Juvenile Court Reformative

"Juvenile Court is reformative, not punitive in its purpose," said Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., addressing the monthly meeting of the Public School Men Teachers' Federation at Central School.

He explained that most of the children who were brought before him were normal children reacting to abnormal conditions under which they found themselves. In the majority of cases, he said, the fault lies in the home.

While there is an informal atmosphere about the court and every effort is made to understand and guide the child rather than force him, the magistrate said the law has teeth and the court power to deal firmly with offenders who fail to respond to more gentle treatment.

Drew Assails Toronto Paper For 'False' Story

TORONTO, March 20.—(CP).—The Toronto Daily Star was assailed in the Ontario Legislature by Premier Drew yesterday for what he described as a story designed to convey a "false" and "malicious" impression.

The story, bearing the headline—"politically, we don't fear labor, Blackwell declares"—dealt with a provincial cabinet meeting earlier at which the Ontario Federation of Labor presented a brief outlining recommendations for legislation.

"Anything more dishonest and more remote from the truth it would be difficult to imagine even in the case of the Toronto Daily Star," the Premier said. "And I grant you it is difficult to imagine any form of dishonesty that they would not employ."

"This," he declared, "seeks to create a feeling of prejudice in the mind of organized labor in relation to the government of the day, no matter what the government may be, which has the responsibility for dealing with labor relations in this province."

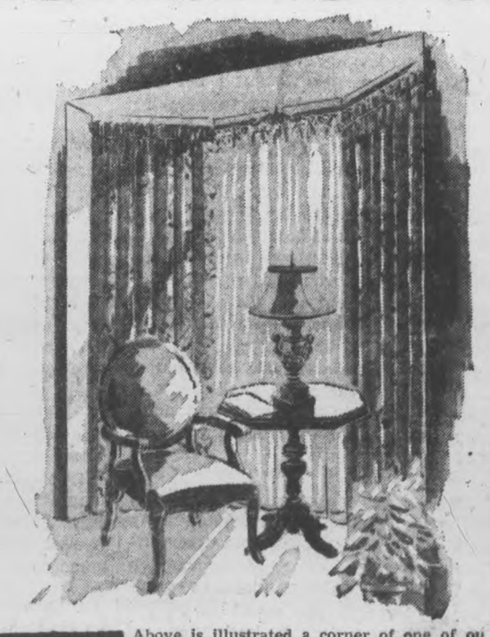
The Premier quoted from a court reporter's record regarding what the Attorney General had said:

"If you want to carry on that political action as the arm of a political party, I would make this statement to you, that it is against the public interest, but as far as the present government of Ontario is concerned, politically we do not fear it, because the people of the province want law and order and you may be sure that the Opposition party (CCF) you represent will remain in opposition until the end of time. Politically, if that is what you want to do, I welcome it."

Sent To Trial

NAPANEE, Ont., March 20.—(CP).—Mrs. Dorothy Wheeler and Edward McCoy yesterday were committed to stand trial on a charge of injuring Mrs. Wheeler's four-year-old son, Donald. A doctor testified the child, still in hospital at Kingston, was covered with bruises and that both hands bore burns.

Hotel Co-operates



TORONTO, March 20 — (CP). — Mayor H. E. McCallum said yesterday the King Edward, Toronto's second-largest hotel, assured him and city authorities that it will conform with the safety standards. At a police commission meeting last week, building Commissioner K. S. Gillies asked that the hotel be closed for not complying with fire safety regulations.

Boomerang

TORONTO, March 20 — (CP). — Dr. A. W. A. Brown, botanist of the University of Western Ontario, London, said last night that man's new weapons against his animal goes may prove to be a two-edged sword. He warned that over-use of DDT to control pests, sometimes has resulted in the destruction of valuable plant life and the waste of productive soil. And the grape-growers found new insects appeared when DDT replaced older chemicals.

Communism In Theory And Practice

One hundred years ago Marx and Engels published the Communist Manifesto. Marx makes the sweeping assertion in the opening sentences of the Manifesto that "The history of all human society, past and present, has been the history of class struggles.... More and more society is splitting into two great hostile camps, into two great and directly contraposed classes: bourgeois and proletariat". Marx's disciples are proving him wrong. The world today is ominously dividing into two hostile camps, but the division is not between bourgeois and proletariat (middle classes and workers) but between Communists (Russian style) and democrats (American - West Europe style).

* * *

It is Russian Communism not western democracy which has caused this division, and free workers (as in Canada) realize that when a Communist clique seizes control of government, as in Czechoslovakia, it does not do so for the benefit of the "exploited proletariat" but to exploit them, and to maintain and extend the power of a small minority. A communist government is a dictatorship of an oligarchic ruling class more powerful, more rigid and more destructive of freedom than any so-called "capitalist" government can ever be. On several occasions Karl Marx (living a bourgeois life in London and Manchester) was compelled to declare that he was not a Marxist—not by the police but because of the tendency of his own disciples to substitute an ipse dixit for fresh thinking. Lenin and Stalin and their henchmen lay down the line of thought; Karl Marx would not be allowed to think freely in Soviet Russia. Holy Karl Marx would have a thin time under the present Russian regime; he might even think it as oppressive and backward as the Czarist regime of the Russia he knew a hundred years ago, and abominated.

* * *

Because Communism restricts liberty more than any other system, not excepting fascism; because Communist governments create a complete unification of both economic and political power producing, to quote Bertrand Russel, "a terrifying engine of oppression, in which there are no loopholes for exceptions"; because a Communist state cannot tolerate a non-communist state along its borders, and must, by its nature, expand or disintegrate, we find the international stage crowded with portenous acts in these last two weeks and a dire denouement threatening.

* * *

The chaotic condition of Europe has been brought about mainly by the war, but Communists are ruthlessly fostering it. They deliberately foment social upheaval and revolution, and they know Lenin's dictate that "revolution is impossible without an all-national crisis, affecting both the exploited and exploiters". It is the task of western democratic states to keep their own houses in order and to attempt to prevent 'all-national crises' in countries still free—by economic aid (like E.R.P.) and diplomatic support. Italy is a case in point. Much can be done to foil the Communists before the elections on April 18th. If democratic government is submerged there, we shall be one country closer to the time when military action against Russia must be taken.

* * *

Douglas Hyde has been a Communist for twenty years and has devoted many of those years to propagating Communistic doctrine as editor of the London Daily Worker. Communism as practiced by Soviet Russia has at last purged him of the doctrine. He has announced that "Communism is incapable of providing a cure for an extremely sick world". He has resigned his post as editor of the chief British Communist newspaper. His valediction is this: "It became obvious to me that the movement for which I fought and worked so long was destroying those very freedoms and decencies for which it claimed to be fighting".

Rain For The Hydro

Mr. Andrew Thomson, the Controller of the Meteorological Division of the Federal Department of Transport has announced that "No one is at yet quite sure why it rains". Tut! tut! Mr. Thomson. Even though you live in the national capital, Ottawa is still in Ontario, and everybody in Ontario knows why it rains—it rains for Mr. Drew and the Hydro. For months now—ever since the dim-out began—we are sure that the Premier and the Hydro Commissioners have been praying for rain to flood the rivers to swell the waterheads to turn the turbines to make the electric juice to send over the wires to light the shop windows and heat the water to make the disconsolate voters of Ontario happy again.

In honour of the March rains we have penned an original quatrain which we have not copyrighted in order that Queen's Parkers at work and play may gaily say:

Rain, rain, don't go away,
Come again and come and stay
So Georgie D can blandly say
"Lo! We've power the livelong day".

Mr. Thomson—he who was not sure why it rained—was really speaking about rain-making experimentation. The National Research Council has authorized investigation of "cloud-seeding" with dry ice, and Mr. Thomson has amplified his statement by remarking that "when it comes right down to the physics of the formation of a raindrop — facts give way to theory and speculation". We ourselves have been speculating why the Hydro authorities did not long ago indulge in a spot of rain-making, to get us out of a dry corner and themselves out of a tight one when they were powerless. Now we know that even the Premier of Ontario has had to wait on Ottawa, until the National Research Council finds out what makes a raindrop and rain drop.

Iniquitous Legislation In P.E.I.

The most startling piece of legislation to come out of any province in recent months was enacted this week by the Liberal Government of Prince Edward Island. It is an anti-labour bill which in substance declares (a) that no unions can function except on license from the Provincial Secretary, (b) that P.E.I. unions cannot be affiliated with either national or international organizations, (c) that all members of a union must be employees, (d) that there can be no "closed-shop" contract.

This shockingly retrogressive legislation sets up the Provincial Secretary as a labour czar, prevents workers from belonging to organizations like the Trades and Labour Congress (AFL) or the Canadian Congress of Labour (CIO) and prohibits P.E.I. unions from having full-time secretaries and organizers. The legislators of the island Province have not barred business men, professional men and industrialists from taking part in their Dominion-wide or international organizations. They have not said a word about capital being international or many of our largest corporations being American subsidiaries.

The practical effects of the legislation may be small, for there are only about 950 union members in P.E.I., but the principle of the Bill is dangerous. It denies to labour in P.E.I. rights which are properly accorded it across the Dominion. The Bill was sharply opposed by the small Opposition in Charlottetown and has been condemned by national labour leaders. If the Lieutenant-Governor has not refused to sign the bill, the courts should speedily examine it to see if it is ultra vires.

A More Moderate Rink Proposal

The Secondary Rink committee — or as it is now called, the Civic Arena committee—has on the eve of the campaign to raise funds wisely reduced its demands from $140,000 to $50,000. Last week we pointed out editorially that "if the secondary rink were to be a simple affair costing about $30,000 or $40,000 there might be more enthusiasm for it than exists at present". The campaign is now under way. Its results will indicate how much enthusiasm supported by cash contributions does exist. The committee is confident that the campaign will be successful; if it is a success, a simple rink will be built and hockey players and spectators will no longer be grieved that hockey has no covered home base.

A Toronto music firm is advertising an instrument which looks like an electric organ, and is one. "It gives the beautiful tonal effects of violin, trumpet, saxaphone, clarinet or organ". It is gratifying to know that an instrument which is supposed to be an organ can even sound like an organ.

Diary Of A March Cold

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Was eating an excellent slice of bread today when I sensed a foreign substance in my mouth, and after some fishing and digging I found that it was a bit of paper. After I had cleaned it (by washing it in my tea, if you must know) I found that it was a union label, proclaiming that my bread had been made by organized bakers. I think, frankly, that I would rather have this information conveyed to me by other means than a label which I suspect had been licked by an organized tongue.... Many years ago I knew a cook whose father and brothers were bakers, and she told me that they always kneaded their dough with their feet, prancing rhythmically in the large wooden mixing tub, with their trousers' legs rolled up....Is there really any progress? A generation ago it was feet; today it is spit. I have a good notion to begin baking my own bread.

MONDAY: Somebody has sent me a clipping which attempts to prove that the drinking of mead was given its death-blow by the Reformation. The implication is that the Reformation was therefore a Bad Thing. It may be so. I can never decide the matter to my own satisfaction. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays I am a rollicking Chestertonian medievalist, shrieking against the Reformation, exulting in any manifestation of unreason, and shoving wads of my shirttail into delicate machines: on Tuesday, Thursdays and Saturdays I am a fiery-eyed Puritan, attempting to reconcile modern progress with the blackest Old Testament morality, and yelling for a church which is both completely secular and all-powerful. On Sundays I rest from these theological exercises and read Voltaire....As for mead, I have been told that it is a delectable drink, and I suppose that my Welsh ancestors drank it out of the horns of rams, in true Celtic style. But they were hearty, outdoors types, innocent of the complications which beset a man today, and I suppose that if one of them had a horrible mead hangover nobody noticed it, or mistook his mutterings for poetry.

TUESDAY: To the movies to see "Odd Man Out" which I enjoyed greatly. If I am not mistaken, this was the last film in which that wonderful Irish actor, F. J. McCormick, appeared. I was particularly delighted with the ruinous old house which Roger Furse had designed; sometimes I wonder why Hollywood does not make greater use of imaginative painted settings like this; they have immense dramatic value, and if they do not look real, well—who cares about reality anyway? The movies are hag-ridden by the hobgoblin of realism. It is the curse of the industry. As though an ounce of brilliant fancy were not worth a carload of laborious realism at any time!

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: A cold confines me to my bed. Ordinarily I enjoy a mild illness, but for some reason I could not settle down today to happy invalidism. I tossed and turned, and my usually comfortable bed was hot and lumpy. Whatever I read seemed boring, but when I was not reading I was bored by my own thoughts. The truth is, I believe, that this cold is itself caused by boredom—the weighty, inescapable boredom of winter. It is on such days as this that I curse the fate which made a writer of me; to be forced to set down one's thoughts in writing when every instinct protests against it is bad enough, but to have to pump up thoughts forcibly when one has none is infinitely worse. Today everything that is in my head could be adequately expressed on paper thus: "Oh-h-h-h-hi" Maybe, if an Irishman were to visit my sickroom, I might vary it a little by saying "Ochone, ochone!" But otherwise I have nothing whatever to say. I am a mindless mound of fretful flesh, and except for an occasional plangent blowing of the nose I show no sign of life whatever.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: My cold is worse, but nevertheless I get up and go about my business, for the wretchedness of yesterday was too much for me. At least I can vent some of my spleen upon my fellow creatures if I go among them....A man kindly lent me some books by P. G. Wodehouse to soothe me in my misery. It is interesting that Wodehouse, and farce writers generally, like to write about aristocratic, wealthy people, who live in grand houses. Evelyn Waugh does the same thing and so, to a less marked degree, does Angela Tirkell. Is it impossible to be farcial in a cottage? Does a Leftist or trade union political outlook quench the spirit of irresponsible gaiety without which farce is impossible? It is true, of course, that what the Government calls "middle and lower income groups" take themselves with immense seriousness and sulk if anyone suggests that they are overdoing it....Wodehouse made me smile wanly, but did not cure my cold.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: To a school play tonight and enjoyed it greatly. But I am always fascinated by the false whiskers with which young actors love to adorn themselves. They apply crepe hair in quantities which could never, by any freak of nature, grow upon the human face, until they look like the Hairy Ainus who inhabit the northern reaches of Japan....The play was "What Every Woman Knows", and the secret which every woman is supposed to know is that every successful man owes his success to a woman. I am not convinced of the truth of this, and would like to take a poll on it in the national capital. There are, I should think, quite a few men who have achieved a high degree of success in spite of the silly, inconsequent, pin-headed women they married in some unguarded, youthful moment. The Marchbanks Masculinist Party (of which I am the leader, or Great Bear) seeks to undo the damage which has been done by such fellows as J. M. Barrie, who flattered women, basely, for money.

SATURDAY: Heard Britten's new opera "Peter Grimes" broadcast this afternoon, and liked it greatly—splendid story, excellent characters, and wonderfully ingenious work with the orchestra and chorus. This is an opera thoroughly to my taste, and I now burn with anxiety to see it. My only complaint is that I could not find much melody in it. I do not ask for the drinking songs, love-duets, coloratura nonsense accompanied by the flute, or gutbusting tenor arias of nineteenth century opera, but once or twice I yearned for a few bars of a tune that I could sing in my bath. As it is I catch myself hissing,

See the fire in his eyes,
Grimes is at his exercise!

—which is exciting but not tuneful. Was slightly amused by the attempts of the Metropolitan commentators to turn a very, very English opera into an American one. Just for the record, "Peter Grimes" was produced by the Sadlers Wells opera company in London in 1945, with great artistic and popular success.

"O'ER THE RAMPARTS WE WATCH"

Letters To The Editor

GOOD OLD FASHION?

Sir: I was interested to read some of the arguments used in your litorial of Tuesday, March 16 headed "Hours of sales for gasoline". You stated—probably with truth—"If a man wants to keep his service station open at hours when other stations are closed, we think he should be allowed to do so, and.... if he wants to work hard himself that is his business, and no majority in the same trade should be allowed to tell him that he must not do so". Now, Mr. Editor, I hate to do this to you, but this idea of a man being allowed to work as hard as he wishes, is out of date. No person, these days, is allowed to do that. When Longfellow wrote:—

The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night.

He probably expressed the thought of his day, but those days are gone.

Even in our own Peterborough almost every trade has its hours established by law—barbers and grocers are two examples which occur to me—and—rightly or wrongly—no person may keep his barber shop open, or sell groceries after a certain hour without running the risk of finding himself in the police court, and would be punished, if found guilty, for doing exactly what you feel he should be allowed to do.

Why, Mr. Editor, today ambition is frowned upon, and when you express the sentiments you do, I am afraid you show yourself to be quite old-fashioned.

Yours truly,
W. TINKER.

FINGERPRINT FRIEND

Sir: Re controversy over the matter of fingerprint identification of taxi drivers.

This method of identification is comparatively new in Peterborough. Give it a chance and in time it will expand and grow ....None of us should think of fingerprints only in relation to the detection and apprehension of criminals. This is only one of its many uses.

The U.S.A. Postal Savings Bank adopted the use of the fingerprint system in 1922 and the fingerprints of every depositor is on file. Banks in many parts of the world are using the system to prevent forgery and frauds. Insurance companies could use it as a protection against false claims. Industrial plants could use it to prevent payroll frauds. Hospitals are using it as the only sure way to identify new born babies that look alike.

The great demand, still growing as it is, for application, of the fingerprint system of identification is due to the successful elimination, in part at least, of the mistaken idea prevailing that fingerprints are only used in police work. In time the public will be convinced of the need, fullness and practicability of fingerprint identification in all walks of life.

How many lines of business could not with great saving and profit use fingerprints, not speaking at all of the official world such as police departments and the armed forces.

I am sure this feeling of discrimination will be removed with a proper explanation of this means of identification and a greater broadening out of this means of identification.

Yours truly,
HUBERT W. PALMER.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: lo, they have rejected the word of the Lord; and what wisdom is in them?....For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace....

We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of health, and behold trouble! ....Is there no balm in Gildead; is there no physician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered? (Jer. 8: 9, 11, 15, 22.)

And a certain woman, which had an issue of blood twelve years, and had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse, when she had heard of Jesus, came in the press behind, and touched his garment. For she said, If I may touch but his clothes, I shall be whole.

And straightway the fountain of her blood was dried up; and she felt in her body that she was healed of that plague....

And he looked round about to see her that had done this thing. But the woman fearing and trembling, knowing what was done in her, came and fell down before him, and told him all the truth.

And he said unto her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague. (Mark 5: 25-29, 32-34.)

Who Are Capitalists

In its annual report the other day, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada announced these interesting facts:

Total number of shareholders 34,439.

Total number living in Canada 33,013.

Stock held by these Canadians 80.3 per cent.

At a conservative estimate, those 33,013 shareholders in this country would, with their families, certainly represent well over 100,000 Canadians, and they are not concentrated in one city or in one province but scattered all over the country.

There are doctors, plumbers, teachers, farmers, bricklayers, civil servants, miners, widows, and businessmen.

It is these thrifty people that would be dispossessed, if the socialists had their way. These are the real capitalists. — Financial Post.

OOPS, ROUGH LANDING—This is the story of the untimely ending of a duck. She died a victim of man's ingenuity. The duck, a Scaup (Fall bluebill) zoomed in for a landing at Malton airport last week, thinking the wet airstrip was a nice smooth stretch of water. One of the airport attendants saw the accident happen, and rushed to pick up the poor bird. She didn't seem so badly hurt, but could not fly, so he took her to Dr. Alan Secord's animal clinic in Toronto. Dr. Secord treated the bird, but she died three days later, probably from multiple internal injuries. One of her legs was broken. This is the second time I have verified such an unusual incident in the realm of migratory birds. The other accident happened in Michigan. Pity the poor ducks. Oil on the lakes and rivers kill them, and they die in the hundreds if they encounter a storm and fly low crashing into New York's skyscrapers.

EVER HEAR OF A BLACK WOLF? Well, they exist. This week at the National Sportsmen's Show in Toronto, I talked with Dave Irwin of the Explorers' Club, New York City. He had an Eskimo family, and ten huskies (dogs) in an exhibit at the show. I noticed a large black pelt and it turned out to be a black wolf. Irwin said, it was not uncommon in the far north to see a pack of grey wolves hunting, and a solid black one among them. The pelt in question came from the barren stretches of King William land. This is one of nature's many peculiarities. Two of the huskies attracted me, because their slant eyes were green, cold and cruel. He explained these two dogs were part Siberian, hence the unusual eyes. The true husky always curls its tail over its back, and is readily recognized. The Eskimo family comes from Wales, Alaska, and the husband got his taste of white civilization during the war. American army soldiers bought all the sea shells he could carve, and consequently, Mr. Eskimo was easily induced to travel the show circuit and make some easy money.

ONTARIO FEDERATION OF ANGLERS and Hunters at their last executive meeting proceeded to zone Southern Ontario. The eastern zone is all that area east of a line running north from Trenton. The central area includes Toronto and north to Orillia. The western area takes in Kitchener and all west to the Great Lakes. This means that Northumberland and Peterborough counties are in the central division rather than in the east. I feel we should be with the east. Temporary committees were named with Austin Peters, Kingston, heading the east zone. Blake Uren, Orillia, heads the central zone, and I am on that committee, while Dave Wilson of Kitchener chairs the western group. Each will have a separate governing body, responsible to the parent executive. Campbellford, Havelock, Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterborough and F. and G., and Kawartha Conservation if they are unanimous can go into the Eastern zone. The argument in favor of such a move is that the problems of the two areas are closely related.

A SMALL BOY WRITES: "What do you mean when you say 30-30, what these figures mean. My Dad has a 30-30 rifle but he can't tell me the answer". Well, sonny, I do not pose as a gun expert, but I can answer that one. This system of identifying rifles is now obsolete, as a rifle now is called .357 Magnum or .38 Remington or .303 Enfield. That is the calibre plus the maker's name. In the old days they coined the name 30-30. The first figure is the calibre of the rifle. The opening in the barrel is 30 one-hundredths of an inch. The second figure has reference to the gunpowder charge, meaning that the cartridge had 30 grains of black powder. Similarly we have 38-55, 44-40. Since those long-gone days many improved gunpowders have been introduced such as smokeless, and Dupont. Then too, there is cordite. The 30-30 cartridge available today may not be charged with 30 grains of black powder at all. It can be any of a dozen different powders, but it is still called 30-30.

ESSEX COUNTY SPORTSMEN are mad as hatters. The reason for this is that Pelee Island township council has set the pheasant hunting fee at a flat rate of $15 per person. Last year the fee was $5, plus one dollar for each bird shot. A hunter could shoot eight birds so his maximum license outlay could have been $13. Pelee Island is a pheasant hunter's paradise, 14 miles south of Essex county in Lake Erie. All predators have been removed and the pheasants thrive there. The Essex hunters claim this high fee will prevent many Canadian hunters from participating because it is too expensive, moreover, they contend the whole thing has become a commercial venture aimed at making the most money for the township, rather than a fair return and hunting for everyone. The Sportsmen are demanding that the Dept. of Lands and Forests supply no more pheasants free of charge to Pelee Island officials.

MEAN-TEMPERED BUCKS are reported to be maiming and killing late fawns in the Crown Game Preserve 40 miles north of here. One woodsman reports seeing a buck lash out viciously at a fawn, several times, and the fawn died before the woodsman could reach it. Another fawn injured in the hind quarters was rescued by Provincial Constable Bert Howden at Apsley. He is caring for the animal and it is responding nicely. Bucks are notorious for their ugly tempers, and at zoos, keepers are careful to keep the males away from the does and fawns at this time of year. Normally fawns would be well able to take care of themselves, but fawns born late, and a scarcity of food can put the odds against them. The bucks lose their horns in late winter anytime after Feb. 1, and start of new antlers does not improve their disposition.

DENNIE FITZGERALD and Gordon Hancock with Mr. Fitzgerald's son went north on Sunday to have a look at the deer country. There were a great many people walking across the wooded rocky stretches. Deer were plentiful, and one small fawn which stampeded when it saw the people, bogged down in deep snow. Fitzgerald Jr., was first to the animal, and it couldn't move. It showed no fear, and offered no resistance when Gordon Hancock carried it on his shoulders to the road. The men decided the fawn was too delicate to survive, so they drove to Apsley and turned the animal over to Prov. Constable Bert Howden. What a difference, some people go to great length to protect and conserve, and others kill deer even in March. Jim McGrath reports he counted 50 deer in one area of the Preserve on the week-end. He rigged a thread trip to photograph the deer, but a fast-travelling doe went by at such speed all he got was a rear-end view including the two legs.

Back in 1895 many unfortunate boys of eight or thereabouts were soundly "bawled out" for coming home late in the evening around 8 o'clock, when father found out they had been to the "Show." And if the wayward lads persisted in "going straight to the devil again" after a stern warning, there were no doubt loud doings in the woodshed. For father was a hard working man and respected in the community, and he would have no son of his hanging around "cheap entertainment places" spending a nickel to look at the pictures.

That was about all you could say for the entertainment back in those days. It meant looking through a peep hole at colored pictures moving through a machine on an endless belt. The power was supplied by a flashy looking gent in a loud waistcoat and tall derby turning a crank while another similar character turned a crank that produced music of the hurdy-gurdy variety. But, man, what thrilling sights. For five cents, at the expense of a stiff neck, you could see the complete story of the North West Rebellion right down to the sordid changing of Louis Reil in the Regina Barracks of the Royal North West Mounted Police.

These upstart picture houses were in direct opposition to the atres, glorioulsy named Opera Houses, where there were dazzling minstrel shows and timely tear-jerkers such as "Ten Nights In A Bar Room" and "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Picture shows grew in popularity with the invention of the projection lantern when the audience, tired of standing with heads in a peep sight, could sit on rows of rented chairs to see colored slides thrown on a canvas screen. Community singing slides were popular with some hired tenor leading in the singing of such popular ballads as "Way Down Yonder in the Corn Fields", "I'll Be With You When the Roses Bloom Again" and "Because We Were Poor", etc.

To hold audience spellbound, itinerate show people with trained dogs, seals, cats and ponies were an added attraction. There were even trapeze artists and all this shot the price of admission away up to ten cents. At this stage the nearest that the slides ever came to the animated class was when a graceful swan on one slide was drawn in front of a foreground of curling waves on another slide. This was really exciting and so lifelike.

The management hawked peanuts, popcorn and candy during the shows and small books of three-inch cubic measure which made pictures of John L. Sullivan's prize fights and horse races come to life with a flick of the thumb.

About this time inventors were fiddling away with hand-cranked movie cameras and projectors to bring simple stories to life on the canvas. The first films were so badly scratched that each scene appeared to have been shot in a violent rainshower. Then again there were effects of violent snowstorms and times when the projectors quit altogether and spewed yards of broken film over the audience and wrapped the bewildered operator in its coils.

It was a beginning of better techniques and the era of Pearl White's daredeviltry and Keystone Cops comedies. By 1925 movies had produced some very creditable pictures and actors. They were viewed in lush movie houses. Then came the addition of sound track to movie film which gave us our first talkie with Al Jolson in the "Jazz Singer".

To-day's child of eight will never have to put up the fight his grandad did when he wants to go to see the pictures in Peterborough. There is probably only one snag and that is that Grandad and Grandma want to go to movies on the very same night Junior had planned to attend a youth-appealing drama of the Wild West.

YOUTHFUL COUPLE—Leap year had nothing to do with the marriage of 12-year-old Cozette Morris Boyd, right, a seventh grade student at a public school in Ashland City, Tenn. According to her husband, Elmer Boyd, 20, a farm worker, he proposed marriage before Leap year and was virtually accepted. The youthful pair eloped to Kentucky. Both families approved the wedding.

Preston Family Played Important Role In The Life of Manvers Township

St. Mary's Anglican Church situated on Lifford Line was built in 1852 and is the oldest church in Manvers Township. A Sunday School was organized before the building of the church and Mr. Henry Timms (grandfather of Cecil Timms) was the first Superintendent and held that office until his death. During the time that the Rev. H. Burgess was Rector the first bell was erected. A Mrs. Collins donated $50.00 beginning a fund for the bell, and an inscription was put on it to that effect. It was a troy bell, brought out from England, but when put up was not satisfactory, so it was sent back to England, melted down and a larger bell made, weighing two tons, which is the one now in the church spire. Originally there was a gallery in the church, but this was later removed.

In the year 1893, Dorothy Sisson (the late Mrs. Arthur Flack) had a Sunday School class of five pupils . . . Heber Sisson, William Hannah, Winnie Hannah, Lyla Vance and Eva Flack. She gave each member of the class five cents to trade with, or invest, and make what money they could during the summer. The business endeavors of the class amount to $7.50 and with this money they bought a baptismal font for the church. The font is of marble and there is a brass shield on the stand with the names of the children inscribed on it, who raised the money. The first children baptized in St. Mary's Church were John R. Sisson, Reuben Dean and Reuben Sisson. The building of the church was accomplished by "bees" arranged by the people of the community and the land for the church and cemetery was donated by Col. Isaac Preston.

Preston Family

The Preston family were among the early pioneers of Manvers Township, having come originally from Scotland. In ancient St. Giles Church, Edinburgh, there is part of the sacred edifice known as "Preston Aisle." The pillars surrounding it still display the ancient Preston arms and motto. Like many Scots, members of the family migrated to England and Ireland and still later to he United States and Canada.

Isaac Preston, the immediate ancestor of the Manvers branch, left Ireland in 1806 and with his wife Sarah Porter and two small children settled at Amsterdam, New York. At the close of the war of 1812-1814, he moved his family to Canada and settled on Amherst Island.

About 1837, he and four of his sons, James, Isaac Jr., Alexander and Porter, acquired land in the Township of Manvers.

James, the eldest son, settled on the 7th concession, one mile west of Bethany, where he built the first grist mill. It is still in use today, being owned by Mr. Allan Gribble. The machinery for the mill came from England to Port Hope and was hauled from there on wagons. It is not known exactly in what year it was built, but according to older residents it must have been around 1840. James had six sons, of whom the third, Joseph Preston was one of the most popular men of his time. He carried on a grain business in Bethany under the name of "Preston Bros." (Jos. and Sydney Preston. He was elected deputy reeve fo Manvers in 1887 and was subsequently reeve for several years and warden of the United Counties of Durham and Northumberland in 1897. After his retirement from the council, he was appointed clerk, a position which he held for 29 years. In 1902 as the Conservative candidate he was elected to the Ontario Legislature for East Durham, a seat which he continued to hold until 1919. He was an orangeman, a mason and an active churchman. His sterling character, widespread business and political experience and his genial nature made him one of the most highly esteemed sons of Manvers.

Organized Lifford Company

Isaac Jr. settled on bush land on the south side of the 10th concession, owning all the land from the foot of Vance's Hill to Lifford School jointly with his brother Alexander. Isaac served in the Upper Canada Militia in the Rebellion of 1837. Later he organized the Lifford company of the 46th East Durham Regiment which he commanded for many years. He and his wife, Mary Ann Woodside, gave to the Church of England in Canada the land now known as St. Mary's Cemetery and whereon the church was built. He was a Justice of the Peace and took an active part in educational and political affairs. About 1891 he sold his farm and retired to Vancouver, B.C.

Alexander Preston and his wife Mary Johnston lived on the farm now occupied by the Lowery Brothers. In those days there were no doctors, lawyers or veterinary surgeons in the township and Port Hope was the nearest town. Alexander had a little education and was soon appointed Justice of the Peace and became the general counsellor and friend in need to the settlers. He bled the people when they were stick (physicians today would not approve!), advised them in their difficulties and settled their disputes. He and his wife entertained the early missionaries and the first Church of England services were held in their house or barn. They were active in supporting the building of the first Anglican Church in the township and gave their house for a home for the first minister appointed to the mission. Mary Preston, his wife, died in 1852 before the church was complete and her funeral was the first public service held in the edifice, which was named St. Mary's in her memory and still stands as a monument to her devotion. Incidentally, following the death of Mr. J. J. Preston, M.P., a vault was built in the cemetery on the church property in memory of him.

The first regular minister at St. Mary's was Rev. John Vicars, who was rector from 1859-1862 and again from 1872-1876. The Rev. Noah Disbrow served from 1862-1868, and Rev. Horace Mussen, 1866-1870; Rev. Henry Wright, 1870-1872. Rev. H. Burgess was appointed to the charge in 1876 and he resided in Bethany, this being the year in which St. Paul's Church, Bethany, was erected. He conducted services at the two churches until 1906 and was succeeded by Rev. J. A. Poston, 1909-1912; Rev. H. Caplan, 1912-1914; Rev. A. T. Weir, 1914-1923; Rev. George Fierheller, 1923-1932; Rev. A. R. Holden, 1932-1940; Rev. J. J. E. Mason, 1940-1947. The Rev. T. S. Gault is now the rector.

Continuing with the record of the Preston family, Alexander married a second wife, Margaret Johnston. Of his large family which became somewhat scattered, two of his sons, Isaac Jr. the second, and Heber Preston lived all their lives in Manvers. Isaac was a successful farmer and later retired to live in Bethany. He was a public spirited citizen and an active church worker, being the superintendent of St. Mary's Sunday School for 40 years. Col. J. A. V. Preston, KC, veteran of the Northwest Rebellion and the First Great War is a son, also Dr. W. J. Preston (dentist) of Peterborough, and Mrs. Ida Carscadden, now living in Hamilton, and who taught in Bethany Public School for 16 years, is a daughter. Heber Preston farmed on the 8th concession on the former Gillis property and later purchased the farm owned by the older brother Isaac. He was a man of sterling integrity, a good neighbor, a loyal friend and a public spirited citizen. He served the township as councillor and reeve from 1901-1904. He died at the age of 87 on July 9, 1942. His wife, the former Sarah Fallis, predeceased him in 1908.

The fourth son, Porter Preston, and his wife, Jane Cromwell, settled in Manvers about 1837 on a farm on the 8th concession. He also built and operated a saw mill on the 7th concession, where he was living at the time of his death. He was active in municipal and public affairs, an officer in the first Upper Canada Militia and a Justice of the Peace, also serving as reeve of the township. He and his brother Alexander occasionally ran against each other for the reeveship. He was also a very influential man, a fluent and effective public speaker, highly esteemed by all who knew him. He had six daughters, two of whom, Jane and Sarah, were talented and successful school teachers. Adeline taught music and was the first organist in St. Paul's Church. Both Miss Jane and Adeline lived to be over ninety years of age, occupying the house recently bought by Mr. Isaiah Strong on Wilson Street. Miss Jane gave up teaching due to the loss of her eyesight, but her stories of her extensive travels made her a most entertaining old lady, for her keen memory never failed. These two sisters had a parrot which entertained more than two generations of youngsters, who would flock to the Preston home to hear the talking bird. Their house was almost directly behind the United Church and on summer evenings when the parrot would be outside on the verandah and the church windows open, the parrot would try to imitate the singing. When the minister's voice would reach an unexpected high note during his sermon, the parrot would shout, "Don't talk so loud." This went on for several Sundays, much to the delight of the younger members of the congregation, until finally the Misses Preston realized that if they could hear the minister, the people could also hear the parrot, so "Polly" was duly kept in the house during service hours.

The first printed records in 1878 of Manvers township state, "The Preston family own considerable property on the 7th, 8th and 9th concessions. Members of the family have always occupied conspicuous positions and taken a leading part in the township affairs." This influence has lasted down through the year . . . an influence for good in the community! Although the rural population of the present time is small as compared with bygone years. St. Mary's Church still stands and continues to hold an important place in the district. There are many descendants of this pioneer family still living in the township, who may be duly proud of all that their ancestors accomplished.

"Were a Star quenched on High,
for ages would its light
Still travelling downward from the sky, shine on the world with might!
So, when a good man dies, for years beyond our ken,
The good he leaves behind him shines on the paths of men."

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER—Highlight of a banquet honoring the Regina Caps hockey team recently, was the presentation of the McSherry Memorial Trophy to Harvey Barnes, starry Cap defenceman. The trophy (awarded annually) and a miniature (which becomes personal property of the winner) goes to "the most valuable player to his team" in the Western Canada Senior Hockey league. Here Al Pickard, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey association (right), congratulates Harvey Barnes as he turns over the award.

NHL Title At Stake This Weekend

By HARRY ECCLES.

Now comes the wind-up, the dough blows in the National Hockey League, the last week-end of the 60-game schedule.

Either Toronto Maple Leafs or Detroit Red Wings will win the league title and the Prince of Wales Cup. The two top teams battle to-night at Toronto, and again at Detroit on Sunday in the final league game.

The Toronto Leafs go into the climatic series with a one-point edge. If they beat Detroit to-night they are league champions. If Detroit wins, then the Leafs will be down one point when they face Wings on their own ice at Detroit on Sunday.

Regardless of who wins, Detroit and Toronto will be the two top teams going into the Stanley Cup playoffs against the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers. But the play-off schedule cannot be settled until after Sunday night, because apart from the leaders, New York Rangers have a chance to tie Boston Bruins for third place.

The Stanley Cup play-offs have the first team against the fourth. Ain't nobody who can tell which is which until Sunday's results are in. It is only a few days since it was known that Toronto, Detroit, New York and Boston would be the Stanley Cup teams. Montreal Canadiens were eliminated at virtually the last minute, and Chicago's tail-end Black Hawks, a fighting team since Charley Conacher took over the coaching at the start of the year, still threatened to upset the applecart until about a week ago.

Anyway, it's the league title which occupies attention at the moment. Detroit Wings have been working out on the spacious ice at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, and the only fly in their ointment is that Bill Quackenbush, their very effective defenceman, has a thumb injury. On their side the Leafs may be without Joe Klukay, defenceman famous for his work in killing off penalties to his team. Klukay, iron man when a Leaf is in the cage, has a gimpy knee, hurt in practice at St. Catharines.

With standing room jammed it will be a crowd of better than 13,000 tonight when the Wings and Leafs skate out at Toronto.

Tonight's other game has the two tail-enders battling at Montreal, where the Black Hawks may make things hot for the Canadiens.

On Sunday, beside the Toronto-Detroit game, the schedule winds up with Montreal at Boston and Chicago at New York.

Those other games have an important bearing on the league scoring championship. At the moment Buddy O'Connor of New York has a four-point edge on Emer Lach of Montreal.

Hockey Excursion Set For Belleville

Arrangements have been made to take care of local and district hockey fans at the Legion-Toronto OHA Senior "B" semi-final deciding playoff game in Belleville on Monday night. A special train will run from Lindsay, leaving Peterborough at six and arriving in Belleville at 8.10, pulling out of the Quinte city around 11 or shortly after. The train can accommodate 800 fans, and that many tickets for the game will be available on the train.

In addition, two buses will go from here, leaving at 6.30, and they will have enough game tickets on board for all fans. It is expected that many Lindsay and Omemee fans will swell the Peterborough crowd for this important game in provincial semi-finals in Belleville.

Nurses, Normals Winners Cage Playoffs

Nurses nosed out a 27-21 nod over Neill's in the first of senior finals while Normals defeated Lock Co. 20-14 in the initial intermediate final last night in the Girls Basketball League at the YWCA gym. Both series are best-of-three, and the two intermediate finalists resume play on Monday evening. The first game last night drew a good gallery but the night-cap saw a slim gathering on hand.

Nurses roared into early action and by the halfway mark had amassed a 16-4 lead. Neill's showed their stuff in a desperate last-half drive in which they outscored Nurses 17-11 and had their opponents worried plenty and the fans excited. They might have won the game with better foul shooting, but they missed 21 of two dozen chances, while Nurses fanned a dozen times. J. Plunkett sparked the winners' attack with 13 points while A. Bowler and S. Curtis were also outstanding. Jean Vass and Dot Callan went best for the losers, but they were all hustling at the finish. The teams:

Nurses E. Crawford 3, S. Curtis 5, A. Bowler 6, J. Metcalfe, J. Plunkett 13, J. Deyell.

Neill's: D. Callan 6, E. McFadden 2, G. Davey 3, N. Crowder, F. Floyd 2, B. Reid, J. Vass 8, B. Jaquith, M. Freeman.

Second Tilt

In the second game of the play-off double-header, Normals were only one point better than Lock Co. the first half to hold an 8-7 edge. They clicked on several long shots in the second half while the Lock lasses muffed some neat in-close sniping chances, though they passed up but seven free tosses to a dozen by the victors. Some good passing was shown in spots by both sides and Lock Co. were pressing a bit at the finish. L. Homan and R. Jordan led the winners in scoring while B. McIlwaine topped Lock Co. with five points, all on free throws. The teams:

Normals: L. Homan 7, P. Brown 4, J. Ashley 3, M. Hicks, M. Jackson, M. Watson, R. Jordan 6, E. Gill.

Lock Co.: Y. Harvey, J. Johnston 4, B. McIlwaine 5, J. Reynolds, A. Firth 1, J. McIntyre 3, W. Floyd 1, M. Knox.

Referees, I. Cipin and R. Burrows; timer, A. Neiman.

HOLLYWOOD — Film actress Joan Crawford said she has been suspended by Warner Brothers for refusing to play in a movie but a studio spokesman said Miss Crawford withdrew from the picture, "A Kiss In The Dark" because she preferred to act in another film which will go into production soon.

WHIPPER COMING—When the cry of the mat fans went up to bring in someone who could handle the block-buster attacks of Wee Willie Davis Manager Jim Laidlaw made one of his best moves of the season. He signed Whipper Billy Watson as Davis' opponent for next Wednesday night. Wee Willie has been a stormy petrel in every bout and has proved a terrific problem for every wrestler he has faced. When he meets the popular and scientific Whipper the fans can be assured of spectacular action. Two other stellar bouts are being arranged.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Gradually defrosting the Show Window now as spring is officially here tomorrow, and less and less hockey appears on the shelves. In basketball, it's Marines tonight in St. Kitts, return tilt of their OABA intermediate "A" semi-final series. Results of last night's girls' games and PCVS jousts should be in elsewhere, though not at this writing, and on Monday, Lock Co. lasses have a final fray with Normals at eight p.m. in the YWCA. It could end there for these intermediates. Next Friday, Nurses have a second senior final with Neill's whilst Electrics and St. Paul's open their junior sawoffs. End is in sight for the cagers, too.

Badmintoneers got off to a start in their Central Ontario doubles championships on two local front last gloaming. Some keen competition served up for the spectators, both in ladies' and men's play. Some of the visiting racquet aces gave indication that this tourney would be far from a cake-walk for Peterborough exponents of this speedy sport, but the tale will be told tonight when the finals are held in the Market Hall. Give a look if you want to see a flock of colorful action by the pick of the badminton players in this part of the province. Public is invited for free.

OASA Clears Decks

OASA bulletin No. 3 arrives and is full of the coming convention Good Friday in Kingston. Local loop will be represented and Fred Griffin has been nominated for an executive office. Quite a number of amendments to be dealt with, including one from Peterborough to cut down the OASA take on playdown games from 20 to 15 per cent. It should get a lot of support from clubs generally throughout the province. Johnny Russelle's suspension will probably be dealt with at an executive meeting the previous night—he plans to attend the session.

* * * * * *

The OASA treasurer's report will show 1947 the best year yet in the association's history, with more entries and more mazuma realized. Affiliation fees brought in $1,097.00 while playoff returns amounted to $2,747.78, there being 213 entries in all series. The intermediate "A" return in playoffs came to $874.25. The association bank balance now shows $2,770.94, plus securities of $1,500.00, after all 1947 operating expenses were deducted. OASA would have realized considerably more but the average was pulled down by the many non-revenue producing minor clubs being encouraged. There are six such series. All in all, the setup is in most healthy condition and 1948 promises to be even better.

Play On Quinte Ice

Word came through yester aft that the deciding game of the OHA senior "B" playdown series betwixt Legionnaires and Toronto Fliers will be in Belleville at 8.30 p.m. Monday. With a special running through from Lindsay. Locals wanted it tonight but the Toronto crew held out for Monday or Tuesday on artificial ice, and the OHA settled for Monday on the Quinte sheet. Round is tied up at 8-8 and they'll settle the issue the first of the week. Arguments pro and con as to which club will show best on fast footing, after their two goes in heavy mucking. We like the Legion chances, but folks will see what's what comes Monday evening. And a goodly crowd no doubt will be there.

* * * * * *

One thing noticeable about the Legionnaires this puck season is their team spirit. Good fellowship is the hallmark of any winning club, and Legion has lots of it. While they're a bunch of battlers on the ice, they don't crab at teammates' mistakes between periods or after a game. Except sometimes in a kidding way. Like: "What blond in the fourth row were you looking at when that guy stepped into you?" The Peterborough players razz the 'Caygeon contingent but usually Ernie or Ross get in the last dig. Scotty's Gaelic gears are more than equal to the usual barrage directed trainer-ward by the working hockeyists. And Manager Cy Withers' broad shoulders lightly shed cracks passed his way by the boys. They have a lot of fun off the ice.

If You're Interested

In passing, we have observed that the fastest dresser—when he is playing—after a game is Mick Magee. On account of he likes to grab that back seat in the bus. A lucky seat, eh, Mick? Slowest to get garbed is Johnny Godfrey, though Ned Vitarelli often barely—and we do mean barely—beats him into the shows by a slippery step. Rest of the bunch shake their puck togs with varying speeds, most of 'em being anxious to hit the bus and get going. When every "home" game is a trip and you don't reach Peterborough till after midnight, it gets a bit tiresome. And much longer jaunts are in prospect now, the further they go along the provincial playdown path.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: Annual soccer meeting is at seven p.m. Monday in the YMCA, an open session for all interested....Frank Buckland tells us Legion are likely in semi-finals now as Grimsby will end their series with Sarnia tonight and Ingersoll finished with Waterloo this p.m.; that's all left as Milverton goes back to intermediate "A"....CAHA will declare Dominion intermediate "A" champs this year....Three local OHA clubs should vote immediately on their most valuable players and send in names to the OHA—each club's player picked gets a trophy, the voting being done by players only....Bloomfield withdrew their protest on Marmora, so Marmora now meets Sundridge probably in "C" semi-finals, playing in Belleville and in Midland....But Marmora mustn't use any Norwood players from now on....Looks like hockey is about washed up around these parts as spring arrives....Rabbit McVeigh, AHL referee, recently handed out a penalty and the player threw his stick in the air; Rabbit yelled: "If it comes down you get a misconduct and $25 fine!"—of course the stick came down....And with these few words we'll leave.

CITY CARPETBALL

Only three games reported this week, one from each section.

In the President's Cup games Big Bens eliminated the Wardens after two ends of overtime; first game being 10-6 and the second 12-9. This means Big Bens will not meet the Wanderers in the final phase.

Nicholas-Holden combine ousted the Metcalfe-Whitehead pair but had to go three games to do so—9-13, 8-6, 11-6.

The only game reported from the schedule proper was that between King Billie and the Old Sweats with the Orange Squeezers coming through to make it a clean sweep over their opponents fo rthe season, 19-9 and 10-8 being the last scores, to make it a gra nd total of 56-33.

The balance of the schedule still shows the Big Bens in their usual season's position with three games in hand and with the league leaders two to play. aGmes to be played are LOL 4 v Big Bens 10; Wardens 9 v BESL 6, SOE 2 v Big Bens 10, SOE 2 v BESL 7, Wanderers 1 v BESL 8, Big Bens 10 v BESL 6.

In the doubles, the following games are to be played:

F. Bell-A. Bromley v H. Clapham-H. Nokes.

E. Nicholls-E. Holden v R. Ralston-A. McLean.

A. Sims -J. Wilson v. A. Moscrop-F. Topgood.

PCVS Juniors Eliminate Niagara Falls

TORONTO, March 20 (CP). — Coming through with a third-period splurge, Fort Erie's senior boys entry in the Central Ontario Secondary School Association basketball semi-finals here yesterday eliminated Peterborough 41-35. In the other semi-final COASSA games here, Peterborough junior boys stopped Niagara Falls 43-39, while Niagara Falls junior girls hung up a convincing 37-11 victory over Bowmanville.

The triumphs place Fort Erie in the finals, with Orillia here to-day with Peterborough junior boys also meeting an Orillia entry and Niagara Falls girls playing Belleville for the title.

The senior boys' games were close from start to finish, the Forts coming from behind to lead by a single point at the half and win going away in the final stanza. The Peterborough crew stayed with the fast-breaking Niagara District champions right up to the final stanza when Jack Logan, who was high scorer of the contest with 13 points, started hitting the hoop with regularity.

The junior contest was even closer, the Peterborough boys never more than one or two baskets ahead of Niagara Falls. Don Griffin and Al Northcott paced the visitors, each getting 15 points with teammate Thompson counting 12 markers. Bernard McManus and Pete Potter led Niagara Falls with 14 and 12 points respectively.

Niagara Falls junior girls lost little time with the Bowmanville lassies, more than tripling the losers' score in advancing to the finals. Using a close passing combination, the Falls girls hit the hoop at will. Sundberg and Downing paced the victory with 15 points between them, while Northcrest was the only member of the losing team to score more than 2 points.

The line-ups:

Senior Boys.

Fort Erie 41—Atwood 8, Dickson, Eden, Graves 2, Hickey 4, Logan 13, McReynolds 4, Plato 10, Tubb, Westrope, Zachay.

Peterborough 35—Connell, McKee 7, Richardson 6, H. Dibben 6, D. Dibben 7, Taylor, Payne, Hempstead, Griffin 6, Thompson 3.

Junior Boys.

Niagara Falls 39—Potter 12, McManus 14, Krowchuk 2, Burnett, Fry 1, Mulligan 2, Kalbfleish, Shere 1, Swain 7, McKenzie, Sulivan.

Junior Girls.

Niagara Falls 37—Sundberg 8, Neawit 7, Downing 14, Chantry 4, Neilson 2, Mills 2, Frizzel, Logan, Fraser, Brock, Lychy, De Pola.

Bowmanville 11 — Diopelle 1, Evans 2, Northcrest 4, Fisher 2, Bates, Sudds 2, Haley, Osborne, Mullon, Chartram, Campbell, Bowles.

elleville Girls Vin Two Basketball

TORONTO, March 20.—(CP)— lleville girl entries in the sen- and junior basketball division the Central Ontario Secondary hool Association basketball yoffs here last night came out the top end of the semi-final nd as did the Orillia boys en- ed in the senior and junior se- s of the same play.

n all, eight semi-final games re contested, winners meeting the finals today. The scores re:

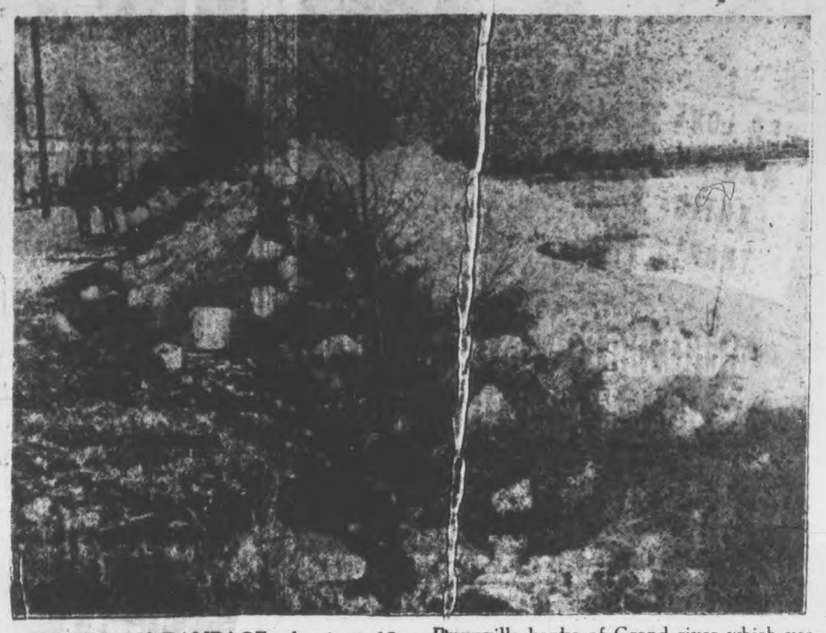
The Beleville quintets, which re given close battles in each me, stole the girls' competition ile the Georgian Bay district amps from Orillia had an easy ne in winning their encounters.

Probably the hightlight of the ening was the Fort Erie-Peterrough senior boys' game which as close all the way. The Forts ld a one-point lead at the half th Peterborough coming rough to knot the count at the ree-quarter mark. Both teams ayed a zone defence style of ay.

Jack Logan, who topped both ams with 13 points, showed the ay in the final period, however, he hit the basket from all anes to give the Forts a nine point ad with less than three minutes maining.

Belleville and Barrie senior irls, playing a tight defensive me, went the limit before Belleille lassies were able to walk off e floor wth a 14-1 decision. In e other senior girls contest, beween Burlington and Bowmman- ille, the former made it a rout, unning up 22 points while holdng the Bay of Quinte district hamps to four goals.



Trenton seniors proved no match for the taller Orillia boys who went into a lead they never elinquished, winning 35-20 going away. Lieth led the Orillia narksmen with seven points, while teammates Johnston, MacTaggart and Page garnered six apiece. Doug Plunkett scored six points for the losing cagers.

In winning their engagement, 28-11, over Belleville, Orillia junior boys scored almost at will. Hamilton, of the victorious team, was high man on both squads with 13 points.

It was the Belleville girls who held up the junior name of the town, however, as they whipped Owen Sound 36-28 to enter the finals against Niagara Falls today.

SPRING FLOODS BLOCK TRAFFIC — Rainfall and spring thaws are expected to affect Kitchener, Galt, Paris and Brantford, Ont., as fears are held for a second flood along the Grand river. Huge cakes of ice along the Grand river are being swept over the pavement, blocking traffic. The swollen Maitland river smashed into the north pier at Goderich, Ont., ripping out a 100-ft. gap and then widening the breach by 75 feet, as shown in above photo. Even the concrete was torn out as ice was swept over the south pier as it rushed towards the other pier.

GRAND ON RAMPAGE—Ice jam, 10 feet high, was raised in a few minutes along Dunnville banks of Grand river which yesterday went out with a roar at its Port Maitland mouth.

44 Horses Ready For Grand National

AINTREE, England, March 20. —(AP)— Thrill seeking thousands flowed to this storied race course today for the 102nd running of the Grand National Steeplechase, greatest jumping classic of the turf.

Forty-four runners were primed for parade to the post (9:15 a.m. EST) for the 4½ mile marathon, blocked by 30 bristling fences and water moats.

The horse to beat in the classy field—13 smaller than last year when the 100-1 chance Caughoo spurted out of the mist a 20-length winner—was Lord Bicester's Silver Fame, the steady favorite.

Gasoline rationing, which bars all pleasure driving, placed a heavy burden on public transportation, holding the crowd to some 250,000. The king and queen and other members of the royal family decided to remain at home.

Bookmakers laid 100-8 against Silver Fame, gelded son of Werewolf and winner of five straight chases. The National, however, seldom is won by the favorites, and small bettors looking for big winners had plenty of longer odds offered on some likely candidates.

ever grow out of the ruins. As it is, I think a better world will grow out of the ruins, and I'm trying to hurry it up. My stuff doesn't make the money it used to, since the capitalists don't care for it, but it's being read where some day it will count a lot."

Here were three very different men — the poolroom hanger-on, the independent teller and the brilliant but unstable intellectual —who hate and had cause to hate the prevailing system for what it had done to them. And since all men are not born strong and purposeful, the fact that two of them largely brought about their own troubles is beside the point.

Webster's New International Dictionary define Democracy as:

"The principle or system of government by the people. Belief in or practice of social equality; disregard for social barriers, as of class; absence of snobbery."

The apostles of Red revolution contrast the real state of affairs with the ideal, telling half-truths, choosing the darkest pigments for their canvas. There is just enough basis for their most violent slanders of Canadian democracy to carry weight with those who are too bitter, too hasty or too careless to notice that the brighter colors are left out deliberately.

Communism, as it exists in the world today, even so has vastly less to recommend it. Webster, again, desribes it ideologically as: "Any theory or system of social organization involving common ownership of the agents of production, and some approach to equal distribution of the products of industry."

Iron Curtain Hides Truth

No intelligent or thoughtful person can believe the boasts of the Stalinist fifth columnists about the miracles of progress purportedly achieved in the Soviet Union under Communism.

More eloquent than their most resounding oratory is the silent, stubborn fact of the iron curtain which prevents the rest of the world from looking into Russia and the people of Russia from viewing the rest of the world. Our only dependable means of knowing what goes on behind that curtain is to read the official Soviet press — between the lines.

While guarding carefully against any uncensored world news entering the U.S.S.R., the rulers of Russia tell the people in their newspapers and by radio of horrible want and suffering in all the nations, of wholesale disease and starvation, of cataclysmic crashes, of disaster of every description. Much of this "news" is manufactured from whole cloth; the rest is based on shaky factual foundations distorted and colored for the purpose.

That purpose can only be to convince the regimented slave peoples of Russia and her satellite states that however hard their lot, the lot of people outside the sacred barriers of Russia is hideously worst. It permits of no conclusion other than that, under the Communist tyranny, Russia is in a far sorrier state than its overlords can afford to admit.

Same Tiactics Planned Here

Absolute control of the press, of education, of speech and entertainment is an important part of the announced Communist program for Canada when the last vestige of her democracy has been wiped out. For knowledge has always been the worst enemy of the great dictatorships of history, whereas an ignorant of a deceived people has always been helpless.

Ignorance is one of the strongest allies of Red agitators in Canada, too. Communism supplies tailor-made opinions and slogans to those who are unable to formulate their own thoughts and who, consequently, find themselves bewildered a good deal of the time.

Says the president of a Windsor local union, who has fought hard against persistent Red infiltration:

"I am in contact with admitted Communists every day, some of them well-educated, some who are barely able to write their names. It's easy to see that all of them get their opinions from higher up. I'll go from one end of the shop to the other, asking them questions — which they are perfectly willing to answer — and every one of them, literate or illiterate, will repeat almost word for word the same replies. It's uncanny."

That's another reason why so many people who seem to be doing well enough materially under our system of "bourgeois capitalism" become Communists. All men, consciously or unconsciously, feel the need for a philosophy that will give meaning to life. The Communists supply that need with arguments so plausible that the unthinking are convinced before they know it.

Communist "Religion"

The Communists go further. In these days when religious faith in many quarters is weaker than it ever has been since the turn of the century, they supply all the trappings of religion to fill the vacuum that exists in thousands of minds and hearts.

Religious patterns and beliefs have been replaced with counter-patterns and counter-beliefs. As Martin Ebon, in his new and authoritative book "World Communism Today," puts it:

"Even outwardly, the resemblance between Communism and traditional religious practices is striking. There are scriptures that the initiated study. There are speeches and writing of prophets. There is a hierarchy, and there are missionaries. There is excommunication for heresy. There is public confession of sin, nearly identical with self-castigation at revival meetings. There is a centre of strength which inspire and demands devotion. And there is a final salvation that will reward the sacrifices of the present.

"Like any transcendent religious faith, Communism helps to heal — outwardly at least — the soul pains of human insecurity. It provides its adherents with a Great Purpose. It gives their lives a meaning. It reveals a path for the lost or bewildered. It has an answer to every question. It seeks to destroy all doubt and demands full allegiance. The burden of individual decision does not strain the shoulders of its followers."

In a sense that is an indictment Marx's characterization of religion as "the opium of the people." Somewhere, somehow, the Church — which once kept faith alight in all the world — has failed miserably, to let the rival destructive faith of Communism gain such influence as it wields today.

And all of Communism is a stern indictment of the guardians of our democracy, of every man and woman who holds democracy and liberty dear — and who forgot to watch over it while predatory rival ideologies prowled the world and devoured the freedoms of other peoples.

When all the questions about the why and how and what of Communism have been asked, and all the various answers found, one other far more vital question will remains:

Is democracy doomed?

Monday—
The Cure of Communism.

Savold Seeks Lesnevitch Match

NEW YORK, March 20 — (AP). — Heavyweight Lee Savold took a deep bow in the centre of the boxing stage today, and asked for a fight with Gus Lesnevich, the light heavyweight champion.

That was the immediate outcome of Savold's sensational 54-second, first round knockout over Gino Buonvino last night in Madison Square Garden.

Filling in as a substitute for Joe Baksi on 48 hours notice, the 32-year-old ring veteran from Paterson, N.J., registered the fastest main event kayo in the Garden's history. Baksi had been forced to withdraw because of a bad ankle.

It was Lesnevich, now getting too hefty to make the light heavyweight scale, who held the previous Garden mark—59 seconds over Melio Bettina May 23, 1947.

For the deflated Italian champion, it was a bitter setback — his first after 11 straight triumphs in the United States.

Savold was making his first ring appearance since last August, while the handsome Italian had been established a 2-1 favorite.

Raise $160 For Britain In South Monaghan

BAILIEBORO, March 20 (ENS) —South Monaghan Township school area and municipal council sponsored an entertainment in Centreville hall on Friday. More than $160 was raised for fund "Canadian Aid for Britain." Progressive euchre and dancing were enjoyed. Prizes went to Mrs. Wm Gaynor, Miss Betty Vowels, Earl Hutchison and Orville Younge.

Volunteer music for dancing was supplied by Frank Buckham, James Wood Sr., James Wood, Jr., McIntosh Bradshaw, Tom Hannah, Mrs. James Wood and Mrs. Joseph Edgerton.

GETS APPOINTMENT — Major R. E. Hogarth, DSO, formerly of Sault Ste. Marie, has been appointed Canadian military attache to Yugoslavia, it was announced at Ottawa by the Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of national defence. He will have the acting rank of lieutenant-colonel while so serving. Lieut.-Col. Hogarth, 31, served throughout the second world war in the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Impatient Co-Op Party With Attlee

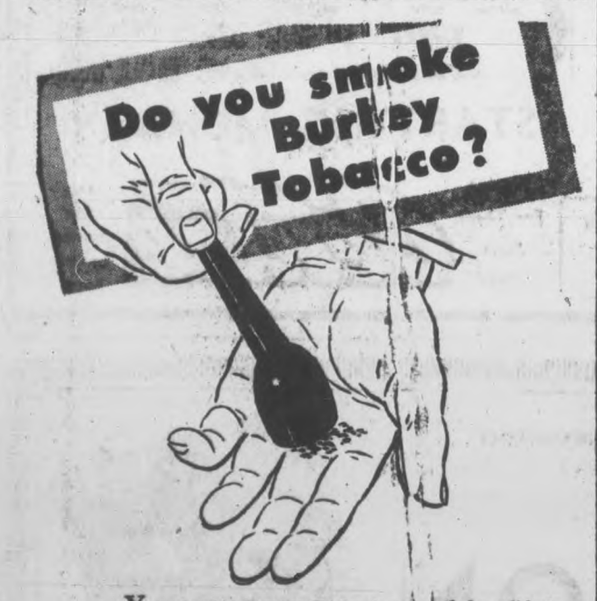
By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, March 20—(CP)— The Co-operative Party, a faithful and powerful friend of the Labor Government, will indicate its impatience with some national policies when it meets in annual session March 26.

It represents a substantial force as it counts 669 affiliated societies with a membership of 8,187,602 compared with 7,841,781 a year ago. In Parliament 23 Labor members are members of the Co-operative Party, including Defence Minister Alexander and Transport Minister Barnes.

Political observers do not expect a break of sufficient importance to force Co-operative members to abandon their support of the Attlee administration. But ever since the Labor Government took office there have been indications their movement has not been sufficiently recognized.

Ask Tax Off



A report to be presented to the Co-operative Party conference this year states that representatives met former Chancellor Hugh Dalton, after his 1947 April budget, to urge that the purchase tax should be removed from all non-luxury articles.

It was regarded as "an unwelcome fact" that increases in purchase tax were among the features of the autumn budget.

The conference will debate the food subsidies, which the party would like to see maintained at whatever level is necessary to keep down costs to the consumer. Resolutions to be debated indicate party concern over the increase of Fascist activity in the United Kingdom.

The report said the party will continue to press for international supervision and control of the oil industry and regrets the Labor Government opposed such a plan when it was put before the United Nations.

108 MILLION DOLLARS

...blessing or boomerang?

During 1948 Ottawa will pay back this tremendous total to individual Canadians in the form of refunds on 1942 Income Tax (Compulsory Savings) and as cash for War Savings Certificates maturing during the year. Some of this money may be coming to you.

EXTRA MONEY is always useful, and in homes across Canada these payments will be welcomed as valuable additions to income.

But the catch is that this additional spending power, if translated into immediate buying, would almost certainly drive present prices still higher and increase your own cost of living.

It is, therefore, wise, if your budget permits, to defer your spending, putting the money instead into the purchase of additional CANADA SAVINGS BONDS.

Never forget, the money you have coming to you as a Tax Refund, or as the proceeds from War Savings Certificates, is the fruit of your wartime saving effort. It represents a cash asset; think twice before you spend it.

Canada Savings Bonds can be purchased over the counter at any branch of The Royal Bank of Canada. You can buy them outright for cash, or if you wish, use the proceeds of your government cheque as a down payment for bonds to be paid for by instalments. The procedure is simplicity itself. Our nearest branch will look after all details for you.

World Danger Worst Yet Speaker Says

The world is in the greatest danger situation in its history, said W. J. McCulloch, veteran newspaperman, addressing a meeting of the Sales and Ad Club Thursday night. He urged closer ties with other members of the British Commonwealth of Nations and continued co-operation with the United States.

The speaker was scathing in his attack on Col. B. McCormick, owner of the Chicago Tribune and its attacks on relations between the United States and Britain.

Mr. McCulloch gave word pictures to the audience of several assignments which he had covered during his 21 years as a newspaperman, the last 10 of which had been as foreign editor of the Hamilton Spectator.

He described the Ottawa joint meeting of the Commons and Senate at which Winston Churchill had given an address, and gave him personal observations of Churchill's abilities as a leader. He expressed the hope that more men of his calibre would arise.

Another scene reconstructed for the club was the opening of the Ivy Lee international bridge at which President Roosevelt and Prime Minister King had officiated. Roosevelt's character, as seen through the eyes of an experienced observer, was discussed.

The speaker is now sales manager of a brewing concern. He was introduced by Robert Gamble. Thanks of the club was expressed by Blake Bell.

WA Plans Tea

HASTINGS, March 20 (ENS)—St. George's WA met at the home of Miss D. Plant. Besides doing a quilt, an enthusiastic business discussion took place.

Plans were completed for the stand-up tea for the Turner fund, to be held at Miss Plant's home on March 31. The committee includes Miss Plant, Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. E. Smullin. Mrs. C. M. Baker is in charge of making posters

Miss Plant served lunch, including a lovely birthday cake to honor Mrs. J. Dainard, Mrs. J. Johnson, and the hostess, all of whom had birthdays during the past few days.

Couple Marks 44th Anniversary

MARMORA, March 20—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Osborne quietly celebrated the 44th anniversary of their wedding on Thursday. They were married by the late Rev. F. H. Howard, who at that time was on the Cobourg Methodist circuit. Mr. Osborne retired on pension from the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited a few years ago and for three seasons of the year, enjoys gardening at his home on North Hastings avenue.

Congratulations were received from their children and a number of friends.

Penal Reform Crying Need So-Eds Told

Urges All Agencies To Start Children Right To Cut Delinquency

Speaking on "Penal Reform" Alex Edmison, KC, told So-Ed on Wednesday night "in my opinion the important consideration is crime prevention. The important thing is to make sure that youngsters don't get into trouble in the first place." He was guest speaker at the last of six weekly lectures given by So-Ed at the Normal School.

He said the average convict came from a slum area and as a youth had a broken or neglected home. As a child he had no proper upbringing and no sense of security, no schooling beyond the fourth grade, and no trade. And he said the average prisoner had no contact with a church or other character building agencies.

A British penologist told Mr. Edmison "the more we study the chap's past the less we wonder why he got into trouble."

Quoting from the Archambeault Report which was brought in in 1938, he said, "The average prisoner leaves a Canadian penitentiary the worse for having been there." "What a damning indictment of our penal system," he said.

Prison reformers want "a reformative prison system of the type operative in Britain since 1907, based on the Borstal system and ideal."

"The British experience of 40 years is that when a boy receives that treatment he will get in the march of life and stay in step."

Ashamed of System

For many years he said he was ashamed to attend international conferences on the subject because Canada's penal system was so antiquated.

He began his lecture by debunking the so-called "good old days," contending that things were not as rosy as some oldsters contended.

Vicious Program

"The same person who glorifies the good old days says, 'we had a way of dealing with juvenile delinquency and crime'." The first Royal Commission in 1849 showed what this "way" was. Peter Charbonneau, 10, serving a term in Kingston penitentiary was lashed 57 times in six months for talking, turning around and winking. Another boy identified as Convict Antoine, 8, was lashed 47 times in six months.

Similar treatment was given to teen-aged women prisoners.

"That sort of treatment was futile, availed nothing, and those that survived became all the more depraved and vicious. It was utterly worthless."

In contrast to this he said recently RCMP had been going into elementary schools and talking about law and why it was necessary to children at an impressionable age. By this means, he said, they were building up respect for the law and police.

He described the success police at No. 2 Station in Toronto have had by providing instructors at a social and athletic club for young boys. Even sceptics were forced to admit that the new friendly spirit between policemen and schoolboys was drastically slashing juvenile delinquency in the district.

"I find that crime has many of the aspects of disease including contagion," he said. The church, home, and school were the three necessary institutions in influencing youth. He also reiterated the importance of the economic factor: "As long as we allow slum areas to exist we will have criminals."

Coddling the prisoners has been a charge hurled against prison reformers since the pioneering efforts of John Howard and Elizabeth Fry. It has often been said that making the prisons institutions of reform would remove any incentive of the prisoner to return to the world and would cease to make it a deterrent to potential prisoners.

Mr. Edmison denied that this charge had any foundation. "The greatest punishment is the taking away of liberty." If a person were confined in the most lavish hotel for even a few weeks they would soon long for their freedom, he said.

A Start Made

"Penal reform has begun in Canada," he declared. As an example of this he said a recent course for prison guards has been started in Ottawa "to improve the efficiency of the federal prison service by raising the standards of penitentiary officers."

Physical fitness, knowledge of specific responsibilities, factors influencing human behaviour, advances in penology, knowledge of social problems and causes of crime, law, and a list of hobbies, were all subjects studied by this first class of prison guards who it is hoped will take a new attitude to their duties.

Given the proper opportunity many prisoners seek to better themselves, he said. One had won credits from Queen's University, including a bursary, after little schooling while serving a 10-year term for armed robbery. Another prisoner student had won nine Queen's credits including five first class honors.

After 100 years segregation of professional criminals from first offenders has begun, he said. He pointed to the Brampton Training School, started last year where there is "no barbed wire, machine guns, walls." But he added, there were machines and an opportunity to learn a trade. "It is giving the lad a chance he never had before."

Formerly these offenders, all under 21, would have gone to Guelph or Burwash and would have consorted with experienced criminals.

Humane Leaders

With General Gibson, Dr. L. P. Gendreau and Joseph McCulley in charge the Canadian prison system "now has intelligent, civilized, and humane men."

He attacked the Canadian legal system which did not provide counsel for a man unless he could pay for it except in murder trials. This had been done away with in Britain where everyone had a right to legal advice even if unable to pay for it. He said he knew that many young men had begun lives of crime because they had originally been sentenced for offences that would have been dismissed if the accused had a lawyer.

"We still have imprisonment for debt in Canada, because of the fine system." One man can pay easily, and goes scot free, he said; the other is unable to and is imprisoned.

He told of the work being done by the John Howard Society to help in the rehabilitation of exconvicts. And he told of the difficulty a man who has been a prisoner for several years has when he faces the world a free man once more.

"Not all our cases turn out successfully," he said. But he contended that the vast amount of good work that had been done in setting former prisoners on the right path, justified the effort.

"I know as good people you will help the young people of Canada," he said appealing directly to the citizens of Peterborough "And the more you do to aid in crime prevention, in promoting reformative penology, and in the rehabilitation of discharged prisoners, the better it will be for the spiritual, social and economic future of Canada.

The speaker was introduced by Leo Copp and thanked by George H. Roper. Quirt McKinney presided.

GREAT-WEST Leaders

Four leading representatives of The Great-West Life in Peterborough and district, have qualified for the Company's 1948 President's Club.

This club is composed of representatives of the Company in Canada and the United States, who are leaders in securing new business and in maintaining a high standard of service to policyholders.

M. Littner was the leading producer in the District and becomes Branch Vice-President of the Club.

Outstanding performances, such as these leaders gave in 1947, were a major contributing factor in the year of progress enjoyed by the Peterborough Branch.

MORE TELEPHONES + SERVICE IMPROVEMENTS

GREATER VALUE TO EVERY TELEPHONE USER

IN TWO short years we have added over 257,000 telephones, put in hundreds of switchboards and trained thousands of people to extend and improve your telephone service.

We are adding more telephones to meet the continuing demand for service just as fast as equipment becomes available.

All this is being done in the face of rising costs. Yet, up to now, there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 21 years ago.

For you, this means greater value than ever before: for us, the satisfaction of providing "the best telephone service at the lowest possible cost".

It has been estimated that there are probably less than 1,000 Trumpeter Swans in the whole of North America. Every remaining pair of these beautiful birds is vitally important to the continued existence of the species, and the protective legislation which has been enacted on their behalf must be carefully observed in order to save these birds from total extinction. More detailed information concerning this and other elements of our natural resources, and full-color reprints of our wildlife pictures, without advertising, are available free by writing to The Carling Conservation Club, Dept. D., Waterloo, Ontario.

In 1813, Audubon carefully estimated that he saw over a billion Passenger Pigeons in one day. Today there are none. This same fate may overtake the Trumpeter Swan unless great care is taken in conserving the meagre supply which still exists.

The Kingdom of God

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Mark 4:26-29; Luke 4:16-22a; 17:20, 21; Romans 14:17.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Jesus likened the kingdom of God to a man sowing seed in the ground where it would grow and ripen, and at last the man would cut it down with a sickle because it was ripe for the harvest.

Jesus went back to His hometown, Nazareth, and, as was His custom, on the Sabbath, He went into the synagogue. He took the book of the prophet, Isaiah, and opened it and read.

Jesus closed the book, gave it to the minister, and began to talk to the congregation, and all were amazed at His gracious words and said to one another, "Is not this Joseph's son?"

When Pharisees asked Jesus when the kingdom of God would come, His answer to them was, "Behold the kingdom of God is within you."

MEMORY VERSE—Luke 11:28

Judas Iscariot Revealed Jesus As the Son of God

The High Priest Said Unto Him: I Adjure Thee By The Living God That Thou Tell Us Whether Thou Be The Christ The Son Of God. Jesus Said Unto Him: Thou Hast Said.

A modern scholar is of the opinion that Judas Iscariot not only betrayed the Lord for thirty pieces of silver he also revealed to the ecclesiastical authorities His great secret that He is the Son of God. Such an opinion may help you to understand the formal charge. The Carpenter is standing before the Sanhedrin, the highest Church court. He is put on oath by the official head—the high priest—The oath and charge is very clear:—"I adjure Thee by the living God that Thou tell us whether Thou art the Christ, the Son of God." The Prisoner answers briefly: — "Thou hast said". The high priest tears his garment according to custom saying:—"Thou hast spoken blasphemy" He is condemned to death. Why? Because He is the Son of God. In passing it is wise to remember that this is an ecclesiastical charge. Before Pontius Pilate is a political Charge:—"The King of the Jews".

Careful study of the Gospels teaches that Our Lord rarely answers a straight question with a straight answer. He desires men to think and thinking is hard work.

A group of men come from John the Baptist, His fore-runner, who is in prison. In his name they ask:—"Art Thou He that should come, or look we for another?" Ponder His answer. "Go and show John the things ye do hear and see". John must arrive at his own conclusion—he must think.

The Master gathers a small group of men—apostles—that they might be with Him and discover His secret. He cannot plainly tell them that He is the Christ. They have a wrong mental idea firmly planted into their minds. Can you read these words with imagination : — "Kings shall be thy nursing fathers and queens thy nursing mothers; they shall bow down to thee with their faces to the earth and lick up the dust off thy feet." Isai 49; 23. This is the idea in the mind of Zebedee's wife asking the Lord for the first two places for her sons, James and John, in His Kingdom on earth.

Towards the end of His ministry He asks the Apostles the all important question:—"Whom say ye that I am?" Simon Peter answers: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God". He has made the great discovery. It is no wonder that the Lord with deep emotion give him the blessing:—"Blessed art thou, Simon bar Jona, flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee but My Father which is in heaven. Peter does not understand the full meaning of his confession that he, a Jew, would give Divine honour to Jesus of Nazareth and worship Him as God. That is coming after much mental tribulation.

It is comforting to remember that on two occasions Our Lord reveals Himself clearly and plainly. To the Samaritan woman:—"I that speak unto thee am the Messiah". To the beggar born blind, whose eyes He restored:—"thou hast seen the Son of God and He it is that talketh with thee." And he said, "Lord, I believe and he worshipped Him. To plain, simple people the Lord reveals Himself. He knows their limitations. He gives the invitation:—"Come unto Me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest". "Thanks be unto Thee, O Lord".

At the same time this does not release us from thinking and striving to grasp the mystery and the wonder of the truth that God became man and that in Christ Jesus we have a revelation of what God is like. "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father" saith the Christ.

Simon Peter Said Unto Jesus: We Believe That Thou Art That Christ, The Son Of The Living God."

SURVIVORS UNKNOWN

A check of the known owners of red setters in the city has not disclosed the name of the owner of the big dog which met its death earlier this week by drowning in the Goose Pond.

FEW CUSTOMERS ON FRIDAY

Downtown merchants said sales were very low today. Heavy rain kept shoppers to a minimum as comparatively few people braved the heavy downpour of rain. One retailer was lamenting the fact that this would increase the already heavy Saturday buying.

LADIES ASSIST

During the recent Hydro crisis in Lindsay in February ladies of the Lindsay Curling Club took it on themselves to phone 1,600 consumers to ask them to "go easy" on appliances power. It was such an outstanding effort that the local Hydro Commission may vote the club $150 in appreciation.

ROBIN RESTAURANT

Mrs. W. Booth, 674 Lundy's Lane, reports that she noted a lone robin on the road in front of her house Friday. The bird gratefully accepted some food which she placed out for it. The prices these days are evidently affecting every strata of life.

ORDERED TO PAY $6,314.66

His Honor Judge Smoke has ordered that the firm of Biggar & Crawford, stock brokers, pay to Norman Giles, 521 Armour Road, $6,314.66 in an action brought by Mr. Giles through his solicitor, Emmett F. Sheehy to recover the said amount. The action was dismissed without costs upon the application of the solicitor for Mr. Giles and the consent of the solicitor for the firm of Biggar & Crawford to pay the amount.

OLD MAN RIVER QUIET

Constable L. F. Coughlin of Port Hope advises that the annual flood menace, the Ganaraska river, is behaving itself so far although water is running very full. There is no betting yet on what might happen in the way of flooding as the bottom ice is still lodged in the river bottom at the Old Mill Art School. When it comes up and starts jamming, another chapter may be added to the story and citizens have their fingers crossed.

WINTER'S WASTAGE

The peculiarities of the Canadian climate are shown in the sand which now messes the sidewalks. A month ago, pedestrians watched hawk-eyed to note any slim anchor of navigation which the sand gave. They were precious, dearly-sought-after grains of sand at that time. Now they lie, just so much dirt. Householders with a revamped eye — this time, to cleanliness — are making haste to get the offensive little life-savers out of their way.

TURN DOWN UNION

Workers of the Nicholson File Company, Port Hope, have voted against a proposal to organize a local of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO). A secret ballot, conducted by the Ontario Labor Relations Board, was held Tuesday on the question.

ONE CHIMNEY FIRE

Despite Friday night's high wind the Fire Department received no report of any outbreaks. The only alarm was on Friday morning when a chimney fire was reported from 314 Louis St., residence of E. Meehan. There was no damage.

CABBIES HOLD PROTEST MEET

A meeting of all local taxi drivers and owners has been called for 11.30 a.m. Sunday in Knights of Columbus Hall on Simcoe St. The recent decision of the Police Commission affecting taxi drivers will be discussed.

FATHER STRICKEN

Arthur H. Martin, Toronto, associate director of extension work, Ontario Department of Toronto, had to suddenly quit his supervising work with the junior farmers of the district in their seed judging competition of Quinte Seed Fair Friday. A telephone call came to him that his father had suffered a heart attack.

TO ADDRESS LIBERALS

Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Ontario Liberal party and Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, federal minister of labor are scheduled to address a banquet in Cobourg on April 28 which is being held under the auspices of the Central Ontario Liberal Association.

ATTEND SWIMMING MEET

Believed to be the only two Canadians competing, two Peterborough girls, Iris Forbes-Rielly and Jean Millard of the Ornamental Swimming Club will take part in the International Duet Competition for Synchronized Swimming held in Detroit on April 3.

LAUDS CHOIR BOYS' SOLO

Church choir boys' vocal solo entry on Wednesday morning was praised by Adjudicator Alec Redshaw as "a very outstanding class"—not "unsteady" as was printed on Thursday. Mr. Redshaw was very high in his praise, saying the best voices would compare well with the best in England.

BUILDING PERMITS

Port Hope Council has passed an amendment to the building by-law to include the altering of a house into an apartment, and to charge a fee of $10 for each building or alteration permit. Councillor Robert Holdaway said Port Hope would want people to build there some day. "You charge them for every darn thing they do," and added that outside the town it doesn't cost a cent for a permit.

BOARD PAYS TRIBUTE

The Civic Hospital Board of Governors passed a resolution at their meeting Thursday night expressing "deep regret" at the recent death of Reeve Gilbert McIlmoyl of Smith, who was a county representative on the Board since its inception. The resolution made note of the "long years of service" which the reeve had made on Board work.

Four Scholarships Awarded As Music Festival Closes

Peterborough's second annual Festival of Music was brought to a close Friday night by a concert consisting of the most talented performers heard during the five-day competition. To the outstanding contestants four scholarships were awarded.

Daniel Longauer, Hastings, was awarded the Gliddon Memorial Scholarship, valued at $75, by the Peterborough branch of Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association for "a violin student showing the most promise of future development musically." He was described by the adjudicator, Alec Redshaw, as "a very promising player."

George Ingham, Millbrook, received the Harry Huffman Memorial Scholarship valued at $75. His "Pastoral Sonata," piano solo, 21 years and under, was the prize-winning number.

R. B. Davidson, Lindsay, won Comstock's Memorial Scholarship, valued at $75, for his tenor solo, under 21 years, "Linden Lea." Regretting the fact there were not more scholarships, the adjudicator said this one was awarded "after the most careful consideration."

Kenneth Stacey of Peterborough, was presented with the W. A. Richardson Scholarship for Verse Speaking. He was granted this as "the competitor who showed the most promise of future development in dramatic art."

Presentations Made

Winning bands and choral groups were given shields which they will hold for a year. Certificates were awarded to those coming first, second and third in the other classes.

In his final address as adjudicator of the Kiwanis-sponsored Festival of Music, Mr. Redshaw said he was "astounded by the enormous amount of natural talent in Peterborough."

He said he had "never heard such a collection of steady fresh voices as here, and consistently good sense of good tuning." Few sharps and flats were heard, he said.

"You have good material and I hope you will build upon it."

Mr. Redshaw recounted that he had spoken in sharp criticism of the contestants on the first morning of his adjudication and later in the week as well. But he said he felt that this was necessary, and found later that several parents of children whose performances he had attacked most vigorously thanked him for this constructive work.

As an additional gratification he said he had noticed several entries in the final concert had benefitted by his previous advice and already remedied their deficiencies. "What does please me most of all, I am giving a scholarship to one of them."

He advised aspiring musicians not to be content with their own efforts, but to listen to other performers. This did not mean copying, he cautioned, but an attempt to perfect skill as the other performer had perfected his.

Through his address and the remarks of his adjudication while the Festival was in progress ran the theme that Peterborough was only in the pioneer stage of becoming a musical centre. Time and again he said there was a wealth of natural talent in the city and surrounding district. What was needed, he felt, was the setting up of a high standard to which those wishing to make their mark musically must attain.

Commenting on his stay in Peterborough, he said: "I am very deeply touched by the extraordinary kindness shown to me since I arrived in Peterborough. This is my first visit to Canada . . . I shall never forget Peterborough."

Before a packed audience in George Street United Church, he was made an honorary member of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club.

Floral tributes were given to Mrs. Stanley Northrop, secretary of the festival, and Mrs. Gwen Craw, official accompanist.

Following is the program at which E. A. Pridham, president of the Kiwanis Club, presided.

Queen Alexandra School, Urban Rhythm Band; Judy Hutchinson, Piano Sonatina, 14 years and under, "Sonatina in D", Clementi; R. B. Davidson, tenor solo, under 21 years, "Linden Lea"; Lakefield High School Male Quartet, "Dear Land of Home"; Shirley Moore, girls' vocal solo, 10 years and under, "Tip Toe Song"; Daniel Longauer, violin 17 years and under, "Czardas"; Nancy Hutchings, paino solo 13 years and under, "Flower Girl"; Joy Westaway and and Joan Westaway, girls' vocal duet, 20 years and under, "I Would That My Love"; Kenneth Stacey, verse speaking, own choice; Faye Diane Schwartz and Natalis Myrna Schwartz, piano duet, 16 years and under, "March Militaire"; Donald Landry, baritone solo, "Clorinda"; Queen Mary School Choir, urban junior chorus, "John Peel; presentation of scholarships, Mr. Alec Redshaw; PCVS Choral Club, girls' choir, "Lullaby"; Francis Taylor, choir boys' solo, "Come Unto Him"; James Roberts, clarinet solo, "Annie Laurie"; Jean Dunn, soprano oratorio solo, "Jerusalem"; Dorothy White and Norma Lowes, piano solo, "Sheep May Safely Graze"; William Perry, tenor oratorio, "If With All Your Hearts"; William Johnston, cornet solo, "Gaiety Polka"; Arden Stevens, girls' vocal solo, 16 years and under, "Gathering Daffodils"; George Ingham, piano solo, 21 years and under "Pastoral Sonata"; Kenneth Hallett and Francsi Taylor, vocal duet, unchanged voices "O Lovely Peace".

Walks 8 Miles Through Snow To Get Watch

Dudley Hewitt, 225 Hunter St. E., and Stan Davis started by car for their hunt camp on Sucker Lake last Sunday. Stan had left his watch there during the Fall hunt, the main reason for going on a jaunt like that in late winter. They parked their car at Miller's farm on the shore of Ketchecum Lake and slogged nearly eight miles to the camp, up Bottle Creek and along the length of Sucker Lake. The snow was deeper than they anticipated and made heavy going, especially on the "in" trip.

They stayed overnight and listened during the night to a hunting wolf pack that howled after small game less than a quarter of a mile from the camp. In the morning they found that some of the wolves had used their trail made the day before. It was an enjoyable trip aside from many aching muscles and the sights and sounds of the camp in midwinter did not make Stan foregt to retrieve his watch even though he went down hip-deep on one side in an air hole.

GAME MONDAY

The next Legion-Toronto OHA Senior "B" playoff game will be played in Belleville on Monday night, according to word received from the OHA Friday afternoon. A special train will be made up in Lindsay for the game.

Obituary

MISS IRENE FEE

MILLBROOK, March 20. (ENS) —Funeral service for the late Miss Irene Fee, Union St., Millbrook, was held today at St. Thomas Anglican Church, Millbrook, at 2 p.m. Rev. C. M. MacLean, rector, officiated and was assisted by Rev. G. C. R. McQuade of St. Andrew's United Church. Burial took place at Zion Cemetery.

Miss Fee died at her Union St, residence on Thursday after a lingering illness. She was born on the Zion Line, west of Millbrook, daughter of the late James Fee and Elizabeth Mulligan. She lived in the village for more than 30 years and worked in Peterborough for a number of years, returning again to Millbrook about 6 years ago.

She is survived by one sister, Miss Maude, at home and two brothers, Chester of Fowler's Corners and Harvey of Alameda, Sask. Miss Fee was a member of St. Thomas Anglican Church.

MORE GEESE REPORTED

A north-end resident reports three flights of geese early this morning. Several people could hear them honking as they flew overhead in a northerly direction.

MOVED TO PETERBOROUGH

Provincial Constable L. T. Keeler of the Provincial Police, Brockville, is being transferred to Peterborough and promoted to officer in charge of radio communications. A native of Orillia, he has been with the provincial force for 17 years. He was previously stationed at Kitchener and Renfrew.

Diphtheria Case First In Two Years

Mrs. Hilliard S. Strong, 600 Harvey St., is recovering at Queen Mary Isolation Hospital from diphtheria, Peterborough's first case since May, 1946.

"She is ready to come out of the hospital at the week-end I expect," said Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH. "It is whenever her physician decides."

Diphtheria has become rare in this province, but there is still an occasional case. "You can't tell where the infection would come from as in this case. The disease was diagnozed by Mrs. Strong's physician when she became ill. She is about 70 years of age. Diphtheria used to be regarded as one of the ills to which youth was subject before medical science almost conquered it.

Durham Team Captures Grain Judging

Durham won the junior grain judging competition of the Quinte District Seed Fair Friday. This branch of the show was switched to the market hall for the day, and was generally under the direction of A. H. Martin, Toronto, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The three Durham youths comprising the top team were: Roy Werry, Enniskillen; Beverley Gray, Port Hope, and Donald Prescott, Burketon.

Prince Edward's team was in second place: Gordon Way, Demorestville; Carl Harrison, Picton, and Wilbert Green, Carrying Place.

Durham's total points were 2221; Prince Edward 2073, one point more than Peterborough and Ontario teams tied for third place. The Peterborough team: Keith McIntyre, 695; Everett Macfarlane, 690, Jerold Doris, 687, was coached by Ernie McWilliam of Dewart Milling Co.

High man in each class was:—Wheat: Archie McCook of Campbellford; Oats: Lawrence Evans of Uxbridge; Barley: Keith Crago, Bowmanville; Red Clover, Bruce Boyington, Uxbridge; Alfalfa: Del Merrill, Campbellford; Weeds: Charley Peacock of Campbellcroft and Sam Turner, tied.

Fifty-one junior farmers reported for the competition at 10 a.m. Friday. The top 20 boys in the individual scoring were: Roy Wherry, B. Grey, Don Prescott, Stewart Rolland, Sam Turner, John Morton and K. Crago, all of Durham county; H. Douglas, Trenton; Lawrence Evans, Uxbridge; Gordon Way; Bruce Boyington and Keith McIntyre, tied; C. Peacock, E. Macfarlane; D. Merrill and J. Dorris, tied; George Clare of Corbyville; W. Green, Stuart Annond, Uxbridge.

BUILD NEW OFFICE

Beaver Lumber Co. intends to build a new office at their property on George St., south of Rink St. They wish to move their present office building temporarily to the northwest corner. The company's request is before the board of works.

LICENCE LINEUP

The Chamber of Commerce office is having a flood of its own this week . . . an annual affair as regular as the watery floods over the city. In their case, it's the flood of better-almost-late-than-never motorists rushing to get their licences before they expire the end of March.

Ack Ack Guns At Lakefield On Sunday

Peterborough's 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (The Prince of Wales Rangers) RCA, will visit Lakefield Sunday afternoon with their guns and equipment on a mobile run for a day's training.

The regiment has arranged to do their training operations of putting their equipment in action at the corner of Queen and Reid Streets, in Lakefield, on Reid Street, and operations are timetabled to commence in the village shortly after two o'clock.

The regiment will parade at the Armoury at 10 o'clock when preparation for action will be effected and dinner served. The run for the afternoon will see the unit in convoy to Lakefield. After training at Lakefield, the regiment will return to the city for dismissal.

Already more than 120 strong, recruits are rapidly coming in as a result of the recent campaign, and officials of the regiment believe that this flow of recruits will continue for some time.

The regiment parades regularly on Tuesday and Thursday nights at the Armoury. The usual pick-up vehicle service for the personnel on Sunday will be available, and new recruits who recently joined are urged to attend this extra parade.

SIMPLE DESIGN ADDS BEAUTY TO HOME, MAKES DOLLAR STRETCH

Careful Check Required Before You Build or Buy

First, let's take a look at the neighborhood . . are the streets clean and well lighted? Is the area still under development, standing still or slowly deteriorating? Are the other homes well kept? Is the neighborhood restricted to single family houses or merely to "residential uses??' Would yourfamily take pride and pleasure in living on this spot now and for years to come? How about the type of house you plan to build . . . will it be in keeping with the rest of the neighborhood?

Do you know the boundary lines of your lot? You can save yourself a hat-full of trouble by double-checking on this. Is the title to the land good and will the full title pass to you without any hitches? Make sure you have a good lawyer examine and approve the title before you lay out any money.

Transportation

Next, let's look at transportation facilities . . . they are as important to family comfort as modern heating, lighting or plumbing.

How is the property located in relation to the section of the city where the members of your family are employed? DON'T pass lightly over this point, as it can be a big bone of contention later.

Will the house be within easy walking distance or within reach of busses and street cars? Is there convenient access to shopping centres?

Schools and Parks

Enthusiasm for an attractively designed home will sometimes blind the inexperienced to overlook such important considerations as the need for nearby schools and parks. So ask yourself these questions . . . if there are young children in your family, would you be sufficiently near to schools, parks and playgrounds? Are the schools of a desirable type and so located that your children would not have to cross main thoroughfares?

Parks within easy reach of home mean healthful recreation for the children and peace of mind for the mother. Convenience in regard to churches, libraries, theatres, stores, etc., is of prime importance. Survey the district carefully before you build, to avoid unpleasant realizations afterwards.

Public Utilities

Fire and police protection . . . are they adequately provided in the district you are considering? Are the streets well paved and lighted? Look for modern improvements. Does the property have a sufficient pure water supply . . . and are sewage facilities good? If not, be sure that substitutes are satisfactory.

How about gas, hydro and telephone services . . . are they in at present or planned for the near future? Check to find these important points . . . newly opened subdivisions in some localities often ack one or more of these utilities at first, creating awkward situations for new homeowners. Will you be "just beyond" where local rates are in effect?

Architecture

To ensure satisfaction both from a design and living viewpoint, employ a good house architect . . . your money will be repaid many times over. Architecture as an art must, to be successful, follow the general rules applicable to any art. Unity of composition pleasing proportions, forms and lines, proper scale, order, harmony, etc., these are all principles which must be applied to house design.

Floor Plans

Co-ordination of the whole design is essential. A main floor plan evolves as it should only when the second floor, the basement, and even the exterior are considered, with each line drawn of the main floor. The locations where stairs arrive on other floors, for instance, should be such as to minimize halls and waste no space.

Your house . . . growing from the floor plans . . . should be attractive from all sides. We don't want a one-point-of-view house whose street front is dressed up for the passersby, but whose garden side is a hodge-podge. Beauty is a by-product of expert planning. And beauty, besides its intrinsic worth, has dollars and cents value too.

Construction

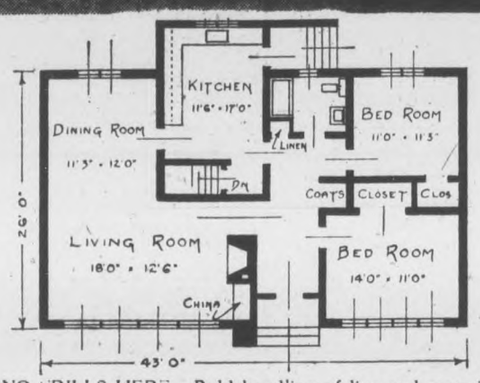
A home that is to stand up through years with minimum repairs must have foundation, floors, roof, walls and ceilings that will meet the test of hard weather and hard use. Make sure that materials and workmanship are reliable. Investigate carefully and employ a good contractor. Don't try to economize though the use of "cheap" materials . . . if you do you're bound to pay more in the long run.

Financing

Will you be in need of additional money to finance your home? Most mortgage money is available from three sources: lending institutions, such as trust and insurance companies; private individuals; and the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation operated National Housing Act through the offices of approved lending institutions which include most of the life insurance companies and some of the trust and loan companies.

Terms under the N.H.A. provide for building money at only 4½% and many other advantages. Full information can be obtained from your local office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation or by dropping a line direct to the office of this crown company at Ottawa, asking for their booklet "N.H.A. Loans for Homes".

Maintenance



Did you figure upkeep on your new home? If not take a tip and allow a reasonable amount for repairs. Plan on it now so that you won't feel sore about it later. It's quite natural and normal for a certain number of repair jobs to be done in a house each year. Upkeep costs will depend on the treatment given the house by your family, the quality and type of materials used in building, and the age of the house.

Count on repainting the exterior every three years if you want a bright, trim house. And don't forget furnace and chimney cleaning, inside painting and papering, garden improvements, etc. Don't let your house start running down hill. Under normal conditions it kills its resale value and is expensive to bring back into shape.

The water trap which is beneath all sinks, wash-basins, tubs and other fixtures, is designed to create a "water seal" in the drain and protect the health of the household by preventing rise of dangerous sewer gas through the waste lines.

In order to be effective, this U-shaped bend in the pipe must contain water at all time. Any little used fixture in the basement or garage where there is the possibility that evaporation might dry up the "water seal" should be run once or twice a month to refil the trap with water.

NO FRILLS HERE—Bold handling of line and materials has given this house a generous touch of glamour seldom seen in the small house. The designer and builder, A. L. Ramage, is to be congratulated for achieving so much through simplicity. There is no fussiness or gadgetry to mar the straight-forward modern character of the house. The wide stone chimney not only forms an important part of the exterior design, but it serves as a striking decorative feature of the living room. There are two bedrooms with good closet accommodation and a cheerful, convenient kitchen.

How To Take Your Home Cost Cue From the Cube

What your house will cost you depends on a wide variety of factors. Only you and your architect or builder can consider them all.

Your own specifications, the number and size of rooms, the shape of the house, local building codes, labor wage scales, and material prices are some things that must be weighed.

Unsettled building costs make local estimates more important now than at any time in the past. Although a house in northern states with a relatively expensive heating plant and tighter construction always did cost more than a house of the same size in the south, there are now major variations even between northern states and cities.

Architects use two rule-of-thumb methods to figure the construction cost of an average house. One is based on square foot area and the other, more exact, on the cubic feet of content.

Your own specifications will spell the difference between an estimate and a guess. You may want a fully-tiled bath with built-in elaborate fixtures. That would cost more than a modestly painted or papered bathroom with lower-priced fixtures.

Two houses may appear identical from the street. They may be built in the same town by the same contractor. Yet they can vary widely in cost. One may be of steel frame construction with a concrete first floor and complete insulation, copper or brass plumbing throughout, solid bronze hardware, custom-designed trim and year-round air-conditioning. The other may be a sound frame house with iron piping, plated hardware, standard millwood and low cost equipment.

Cubic content is figured for a simple rectangular house by multiplying the length by the width and multiplying that area by the height from the bottom of the cellar floor slab to a point midway in the gable. Eight feet may be allowed for basement and cellar floor and 10 feet for the height of each story including construction. The pitch of the roof will determine the gable height. If the house comprises separate wings figure each rectangle individually and add the total cubes.

This cubage includes full volume for bay windows, dormers, enclosed porches and chimneys. Half volume is figured for attached garages and non-enclosed porches having no screens or sash. Areaways around basement windows count for half their volume. A connecting porch between house and garage may call for half to two-thirds volume.

Included in the cost per cube will be structure, labor, heating plant, plumbing fixtures, lighting fixtures, and sometimes kitchen cupboards and other built-in details. Usually excluded are ranges, refrigerators, laundry, shades, Venetian blinds, awnings, terraces, walks, driveways, sewage disposal, wells, landscaping etc.

A thorough understanding is important, therefore, before construction is undertaken. Changes of mind after a contract is awarded and work has been started call for "extras." These mean added expense.

For preliminary estimates before deciding finally on details, cubic content can serve as a handy guide in consulting local builders or architects about a plan you have in mind. But it is well to remember that your prefigured cubic cost is only an estimate. Also it does not include land with utilites provided.

255 Million Credits Granted

PARIS, March 20 (Reuters). — The Assembly today adopted by a vote of 418 to 183 provision for military credits of about $255,000,000 for the months of April and May.

In a stormy session, Communist Deputies attacked the government of placing France's army at the disposal of "the Anglo-Saxon" powers.

Pierre Henri Teitgan, Minister for Armed Forces, said in reply that "France is bound by her international agreements. "Her military policy is within the framework of those agreements."

Assembly ushers rushed into the Chamber when it appeared Deputies would come to blows following charges and counter-charges of espionage. Several deputies had charged Communist Deputy Pierre Villon with espionage..

Denouncing the military provisions of the Brussels Pact, Villon said "Thus you find a British Field Marshal has power over the French army."

Priests Killed

SHERBROOKE, March 20.—(CP).—The death of a Canadian priest and 13 other Trappist priests and brothers under Chinese Communist persecution is recounted in the January-February issue of "Jesuit Missions," a publication of the Jesuit Order. The Canadian was Rev. Albert L'Heureux, a native of Coaticook, Que., who was a missionary in China for many years.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Face-Lifting the Basement Natural Part of Upkeep

Maintaining your home in the best condition possible is the smartest thing you can do. Partitioning your basement for different kinds of uses is a natural part of upkeep activities. The recreation room, the storage cellar, the furnace room, coal or fuel room, work shop, laundry, and so on, are all sensible things to have. But some of them want one kind, others another type, of wall treatment. Let's see what's what.

The recreation room calls for decorative wallis. As for basement partitions, if framed of wood, any kind of wall board, plaster board or lumber can be nailed or put in place without any out-of-the-ordinary precautions. But on foundation walls certain things need to be taken into consideration; moisture and ventilation. So, the safest thing to do on an outside cellar wall of masonry is to fur out from the wall and then apply the finish wall material so there will be an air space between it and the foundation.

Furring is merely the putting in place of strips of wood against the wall so that the finish wall material can be nailed to the furring strips and not come into contact wtih the masonry wall, and the possible dampness it contains from time to time. In a basement, even though the walls aren't damp themselves, there is always liable to be condensation due to humidity and changes in temperature. A cold wall, or water pipe, will sweat when warm, moisture-laden air comes into contact wtih it. The moisture needs space in which to eliminate itself, so the reverse side of any wall material needs protection from this moisture.

Drilling Masonry Walls

Fixing the furring stripe to the masonry walls of your basement is made very simple with the proper equipment. Since you can't drive nails successfully into masonry, it is advisable to use screws. Make necessary holes in the masonry with a Rawldrill, insert a proper sized Rawlpug and screw the strips firmly in place. The drill and lugs can be obtained from most of the larger hardware stores.

To drill the hole in the cellar wall, hold the tool between the thumb and fingers and tap with a light hammer — giving quick easy blows and turn the drill each time to prevent jamming. To secure a true hole, always keep the tool at right angles to the wall. Use the same sized drilling tool as the Rawlpug and screw you choose. Insert the plug into the hole, flush with the surface, then place the furring strip so that the screw hole lies exactly over the plug. Insert the point of the screw in the centre of the plug (plugs are hollow), and turn home the screwdriver.

Furring strips provide an air space between any wall material and the masonry wall behind it. A 2 x 2, which really measures about 1¾ x 1¾ inches, placed along the bottom edge of the foundation wall, and one along the top, with 2 x 2 "studs" or uprights connecting the two, makes a practical and really satisfactory furring background against which to nail.

If the material is such that it will absorb moisture to the extent of possibly warping or disintegrating, the back of the wall material should be painted to protect it from this hazard. Wood panelling especially, needs painting before nailed to furring against a basement foundation wall. In fact, most everything except the regular plaster boards needs a protection in the back against moisture.

Board Sizes Vary

The many different kinds of wall board come in small as well as large pieces and are easier to handle.

The size and shape of the individual pieces of wall board or boards will determine how many cross pieces of 2 x 2's will be necessary between the upright studs for nailing purposes. Sheets of wall board usually come in lengths and widths suitable for nailing to uprights placed 16 inches apart, and at the top and bottom of the sheets. Wood panelling or narrower kinds will need cross pieces for nailing into, as well as the studs and upper and lower plates of 2 x 25s. For instance, if you are going to nail boards vertically side by side to form your finish wall, such as pine panelnig, you will need at least two cross pieces between the vertical studs. If the ceiling is high, say eight feet, it would be wise to have three cross pieces into which to nail. Be sure to give the sides of the panelling boards facing the masonry wall a coat of good paint before nailing them in place.

Partition walls in the basement, whether they already exist or you are making them, need not have such particular care against dampness. A partition as used for furring against a solid wall, ought to be made of 2 x 4's rather than 2 x 2's. A 2 x 4 plate at both the top and bottom of the partition wall, with 2 x 4 studs placed either 16 inches or 24 inches apart, from centre to centre (not between the studs), makes an ideal partition framework upon which to nail wall board. Pracically all wall board comes in dimensions so that it can be nailed with all joints coming at the middle of studs—16 or 14 inches apart from centre to centre.

How Your Building Costs May Be Reduced Without Use of Inferior Materials

How to get the most house for the last money continues the number one problem of today's home builder. Fortunately, the average owner-to-be realizes the folly of cutting costs through the use of inferior materials and equipment and looks instead to the economy of more efficient planning for his dollar conservation program.

Overall Shape Affects Costs

One of the greatest single factors affecting the cost of a house is its overall shape. It can be readily seen that the cost of framing and enclosing the outside wall and roof areas is greatly increased through meaningless little projections, corners, recesses and angles added to the exterior just for appearance's sake. They add plenty to your cost in foundations, plastering, roofing, framing, etc., — yet may provide not one added square foot of living space.

Square Plan Most Economical.

The most economical shaped house to build is the square, providing the maximum amount of floor area with the least amount of wall area. While wings and whole-room projections are quite often justified and necessary, it will be readily seen that the square and rectangular shaped house will be less costly than the "L," "T" or "U" shapes.

Roofing costs particularly are boosted when little breaks and corners and angles are incorporated for exterior appearance. Avoid trick interesting surfaces —they can easil yadd a good 10 per cent to total costs.

A graphic example of comparative roofing problems (or costs) may be obtained by making a cardboard model of a rectangular planned home. With rooms all within this area you will have no trouble fitting a sloping roof . . . but just try fitting on a roof to a model with a complicated plan with rooms jutting out here and here! Remember that every intersection where you have trouble fitting a roof on your model is going to cost you extra money.

One Versus Two-Storey Design

Whether you build with one or two storeys is also going to have a very considerable effect on the cubic foot cost of your house. While many prospective home builders have long dreamed of a low rambling design, it must be remembered that this type of construction is going to cost extra because of additional expense of excavation, foundation walls and roofs. The two-storey house will admittedly cost more for stairs and additional height of walls . . . still, these are not sufficient to offset the other savings.

There are other factors, too, in favour of the two-storey home from the economy angle. First, the readily seen lower cost of heating over the extended one-storey design. Then there is the factor that future additions can more readily be located. Single storey homes have the tendency to require long hallways and generally less satisfactory access through existing rooms.

Too Small Rooms Poor Economy

In your efforts to cut costs, guard against the too common tendency to reduce the size of certain rooms down to a point where the purpose for which they are provided is impaired. While you don't want to buy a lot of needless cubage, it's no use settling for rooms of a size you'll always be dissatisfied with. Being too skimpy with space can be just as wasteful as the other extravagance. Rooms which are so short that you can't place suitable furniture in them are useless and quite often might just as well have been left out.

One good way for making sure of the efficient use of floor space is to cut out cardboard templates scaled to the size of your furniture. Place these on your plan (to the same scale) and try moving them around to a workable setting . . . making sure there's plenty of room left for circulation. Try to visualize living in the furniture arrangement you have set out . . . how it would tie-in with your day's activities. You may find the lay-out wou have means a great deal of travelling to complete certain functions . . . if so, chances are there's space being wasted somewhere. Try making another furniture arrangement . . . if there still seems too much waste space you'll do well to start in on revisions to you plan.

One of the best ways to save money under present building conditions is to plan and build only what is immediately needed and making provisions for future expansion. Normally, of course, it is more economical to build and finish the entire house at one time. However, under present conditions, and particularly if you simple haven't the necessary capital to complete your home, an expansible plan should be striven for.

The expensible or nucleus house as it is sometimes termed calls for the smallest possible home your immediate requirements permit, but with a plan calling for future expansion. If you plan to add a wing or two at a later date, make sure your original plans will allow such additions to tie-in with existing room layout. You won't want to have to go through one bedroom to gain access to another . . . so now's the time, while your house is still on paper, to figure out where those later additions are to go.

Don't Skimp On Insulation

Don't let yourself be tempted to skimp on insulation . . . for nothing will add further to the long-term cost of a house than an attempt to heat the great outdoors. Properly insulated outside walls and attic, storm windows, efficient weatherstripping and insulated boiler and piping will quickly pay back more than the original cost . . . to say nothing of the extra dividends in comfort.

A point to mention here, while on the subject of heating, is the location of the fireplace. While you may have your heart set on a big chimney on an outside wall, remember that considerable heat is going to be lost through such a location . . . located inside the house this heat is not lost to outside air and there is also the added advantage of more efficient flue draft.

Location of kitchen and bathrooms can also have an important bearing on costs. It will save lots of plumbing materials and labour if kitchen and bath can be arranged back to back. If your plan calls for the completion of the second floor at a later date, make sure the bath room can be located directly above the first so that the same lines and stacks may be used.

20th Academy Award Made To Film Stars

HOLLYWOOD, March 20—(AP)—"Yes, Sir," said the oldtimer, "tonight's will be the 20th academy award, and I've seen 'em all.

"I can remember when Doug and Mary and D. W. (Griffiths) were in on the start of the academy a couple of decades ago. The first actor to get an award was Emil Jannings for 'The Way of All Flesh.' I bet that's one Oscar the academy would like to get back.

"Then there was the night that Vice-president Curtis came from Washington to give the award address. He talked for a couple of hours. Roscoe Ates had most of the crowd out in the lobby watching him put in an act while Curtis talked. Will Hays used to talk at those early ones, and that was something, too.

Enough Drama

"There's been enough drama at the awards for a number of pictures. Like when J. L. Warner and Hal Wallis had almost a running race to see which would receive the 'Casablanca' award. J. J. won, and Wallis left Warners soon afterward. And when Sam Goldwyn and Willis Wyler exchanged compliments over 'Best Years'--and then went back to their feud.

"And when Olivia Dehavilland and Joan Fontaine tossed unsisterly words backstage last year.

"There have been nice moments, too, like Bob Hope's giving an Oscar to his pal Bing for 'Going My Way'--and then then clowning while Bing made his speech . . . Jimmy Stewart in his army uniform, getting his for 'Philadelphia Story.' When he got home, Burgess Meredith looked at the Oscar and said 'where did you get that--Ocean Park Pier?'

Sickbed Award

"Then there was the night Joan Crawford got her 'Mildred Pierce' award at home in a sickbed . . when 'It Happened One Night' swept nearly every Oscar in the book. . .When Jimmy Dunn heard he was getting one and let out a "whoop?" that echoed through Grauman's Chinese. . .

"Unforgettable faces, Luise Rainer, who won two years in a row, then faded from the Hollywood scene . . . Harold Russell, who proudly held an Oscar in each artificial hand. . .

"Yes, the academy awards are sentimental and pompous and over-glamorized. But I'm darned if I don't get a kick out of them."

Vacation School Plan Discussed

OMEMEE, March 20 (ENS). — A good representation of the Omemee Home and School Association, and other interested persons met Tuesday afternoon in the Anglican Church basement to hear an address on "Vacation Bible Schools" by Miss Frances Clarke, organizing secretary of the Children's Work Board of the Ontario Religious Education Council.

The president, Mrs. R. Clifford, conducted a brief business discussion, when it was decided that one car load of members should attend one day's sessions of the Home and School Federation convention, to be held in Toronto during Easter vacation week. Mrs. S. Northey was appointed official delegate to the convention.

Mr. L. M. Curtis, Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt and Mrs. A. Stephenson were appointed as a nominating committee to prepare a slate of prospective officers to be presented for election at the annual meeting.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. A. Stephenson.

Miss Clark said it was 50 years since a Vacation Bible School was first organized and that its aims are religious education and character building. It is, she said, an important agent in combatting juvenile delinquency.

The schools may be conducted under the auspices of local Sunday Schools, Service Clubs or any such interested organization. The ministers usually take the leading part in their management.

She stressed the value of careful planning, sure financing and strong leadership. Being interdenominational, the text books are approved by representatives of the Canadian Council of Churches and are suited for schools of duration from six weeks to one or two weeks. Miss Clark also showed slides presenting in operation successful schools.

Another intresting feature of the meeting was the rhythm band selection in which 31 boys and girls of Grades 1 and 2 took part under the direction of the instructor in music, Mrs. Frances Williamson and their teacher, Miss Jessie Lamb and accompanied on the piano by Marion Zufelt.

After the program, tea was served.

No Extension

TORONTO, March 20.—(CP).—J. P. Bickell, Ontario motor vehicles registrar, yesterday said "there will positively be no extension" for automobile license plates beyond midnight next Monday. Toronto police said they will summon motorists driving with 1947 plates Tuesday.

"Homes" As Discussed

Rev. H. G. Douglas played favorite hymns as members of Knox Married Couples' Group gathered in the lecture hall Friday evening. Mr. W. Gaskin presided for the opening and Rev. Douglas led in prayer. Mrs. Ray Gillies read "Gems of Thought" for the evening. Mrs. Wm. Gaskin took the Scripture lesson. The poem, "Gethsamene" was read by Mrs. J. Clark. Mrs. Norman Hughes chose 'Beneath the Cross of Jesus' for her solo. Following the business, Mr. Ray Gillies presented the discussion topic, "Various Steps to Consider in Building a Home." These included financial arrangements, location, plans and type of construction. Lively discussion on these items followed, as well as on the type of heating to be used. The question brought forth was "Is owning your own house a better investment than renting?" and it was briefly debated with the majority being in favor of ownership. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark were in charge of the recreation period. Lunch was served by Mrs. John Donaldson and Mrs. Wm. Gaskin.

Here are some questions to ask yourself about htat new spring wardrobe you are planning. New clothes, new face, new hair-do, new shoes, should all be on the program, to make a new YOU, ready to face the world with a "new look".

Have you planned a co-ordinated wardrobe for the spring season?

Do you know that make-up colors are now soft, ladylike and pinky?

Do you consider accessories important to good grooming?

Are you going to have a short haircut because it is new, a fad or because it is becoming?

Will you wear afternoon skirts at 11 inches from the floor or 15?

Are you going to wear face-powder shades of hosiery?

Will you select colored sandals for your footwear.

ONE-PIECE SHIRT-AND-SKIRT — The Gibson Girl shirtwaist and skirt which floated in a considerable portion of the New Look to the younger girls, takes a new lease on popularity for another season. But if the model, above, is any sign, there is a new improvement with this later look. Skirt and shirt are sewed in one, thus curing the handicap of the uniform idea. The prettiest girl, in the quaintest of shirts and the swingiest of skirts, doesn't look like much when the two halves of her costume have gaped and squirmed apart. Just dishevelled and amateur. This one-piece model is made of pastel colored cotton broadcloth, with a bib yoke and cuffs of white eyelet embroidery. The belt is of self fabric.

Second Anniversary Ball Gay Event Friday at YMCA

A canopy of brightly colored balloons and stars wos overhead and enchanting spring flowers decked the walls for the gay second anniversary ball enjoyed by Club Chicoutimi members and friends Friday evening in the YMCA. Art Association Enjoys Classic Music and Verse

At the season's final studio meeting Friday afternoon in the YWCA, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, president of the Women's Art Association thrilled members with her account of the splendid performance given in Toronto Wednesday by the Music Study Club. A large number had assembled to hear the program at Lyceum Women's Art Association and they received it enthusiastically. Mrs. Boris Hambourg, a Toronto musician of note, said "There has never been more delightful music within the walls of this club." Peterborough members are indeed proud of the singers and accompanists who have brought home added laurels.

Three selections from the program were given by those members able to be present, as an added treat on the last meeting day. Mrs. H. V. Dobson accompanied the group in "Rolling Down to Rio," a humorous satirical ballad written by Rudyard Kipling, "My Lady Greensleeves" in which a note of wistful sentiment pervades, and "Shepherd's Dance" a lilting tune that caught the fancy in Toronto and had to be repeated

Mr. R. L. Hale of PCVS English Department graciously provided a most pleasing hour with "Some Rhythms of English Verse." His audience was carried away by the expression and interpretation which he gave to the reading of various choice poems, stressing variations of sound and types of rhythmic verse. "Rhythm is natural," he said, "as may be seen from a child whose first words come rhythmically in pairs."

"Walking rhythm is the simplest of all" said Mr. Hale, explaining that it is usually found in songs that are sung while marching. One could almost hear the thud and heavy beat of feet in the monotony of long forced marches as he read several selections of this type. "Galloping" an example of the lilting Irish rhythm was "Cutting the Rushes" by Moira O'Neil. A peculiar experimental poem entitled "Congo" exhibited jazz or syncopated rhythm, associated by the author with the spirit of the negro race.

"As we rise in poetic study, more and more subtlety arises," said Mr. Hale, as he read selections portraying music coming to a drowsy brain after listening to an orchestra.

In thanking Mr. Hale, the president said the delightful scholarly address which had been so much enjoyed had given members the feeling of being back at school again.

Plates were again passed for donations toward parcels for Britain and it was announced that more than $30 has already been collected. Mrs. Seaton entreated all members to come out for the annual meeting on Friday, April 9, when several important matters are to be taken up.

MINISTER DIES

TORONTO, March 20.—(CP).—The Rev. William Newton Chantler, 82, of Weston, Ont., minister of the former Methodist church and later of the United church, died here yesterday.

Ordained in 1891, Mr. Chantler held charges at Hemingford, Que.; Mattawa, Powassan, Port Carling, Maple, Owen Sound and Brampton in Ontario prior to coming to Toronto.

PAINTING FOR WOMEN OF CANADA—This painting of a maid in a crinoline hangs in a Saskatoon, Sask., store because Bertram Willoughby, amateur artist and ambulance driver, felt he owed a debt to the Canadian women. Willoughby, who lives in Streatham, South London, Eng., had his home blitzed twice during the war and months later he received a quilt from the St. James Anglican church of Saskatoon. As a token of gratitude, Willoughby painted the picture, saying he felt he had to "send something to show how appreciative we were of what Canadian women had done for distressed families in this country."

Rundown Feeling May Be Often Caused By Nervous Trouble

Strained, tense nerves are often the cause of restless nights. Improper rest, night after night, is quickly followed by loss of appetite, irritability and a tired, run-down condition.

For disorders such as these, Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are highly beneficial. The iron and other ingredients they contain help to improve the blood content, stimulate the nervous system, and the appetite, aid digestion, thus helping to promote sleep. Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are sold at drug counters everywhere.

HORROR HOUSE CHARGE—Marie Clavey, 60 (left), and Josephine Vella, 58, two California spinsters, are pictured in jail, while their "house of horrors" is searched for evidence of more captives. Their three-room cottage on the Venice, Calif., beach has been revealed as the prison of a small boy, a small girl, and a grown woman, all half starved. Their cottage aso yielded 37 canaries, 10 guinea pigs and two dogs. Revelation of conditions at the "beach bastille" began a week ago when 11-year-old John Joseph Wayne was found huddled on a curbstone wearing a girl's dress. When police informed the two women of their arrest, Spinster Clavey opened a steamer trunk. Crouching inside was a wild-eyed little woman of 27, who said she was Edna Bessie Dinsmore, who it is thought has been held prisoner by the spinsters since 1922.

Good Husband Timber Should Be Studied Well

A group of 'teen-agers ask me how they can tell whether a Boy Friend will make a good husband or not. Alas, girls, that is the $64 question to which no daughter of Eve ever finds out the answer until it is too late to do her any good. Some of the rosiest prospects turn out the greatest duds, and many a great lover is a philanderer in disguire.

Dorothy Dix

Any way you look at it there is a lot of guess work about picking out a husband, but, fortunately for women, few men are good enough actors to deceive a girl who really wants to know what she is getting when she gets married. The drunkard, the roue, the gambler, the Weary Willies are branded so that even a blind chick can see what they are. So, if she ties up with one of these undesirables, her misery is on her own head.

Hence, there is no foolproof recipe for selecting a husband. There are bound to be prospects that don't pan out, but, taking it by and large, every man furnishes his Girl Friend with enough data on the safe side of the altar to tip her off to the kind of a husband he would make.

Investigate Well

To begin with, he can't camouflage his disposition, and that is what the girl needs to keep her weather eye on, for that is what she has to live with if she marries him. He may be a whirlwind lover who sweeps her off her feet. He may smother her in flowers. He may talk his tongue off telling her how wonderful and beautiful and different from all other women she is. He may sound like the answer to a maiden's prayer, but before you say "yes," do a little detective work.

Is he sweet-temperd only as long as you are stroking his fur th right way? Do you have to walk on eggs to keep from irritating him. Has he a temper that is hung on a hair-trigger? Does he have grouchy spells? If so, darling, take it from me, a wife can get mighty tired of appeasing a grown-up man who acts like a spoiled baby.

Then, when you feel yourself beginning to feel that-away about a man, watch his technique with his pocketbook, for it is no fun to be married to a man who makes his wife tell him what she did with that quarter he gave her week before last. Nor is there any profit in being married to a man who scatters his change around as if it were chicken feed.

Every girl has a pretty good idea of what her Fairy Prince earns. Be guided by that. If he is on a moderate salary, make your demands moderate. Develop a taste for hamburgers and beer instead of champagne and caviar. If he has never saved a nickel, go slow. Nothing gets more on a wife's nerves than penny-pinching. Beware equally the man who has a Yale lock on his billfold and the one who carries his money loose in his pocket.

When a man is courting a girl he puts his best foot foremost. He is flattering and generous and considerate. That's merely sales talk. It is when she has gotten engaged to a chap and the wedding is in sight that she needs to put on her spectacles and take a good, hard, appraising look at her bargain, and see whether the man she is about to take on for life is true and loyal and tender and kind and will be easy to live with, or whether he will be so cantankerous it will keep her wondering why she did it.

So go slow, daughter, and be careful in picking out your husband. Marriage is for a long time and it seems longer if you guess wrong.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, March 21

Sunday's horoscope shows that while idealistic and aspirational aims and objectives may reach some pleasant and agreeable fruition, it is not indicated that realistic, practical or work-a-day operations may come up with frustrations, opposition, interference or delays. Elders of old institutions may disturb, with unhappy reactions on resources and creative urges. Be content to "invite the soul" while abiding better co-operation.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may feel elated to the point of highly stimulated emotions and aspirations, of an idealistic and creative quality, yet antagonisms, opposition or sordid limitations may block accomplishment and menace substance, possessions, and peace of mind as well, unless this be based on spiritual values. Refrain from attempting force in any direction.

A child born on this day might succeed best by basing its life on idealistic values rather than on realistic or sordid ambitions. Its creative and emotional nature might bring gratification.

For Monday, March 22

Monday's astrological forecast encourages very high and lofty ambitions that involve some sort of unique plans, new techniques, fresh ideas and any original, scientific or novel propositions that mean fresh extension, wide scope and rich returns. This not only in finances, reputation and prestige, but in social, domestic or romantic activities and enjoyments. Reach high for advanced goals, despite criticism or petty blocks.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid performance and attainments, especially if the energies, resources and ambitions are built about the unusual, original, novel, bold or audacious. Matters of wide scope and significance should flourish, and perhaps spectacularly, in the face of petty criticism, "mossback" opposition of purely personal enmity. Riches, position, happiness and renown, await brave and aspirational endeavor applied in "a big way". Romance and sentimental values play a part.

A child born on this day may possess excellent endowments for outstanding success in new fields, winning piace and substance as well as personal prestige and happiness.

St. Thomas' WA Finishes Quilts

MILLBROOK, March 20 (ENS) —Mrs. C. M. MacLean entertained the WA of St. Thomas' Anglican Church for its March meeting at the recory on Monday, with the president, Mrs. A. E. Chevis, leading in the opening devotions, asisted by Mrs. H. A. Turner. Following the report of the treasurer, it was decided to remit to Toronto half the year's pledge money; and to Mrs. J. W. Hilton, Dorcas secretary, money to pay the bills in connection with the bale supplies. Mrs. Hilton reported all articles for the bale well under way, and two quilts to be completed by next month when the bale is shipped.

A letter from the society's prayer partner, Miss Whatley, who works for the Sunday School by post in Saskatchewan, was read by Mrs. MacLean, also one from Miss Quirt at Fort George on James Bay, a personal friend of Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke of Milbrook and also of Canon and Mrs. Shepherd, the former in charge of the mission at Fort George. It was decided to hold an open meeting, inviting other two auxiliaries of the village, in the newly-decorated parish hall, probably in May, with a guest speaker.

The hostess covered the chapter from the study book taking up Church of England work in Canada among the Japanese, Chinese and Jews, written by Rev. Mr. Powell, who spent many years in Japan as a missionary, and proved interesting. The hostesses for the social hour were Miss Muriel Smith and Mrs. MacLean, and for the May meeting Mrs. N. Lamb and Mrs. H. Swanson will have this office, with the gathering, it is hoped, once again at the home of Mrs. C. M. Westmacott. Friends of the latter will be glad to learn she is recovering from the illness which began after Christmas.

MAYORESS HELPS OUT — At work at her "winder" in a textile winding mill in her home town is Mrs. Marjorie Buckley, mayoress of Halifax, Eng. She is the mother of three children and works a four-hour shift every day. She intends to continue on the textile job after she completes her year's term of office.

WIN AT FESTIVAL

MILLBROOK, March 20 (ENS) —Local contestants who were successful at the Kiwanis Music Festival at Peterborough this week included Mrs. Jean Winslow, second in the contralto solo class; George Ingham, first in the piano solo class, under 21; second in the school male quartette, Conrad Stinson, Ross Jamieson, Bob Bigelow and Ralph Richards. In anther section Ed Hewitt, Fraser Carr, Karl Adams, and Lyle McMahon of Millbrook, won fourth placing. Donald McKnight and Gordon Might, of the local band, were among competitors for Wednesday night.

Westwood WI Has Irish Program

WESTWOOD, March 20 (ENS) —An Irish program was the feature of the March meeting of the Women's Institute, held in the town hall on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. Renwick was c. irman. History of the Life of St. Patrick was read by Mrs. F. Neilson; Miss Margaret Comstock gave a piano solo; Mrs. A. Wood, a humorous Irish reading; How the Shamrock came to be Ireland's national flower was told by Mrs. W. Renwick.

A box wrapping contest was won by Miss Comstock and Mrs. H. Pacey. Winners of a "green" contest were Mrs. R. Wilson and Mrs. S. Graham.

The president, Mrs. A. Wood, conducted the business discussion. It was decided to hold a euchre party on March 24 in aid of the Canadian Appeal for Children. A special meeting of members is called for Monday evening, April 5 in the town hall.

An appeal for the Foster Home campaign was made by Miss Cronkman of the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough. The need for foster homes for such children who have been deprived of normal parental care through neglect or misfortune, is urgent, and unless a number of them become available many children stand in danger of suffering from inadequate care.

Boy Scout Rescues Youngster from Well

WINS DOW AWARD

ALAN LAKING
OF KEARNEY, ONT.
earns praise of whole community

A little girl's screams caused 15-year-old Alan Laking to jam on the brakes of his bicycle and investigate. Seeing him, the girl screamed again . . . and, in spite of her excitement, Alan made out the words "Kenneth's fallen in the well . . . Kenneth's in the well!" Racing to the scene, Alan found that a small boy of four had indeed fallen about 16 feet into a well . . . and was floundering, semi-conscious, in 8 feet of water.

Hearing the little girl's desperate cries, Alan leaped from his bicycle and raced to the well at full speed.

LOWERS SELF INTO WELL

The young Scout acted quickly. Gripping the side walls as well as he could, he let himself down into the water. Diving beneath the surface he grasped the boy's clothing and brought his head up. Then he tread water, holding the inert form of the little victim until help came and a ladder could be lowered into the well. The youngster recovered after artificial respiration had been given.

Holding the boy's head above the surface, Laking tread water until a ladder was lowered and he was able to carry the lad up to safety.

This Boy Scout's good deed for the day included a display of cool courage and presence of mind unusual in one so young. We are proud to pay tribute to Alan Laking of Kearney, Ontario, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

Judge Says Music Students Learn Most By Losing

Paying tribute to potential musical talent in the Peterborough district, Alec Redshaw, Music Festival adjudicator, told a luncheon-meeting of the Kiwanis Club on Thursday that the local need was for "Somebody to establish a really high standard so contestants could work up to that standard."

While this might be initially discouraging to those who received sharp criticism, he contended, it was the right approach. "I've seen it come true time and time again."

Some people felt his criticism was too severe but he said he intended to judge by high standards. "I am here to tell the truth. And by the end of five years that sort of thing which happened last Monday will have disappeared."

He said he hoped nobody's feelings had been injured by anything he had said. Calling on personal experience he said "competitions I did not win taught me more than the ones I won. Many of the youngsters feel hurt at criticism, but they will appreciate it in the years to come."

"I have found unmistakeably a great amount of talent here. I have complained about the lack of imagination and I will continue to do so." But he expressed the opinion that Peterborough could become a city with very high musical standards.

For this reason he said it was worth while for the Kiwanis Club to sponsor a Festival in Peterborough. While club members believed they were doing a service to their community by having this Festival, he contended they were doing much more than that.

"If Peterborough can send singers out into the world, it will be doing the whole world a service."

"The whole future of music depends upon festivals. You are doing a far bigger job than you think you are. You are still having teething troubles in your second year, but I assure you that in this district there is a great wealth of talent."

Mr. Redshaw said he liked the organization work done by businessmen. Musicians are notoriously poor business men, he said, and with Club backing he felt that side of things was well taken care of.

Could Be World Centre

He complimented the Kiwanians on their undertaking and said he hoped they would be able to expand the work.

The primary job of an adjudicator is not to pick the winners but help those needing advice, he said.

In Toronto, he pointed out, the Kiwanis Club "much to their surprise" has the largest Music Festival in the world. "I believe Toronto could be a world centre for music. It has a splendid conservatory, numerous halls and some magnificent teachers."

During his stay in Canada he said he found many voices in particular "that are bound to come to the top, and will replace present platform artists who cannot go on forever."

"No musician can be a professional before being an amateur, and there must be an opportunity for development or public performance. If no opportunity is available there can be no development." It was here that Music Festivals played such an important part, he said.

He dealt briefly with conditions in Britain. "Canada is doing as big a job now as during the war. While not regarded officially, those food parcels are a godsend."

"We are not a very demonstrative or exuberant people, but that does not mean we do not feel very deeply. There is a bond between us infinitely firmer than before the war."

He thanked those who took children as war guests, and said the British people would never forget this kindness."

Stanley Northrop introduced the speaker who was thanked by Wilson Gemmell. Vincent McCabe occupied the chair.

Marmora Dramatic Club Presents Irish Play

MARMORA, March 20—(ENS)—The Dramatic Club of the Sacred Heart Church of Marmora added to its list of successes in presenting at Marmora Town Hall on Wednesday and Thursday evenings the three-act farce comedy "The Life Of Riley"

On the opening night the hall was filled to capacity and a number were unable to gain admission and a large crowd patronized the play on the second night also.

The various roles were well executed, and the directress, Mrs. James Black did well in her new role of the Jewish maid, Sadie Cohen. The audience was kept in fits of laughter throughout the presentation.

The specialities consisted of two Irish songs between the first and second acts by Rev. H. J. Farrell, and the tableau "Sweethearts of Erin" between the second and final acts. Taking part in the tableau were Misses Paula Nicholson, Verna Black, Patricia Brady, Audrey Black, Patricia Lynch, Cecillia Black, Mary Nicholson and Mrs. John Crawford.

Mrs. J. Black was accompanist for the songs and Mrs. E. Shannon played some Irish airs.

Cast of characters:

Lovey Riley, just married, Cecilia Black.

Cecelia Masters, her sister, Verna Black.

Mrs. Beulah Masters, their domineering mother, Mrs. Charles Crawford.

Terry Riley, Lovey's adoring young husband, Leonard Begley.

Mrs. Ted Riley, Terry's sister-in-law, Mrs. Carl Heath.

Sadie Cohen, the Riley's newly engaged maid, Mrs. James Black.

Mrs. Michael Casey, who lives next door, Mrs. Peter Brawley.

Tim Sweeney, a G man, William Meehan.

Warner C. Steele, Terry's close friend, Bernard Finnegan.

Two-Time Riley, a desperate character, James Black.

Mona Morris, a swimming champion, Mrs. Ilene Sheridan.

Mrs. U. Pinner 94 At Marmora

MARMORA, March 20—(ENS)—Marmora's "grand old lady," Mrs. Urena Pinner, celebrated her 94th birthday on Thursday at her home, Burstall St. Mrs. Pinner was born in Springbrook and came to Marmora eighty-two years ago at the age of twelve with her parents, the late Wellington McWilliams and Maria Hollister.

Asked if she had many callers on her birthday, Mrs. Pinner replied, "No, I had more callers on St. Patrick's Day." The fact is that people knowing the proximity of her birthday to the 17th of March, associate the two events as being on the same day.

Mrs. Pinner is in very good health and is able to do her own housework and care for herself and her son, Fred, without any help. She says she feels no older than she did a year ago. She does less reading than formerly, however, and has a trace of regret in her voice as she mentions that she had to give up the crocheting she enjoyed so much.

Her husband, the late George Pinner, died in 1915. Three of their seven children are living today. As well as her son Fred, Mrs. Pinner has two daughters, Mrs. T. J. Butler (Pearl), of Toronto, and Mrs. G. R. Hartley (Nina), Marmora.

Mrs. Pinner is the oldest member of St. Paul's Anglican church "across the way" and was for many years an active member of its Ladies' Guild. She is also an original member of Marmora Women's Institute.

Boys' vocal solo for those under ten years, Donald Gibson.

In rural unison chorus, Grades I to IV, this school took third place with Joy Seymour, Margaret Sheppard, Carolyn Whitfield, Jim Seymour, Donald Sargent, Douglas Ball, Donald Gibson and Claudette Chretian.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.Y.—Radioactive gold is the best treatment for cancer so far among the new, man-made products of the atomic ovens. The report was made by Dr. P. F. Hann of the Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, Nashville. The new form of gold is made from ordinary gold based in an atomic pile, where it becomes slightly heavier.

"DOCTOR" MOUNTBATTEN HONORS NEHRU — Lord Louis Mountbatten, soldier, sailor, statesman and governor general of India, is shown (back to camera) as he conferred the degree of Doctor of Literature on Pandit Jawahar lal Nehru, prime minister of the Dominion of India, at a special convocation of the Delhi University. Mountbatten is chancellor of the university. He himself was invested with the robe of Doctor of Science.

Job Insurance Fine Imposed

LINDSAY, March 20 — First prosecution under the unemployment insurance regulations to be tried in Lindsay was heard by Magistrate E. A. Gee Wednesday, who found the accused, Stanley McGill, guilty of illegally obtaining six days' benefits. The fine was $5 and a $200 bond was ordered to be posted.

The accused, an elderly laborer, pleaded guilty.

Employment officer H. H. Brown pointed out that the case was meant to act as a deterrent.

"It just won't work," he said, "the commission will catch up with offenders."

Douro News

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hayes and Mrs. F. D. Leahy left for Lansing, Mich., on Friday to be present at the ordination to the priesthood of Rev. John Hayes, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes (nee Mary Farley). Others who attended from Canada were: Clare Hayes and Rev. J. CZECH NATION MOURNS—Deep mourning marks the faces of these Czechs as they lined the streets of Prague, awaiting for the funeral cortege of Jan Masaryk. The dead liberal, whose death the communist regime called suicide—and blamed on "western reaction"—lay in state in the Czernin palace while national flags hung at half mast and flags of mourning draped the nation's buildings.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

TWO CRISES IN A HAND

EXCEPT on "pianola" hands, with which you automatically rake in the tricks, you will usually find that there is some one particular critical stage at which correct action gains your objective for you. On other deals there will be two or more crises, each of which must be handled correctly. One may be a simple matter of sound technique, whereas the other may be a proposition involving the most complex tactics, and in fact may require several tricks to develop after the opportunity heaves into sight.

(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT

North's diamond suit was masked in just that way at two tables of a duplicate, the lead in each case being the same card from East, the club 4. Dummy played low in each case and West the Q. Crisis No. 1 was at hand.

The man who was set took this with the K.

That declarer took two high spades and led a third to West, who promptly returned his last club. Declarer let the J hold that trick, then took the 3 with the A. Only eight tricks were at hand—four spades, two clubs and two diamonds—so he tried the diamond finesse. When that J lost to the Q, East set him two with club tricks and the heart A.

The other declarer let the club Q have the opener and took the second with his club K. After two top spades, he gave a third to West, who had no more clubs, so returned the heart 2 to the 10 and A. The club A was then knocked out, whereupon North noted the next crisis, a chance to seek a top score by a squeeze. He cashed one set-up spade and the heart K, then led the diamond J, the Q drawing the K.

That pretty inversion of the defenders' predominant diamond strength was followed by the last spade, which squeezed West. Seeing the heart J in dummy, he had to hold his Q, so discarded from his diamond 10-9. Then the diamond 5 lead to the A felled West's last diamond and made the 6 good, giving North his eleventh trick for a big top.

Campbellford Creek Ice Jams Blasted

CAMPBELLFORD, March 20.—(ENS).—Where Trout creek runs through Edgewater park, it has been necessary to blast ice jams several times to keep the roadway above water level, but other than that there seems to be little danger of flooding in any section of town, said the street foreman, Joseph Brethour. All drainage has been cleared of ice.

Change Police Court

Starting April 1, police court will be held here every Thursday, Magistrate R. B. Baxter said Thursday. In the past, court cases from Hastings were tried here, but will be held in Hastings on alternate Thursdays. Unless crime in Campbellford increases, the magistrate said he thought it sufficient to hold court here every two weeks instead of weekly.

A flock of about 25 robins were seen flying through the trees near the Anglican church Friday afternoon. They are believed to be the first large colony to arrive from their winter quarters.

Some Campbellord residents seem just as confident as the robins that spring has arrived. Quite a few maple trees along streets are tapped.

Say Packers Led Market In Butter Boost

OTTAWA, March 20 (CP). — Roch Pinard (L-Chambly-Rouville) suggested before the Commons Price Committee today that Canada Packers, Ltd., "led" this winter's bull market in butter.

He made the statement during questioning of Arthur Child of Toronto, assistant treasurer of the company, as the committee investigated the causes of higher butter prices.

William Irvine (CCF-Cariboo) had asked the witness why his firm "raised" the price of its butter after making a "substantial profit" in December.

"We didn't raise the price — we followed the market," Mr. Child said.

"Or led it," Mr. Pinard interjected. "I'm inclined to think you led it."

In response to further questions by Mr. Irvine as to the "justification" for a five-cent increase at the time, Mr. Child said his company merely had sold at the market price. Also, its costs were going up . . .

Jean Lesage (L—Montgmangy-L'Islet) wanted information on $1,250,000 in bonuses paid Canada Packers' 11,000 employees in the fiscal year ended March 1, 1947.

Lost Money

The assistant treasurer said it did not affect the price of butter, since the company had lost money on butter operations that year and therefore had no butter funds available for bonuses. These came from other operations.

Robert McCubbin, Parliamentary Assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, wanted to know if the company was going to distribute to its butterfat suppliers some of its butter profits of the last 11 months.

Mr. Wiggins said it was not. "Eventually, there will be a drop in price," he said, "in which case we'll take a loss."

When the market was going up, he declared, Canada Packers was selling and reducing its stocks.

"We had no part in the advance in price through buying," Mr. Wiggins said.

The meeting closed with the Doxology.

Deserves a Medal

TORONTO, March 20 — (CP) — "Anyone who is trying to look after a wife and three children on $30 a week should be recommended for a decoration and not fined," Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow observed yesterday as he entered a plea of innocent on behalf of Thomas Duffy. Duffy, father of three, had asked for two months in which to pay a $25 fine for failing to file income tax returns in 1944.

"Double-Cross" In Wheat Vote Members Shout

OTTAWA, March 20 — (CP). — Progressive Conservative shouts of "double-cross" and "broken faith" echoed in the Commons last night in the wake of a fantastic vote in which Liberals and C.C.F. members combined to defeat a government motion.

The "double-cross" accusation, hurled by J. A. Ross (PC—Souris), was ruled unparliamentary and he withdrew it. But there was no retraction of a charge by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) that Trade Minister Howe "broke faith" with the House.

The vote and the charges centred on the government's grain-marketing legislation — finally approved at the night sitting.

In the afternoon, the House had approved second reading of the bill, 113 to 40. Mr. Howe then recalled his promise eight days previously to move that it be split in two, with a controversial proposal for state marketing of oats and barley going to a special committee.

There now was no purpose in fulfilling his promise — given in an unsuccesstul attempt to save time, he said. But he would make the motion, knowing its defeat was "obvious." The count against was 94 to 58.

Mr. Howe and Justice Minister Ilsley supported the motion. Agriculture Minister Gardiner and all other cabinet ministers present voted against it. Prime Minister King, who had been in the chamber earlier, left without voting.

One Progressive Conservative —H. H. Hatfield, Victoria-Carleton—joined with the majority of Liberals and CCF members to defeat the motion.

"We were double-rossed by the CCF and members of the Government," he shouted.

T. J. Bentley (CCF-Swift Current) denied his party at any time agreed to support the bill-splitting motion. The CCF two weeks ago had believed the move would be wise, but it no longer thought that.

"He double-crossed nobody!"

G. H. Castleden (CCF-Yorkton) asked that Mr. Ross withdraw the word "double-cross." W. Ross Macdonald (L-Brantford City), the committee chairman, ruled the word unparliamentary.

"I withdraw the word," said Mr. Ross. "We feel that we were certainly sold down the river."

"A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," observed Gordon Graydon (PC-Grey).

The marketing legislation, eventually passed without amendment, provides for an unspecified boost in the $1.35 initial wheat payment, pensions for the Wheat Board employees, and the state-controlled marketing of oats and barley.

Kingdom of God Can Only Come Into Hearts of Men

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Lesson on the above topic for March 21 is Mark 4:26-29; Luke 4:16-22a; 17:20, 21; Romans 14:17).

In Jesus' time, as until recently in our own, the Jews had no country of their own. They had returned to their homeland from exile, it is true, but they were ruled by Roman emperors, their dominion having been established by Pompey the Great in 63 B.C.

The country was divided, part under the sons of Herod the Great, Philip and Antipas, both regions being ruled as tetrarchies — under minor governors. Judaea, Samaria and the land south of Judaea were more directly under the Roman procurator, Pontius Pilate.

The Jews were looking for a Messiah, one who would lead them to victory over their enemies and re-establish the kingdom. This was their great hope in the time of Jesus. Now, it seems that their dream may be realized. In the struggle now going on they hope to gain a land of their own, there to live as an independent, sovereign nation.

Our lesson deals not with this earthly country for which the people of Palestine so longed, but for the kingdom of God, which was Jesus' message to His people.

To illustrate what He meant by the kingdom of God, Jesus told the following parable while preaching by the Sea of Galilee: The kingdom of God is as if a man should cast seed into the ground, and should sleep night and day, and the seed should spring and grow up without his paying much attention to it. Growing in the earth, first the blade would come up, then the ear, and finally the "full corn in the ear." Then the man would reap because the harvest was come. So in men's hearts, first the message is sown by the teacher; where it grows without his knowledge, until it attains full growth, and the man realizes that he has the kingdom of God within him.

Some time before this Jesus had made a visit to His native town, Nazareth. As He always did, Jesus went on the Sabbath into the synagogue, and stood up to read. The synagogues which had been set up since the Jews returned from exile in Babylon were rooms one end of which faced toward Jerusalem. The men sat on one side, and the veiled women on the other.

The Ark, of painted wood, generally covered with a curtain, and containing the Pentateuch and scrolls of the prophets, was the most sacred object. On one side was the bema or pulpit for the reader and preacher, and there were chief seats for the synagogue's ruler and the elders.

It was customary to read the scriptures standing. After someone had read the first lesson, which was from the Pentateuch, the clerk would hand the roll of parchment containing the book of the prophets which was the second lesson, to someone, and in this case he gave it to Jesus. We do not know whether what Jesus read was the lesson for the day or whether He chose it especially.

What Christ read to these people who had known Him from childhood, was:

"The spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because He hath anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He hath sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, To preach the acceptable year of the Lord."

Jesus then closed the book, handed it back to the clerk, and sat down and began to talk. The eyes of all in the synagogue were upon Him, and all marveled at the gracious words that came from His lips. "Is not this Joseph's son?" they asked one another.

What did Jesus believe was the kingdom of God? When asked by the Pharisees when it would come, He answered, "The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. Neither shall they say, Lo here! or, lo there! for, behold, the kingdom of God is within you."

Into our hearts it comes, into all men's hearts, before the kingdom is established. When men cease being cruel, selfish, grasping; when they do unto others as they would be done by, then shall the kingdom come. It is not an earthly thing, for, as Paul wrote to the Romans: "For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost."

ST. CATHARINES — Forcing open the safe at the Gamble-Robinson wholesale fruit office early this morning, thieves escaped with an undisclosed amount of money. A cash box containing firm papers was found later at the side of highway 8 near Vineland.

Water Backs Up Sewers Cobourg Cellars Flooded

COBOURG, March 20 (ENS)—Cobourg has no streams of any great size to plague it in the spring break-up but surface water Friday caused many flooded cellars in town and kept town workmen on the hop all day. For the first time in many years, sewers backed up on Chapel street, the large sewer being unable to handle the terrific amount of water that flowed from Walton and Henry streets. Water in storm sewer gratings was only about a foot from the street level with the result that the water backed up in sanitary sewers.

Almost every year, James street east has flooded cellars and yesterday saw no exception. One householder had two streams running out from a sump pump which operated in the cellar on the corner of Walton and James streets. Water from the north side of the street, which is higher than the south, ran in rivers across James street to flood cellars to the south. In addition the regular James street sewer was unable to handle the deluge, with the result that water and sewage backed up into the cellars.

Hotel Without Heat

The Dunham Hotel was without heat when the water backed up and extinguished the furnace fire, also putting the electric motor, which operates the stoker, out of commission. Foundry employees quit early on Friday because water hindered work in the building. The creek which runs through the centre of the town was quite high but merchants' cellars on King street, although wet, were not as bad as in other years. Water was several feet deep in the subway and prevented cars from getting through. In general it was the worst spring break-up that Cobourg has seen in some time, melting snow and pelting rain combining to make things very unpleasant.

Prof. Steckley Extols Hybrid Corn Stands Up To Storms Increases Supply Of Feed Grain

"I'm all for hybrid corn for its stand-up ability," said Professor J. C. Steckley of Ridgetown Experimental Farm on the Friday afternoon program of the Quinte District Seed Fair. "Even if it didn't yield so much, and a lot of our men who produce hybrid corn are getting all the way from 50 to 100 bus. to the acre, I would still be for it. I haven't changed my mind on that point from the time when I first went to Ridgetown."

The strong root system of hybrid corn enabled it to stand up against wind. "You get a bad storm and you know what happens to the open pollenated varieties," Prof. Steckley said, invoking the experience of the many farmers of his keenly interested audience.

He outlined the process of hybridization, after briefly sketching the history of corn, and devoted the rest of his practical talk to farm practice in thsi grain.

Corn is a native plant of this continent. The world is mentioned in the Bible and in other ancient writings, but signified other grains than corn. They were calssed together as corn. And because this is a young country, corn is a comparatively new crop.

Gift From Indians

"When our ancestors brought their grain to this country, the only thing that saved them from starvation was the corn of the Indians. For many years that fact was not known. I have also noticed that corn is one of the good insurance crops we can grow. On many occasions when other grains and hay have been light in the harvest, farmers have had the security of silos full of corn. In many a season our livestock men have escaped serious trouble by having a good corn crop back of them.

Up to the beginning of this century the only corn improvement we knew was in following along the tactics of the North American Indians. Corn is a plant that has never been found growing wild. So, it needs attention and has to be propagated."

Prof. Steckley said corn was low in ash and protein, and the first objectives in improvements early in this century were aimed at that deficiency. In the first eforts of development oil and protein content were slightly raised, but the yield was diminished.

Inbreeding And Crossing

"The question of hybrid corn as we have it today puts into practice two well known genetic laws. (Genetics—the study of heredity, reproduction). It was known that inbreeding intensifies the potency and strength of the plant or animal from one generation to the next. Not only are the strong features intensified, but its poor qualities as well. Its weakness becomes more pronounced. The other question is what out-crossing does. Inbreeding reduces the sizes and stamina of the plant or animal; outcrossing does the opposite. Size and vigor are increased."

Prof. Steckley gave some illustrations of the stunted growth in plant and cob from the inbreeding of corn. He also explained something of the number of generations required in bringing about these results. When experiments went on to cross-breeding, it was found that inbred corn yielding 5 to 10 bus. an acre got up to 75 bus, in one year by cross-breeding. Then some one asked the question—what about extending that control into a second year; that is crossing crosses. One result was the cost dropped from $50 to $60 a bushel to $5 or $6.

"It took us about 20 to 25 years to get the idea how corn could be developed in this way. Since then we have developed corn crops all over the continent. Last year I got the corn summary of the United States. It showed that the greatest yields per acre were in those States were hybrid corn was grown to the greatest extent. Consequently hybrid corn is no longer an experiment. It is already well established in our own country, and 95 per cent of the corn grown for grain in Ontario is hybrid corn."

Pedigrees Of Corn

Prof. Steckley explained that foundation corn is controlled and developed in State agricultural colleges or experimental farms on the one hand, and also by a number of companies that are doing their own development. In this country the State hybrids are known as Canada hybrids. Inbreds have their pedigrees, similarly in a way to pure bred cattle. For example, Canada 606, extensively grown in this province, is sired from the crossing of two inbreds, 23 X 26, producing a single cross; and the dam is from A X A-3. Hence from the singles the double-cross hybrid.

"So, in this country, at the experimental farm at Ottawa the main work is to keep on keeping inbreds for us. It is a specialized business, requiring a great deal of care and attention. They send us the seed to Ridgetown and we make the first cross, and that seed goes to the commercial producers of the hybrids. It is necessary to do that to maintain corn standardization."

Planting and Cultivating

Turning to the advantages of hybrid corn, Prof. Steckley extolled its root system, anchoring it firmly to stand up against winds. "We found that farmers growing hybrids for the first time, and accustomed to growing silage corn, planted it like oats, smack up together. You won't get a heavy yield of hybrid corn from putting it in the ground that way. One bushel should plant five or six acres whether with grain drill or planted. We figure on one stalk every foot in the row. That is plenty close enough. Whether the rows are 28 or 42 inches apart I don't care, but I'd rather have it thinner than that, than thicker."

"In southwest Ontario farmers have a lot of big tractors with efficient cultivator attachments. They like to rip up the soil. My advice is be careful about cultivating. We feel that the first time through with the cultivator you can go fairly close to the rows, bu after thtat go carefully. The hybrids have a great root system to feed the stalks, and you don't want to cut off any of those roots. The higher the corn, the narrower and the shallower you go. If you have no weeds in your corn (have you any like that down here) don't cultivate. We had a good yield in some fields last year without cultivating. We controlled weeds by spraying."

Prof. Steckley answered various questions from his audience as he went along. He did not emphasize cultivating for moisture "unless a crust forms on the soil." "Get the weeds out if you possibly can, but don't cut the roots."

Another question was about hilled corn. Prof. Steckley objected to the "chugging" when going over the hills with a picker or cutting with a binder. "It is more convenient in rows and easier to handle."

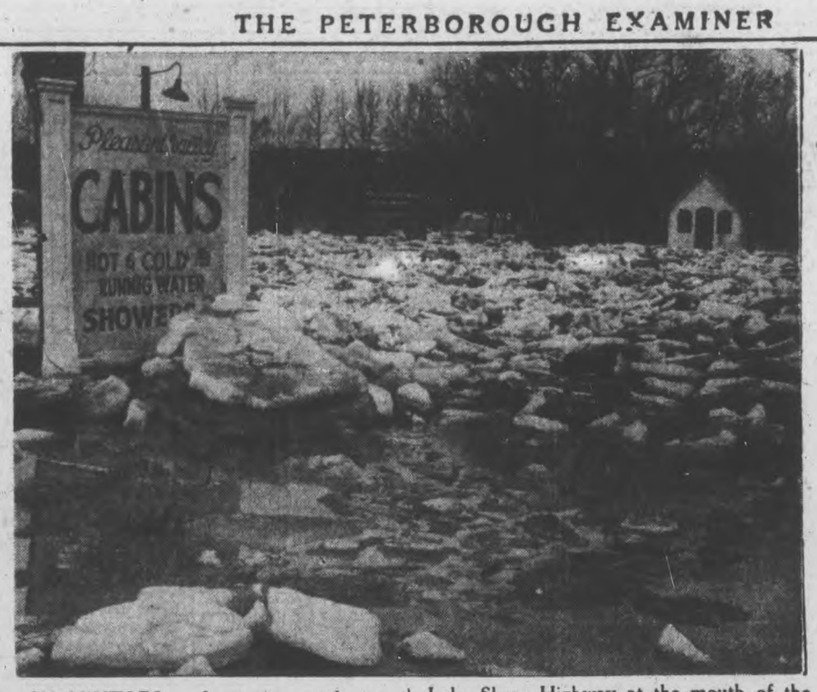
Economy of the Picker

"In hills we like two or three kernels to each hill, and about 42 in. each way. In harvesting we have gone to the exclusive use of the picker. It is the most effective way, and it is the only reason why corn is being grown in southwest Ontario. It does the work efficiently and economically, and the man who undertakes custom work will do it cheaper than by hand and should pay for a picker in a few seasons."

Grain corn deserves more attention than ever today, Prof. Steckley said, because of the eastern need of feed. The eastern farmer used to be independent. He planned to raise sufficient feed for his stock. In that respect today corn had an important part to play.

"Last year wasn't a good season for corn, nor for other grains, but hybrid corn helped out in many a situation. You have to remember that it is lower in protein than other grains, so you have to make up for the lack with a little more mineral and protein. Tests at Ridgetown showed you could feed 70 p.c. corn to bacon hogs by providing necessary balance by adding protein and mineral."

"One thing to remember—corn will help you get more grain on your farm. As to husking, some people run it through the cutting box and get a pretty good mixture. Some feed it in the sheaf to cattle and hogs, but in that way it is a little hard to get in the protein that is needed. Some farmers put it through the threshing mill, and get a pretty efficient job."



"One thing I want to emphasize is maturity. That is all important. I don't think we have yet a dual purpose corn—grain and silage. I have a farm in York. We grow corn that ripens there every year. We use 355 and 275. How late do we plant it? I like to get it in by May 24th."

Ed. A. Summers, agricultural representative in Durham, interjected the comment—"I think it should be in here by that date."

Another question was directed at mixing soy beans with corn in silage to bring up the protein.

Prof. Steckley did not advise against it, but he said: "I'd grow them in separate fields and mix them at the box. There is no doubt the soy beans will give you more protein, but, perhaps I'm a bit old fashioned. I'm not so strong about protein out of a silo. If I want a protein I'd rather get it out of good hay, but don't take that as the las word on this question. We get good hay of 23 to 25 p.c. protein. It never goes to the barn. We put it on tripods, and it goes direct to the stock. I think I'd rather build a few old type tripods and expect a lot more protein."

Prof. Steckley recommended Can. hybrids 275 and 279 for this area. "If you have early land you might get away with 350" As to plowing the corn field, take off the skimmer, leave off the tiller, use a sharp, big roller coulter. You need plenty of clearance so you don't catch and drag stalks. And plow in the same direction the picker went."

Mel. A. McHolm Wins Two Silver Trophies

Mel A. McHolm of Hope township won the two silver trophies of the Quinte Seed Fair, but was not present to receive them from Warden James Humphries at the concluding dinner last night at George St. United church.

One was the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' trophy to the exhibitor winning the most prize money in twenty-one of the show classes, and the other was silver salver, a gift of the T. Eaton Co., for winning the largest amount of prize money in four of the regular grain classes, oats, barley, wheat and buckwheat.

Robert Armstrong, of Cavan, another Durham grain grower, was only a few points behind Mr. McHolm for the Cheesemakers' award.

The complete prize list was not available until the results were received back from Ottawa of the examination of the small grains, red clover, alsike, alfalfa, sweet clover and timothy. Those results and other details of the prize awards were:

The Results.

Gets Drunk, Steals Milk Fined On Both Counts

Frederick Kelly, 417 Stewart St., pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., to charges of theft of five pints of milk and being drunk in public. He was remanded until March 25 on the theft charge and fined $10 and $2.50 costs on the drunk count.

The milk, stated Crown Attorney McKiddery, had been taken from a Mohan-Hunter Dairy truck at the rear of their premises on George St. It had been found in the possession of the accused, who was drunk at the time.

No Tax Returns?

WINNIPEG, March 20 — (CP) — Clifford E. Wood, president of the Manitoba Federation of Agriculture charged before a committee on agriculture and immigration yesterday in the legislature that a "high percentage" of eastern Canada farmers do not make income tax returns.

Mme. Currie Detained

NEW YORK, March 19 — (AP). — Mme. Irene Joliot-Currie, 50, noted French scientist whose parents discovered radium, was mysteriously detained by immigration authorities last night upon her arrival at La Guardia Field by plane from Paris.

Convict Goes Berserk Stabs Two Pen Guards

FIREMEN ARE SHOWN fighting the flames which swept through the hotel Lapointe at St. Jerome, Quebec, forcing 90 employes and 95 guests to flee the hotel in the foothills of the Laurentians. Firemen from nearby Ste. Therese and Montreal were called upon to help battle the blaze.

Jumps Pair From Behind, Wields Knife

14 Other Prisoners Keep Out Of Fight; Reported Mental Case

KINGSTON, March 22 (CP)—Two guards were stabbed by a knife-wielding convict who went suddenly berserk at Kingston Penitentiary on Saturday afternoon.

The injured men are E. F. Fuller, a senior guard, and George Wilson, both of Kingston. Fuller was stabbed below the right shoulder, the blade of the knife penetrating to the bone. Wilson suffered a deep gash in his left thigh.

Name of the convict was withheld by penitentiary officials. However it is understood the man is a mental case having recently been transferred here from Bordeaux jail, Montreal.

It is understood 14 convicts were working in the shoe manufacturing shop inside the penitentiary when the attacks occurred. The other inmates took no part in the affair. Earlier it had been reported all of them had attacked the two guards.

Had Grievance

The convict approached Fuller from behind. Suddenly he whipped out the knife, plunged it into Fuller's back and then snarled: "That's for reporting me."

Fuller turned slightly a fraction of a second before the convict struck at him, with the result the knife blade cut into the right side of his back.

The convict worked his way along the wall of the shop until he came behind Mr. Wilson. He slashed him viciously on the thigh.

Mr. Wilson rushed to the part of the shop where Mr. Fuller was stationed but found him lying on the floor, covered with blood.

By this time the convict had quieted down.

Arab Section Of Haifa Rocked By Blast Jewish Truck Explodes, Casualties Heavy

JERUSALEM, March 22.—(AP).—An explosion wrecked the thickly populated Iraq street in the centre of the Arab section of Haifa today. A government spokesman said there were "very many casualties."

Police said a Jewish truck loaded with explosives penetrated the Arab section and was blown up.

Witnesses said buildings and houses were damaged "for blocks around." Many Arabs were believed buried in the wreckage.

First unconfirmed reports said 17 Arabs were known dead and 50 injured. At least eight houses were destroyed.

Arab mortars immediately started bombarding the neighboring business centre. A British constable was killed and another injured.

The official announcement said the truck was a three-ton military vehicle, occupied by two uniformed men, and led by a military jeep carry two other men in uniforms. The truck was parked and the four men drove away in the jeep. A few minutes later the truck blew up. Jewish sources said the Stern group made the attack.

Power Restrictions Lifted In Ontario Cities, Keep Lighting Restrictions

TORONTO, March 22—(CP).—Power blackouts imposed on Ontario cities to conserve power no longer are compulsory, although lighting restrictions imposed last November remain in force, Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders announced today. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario had pulled switches at different periods during the day in Ontario cities since mid-February in an effort to save power lost because of low water conditions at plants of Quebec suppliers.

One typical centre was Toronto, where two half-hour periods began the cut. This was later cut down to one 40-minute period a day and finally to 20 minutes' duration.

Mr. Saunders said improved water conditions and assurance from Quebec power companies that power supply will be restored to the amounts called for in contracts were the reasons for removing blackouts.

The order had imposed a 10 per cent curtailment on use of power. It was left to each municipality to decide how to conserve the 10 per cent. Many used periodic blackouts of power on week days.

While announcing lifting of the 10 per cent order, Mr. Saunders said it does not mean there is plenty of power. He tempered the statement by asking voluntary conservation to be continued.

Futher, he warned that if water conditions become worse or an emergency arises the restrictions will be reimposed.

Restrictions on power came into effect more than a month ago.

Ontario Flood Damage Reaches Millions; Water Isolates Wingham

Report Ice Blocks, Debris 30 Feet High Cluttering Quebec Village; Four Deaths Blamed On Heavy Flooding

By The Canadian Press

A trail of destruction with damage that may reach millions of dollars was left today by receding streams in Southern Ontario and Quebec as heavy rains and continued mild temperatures caused other streams to continue heavy flooding. Swollen rivers dislocated business by flooding towns and isolated communities by cutting off rail and road communications. Four deaths could be attributed to flood conditions.

At Chatham the Thames River reached its highest level of the year, 14 feet nine inches, while at some points the Grand River reached its highest levels since 1883.

Deaths included three-year-old Betty Irene Byers, drowned in a swollen creek near her Stouffville, Ont., home, and Andy Ernest Larose, seven, who lost his life in a field at Lindsay.

Thirty-foot high mountains of ice and debris still littered the streets of Bromptonville, Que., today as the rampaging St. Francis River slowly receded after causing one death, damage estimated at $1,000,000 and rendering hundreds homeless Saturday night.

The rampaging flood waters which sent huge blocks of ice crashing through this town of 2,700, located five miles from Sherbrooke, destroyed 18 or 20 homes, damaged many others beyond repair, destroyed a bridge, uprooted telephone and telegraph poles and ripped up half a mile of railway track on the Canadian National Railways main line.

Many Stranded

Many residents were stranded by the sudden upsurge of waters and scores were rescued by rowboats. More than 200 persons waited in a church for the water to stop rising.

Wilfrid Martin, 50, in ill health for some time, died of a heart attack believed to have been brought on by shock as he watched heavy ice floes snapping telephone and telegraph poles and tearing up houses from the foundations.

The other death was at Port Hope, where the Ganaraska River swept away Jimmy Lindsay, 5.

A sudden rise of the St. Lawrence River at Montreal gave residents of St. Lambert suburb a scare. Within an hour, the water receded and people who had evacuated their homes moved back.

After flood water pouring through the town caused damage

ONTARIO FLOOD

Lindsay Boy, 7 Drowns In Field Pond

LINDSAY, March 22 — The first drowning of the season took place at 2.15 Sunday afternoon when Andy Ernest Larose, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Larose, 127 Elgin St., lost his life while taking his first swim in a large field pond. The tragedy took place on the farm of Vincent Murphy, just outside the corporation, and immediately adjoining the town "dump." Several deep hollows in the area are filled with flood water and huge chunks of ice are still floating around the pond.

Andy, accompanied by his 8-year-old brother, Larry, were chased away from the pond by Vincent Murphy, owner of the farm, who yelled to the boys from his barn door.

They apparently returned and according to Larry, his young brother, took off his clothes and waded in for a swim. He soon disappeared. "I found a large stick and he grabbed it, but I had to let go when he was pulling me into the water." The young lad ran home to his father, who waded into the deep pool and ducked down under water twice to find his son. He could not see in the murky water and it was too cold to remain in the pond.

Fire Chief Cliff Campbell and a couple of men reached the spot in a boat and when grappling irons recovered the body. Dr. M. J. Gorman was called and several schoolboys administered artificial respiration. Provincial Constable Ralph Taylor is investigating.

2 Mad Killers At Large; Find No Trace

PENETANGUISHENE, March 22 (CP)—Two mad killers, fugitives from a mental hospital here, were believed hiding today in the snow-covered countryside within a few miles of this Georgian Bay town.

Melville Wilkie, 37, of Owen Sound, who confessed to burning his wife and baby daughter to death, and Henry Leo Cada, 29, of River Rouge, Mich., adjudged unfit to stand trial in the knife slaying last June of his 21-year-old sister Ida, fled Saturday night after slugging a guard and lifting his keys.

The escape was Wilkie's fourth since he was committed to the Ontario Mental Hospital in 1933. He was ruled insane after he said in a statement that he sprinkled coal oil around a bedroom in which his wife and child were sleeping and set fire to it.

Wearing hospital garb of brown sweater coats, dark trousers and oxfords but no hats, coats or overshoes, the men used a homemade key to pass through two doors which held them in a ward. They slugged guard Howard Cadeau, took his keys and let themselves out. Heavy fog which hung over the area until Sunday noon helped them in their flight. So did a mild spell which made tracks hazy and baffled police who sought to establish the direction the fugitives had taken. By noon, when the fog lifted, the men apparently had vanished without a trace.

Falls Through Ice

PORT HOPE, March 22—(CP).—Believed to be five-year-old Jack Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lindsay of Port Hope, a child fell through a hole in the ice in the Ganaraska River Saturday. Firemen and police dragged the river, which is running high, but the body had not yet been found.

Legion Banishes Red Supporter

KIRKLAND LAKE, March 22—(CP).—Bernard Breland, 34-year-old RCAF veteran and prominent local businessman was banished from the local Branch 87 of the Canadian Legion yesterday for admitted Communistic affiliations. Breland had been active in the Labor Progressive Party here ever since his return to civilian life.

Members were advised of Breland's Red sympathies by President Neil O'Connor who said "we shall fight Communism here in this branch as we did our enemies a few years ago.

A resolution, strongly supporting the president was passed unanimously.

Red Treachery and Treason Waging War for Survival

(Editor's Note—The Peterborough Examiner to-day presents the eleventh article of a series in which Staff Reporter Don Cameron of the Windsor Star has traced the rise of Communism in Canada and pointed out the dangerous extent of its power. The Star has made the articles available to 25 other Canadian newspapers, which are publishing them concurrently.)

By DON CAMERON

Treason, treachery and deceit are the insidious weapons the Communist fifth column has turned against Canada in a battle for survival that is more desperate than most Canadians realize.

They were weapons that have succeeded amazingly well in Poland, Yugoslavia, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Albania and Czechslovakia. In these nations, since World War II was fought to guarantee the sacred Four Freedoms to all nations, nearly 100,000,000 people have been enslaved by the most tyrannical dictatorship of our time.

Other Countries Totter

They are on the threshold of success in brave little Finland, which has capitulated to every Soviet demand and awaits only the final fall of the iron curtain to merge into the blood-red shadow cast by the Kremlin.

Democratic forces in France and Italy have their backs to the wall and are fighting for their lives, and few observers are rash enough to predict confidently that they will last through the coming spring and summer.

As for Asia, what little democracy has gained a foothold there is on the wane, shrinking before the ruthless advance of the totalitarian terror.

Awakening belatedly to their mortal peril, now that Moscow's tireless agents have seized vast areas of the earth and have worked with infinite patience to prepare the rest for smashing with the hammer and reaping with the sickle of world revolution, the last democracies of civilization are looking about for weapons with which to defend themselves.

The United States, England, and now Canada have officially declared war on Communism within their borders, and the ugly prospect that it may develop into a war of guns and bombs with Soviet Russia, the fatherland of Red revolution, is growing larger.

President Truman has asked for the power to draft men into the United States Army on the theory that preparedness is the best guarantee of peace with authority.

Commons Debates Danger

Members of Canada's House of Commons two days ago demanded that other business be set aside until the problem of the Communist threat, as presented in these articles, could be given full consideration.

"Canada is regarded by the Communists as of supreme importance in the Communist bid for global domination," said a resolution to that effect by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader.

Prime Minister Attlee of England has announced that all Communists and known "crypto-Communists," or active sympathizers will be removed from British governmental departments—a move already undertaken at Ottawa and Washington, where the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation, respectively, have been investigating the loyalty of federal employees.

Even as these actions are taken, however, there is a general acknowledgement that legal measures are not adequate to the ends desired—that outlawing Communist organizations and arresting such of their members as can be apprehended will not end the menace, any more than laws have stamped out crime.

The Communist Party of Canada, which has been declared illegal, still exists, its leadership and its aims unchanged, under the transparent label of the Labor-Progressive Party. And even before it was banned under its orignal name, much of its business already was underground and outside the law.

Its business is sedition and treason—illegal business of the most malignant kind—yet no laws of any country ever have been able to combat it effectively.

Plan Court Action If Coal Talk Fails

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Court action to end the soft coal shut-down was promised by federal officials today unless:

1. John L. Lewis sends his United Mine Workers back to the pits voluntarily to end the week-old pension "vacation."

2. A meeting of miners and coal operators, called today by conciliation director Cyrus S. Ching, produces some progress toward a settlement.

Neither of these possibilities was regarded as likely.

One staunch Lewis lieutenant said in the field: "The miners won't go back to work until they're ordered—not until this dispute is settled."

However, some industry representatives, thought Lewis might suddenly call off the pension demonstration today or next Monday to avert a direct showdown under the Taft-Hartly Labor Act.

Four Perish In Apt. Blaze

PORT HURON, Mich., March 22—(AP).—Three-year-old George Meldrum alone survived a fire which swept a makeshift second floor apartment home Sunday, taking the lives of his parents and two small sisters.

A stove explosion started the blaze. It was made fiercer, police and firemen said, when the father accidentally kicked over an oil can in desperate rescue attempts.

Burned fatally were Charles H. Meldrum, 37; his wife Eliza, 34; and two daughters, Mary Ellen, 2, and Shirley, 4. Baby George was rescued by a neighbor.

When firemen arrived at the scene, they said they found Mrs. Meldrum unconscious on the sidewalk and her husband on the porch, muttering dazedly:

"I done all I could. I done all I could."

Police said Meldrum was carrying his two daughters out of the burning kitchen when he knocked over an oil can, which burst into flames. With their parents the girls died in hospital.

Czechs Donate Pay To Gov't

PRAGUE, March 22 — (AP). — More than 4,000,000 Czechs worked for nothing yesterday, the government announced today.

They worked in the country's factories and mines and on building projects. Their gratis labor was the first of a series of government "victory shifts."

The money they would have earned will go to an international children's relief fund and to the guerrilla cause in Greece.

More than 250,000 hours were put in at the Bata shoes and allied industry works alone, an announcement said.

Tornado Hits Planes Damage 15 Million

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22 (AP).—A tornado which took 00 airplanes as if they were toys and tossed them about Tinker air force base for seven minutes Saturday night, caused damage officially estimated at $15,000,000 to aircraft alone. Two soldiers stationed at the base and four civilians were injured, none severely by flying glass.

US Will Stay In Berlin Clay Defies Russ Boycott

BERLIN, March 22—(AP).—Despite Russia's boycott of four-power government machinery for Germany, Gen. Loucius Clay, United States occupation commander, said today the Americans intend to stay in Berlin. "We are in Berlin by agreement, just as the Russians are in Saxony and Thuringia (territory conquered by allied troops) by agreement," said Clay. "We intend to stay."

The Russians' boycott, which followed their walkout on a meeting of the Allied Control Council Saturday, spread paralysis today through the whole control authority.

In quick succession, acting as chairmen for this month, they cancelled meetings of four-power committees which had been scheduled for today. They merely said they were too busy to attend.

By noon they had taken part in only one session with the Western allies. That was a secretaries' meeting at which the Russians announced there will be no meeting of the allied co-ordinating committee tomorrow.

The co-ordinating committee, made up of the four deputy military governors, is the second highest allied governing body for Germany. Ranking just under the Control Council, it prepares the council's agenda, or program of work.

Tito Protests Trieste Move

BELGRADE, March 22. (AP)—The Yugoslav government protested "vigorously" to the western powers today against the way they proposed the restoration of Trieste to Italy—but Yugoslavia did not reject the proposal itself.

Premier Tito's government complained Britain, the United States and France had taken no note "of the need of agreement on the part of the most directly affected Allied state—Yugoslavia."

A note delivered to ambassadors of the three countries said:

"The Yugoslav government considers that submitting such a proposal at the time of the pre-electoral campaign in Italy can serve only the fomenting of Chauvinist hatreds toward the Yugoslav people and, on the other hand, toward the sharpening of internal political relations in Italy . . ."

May Fly To Arctic On Mercy Mission

WINNIPEG, March 22—(CP).—A Royal Canadian Air Force plane was held in readiness today in anticipation of a possible order for a mercy flight to the verge of the Arctic Circle to pick up a woman reported seriously ill.

Air force authorities in Ottawa said that the woman, Mrs. Sam Dodds, wife of a Meteorological officer, had been seriously ill for the last few days although the exact nature of her illness was not known. She had been acting as cook and housekeeper at the lonely Arctic Bay weather station on Baffin Island.

An Ottawa air force spokesman said that because of the extremely hazardous nature of the flight, the mercy mission would be undertaken only if the woman's condition became worse. She would be brought to hospital in Winnipeg.

CBC Gives Approval To Edmonton Station

OTTAWA, March 22. (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation today announced that it had recommended approval of plans to establish a French language broadcasting station at Edmonton.

The CBC's recommendations went to the Transport Department, which must make the final decision.

The CBC governors noted, in connection with the application for a French-language station at Edmonton, that they felt it would have no detrimental affect on the service of other stations covering the area.

Jewish State Proclaimed In 24 Hours

Say Army Of 25,000 Ready To Defend Jews In Palestine

TEL AVIV, March 22 (AP)—A Jewish state to be defended by Jewish arms is expected to be proclaimed in Palestine today or tomorrow.

A reliable informant said a formal order proclaiming the existence of such a state will be made by Vaad Leiumi—the Jewish National Council. No official announcement has yet been made by the council itself.

David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jewish agency for Palestine, said Saturday a Jewish state already has come into being—prepared to defend itself.

Such a proclamation by the National Council would repudiate in advance any United Nations trusteeship, defy Arab arms and be a step towards appeal for international recognition.

Tel Aviv—only all-Jewish city in the world—is the administrative centre of the new state.

Provisional Committee

Government of the state would be in the hands of a provisional committee of 32 already appointed under authority of the Jewish agency by Vaad Leumi.

The United States' reversal on partition had already failed, with nearly 2,000 killed in civil war since Nov. 29.

The potential state already has its army in Hagana, with more than 25,000 paid combat troops.

(In Beyrouth, Lebanon, the Arab League demanded disarmament of Hagana as a step toward achieving a truce in the Holy Land.)

The potential state has an initial population of more than 500,000. This excludes about 100,000 Jews in Jerusalem and slightly over 10,000 in various settlements inside Arab-held lines.

Lose $250,000

HALIFAX, March 22 — (CP). —A Halifax shipping official last night estimated the strike of Canadian merchant ship officers has cost nearly $250,000 in wages to seamen, officers, stevedores, and freight handlers in Halifax alone. Officials of the three striking unions, representing radio, engineer and deck officers, said there was no sign of a break in the strike which is nearing the end of its third week.

ICE JAMS AQUEDUCT—Huge ice cakes gave workmen five hours of pushing and dynamiting Saturday when they jammed a creek feeding into the Canal in the heart of Campbellford. The picture shows the jam with the creek 12 feet above normal level. Homes and fields were flooded before explosives loosened the ice.

Obituary

MISS EMMA BROCK

After an illness of about a week, Miss Emma Brock (Jennie) of Millbrook, died on Saturday in Civic Hospital in her 81st year.

Miss Brock was born in Zion, Durham county, daughter of the late James Brock and Eleanor Mulligan. She was educated and lived most of her life in that district, moving to Peterborough in December. She was a member of St. Andrew's United church, Millbrook.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Lily Stuart, Peterborough; and Mrs. Hilliard Strong (Laura), Peterborough. Also surviving are eight nieces and one nephew.

Body is resting at the Nisbett Funeral Home, where funeral will be held on Monday, March 22 at 1 p.m., Rev. James Semple officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Engine Jumps Tracks

BARRIE, March 22 — (CP).—Traffic on the main Canadian National Railways line between Allandale and Collingwood has been halted here since Saturday when a locomotive jumped the tracks at nearby Angus. The 150-ton locomotive is buried in 20 feet of mud, caused by a flood washout. Work crews are building a temporary line in an effort to restore traffic which is expected to resume to-day.

ASK SAFETY GUARANTEE

Northwesterly winds have brought cooler air into the province this morning. Cloudy skies persist in the lower lake region and snow is still occurring over central Ontario. However skies have cleared over the northwestern sections of the province and clearing will continue to take place over the remainder of the regions today. Meanwhile a disturbance over Saskatchewan is moving rapidly eastward. This will cause a strong southwesterly flow of warmer air to enter northern Ontario on Tuesday. A second disturbance developing over Louisiana will likely move northeastward and cause a period of cloudiness with rain over the lower lakes on Tuesday.

Forecasts:

Lake Ontario and Niagara regions—Cloudy clearing this afternoon. Tuesday overcast clearing in the afternoon. Rain commencing Tuesday morning stopping in the afternoon. Cooler today. Milder Tuesday. Winds light.

Summary for Tuesday: Rain then clearing.

Northern Lake Huron, Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions — Cloudy clearing this afternoon. Clear tonight becoming cloudy again on Tuesday. Cooler today milder on Tuesday. Winds light.

Summary for Tuesday: Increasing cloudiness.

Soft Shoulders Cause Mishaps

Soft shoulders in the muddy spring weather of the week-end were the cause of at least two accidents in the district.

A heavy car, driven by William Hicks, Bobcaygeon, was overturned about nine o'clock Sunday morning when it skidded on the wet side of No. 7 Highway north of the city. There were no injuries to Hicks, the only occupant. OPP Lloyd McClure investigated.

Elwin Garbutt, RR 2, Lakefield, escaped without injuries on Sunday morning when his car skidded on a soft shoulder and struck a telephone pole on a curve of No. 28 Highway north of Lakefield. The front of the car received extensive damages. The pole was snapped off at the base by the impact of the collision. OPP George Stevens investigated.

estimated at more than $1,000,000, the Maitland River last night isolated Wingham. Railway officials condemned the battered C.N.R. bridge which formed Wingham's last link with outside points.

Civic officials said the town of about 2,500 persons might be cut off for days. Even pedestrians were warned away from the bridge as ice blocks continued to pound against abutments.

Canadian National Railways officials at Toronto announced that rail service between Wingham and Kincardine had been cut off as well as connections between Harriston, Owen Sound and Wiarton.

10 Million Damage

Resident of southwestern Ontario where the Grand and Thames Rivers as well as the Maitland were on the rampage reckoned flood damage at close to $10,000,000—but the crisis appeared past, especially in the streams' upper reaches.

The Saugeen overflowed in Bruce County and caused damage in Walkerton and Paisley. At Goderich in Huron County damage caused by ice and flood to harbor installations was expected to reach $600,000. An ice heave there crushed wharves.

Citizens' clean-up groups in Listowel's business section cleared away debris left by a $100,000 surge of the Maitland. The River spilled five feet deep into the downtown section.

Galt, New Hamburg, Paris and other Grand River Valley centres estimated damage at more than $650,000 after a record surge of the Grand pounded flood waters into business sections and forced the evacuation of hundreds of persons.

Three Washouts

C.N.R. officials reported three washouts in the Palmerston division, weakened roadbeds in the Stratford division and a washout at Dundas.

Spotted throughout southwestern Ontario were smashed bridges, burst dams, railway and highway washouts, wrecked barns and mounds of tangled debris.

Two men staged a Little Eva rescue of a telephone operator at Fordwich, north of Wingham. They worked their way across floating cakes of ice and carried Louise Hambly to safety scant minutes before the telephone office filled with water.

Unleashed from frozen bounds, rampaging rivers on Saturday thrashed over their banks forcing 22 persons from homes in the Ottawa area and marooning another 25 families. Damage is estimated at $700,000.

Worst to suffer was the new residential Kingsview Park in Ottawa's suburban Eastview where the crashing Rideau river Saturday forced 225 persons from their homes, flooded ground storeys of 35 houses and caused damage of $500,000.

United States Of Europe Likely–Bidault

ROME, March 22 — (AP). — Premier Alcide de Gasperi conferred for three hours today with French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and said afterward:

"We are going, I think, toward a United States of Europe."

Bidault announced Saturday Britain the United States and France proposed to give Trieste, now international territory, back to Italy. He met the Italian leader at tiny Crea, in the Piedmont regions about 50 miles from Turin.

De Gasperi told a press conference that the Bidault announcement was a thing "bigger than we are, bigger than Italy and France, bigger than the Italian elections."

The proposal was expected to influence the Italian elections April 18. The Communists, bidding for power, were said by Italian sources to be annoyed because the western powers had beaten Moscow to the punch on the Trieste issue.

De Gasperi said his talk with Bidault was a "family encounter." The meeting was in the 15th century Franciscan sanctuary of the Madonna of Crea.

Both men head Roman Catholic parties. De Gasperi's Italian Christian Democrats are comparable to Bidault's French Popular Republicans.

Italians were deprived of newspaper accounts today of Trieste and the Italian political campaagin. More than 1,000 dailies throughout the country were shut down last midnight by a 24-hour printers' strike for higher pay. Upward of 100,000 men were were called out by theeir Communist-led union.

The Frenchman disclosed in Turin Saturday that the United States, Britain and France propose to give the Adriatic seaport of Trieste back to Italy. A three-power announcement on Trieste was made later in Washington.

24 Freight Cars Jump Track

CHESTER, Pa., March 22.—(AP).—Twenty-four freight cars jumped their tracks Sunday, plunged into a creek and down an embankment and jolted a house loose from its foundations.

Baltimore and Ohio railroad workers said the tracks were so snarled it would be "at least five days" before movement begins of B & O trains from New York and Philadelphia to the west.

Five-year-old Anthony Maisch said he was standing in the kitchen of his home dressing for church when he looked up and saw "wood flying through the air right at me."

He screamed to his father, James, and the two fled through the front door moments before the steel pipe and copper ingot crashed into the kitchen.

The 45-car B & O freight was on the outskirts of Chester on its way to Philadelphia when the 21st car jumped the tracks as it was crossing a 50-foot bridge over Ripley creek.

All the cars behind left the rails. Some sprawled over both main B & O tracks. Others plunged into the creek while three went crashing down a 20-foot embankment. It was one of these that jolted into the Maisch home.

Industrials Continue To Lead Exchange

TORONTO, March 22.—((CP). —Industrials continued to lead the field as key issues moved up fractions to a point and more. Base metals remained firm but golds wavered after a strong opening while western oils eased to give up most of early session gains.

The exchange's noon index showed industrials up 1.63 at 157.58, golds .14 at 95.58, base metals .70 at 82.28, western oils .06 at 32.61. Volume for the first three hours was 496,000 shares, about 29,000 less than Friday's similar period.

Abitibi common and preferred were active traders on good gains in a rising newsprint list with International and Moore the best gainers. Other leading stocks ahead were Argus, Bell, Brazilian, Canadian Breweries, Canadian Celanese, C.P.R., Distillers, Fanny Farmer, Walkers, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Massey-Harris and Toronto Elevators.

Smelters headed the base metals to advance 1¼ at 95¾ with other gainers East Sullivan, Eureka, Golden Manitou, Nickel, Normetal, Sherritt and Pend Oreille. Golds were mixed as seniors eased fractions including Dome and Lake Shore, while weaker juniors were Buffadison, Chesterville, Coniaurium, Eldona, Macassa, MacLeod and Sullivan. Ahead were Akaitcho, Aunor, Cochenour, East Malartic, Giant, O'Brien, Starratt, Springer.

USE POST CARDS

NEW YORK.—Comic postcards have been used to mail narcotics to addicts at the city penitentiary postal inspectors said.

"THE COUNTESS" RETURNS—Mystery shrouded the whereabouts of "Countess Grace Buchanan-Dineen, Toronto-born glamour girl of the '30's, who allegedly strayed from society's select path into Hitler's foreign service. Miss Dineen, shown above with a border official, should have been in Toronto, but there was no evidence she had boarded the train headed for Toronto. For three and a half years she occupied a cell in the federal penitentiary for women at Alderson, West Virginia, before President Truman ordered her 12-year sentence reduced. The "Countess" said early in 1942 FBI agents offered her the alternative of facing a penitentiary sentence or working as a counter-spy for the U.S. government. She agreed to the latter and her claim of two years' success ended in the cracking of a U.S. nation-wide espionage ring.

Every Third Car Found Defective

Facts reveal that approximately one out of every three cars on Canada's streets and highways is being operated with dangerous mechanical defects. And poor brakes is high on the list, even though most drivers know that faulty brakes are one of the chief causes of accidents.

For safety's sake make sure your brakes are perfect! Have an experienced mechanic check them right away and put them in perfect working order. If your brakes need re-lining, specify Johns-Manville . . . the brake linings motorists have relied upon since the first asbestos brake lining was made. There's a J-M dealer near you who can give you expert advice on brake problems. Contact your nearest J-M distributor, Provincial Automotive Trading Co. Ltd., 468 Wellington Street W., Toronto, Ont., for the name of your nearest Johns-Manville Brake Lining dealer.

Trench Cave-In Takes Life Of Picton Boy

PICTON, March 22 — (CP). — Artificial respiration failed to revive five-year-old Glendon Hook of Picton, one of four children caught in a cave-in while playing in a sewer excavation near their home Saturday. The other children were unhurt.

A 12-year-old, Mary Young, put her Girl Guide training to work and saved the life of a companion trapped in a cave-in from which she had tried to warn younger children.

Mary and another 12-year-old, Nancy Wright, also a Guide, spotted two children playing at the bottom of a 10-foot trench at the corner of Ferguson and Mary Sts. while workmen were absent. They went into the trench to try to bring the children out, and were climbing the bank when the cave-in occurred.

Nancy and Glendon Hook were trapped, but Mary and 4-year-old Lyda Jane Prior escaped uninjured. Mary spotted Nancy's hand sticking out of the earth and dug away enough dirt for her to breathe, then dashed for help. She went to the home of Mrs. Robert Hook, Glendon's mother, and a rescue squad armed with shovels tried to save the little boy.

Tried Rescue

"We heard two children playing at the bottom of the trench and knew they shouldn't be there," said Mary. 'We went down to bring them out. As we started to climb out a great chunk of dirt fell, knocking us over. When I got out I looked down, and all I could see was Nancy's hand moving, so I went back and dug in the dirt until I got her nose and mouth clear. Then I went for help."

Jack Scott, Milton Dulmage, Vernon Wheeler and Pat Hodgson worked with bare hands and shovels to reach the children, and were joined by construction workers. Pieces of cement covered the spot where Glendon Hook was buried, and a power shovel had to be used to reach him. He was still breathing when brought out, but died shortly afterward. Later the cave-in was scooped out and by-standers gasped when a child's boot was seen protruding from dirt in the power shovel. It was, however, one of Mary Young's.

Nancy Wright's pelvis was broken, but she was recovering satisfactorily today. An inquest has been ordered.

Three Children Drowned Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Drowning took the lives of three children in eastern Canada during the week-end and another child was killed in a sewer cave-in at Picton, a Canadian Press survey showed today. In all, eight fatalities were reported.

Six of the deaths, all violent, occurred in Ontario while the toher two which included a fatal burning were reported in Quebec.

Five-year-old Glendon Hook of Picton was buried under three feet of heavy clay when a sewer excavation caved-in on him.

At Stouffville, Ont., three-year-old Betty Irene Byer drowned in a creek opposite her home. The little girl was playing alongside of the swollen creek when her feet slipped, throwing her into the icy water. Although rescued within minutes by her father, Lorne Byer, artificial respiration failed to revive the child.

Andy Ernest Larose, seven, lost his life in a large field pond at Lindsay.

Searchers were still seeking the body of five-year-old Jack Lindsay who fell through the ice at Port Hope while playing on the Ganaraska River.

A 20-months-old baby, John Stanley Gardhouse, was instantly killed when a chain snapped from a machine at his father's farm at Weston.

Leslie Wood, a farmer, was killed instantly when struck on the head by a piece of frozen ensilage while working in his silo at Schomberg.

The over-flowing St. Francis River at Bromptonville, Que., was believed to have caused 62-year-old Wilfrid Martin to suffer a fatal heart attack.

At Hull, Que., J. Omer Paquin, 63, was fatally burned when a cigaret lighter set his bedclothes on fire.

County Councillors Reject Pay Increase

PICTON, March 22.— Granting salary increases to a number of county employees, county council defeated a motion that would raise their own indemnities from $5 to $6.50 per day. County Clerk C. G. Rutter's yearly salary was increased to $1,000; Treasurer J. P. Williams to $1,500; county home physician, Dr. D. S. Lighthall to $600, and county buildings caretaker, Mrs. Ellsworth to $900.

The sum of $8,000 was granted to Post 78, Canadian Legion, for the purpose of purchasing the McMullen property, East Main St., as a legion hall. The building will be a memorial hall to the men of Prince Edward County who lost their lives in the Second Great War. A grant of $1,500 was made to the county branch of the Federation of Agriculture, and $200 to the Women's Institute.

Obituary

FRANK ARTHUR

ROSENEATH, March 22 (ENS). —The funeral of Frank Arthur, who died on Tuesday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Wm. Hatherly, Peterborough, was held on Friday afternoon.

Mr. Arthur was in his 80th year, a son of the late William Arthur and Mary Dowler, and was born in South Monaghan. He lived the greater part of his life in Alnwick and some years in Harwood where he was a blacksmith. While there he was an active member of Bethesda United church. Some years ago Mr. Arthur retired and moved to Peterborough.

The service was held in Mrs. Hatherly's home and was conducted by Rev. Dr. James Semple of George Street United church, Peterborough. Dr. Semple paid tribute to Mr. Arthur as a devoted christian.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Gordon Warnock (Beatrice), and Mrs. Wm. McLaughlin (Amy), New York city; a sister, Mrs. Wm. Hatherly, Peterborough, two grandchildren, Florence and Bell Warnock. His wife, Nellie Braithwaite, died before him.

Burial was made at Centenary cemetery, Alnwick, Rev. R. C. White officiating. Bearers were: Messrs. Wm. McKim, Atcheson, Grey, Watt, E. Hill and M. McIntyre, Peterborough; A Sherwin, H. Davidson, F. Dowler and C. Roberts, Centenary.

UN Trusteeship Only Answer For Palestine

LOS ANGELES, March 22 — (AP). — State Secretary Marshall Saturday night said that the United States proposal for a temporary United Nations trusteeship for Palestine "is the only suggestion thus far presented which appears to offer any basis for action by the United Nations to meet the existing situation in Palestine."

In a statement released here, Marshall said:

"I recommended it to the President and he approved my recommendation."

The U.N. was faced with the prospect that no successor government will be in position to maintain law and order on May 15 when Britain abandons her mandate.

"A truce is essential," said the secretary. "A military truce can not be achieved under existing circumstances without a parallel truce in the political field. A political truce, however, would bring us up to May 15 without elementary arrangements for keeping order."

The secretary said the United States suggestion is that a temporary trusteeship should be established to maintain the peace while a settlement is being reached.

Marshall reaffirmed "the United States is not going to act unilaterally in the matter," but will seek a solution for Palestine within the framework of the U.N.

The United States had "explored every possibility of a peaceful implementation" of the Palestine partition plan which was set up last autumn in the U.N. general assembly.

Call Russia's Bluff Now, She's Not Strong—Writer

COBOURG, March 22 (ENS).— The Allied nations should call Russia's bluff, declared Ian Gordon, London newspaperman, in an address to the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club here. Mr. Gordon is a guest here of Mayor Joseph Smith, and is connected with the Kemsley newspaper chain, London, England. He was the only newsman at the Potsdam Conference in 1945, covering the proceedings as an official war correspondent.

Speaking of the Potsdam Conference, Mr. Gordon said that it was doomed to failure from the start. Incidently the Russians objected to civilian coverage so Mr. Gordon was there in his capacity as a war correspondent, sending conference briefs to the world press.

Russia at the end of the war was boosted into a great power by the allied press for its advance on Berlin. Actually it was due to lease-lend materials and the fact that they were fighting an army whose morale was broken by allied air pressure and the Russian winter. Russia herself gained a false impression of her own power by the very factors which had created the same impression abroad, Mr. Gordon said.

The Potsdam Conference was arranged by Russia and it was founded in fear as evident in the fact that it was ringed by Russian steel and in deceit which later was manifested by Russia's subsequent behaviour.

Another factor contributing to the failure of the conference was Russia's inferiority complex which she sought to cloak by adopting a superior attitude.

The death of Roosevelt resulted in his replacement by Truman, a man who was not as good in Russian eyes as his predecessor. The elections in Great Britain resulted in Churchill, whom the Russians respected and feared, being replaced by Attlee. These two political changes wrought a profound influence on Russia and helped doom the conference to failure, the speaker said. Russia's fear was evident from all angles. When Stalin was a guest of Churchill, the Russian leader had a personal guard of 70 officers, none of them below the rank of major, armed with submachine guns, ready to fire. The Russian guard invaded the whole area. After Churchill left and Attlee came out, the Russians nicknamed it the two-and-a-half power conference, England being the half.

The Allied nations had built Russia up with lend-lease and Russia was abusing its new-found power, the speaker said. He went on to state that he didn't believe Russia actually was a world power and now was the time to call their bluff. Mr. Gordon said that he didn't believe that Russia possessed the war potential to back up their domineering attitude of today. During the occupation days of Germany, British troops found that the only way to deal with Russian soldiers during the incidents which cropped up during occupation, was to call their bluff.

Illegal Job Benefits Get Man 15 Days

COBOURG, March 22—(ENS). — Gerald Quinn, Cobourg, was sentenced to 15 days in jail when found guilty here on a charge of making false statements for the purpose of obtaining unemployment insurance benefits. The charge was laid by Frank F. Sewell of Toronto, representative of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. J. C. M. German conducted the prosecution on behalf of the commission.

900 Sailors Get Increase

TORONTO, March 22—(CP)— Dewar Ferguson, Toronto business agent of the Canadian Seamen's Union, announced Saturday some 900 lake seamen will receive a wage increase of $25 a month, 48-hour week while in port, a 10-cent hourly increase in overtime rates and other concessions, as a result of new agreements.

Ice Plugs Creek

CAMPBELLFORD, March 22— (ENS).—Huge cakes of ice raising to the surface of Front Creek caused an ice jam Saturday which backed the flood water over the concrete walls of the creek and flooded a considerable area in the vicinity of the aqueduct at Grand Road.

Two workmen were forced to use dynamite to keep the ice moving through the aqueduct into the Canal.

The Palestine Debacle

Next month the Palestine Commission of U.N. was scheduled to begin implementing the partition plan approved by a majority resolution of the General Assembly last year. A week ago, at the eleventh hour, the Commission reported to the Security Council that:

Unless security is restored in Palestine, implementation of the (partition) resolution of the general assembly will not be possible....When the mandate is terminated Palestine is likely to suffer severely from administrative chaos and widespread strife and bloodshed.

* * *

The United States was the prime mover behind the partition plan. Russia approved it, Canada voted for it "reluctantly". Britain has consistently abstained from having anything to do with any plan not acceptable to both the Jewish and the Arabic communities. Because of American support, and only because of it, the plan was not shelved or turned down last November. On Friday, the United States reversed its stand and urged U.N. to give up its plan to partition the Holy Land into separate Arab and Jewish states. It asked that a special session of the U.N. Assembly be convened, and that Palestine become a U.N. mandate.

* * *

This is one of the most shocking volte-faces which a great western nation has ever taken. The reasons for the American reversal of policy are obvious. The Arab threats have been convincing. Too little attention was paid last year when the plan was accepted to the methods by which partition could be brought about. The U.S. is now conscious that Communists have lustful eyes on Palestine. The U.S. cannot afford to make the Arab world militantly hostile, for the U.S. has large oil interests in that world and western democratic states have need of the oil. The U.S., like Canada, is unwilling to commit itself to sending troops to Palestine to enforce partition. All these reasons should have been clearly foreseen and carefully weighed. That they were not is a condemnation of all nations who voted for the partition and now wish to scuttle it. The United States has exhibited a distressing, dangerous weakness in its foreign policy. Either its diplomatic experts are inexpert, or internal politics and pressure groups have been allowed to play an irresponsible part in dictating policy.

* * *

It is unfortunate for the United States and the world that the U.S. has achieved through its wealth, productivity and trade, international power so quickly. Whether Americans or the world like the fact or not, the U.S. has now the responsibility of great power. Lacking the centuries of testing and seasoning which informed British foreign policy, the United States must somehow overcome its inexperience quickly if western democracy is to survive.

* * *

No one believes that the situation in Palestine has cleared since the American announcement. Jews everywhere—and not merely in Palestine—are wrathfully disappointed. Now instead of Arabs being on the war-path it will be Jews. Palestine presents a dilemma for which there seems to be no immediate and peaceful resolution.

Cabinet Ministers In The Senate

For the first time in the history of the Canadian Parliament, a Cabinet Minister not a member of the Senate has taken part in a Senate debate. Last Tuesday the Minister of Transport, the Honourable Lionel Chevrier, took a seat next to the Government Leader's in the Senate and spoke by way of introduction and explanation on the second reading of a bill to amend the Shipping Act.

The precedent was provided for last year when the Senate altered its rules so that Cabinet Ministers who were not [illegible] to take part in debates affecting their departments. The purpose of this is to speed up parliamentary processes. Formerly, Government bills never reached the Senate until they had passed through all three readings in the Commons. Now the Senators can adequately debate measures at the same time as, or before they are dealt with in the Commons, for the responsible Cabinet Minister can be called to the Senate Chamber to pilot the bills. The Senate importance is increased by this innovation and there is hope that there will be a decrease in the last-minute, end-of-session wholesale passing of bills which have not had thorough Parliamentary scrutiny.

Mr. Fairless And Mr. Lewis Make Things More Difficult

The world's free nations face two difficult tasks today, each of which complements the other: the task of maintaining or rebuilding national economies and the task of using those economies in the most effective way possible to resist the spread of Communism. Anything making those tasks more difficut is to be deplored, yet recent decisions announced by Mr. Benjamin Fairless and Mr. John L. Lewis almost certainly will have that effect. Mr. Fairless, president of United States Steel Corporation, announced and defended an increase in the price of semi-finished steel products. Mr. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, accused mine operators of backing out of an agreement for a miners' pension plan—and in two days' time thousands of miners quit work.

These two moves will affect the United States primarily, but they will eventually be felt in Canada as well. An increase in the price of a basic product such as steel will affect international as well as national markets. Mr. Fairless undertook to justify the increase by declaring that steel companies were losing money on their semi-finished products, but he and other steel industry leaders were practically at a loss for an answer when reminded of the tremendous profits the industry made last year. Even Senator Taft of Ohio, regarded as a champion of industry and management as opposed to labour, severely criticized an action sure to have a discouraging effect on the general effort to halt rising prices.

A walkout of Mr. Lewis' miners is nothing new, and there is reason to believe that he intended to order one at this time even when he was signing the contracts drawn up after his joust with the Taft-Hartley Labour Law. These contracts contain a neat little joker to the effect that the miners will stay at work as long as safety and other conditions are such that they are "able and willing" to work. Now that thousands are not "able and willing" to work, the United States and other nations desperately dependent on it find themselves facing a coal strike that may mean curtailment of industrial production and that has already interfered with transportation.

These are examples of how both management and labour can contribute to prolonging and accelerating rising prices, regardless of the public good. There have been plenty of warnings about the folly of such self-centred and short-sighted actions. Labour was warned, in 1947, that industry could not absorb further wage increases without increasing prices. Groups of industries were warned—and by financial authorities predisposed to management—that their 1946 profits were adequate and that they should resolutely hold prices at prevailing levels or lower them. In all fairness, it must be admitted that some sections of labour and management tried to heed the warnings. At least two great corporations, for instance, lowered prices. It is obvious, however, that when the cost of basic products and the cost of labour in a basic industry rise, the increased costs must be passed on through other levels of industry, thus affecting a wide range of consumers.

Mr. Fairless and other steel executives may have the pleasure of seeing their hundreds of millions of profit swelled. Mr. Lewis may see more millions added to his $30,000,000 pension fund. But the general public will pay, in the long run, on this continent and elsewhere—both now and when such tactics eventually force a collapse, as they will if they are allowed to continue unchecked.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Don't run down your neighbours", chirps the Stratford Beacon-Herald, "run in and visit them". Hm—well—walk, do not run, and it might be a good thing to phone before you walk.

"Of Cabbages and Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

LLOYD Griscom describes one of the more amusing experiences of a young diplomat, himself, in his Diplomatically Speaking (a book you can dip into at random):

"No one could be more gracious or charming than the Sultan if he chose. We were served an excellent supper and escorted home by a squadron of cavalry galloping in front and behind our carriage. On the way I asked Gargiulo,—the interpreter—'The Sultan isn't really as bad as he's painted, do you think?'"

"In response Gargiulo described a similar opera performance he had attended with our former Minister, A. W. Terrell, an ex-Confederate Colonel from Texas without diplomatic experience or inhibitions.

AT his first audience he had told Abdul Hamid that all Turkey needed was a representative constitutional government on the American plan; the Sultan had taken a fancy to him and invited him to the opera. There Mr. Terrell had leaned back; his jaws working steadily on his plug of tobacco; every now and then he bent forward to spit, frequently striking the superb gold brocade which hung over the front of the royal box.

◇ ◇ ◇

EACH time Gargiulo had noticed the Sultan shudder. Finally Mr. Terrell had remarked genially, 'How did Your Majesty like that Virginia tobacco I gave you recently?'

"'Excellent.'

"'Why isn't Your Majesty smoking it now?'

"'I find the American tobacco so much stronger than the Turkish, that I smoke it in a pipe and only in the garden where I am free to spit.'

"At the first opportunity Mr. Terrell had asked Gargiulo, 'You heard that remark of the Sultan's about tobacco. Do you think he meant anything personal by it? Do you suppose he didn't like my spitting?'

Gargiulo had smiled ironically, 'I think, Mr. Terrell, that was the impression he intended to convey.'"

◇ ◇ ◇

"I ONCE went (writes Professor Gilbert Murray in his foreword to G.B.S. 90—a beautiful collection of essays presented to Shaw on his 90th birthday by his friends) to see him on Hindhead when he had just had a very bad accident, resulting in countless bruises, fractures and sprains. I took for granted that he would be in bed, but was told he was in the garden in a hammock. I went to look for him and saw no one, but presently heard a chuckle behind a large holly bush. Guided by this I found him, unconscious of my presence, unconscious of pains, swathed in bandages, writing away with his unbandaged hand and laughing with sheer enjoyment."

"MAYBE it would be of some interest (Gabriel Pascal pens in his contribution) to the world to know that G.B.S. is not only the greatest living playwright and brilliant scenario writer but he is a great actor and an even greater director who knows his timing better than anybody I have ever met.

"He also knows the right timing on the world stage. Let me tell you about the last hour of that remarkable episode which has been commented on in so very many different versions, how he gave me the rights of Pygmalion. After several visits we became friends, he was convinced I had something to say in the artistic world. But I knew that if I did not do something drastic, our short and delightful relationship would go on for months without getting down to brass tacks.

"I had nothing in my pocket but an invitation to make pictures in China. I therefore said to him, on the 8th of December, 1935: 'Look here, G.B.S., if you don't give me your rights, I am leaving 15th of this month for China, but I am ready to wait until Friday, 18th, four o'clock—which would be an admirable day to sign a contract.'

"He said to me: 'What! Is this an ultimatum?'

"I said: 'Yes, an ultimatum.'

"I DID not hear from him for five days and the 18th came. I was living in a little flat in Duke Street, I cooked my own luncheon. A guest of mine, a charming lady from India, brewed Turkish coffee and at three o'clock she said: 'Gabriel your Irish Pope has let you down.'

"I replied: 'Not at all, it is not four o'clock.' But certainly I felt despondent.

"It was a quarter past three....it was half-past three....it was a quarter to four....still no telephone call, no contract. At a quarter to four I started to pack my toothbrush and some imaginary luggage; imaginary because I had nothing. My Hindustani friend was delighted that I was going to the East and declared triumphantly a few minutes before four o'clock: 'You see, he has not understood you, he has not believed in you.'

"Suddenly, Big Ben struck, and the door bell rang. A messenger boy entered:

"'Are you Mr. Gabriel Pascal?'

"'I am,' And just as Big Ben was sounding the fourth stroke he handed me a big envelope. I opened it. It was the contract of Pygmalion and the photo of G.B.S. signed and inscribed: 'Auspicious day, Friday, 18th December.'"

"SHAW was no weakling at school (continues M. J. McManus) and enjoyed his full share of fisticuffs in the playground and of juvenile gangsterdom in the streets. Untramelled in any way by his 'uncoercive' parents, he used his free half-day just as he liked, ignored his homework, and lied audaciously to his teachers when questioned about his negligence. His real education was being acquired elsewhere. At home there was a volume entitled The Manners and Tone of Good Society, and from it he learned his table and company manners. And at home there was music—always music. His mother possessed an excellent mezzo-soprano voice, he himself and his two sisters could sing tolerably well, and there was, in addition to a piano, a profusion of other musical instruments always lying about. The front "parlour" evening and music came to play an all-important part—educative as well as recreational—in young Shaw's life."

"'I HAVE,' G.B.S. has written, 'no trace in me of the commercially important North Spanish strain which passes for aboriginal Irish: I am a genuine typical Irishman of the Danish, Norman, Cromwellian and (of course) Scotch invasions. I am violently and arrogantly Protestant by family tradition; but let no English Government therefore count on my allegiance; I am English enough to be an inveterate Republican and Home Ruler. It is true that my grandfather was an Orangeman; but then his sister was an abbess, and his uncle, I am proud to say, was hanged as a rebel.'"

SOME CRITICISM

Sir: Recently a citizen of Peterborough County passed beyond this life. During his funeral, someone or many were not thinking of the services and showing rightful respect to his departure but were looking for something for which to criticize those living. There was a report given, the heading of which was "Hundreds Mourn....". The very first statement was "With all members of the County Council but one present, and local dignitaries from Peterborough district in attendance....with the large number of eminent persons who attended indicated the esteem....". Again the slam was given that all the members of the County Council except Reeve Griffith attended. Mr. Carl Purdy, ex-reeve of Belmonth-Methuen (should have been Belmont-Methuen).... and with all the rest both the title of reeve and Mr. were given to each councillor's name but for Reeve Mr. Griffith. It should have been given as Reeve W. Griffith.

None of us know just why Reeve W. Griffith was not there but that really was nobody's business excepting that of Reeve W. Griffith. I feel that man was unjustly criticized. He was having the interest and welfare of the people of the county very sincerely when a man at the age he is would have gone out in terribly deep snow as we had in February 1946 and would go up and down the drifted highways and by-ways around Havelock to get signatures among the nearly 1,800 signatures secured to get necessary and most desired improvements for the route from Lakefield to Havelock via Stony lake. He did not do that for politics or to be seen, heard, or lauded. Nor did any of the rest of us.

I feel a most sincere regard for this subject for I have been a victim of ridicule too. I will have been in this country 14 years this May, and during that time my mother, father, two sisters and a brother unexpectedly passed beyond this life and through no fault of the family nor us, I was prevented attending any of those funerals excepting two, all because telegrams were not delivered by phone instead by mail after they were received here in Peterborough County, or because we were not permitted to keep any U.S. funds on hand and could not be secured without so much red tape, then be limited to so little even then.

This is still a country where most people still have the right to do as they see best and it should not be the subject for criticism especially in such a case as has here been related.

MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON.

TAXES FOR SPORT

Sir: Your editorial of March 12 was timely reminder to taxpayers. It is amazing that enough voted for the expense of combining a Sports Arena with a Memorial, and that "through their agents the City Council" this has gone so far already as $225,000 from taxation, with $275,000 more underwritten by subscribers.

The claims for sports and shows dwarf the Memorial idea and put it in the shade. A respectful Memorial could be a prominent feature in the open, names displayed, and with the least of symbolic sculpture if any.

Now you report that fans want $140,000 for a hockey rink. Without subsidy sane healthy exercises can flourish here. We have facilities of all sorts. Kids have open skating rinks; anyone can sail or swim in lake or river free for fun, or for suicide if cost-of-living loads you down. Nobody's style is cramped. Competitive sports put on for show should pay their own way.

By increased assessments and rates, burdened home owners pay 40 to 50 per cent. more recently, and already too much is asked from them just to keep necessary city services going.

TAXED PLENTY.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? (II Pet. 3: 9-12.)

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away: and there was no more sea...

And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God....

And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. (Rev. 21: 1, 3, 5.)

Policy For Prosperity

Here (in Canada) the money supply exceeds the supply of goods. Under such conditions the government should be taking out of the current of money more than it puts in. Now, if ever, it should be accumulating large surpluses of revenue over expenditure, using them to pay off debt and hence restricting the base of credit expansion and the total money supply. While large current surpluses indeed are reported, against them must be reckoned large deficits on our overseas accounts and it will be interesting to see how far the latter cancel out the former. Certainly when the basic problem is an excess of purchasing power it is no time to reduce taxes in general. As Mr. Abbott tacitly admitted the tax reductions of the last budget were not justified by any economic reasoning.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A BRITISH OPINION

Election Blows Alarm Italian People

By JOHN TALBOT

ROME, March 22—(Reuters)—The possibility of civil war is being openly discussed in Italy by the public, including leaders of political parties, following the incident in the southern town of San Ferdinando in which four persons were killed in rioting and shooting on the first official day of campaigning for the Italian general election due April 18.

This outbreak of violence so early in the election campaign has confirmed the worst fears in many circles here that the next few weeks will witness an ever-increasing crescendo in the war of armed force.

The clash at San Ferdinando arose when supporters of the right-wing Uomo Qualunque (Common Man) party attacked an open-air meeting held by the extreme left-wing popular front of Communists and Socialists. The dead included a 14-year-old boy. In addition, 20 persons were injured and 16 arrested.

Following the incident, the government issued a radio appeal to the country calling upon all parties to refrain from force and to abide by democratic principles during the elections.

Charge Suppression

The Communist party, taking this (San Fardinando) incident as example, accused the government of trying to suppress them. A party headquarters communique said:

"The Communist party views this (Can Fardinando) incident as the first symptom of the grave situation being created, mainly as a result of the government's policy . . . The reactionary groups are the only ones which want violence to intimidate the workers and, perhaps, to upset the elections."

But if the extreme right wing is accused by the Communists of wanting civil war, the extreme left is just as ready to meet the challenge.

LONG-LIVED PRESIDENT

John Adams, who was 90 years old when he died, lived longer than any other president of the United States.

PARAPLEGIC WHO WORKS TO SUIT HIMSELF — He used to be a farmer out West, but now he weaves the clothes he is wearing and which Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, DSO, DCM, ED, national president of the Canadian Legion, right, after examining, certified as "first class material." The veteran who, after 11 years' service in two wars, suffered a spinal injury, is John Fraser, an Edinburgh man who came to Canada in 1920. He can weave at the rate of 10 yards in seven hours. At his left is H. M. Hague, district administrator of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. The picture was taken in Montreal at the demonstration of rehabilitation work at the Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital.

Visit Of Badly Wounded Vets Upsets Commons Pension Plan

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, March 22—(CP)—Two winds crossed by chance in the Capital this week.

One came indirectly off the battlefields of the Second World War. The other was scented with what Senator J. W. deB Farris (L—British Columbia) called "the tragedy we see ahead."

The first was as tangible as a broken body, the second of porridge of intangibles, of hints and fears and deductions.

It was strange that they should meet, but they did; the week that severely disabled veterans of the recent war made a deeply moving appeal for better treatment was also the week when Ottawa's fears of a new war hit their depths.

They met in parliamentary corridors, the shattered bodies from one war and the sobby apprehensions of another. They left people feeling empty and impotent.

Terrific Impact

The veterans, about 20 of them, came in wheelchairs, on artificial limbs, with blinded eyes and deafened ears. The National Council of Veterans Associations used them as psychological shock troops in its request to the veterans committee of the Commons for higher pensions, higher helplessness allowances and other changes.

The effect was profound. One member, a veteran himself, was so moved he had to leave the room. Another described the emotional impact as "terrific." A third said the committee would be unable to discuss the pensions bill "rationally" for a week . . . 'We're too worked up."

Likely Pass

There seemed little doubt that the upshot would be a pressure on the government to grant higher helplessness allowances, more pension for multiple-disability cases, a floor for First World War pensions. There were predictions that all three would go through.

That was the first of the winds. It, like the other, fell on many people, among them Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

He met four paraplegics, wheelchaired-veterans paralyzed from the hips down, in a Common's lobby. They told him it was a big day for them, to meet the Prime Minister. One of them said he was taking the same University course that Mr. King himself had taken.

"Training yourself to succeed me?" the P.M. asked.

The veteran looked down. "I don't think so," he said.

"Why not?" someone asked bravely. "President Roosevelt was a paraplegic."

The P.M. was needed in the Commons then and he went away and there was no more talk. The wheelchairs followed him to the floor of the chamber, as special guests.

Ferry Stuck On Bar Remove 100 On Board

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., March 22—(AP)—Nearly 100 passengers were removed in small boats last night from a ferry which ran aground in the St. Lawrence River outside Ogdensburg harbor.

The ferry Joseph Dubrule, en route from Prescott, Ont., to Ogdensburg, hit a sandbar about 1,000 feet from shore during a dense fog.

Passengers remained on the boat several hours. They were taken off in two small power boats, one operated by coast guardsmen and the other by George Dupey. About 15 automobiles were on the steam ferry.

Rivermen said removal of the ferry from the sand bar would be delayed until the fog lifted.

Life On Farm Not Monotonous To R. L. Barton

Life and nature can be cruel, but they have ways of compensating for the mean twists they give to everyday existence. Take the case of R. L. Barton, farmer on R.R. 4, Havelock.

Last Monday evening he lost a small pig when it got in with some larger ones who crush it to death. This was the third pig which had been lost recently, with a total volue of more than $50.

The sow on the farm had been at least partly responsible, for she had pushed out a board separating pens and allowed the animal to meet its doom.

Maybe the tragedy, and her part in it, preyed on the old girl's mind. Anyway, that same evening the sow proved she still meant well — by giving birth to a litter of 11 pigs.

But even that wasn't all. The next morning, nature brought not only a warm sun over the Barton farm. The cow, impressed by the serious nature of the loss, contributed nobly to the cause.

She presented the world with twin calves.

All of which goes to prove that life on a farm is far from monotonous.

Marines Ousted By St. Kitts In Semi-Finals

St. Catharines Legion ousted the Peterborough Outboard Marines 84-80 on the round in St. Kitts on Saturday in OABA intermediate "A" semi-finals. Overcoming a 25-point margin from the first fixture of the home-and-home series in Peterborough, the Legion crew pulled a surprise 51-22 victory on their home floor to yank out the decision and qualify to meet London in provincial finals. Marines were Ontario champions last year.

The Legion squad played smart, rugged basketball while Marines were slow starting and found the small floor and low ceiling hard to figure for a time. Knowing all the tricks of the trade, the canny St. Catharines crew had Joe Stewart, Burns and Nicholls put out of the game on personal fouls during the second half in the hot going. Previously, they had driven hard from the start to whittle down the Marines' round lead to seven points by halftime, with Marrack their big sniper with 19 points. The teams:

Marines: J. Stewart 2, Edger 6, Nicholls 6, Gillespie, Burns 1, Smith 1, Al Stewart 5, Wood, Kidd 1, Hanbidge.

St. Catharines: Marrack 19, McKenna 11, Clinton 4, Cambray 1, Storin 3, Hookings, Pickard 7, Neff, Cromb, F. Greenlaw, G. Greenlaw 2.

Referees, Higgins and Wilson of Niagara Falls.

The Cardiff Giant To Appear Here

The biggest and hardest match of the season is expected in the Brock St. Arena ing on Wednesday when Whipper Watson collides with Wee Willie Davis. The 230-pound Whipper will be given away the huge mount of forty dd pounds to Davis but the British Empire hampion's speed and dynamic science is expected to more than balance the account. It should have the fans on their toes throughout in view of the past efforts of both men here.

Willie Davis

Manager Laidlaw has made a promotional ten-strike by matching tall powerful Pete Managoff with the famous Cardiff Giant. The latter scales a mere 330 pounds and even the 250-pound Managoff will be over-shadowed.

In the third bout a big strong wrestler Jack Dillon comes in to test the good-looking Irish lad, Tommy O'Toole.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Have been asked our opinion on the Civic Arena committee lowering their sights from a $140,000 to a $50,000 target for the campaign presently on. We think they did the wise thing. As a matter of fact, we attended the open meeting back in the winter at the Market Hall figuring they were going to propose a natural ice secondary rink. But an artificial ice arena was proposed and met with the approval of those present. All to the good, we felt, if they can get it — but we're still satisfied if we get a natural ice rink for the time being. Later, maybe an ice-making plant can be added, and sometime or other we should have the Memorial Centre auditorium built.

* * * * * *

Main thing is to get a rink of any kind for the city and this year. We've seen some swell hockey on natural ice at the Brock, and in recent years at Omemee and Lindsay. We can have it here next winter. The manufacturers felt that a modern $140,000 arena here would in time actually hurt the Memorial Centre project—in the sense of revenue in the winter—and that the latter might prove a white elephant if times were poor. A sensible long-range view, so let's settle for a $50,000 natural ice job with some 3,000 fans accommodated, and this rink would take care of the minors, etc., in future years. Do you know that the PMHA playoffs haven't been held here yet this winter, nor are likely to be now?

* * * * * *

Canvass Six Zones

A meeting will be held tomorrow night at seven in the "Y" of officials and players of these teams: Legion, Petes, IOOF, and the juvenile Kinsmen, Trojans and Marines. These six clubs will be doing a canvass for rink funds, being supplied with proper identification cards and receipts, and a generous response is asked. A Variety Show tomorrow turns over proceeds to the rink and the program swings into high gear this week. We feel assured of its success with the lower objective set and the need of such an area realized. When a fair sum is raised, tenders for the foundation will be called as the rink must be built this year. Come on, folks, let us all get in behind the drive!

* * * * * *

Legionnaires face their big test tonight in Belleville when they tackle Hank Goldup's Toronto Fliers in the deciding game of their OHA senior "B" semi-final series. Winner goes into the provincial finals, while the loser hangs 'em up till next cold spell. Should be a swell scrap of championship calibre on fast artificial ice with a big crowd from Lindsay, Omemee and Peterborough on hand to cheer Legion along. The clubs are tied at 8-8 after two tight tilts on a soft surface, and this is it tonight. Loads of luck, Legion.

End Of Cage Trail

Marines bowed out in OABA intermediate "A" semi-finals in St. Kitts on Saturday, 84-80 on the round. The Saints surprised them with a terrific drive and a rugged style of play which, coupled with the small floor, had Marines back on their heels for a spell. The 1947 champs fought back gamely but lost three players on personal fouls as St. Kitts played all the angles and Al Clarke's crew were nosed out. Tough luck to these good cagers. "We offer no alibi," Pete McArthur said today; "they knew all the tricks and they outsmarted us." Bev Goulding's PCVS junior cagers took COSSA honors in Toronto with a 52-12 triumph over Orillia in finals and are worthy champs again. Senior PCI-ers were put out in semi-finals by Fort Erie after a hot struggle. One YW girls' game tonight at eight, Lock Co. vs. Normals, and next Friday's twin bill is put over to April 2.

Mrs. Bob Baker and Mrs. Vince O'Donoghue (Marg and Audrey) of Peterborough retained the ladies' doubles badminton championship of Central Ontario in the tourney here Saturday when they won from Lillian Koren and Kay Hopkins of Oshawa. Bob and Vince lost in finals in men's doubles to Al Osborne and Jack Brough of Bowmanville. And the Bowmanville duo of Mrs. Dippell and Al Osborne came through in the keen mixed doubles final against Marg and Bob Baker. Fine competition throughout the successful championship whirl and a big crowd was on hand for the finals. The club finals will be run off in two or three weeks.

Whipper And Willie

Only a week ago we suggested that it would take someone like Whipper Bill Watson or the Masked Marvel to tame Wee Willie Davis, ex-Hollywood villain who bumps the beam at 270 mean pounds. And, we'll be browned to a Zulu's pleasant pallor if they didn't persuade the champ to leave the big city circuit for a show here. It'll be the Whip vs. Davis in the main bout on the Brock card Wednesday eve. As the champ packs 'em in wherever he shows—usually only in centres like Toronto, Montreal, Buffalo and St. Loo—and Davis is heartily disliked locally by one and all, the walls should bulge when this pair clash. Whipper will give away a lot of weight and isn't as rough but he has speed and experience. Two other good bouts on the card, also.

VEZINA CUP—Toronto's Turk Broda won the Vezina Trophy as best NHL goalie of the year by five goals over Detroit's Harry Lumley during the week-end as the Leafs finished the schedule in first place. The Turk also wins a $1,000 prize.

Western Tech Whips Trinity College 57-40

PORT HOPE, March 22.—In the second of a two-game cage series, Western Tech of Toronto defeated Trinity College School, 57-40, to win the Toronto and District championship, 107-71.

The game started at a slow pace with Karabin leading Western Tech to a 13-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. TCS surged back in a fast and rugged second quarter, and trailed by only 20-18 as the half ended.

Western Tech dominated play for the rest of the game. However, Trinity kept pace and were behind 32-28 as the third quarter ended. Again, spearheaded by Karabin, Western Tech rolled up 25 points in the final minutes to pull away and win handily.

Karabin with 23 points, Wilkes and Atkinson were best for Western Tech.

In post-game ceremonies Mr. P. A. C. Ketchum, the TCS headmaster, presented the Wren Cup to the Western Tech squad.

TCS—Gaunt (capt.) 4, Sweny 2, Rogers 14, Wismer 14, Williams 6, Bascom, Vernon, Spencer, Emery, Watts—total 40.

Western Tech—Karabin (capt.) 23, Wilkes 9, Atkinson 10, Anthony 3, Blanchard 3, Osborne 4, Allen 1, Richardson 2, Draydon, Cooke—total 57.

Marmora Pucksters Reach Semi-Finals

MARMORA, March 22 (ENS)—Marmora's hockey team meet Sundridge in the first of their intermediate "C" semi-finals at Belleville on Tuesday evening.

Greater interest never centred locally in the performance of a hockey team than in this game. Manager O'Neill's speedy pucksters will visit the Quinte City with a large following of fans. The fact that Bucko McDonald is the playing coach of the Northerners has whetted the appetite of the Marmora boys for a victory.

Supporters and players of other teams in the Trent Valley League are tendering their best wishes and will be largely represented. The second tangle between the teams will be at North Bay on Thursday evening.

130-Game Schedule

OGDENSBURG, N.Y., March 22.—(AP).—The Class C Border Baseball League adopted yesterday a 130-game schedule opening May 12 and ending Sept. 10. The annual all-star game will be held July 28 at Watertown. Games scheduled opening day are: Ottawa at Ogdensburg, Kingston at Geneva and Auburn at Watertown.

Tigers Walk Out On Big Four; Plan Loss Fund

OTTAWA, March 22 (CP). — If the Hamilton Wildcats crack the Big Four, there'll be no fear of them going in the red, E. K. (Eddie) Emerson, new Big Four president, said today.

On the heels of the Hamilton Tigers walkout Saturday, Mr. Emerson disclosed the decision of the "big three" of the Big Four to establish a "share-the-loss fund" in excess of $10,000.

"Any of the clubs going in the red will be reimbursed to the amount of their loss," he said. "That is, providing it doesn't exceed $10,000."

Reiterating his previous "surprised and sorry that the Tigers are severing a 42-year-playing connection," he said he was certain the severance was complete and the Wildcats would step in to mend the gap.

"But Hamilton wanted a 33⅓ per cent cut of gate receipts in out-of-town games. We couldn't agree to that."

According to Mr. Emerson, J. G. Langs, Tigers club president told the Big Four Hamilton's returns were not on an equal footing with the high investment required to meet football competition.

"But Hamilton made $4,000 last year," said Mr. Emerson. "On the other hand, Ottawa Rough Riders lost just about that amount."

Stirling Midgets Get Tie In Final

STIRLING, March 22.—(ENS).—Some 1,500 fans saw Stirling and Port Dalhousie fight it out to a 5-5 tie on Belleville ice in the first game of the OMHA midget "C" finals. It was a hard-fought fray and the referees were kept busy. The Ports were well-balanced and wore the homesters down gradually as Stirling depended mainly on their first line. Daniels, Starasko and J. Turner (who was hurt in the third) shone for Port Dalhousie, while Mason and Wanamaker stood out for Stirling.

Starasko and Daniels counted for the Ports in the first, aided by Turner and Cadot, while Robson and Mason each scored and each had an assist for Stirling. Daniels got a pair and R. Turner one in the second for the Ports, with J. Turner aiding in one. Wanamaker counted for Stirling. He and Mason got the two goals in the third. The teams:

Port Dalhousie—Goal, J. Turner; defence, Greer and Cadot; centre, Daniels; wings, Humphries and Winterbottom; alternates, R. Turner, J. Howard, Storasko, McPherson, S. Howard and Newman.

Stirling — Goal, Donnan; defence, Dobson and Robson; centre, Mason; wings, Wanamaker and McCrory; alternates, Phillips, Chambers, Burgess, Ingram, Hermiston and Faulkner.

Referees—S. St. Louis and V. Goyer.

Week-End Stars

By The Canadian Press

Elmer Lach, Montreal centre, who racked up five points to capture the NHL scoring title as Canadiens split their week-end games.

Ted Kennedy, Toronto pivotman, who fired two goals Saturday as Leafs whipped Detroit 5-3 to win the league title.

Syl Apps, Toronto, who scored four goals as Leafs beat Wings twice.

Tony Leswick and Edgar Laprade, Ranger forwards, who figured in all three goals as New York lost 4-3 to Chicago Sunday.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Lou (Iron Man) Gehrig missed his first ball game with the New York Yankees since 1925, nine years ago today when he stayed on the bench to watch his team defeat Kansas City, Yankee farm team, 14-4, in a pre-season game. Lou quit baseball in May of that year and died of a form of paralysis in June, 1941.

PCVS Junior Boy Cagers Win COSSA Crown Against Orillia

TORONTO, March 22.—(CP).—A two-day basketball tournament ended here Saturday with the crowning of four 1948 champions of the Central Ontario Secondary School Association. Fort Erie won the senior boy's crown, Burlington the senior girls, Peterborough the boys' junior, for the second consecutive year, and Niagara Falls the junior girls.

Orillia and Belleville, the only centres represented in two series, faailed to win a championship.

Each contest was one-sided. Fort Erie senior boys defeated Orillia 47-23; Peterborough junior boys downed Orillia 52-12; Burlington senior girls stopped Belleville, 22-7; and Niagara Falls junior girls beat the Ontario School for the Deaf from Belleville 23-13.

Easy Time

Fort Erie, which was forced to the limit by Peterborough in the semi-finals, had an easy time with Orillia, taking a first period lead and adding to it in each session.

Jack Logan starred for the winners, his shooting and defensive play the best of the day. He scored 10 points as did team-mate McReynolds. Graves was next in line with eight.

Page and Leith, with eight and six points apiece, were best for the losers, who were outplayed in each quarter. The Fort quintet led 22-13 at the half.

The Burlington senior girls ran roughshod over Belleville in winning 22-7, their passing and checking superior to that of the Boy of Quinte district winners. Wyaminshewski, star of the semi-finals, again shoed the way, scoring with 11 points. Bell, with five points, was tops for the losing team.

Paced PCVS

Don Griffin, tallying 15 points, paced the Peterborough junior boys to their title over the Orillia team. The Petes, in control at all times, led the Georgian Bay district champions 22-6 at halfway mark. The Wilde brothers, Jim and Bud, came through with five and three points respectively for the losing team.

The taller Niagara Falls junior girls five jumped to an early lead over the Belleville lassies, only to have the O.S.D. quintet revert from a wide open to a close-checking game and hold the victors to a 10-point win. Lundberg sank 12 points for the winners with Vorvis counting nine markers for Belleville.

Lineups:

Senior Boys

Fort Erie, 47—Atwood 2, Dickson, Eden 4, Gibson, Graves 8, Hickey 1, Logan 10, McReynolds 10, Plato 7, Tubb 1, Westrope 4, Zachay.

Leafs Capture NHL Trophy After Whipping Wings, Broda Wins Vezina Trophy

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

When it really counted—in the vital final series of the National Hockey League schedule—Toronto Maple Leafs beat Detroit Red Wings twice in a row. The league schedule of 60 games per team was over today, with these results: Toronto winner of the NHL title for the third time in history, the first time in a decade; Goalie Turk Broda of Toronto winner of the Vezina Trophy; Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens winner of the NHL scoring championship by a single point over New York Rangers' Buddy O'Connor.

On Saturday the Leafs beat Wings 5-3, clinching the title by a point, while Canadiens at Montreal walloped the last-place Chicago Black Hawks 7-4. On Sunday the Leafs at Detroit beat Wings 5-2, Boston edged Canadiens 4-3 and Chicago beat Rangers 4-3 at New York.

Toronto wound up the schedule with 77 points, Detroit 72, Boston 59, New York 55, Montreal 51 adn Chicago 46.

Canadiens and Hawks had been eliminated from Stanley Cup play some games back, but it was only last night that the exact Stanley Cup line-up became settled.

In the semi-finals starting Wednesday Toronto will go against Boston Bruins and Detroit will face the New York Rangers.

Pressure Strong

Broda, the fabulous fat man who's a mighty tough man to beat when the chips are down, started out even with Lumley in the Vezina race Saturday night. Each had 138 goals against him before that game. They were both jittery in the early stages. Ted Kennedy scored two of the Leaf goals. Harry Watson, Syl Apps and Vic Lynn getting the others. Ted Lindsay, Marty Pavelich and rookie Enio Sclisizzi scored for Detroit.

The title was already won but the pressure was still there for the goalies in the second game at Detroit. Harry Watson of Toronto scored the first and Roy Conacher tied it up. Syl Apps cracked through for two goals in the second period and another in the third, when Don Metz of Toronto and rookie Don Morrison of Detroit also scored.

The usually hostile Detroit fans stood up and cheered when Apps reached the magic N.H.L. 200-goal total with his second counter. His linemate Watson set up the second and had a perfect scoring chance, but he gave the puck to the team captain and Apps made no mistake on No. 200. The additional one was a bonus for Sylvanus, who has said he's definitely out of hockey after this season is finished.

Ovation for Broda

And the Detroit fans gave out with an ovation too for Broda, who finished with a five-goal margin to win the Vezina Trophy and put himself in line for about $4,000 in bonuses. That will come from $1,000 with the Vezina, plus $1,000 from the Leafs, and $1,000 for the all-star goalies plus another equal bonus from the team.

Neither Canadiens nor Hawks had anything to lose at Montreal Saturday and it was a wild, free-scoring game to wind up N.H.L. play for the season there.

Elmer Lach scored three assists, but no goals. Maurice Richard scored three times, Bobby Fillion twice, and Butch Couchard and Doug Harvey goth one apiece. Bill Mosienko scored two for the Hawks, and Gus Bodnar and Bill Gadsby each gone one.

At Boston Sunday Lach rapped in two goals to win the league scoring title with 61 points, earning the league's $1,000 bonus, one slim point ahead of Buddy O'Connor who got nary a point at New York.

Clinch 3rd Place

The Bruins' 4-3 win over Canadiens clinched third place, putting them against Leafs in the Stanley Cup. Lach got the only goal of the opening frame, and Kenny Smith of Boston scored the only goal of the second period. Lach's second goal came just after the third period started, but it was followed by three Boston counters, from Pat Egan, Jimmy Peters and Ed Harrison, before Rip Riopelle wound up Montreal scoring.

At New York Sunday Red Hamill, Metro Prystai, Gus Bodnar and Doug Bentley did the Chicago scoring. Tony Leswick got two for New York, Ed Kullman the other. Rangers were feeding frequent passes to Buddy O'Connor in that last period, when one goal would have given him the scoring title, but young Emile Francis in the Chicago nets had no sympathy.

Swamp Vics 10-4

TORONTO, March 22.—(CP).—Toronto Upper Canada College, led by Johnny Murphy with four goals, swamped the Kingston Victorias 10-4 at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday afternoon to go one up in their best of three OHA Junior B playoff series. Second game will be played Thursday in Kingston.

BATTLING FOR TROPHY—Harry Lumley, goalie for the Detroit Red Wings, kept alive his hopes of winning the Vezina Trophy, awarded annually to the goalie in the NHL with the least number of goals scored against him, when his team played to a scoreless draw with the Boston Bruins in Boston on Wednesday night. Lumley had the same number of goals against him, 138, as had Turk Broda of the Toronto Maple Leafs. However, over the weekend the Leafs whipped Detroit twice, 5-3, 5-2; as a result Broda won the trophy

Flyers Down Windsor 6-3; Make Playoffs

By The Canadian Press

Barrie Flyers advanced into the Memorial Cup playoffs when they won their fourth straight game from Windsor Spitfires 6-3 Saturday night in Barrie to take the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A crown. The Flyers dropped the first two games of the best-of-seven series but pulled a quick reversal of form to whip Windsor.

McIntyre Macmen squared the best-of-five Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior finals at two-games each when they eked out a 6-5 win over Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds at Timmins Saturday. The fifth and deciding game is tonight at Schumacher, Ont.

Down three goals at the end of the first frame, Barrie Flyers made a brilliant comeback to rack up four quick goals in the second period and another two counters in the final session while holding Windsor scoreless.

Bert Giesebrecht, Jack Taylor and Busch tallied within the first six minutes of play for Spitfires but were soon stopped to end the frame at 3-0.

Flyers began to roll half-way through the second session as Paul Meger, Whit Mousseau, Jerry Reid and Stan Long counted to pull Barrie ahead 4-3. The hard-fighting Windsor squad couldn't score after the initial frame while Gariepy and Long tallied in the final period for the Flyers to end the game 6-3 and bring the first junior A crown to Barrie since the team was formed three years ago.

The game roughened up in the final session when Mousseau and Wilson tangled.

Choose 14 Plays For Festival

TORONTO, March 22.—(CP).—Fourteen plays, competing against 72 productions in regional drama festivals across Canada, have been selected for presentation in the Dominion Drama Festival, D. Park Jamieson of Sarnia, chairman of the Dominion Drama Festival, announced yesterday.

Based on the report of Robert Stuart, regional adjudicator, the executive committee of the D.D.F. have chosen for production in Ottawa: "The Silver Cord," by the Vancouver Little Theatre Association; "Maitre Pierre Paletin" by Workshop 14 of Calgary; "The Rope" by the Little Theatre Club of Saskatoon, Sask.; "John Doe," by the University of Manitoba; "La Donation," by Cercle Molière, Winnipeg; "St. Joan," by the London Little Theatre, London, Ont.; "Years Ago," by the University Alumnae Dramatic Club, Toronto; "Pape Is All," by the Ottawa Drama League; "Eros at Breakfast," by the Ottawa Drama League Workshop; "Le Legataire Universel," by Le Caveau of Ottawa; "Antigone," by Les Compagnons De St. Laurent, Montreal; "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," by the Montreal Repertory Theatre; "Boccaccio's Untold Tale," by the Theatre Guild of Saint John, Saint John, N.B.; "Victoria Regina," by the Edmonton Community Theatre.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Hockey fans turned out Saturday night for a parade in honor of Barrie Flyers, winners of the first Junior A. Ontario Hockey Association championship to come to this Lake Simcoe town. Coach Hap Emms marched the winners through the town after they had whipped Windsor Spitfires 6-3 for their fourth straight victory that gave them the group title four games to two.

Dead game Billy Talbert won the United States' men's indoor tennis championship Saturday on a cracked left foot. The top seeded New Yorker hobbled through a four-set triumph over Sid Schwartz, the junior title holder, in the singles finals of the 45th annual tournament. The score was 4-6, 8-6, 9-7, 6-2.

At Philadelphia, the National Boxing Association yesterday urged member states to fix specific penalties on promoters and managers who fail to live up to their "obligations" in ring safety. The executive committee appointed a group to study the records of boxers all over the United States and to make public within a month a list of boxers who have demonstrated they can no longer "aspire to ring success." These boxers will be permanently retired on a national scale.

Joe Carruthers, 52, trainer of University of Toronto hockey and football teams for 25 years, died Saturday at his home, in Toronto. He suffered a heart attack.

At Montreal E. H. Pooler's Toronto Granite rink swept to victory in the Lord Elgin trophy curling competition here Saturday night with an easy 15-4 triumph over S. Mackenzie's Detroit foursome in the final match of the three-day event that attracted 52 rinks from Canada and the United States.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, won the $10,000 Greensboro open golf tournament yesterday with a 278 for 72 holes, two under par. He finished with 67-73 yesterday to beat runner-up Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., by one stroke. Worsham closed with 68-70 for 279. Mangrum pocketed $2,000 first money to bring to $10,838.33 his earnings for the year, top among professionals.

PLAYS PRODUCED—Robertson Davies and Mrs. Davies of Peterborough, are shown in Montreal to witness the local premiere of Mr. Davies' three one-act plays, which are being produced by the Montreal Repertory Theatre this week-end. Mrs. Davies, formerly Brenda Newbold, was stage manager of the Old Vic, London, England.

Three of Davies' Plays Presented In Montreal

By GUY GAGNON

MONTREAL, March 22—(CP).—Three one-act comedies by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, are being staged here by the Montreal Repertory Theatre, runner-up to Les Compagnons in the 1948 Western Quebec drama festival.

It is the first time the plays have been produced in Montreal, although they are already well-known in Ontario.

"Overlaid," a rural comedy, and "Eros At Breakfast," a psychosomatic interlude, have both won the Ottawa little play-writing contest. Besides, "Eros" won the one-act play award in the 1948 Eastern Ontario drama festival.

Mr. Davies, a former member of the "Old Vic," of London, attended the Friday and Saturday performances.

MRT members were "very capable" actors who deserved merit for the success of his plays. And he believed it a mistake for an author to appear before audiences after a performance "because the man himself may deceive them."

Pat (Montreal Herald) Pearce said of "Eros" that it was "the brightest light-comedy production" of the season. Staging and costumes were "brilliantly in line," and the play was "a very evident success."

Both "Eros" and "Overlaid" were directed by Reta Wheatley, while Dorothy Pfeiffer produced "Hope Deferred," the third play which Pearce described as "a bitter but not biting satire on Canada's attitude to art."

JOINT PAINS

Sudden stabs— or crippling stiffness

When kidneys grow sluggish—need toning up—you begin to feel danger signals. Joint and muscle pains are one of them. They may mean that your kidneys are failing to do their proper job, which is to help filter impurities away from the system. De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are specially prepared to help restore your kidneys to their normal activity. By acting directly on sluggish kidneys they tackle one of the common causes of joint pains. The impurities which may have given rise to your suffering should be cleared out of the system, and pains grow less as a natural consequence. We have received letters from all over the world written by grateful people who have turned to De Witt's Pills and found blessed relief. Try them yourself. They may be just what you need. Oklahoma Has 5th Anniversary Sets New Record

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, March 22 (CP)—George Bernard Shaw moves into close proximity with farce in "You Never Can Tell," and gives every indication of enjoying it.

The Theatre Guild production of this comedy, first shown here in 1905, is enjoyable too and if the Shavian plot is a thin one, the script still sparkles with the author's pungent comments on manners and morals at the turn of the century.

This is a portrait of a lady the 1890's who has brought up three children in advanced fashion, shunning sentiment, doctrinating modernism and keeping them in ignorance of a father and husband she detests.

It is a handsome period piece, with brilliant settings and costumes by Stewart Chaney and nimble, well-timed direction by Peter Ashmore. Leo Carroll gives a thoroughly satisfying performance as a waiter who disdreetly guides the remainder of the rather temperamental cast. The entire company is excellent. Walter Hudd makes a nicely-polished solicitor, William Devlin mingles pompousness with acid comments and Ralph Forbes is fine as the cheric, frustrated father and husband. On the distaff side, Linda Insecort plays the modern girl, Faith Brook—a daughter of actor Clive Brook—her elder daughter and Patricia Kirkland her younger daughter with just the right verve.

It is not the best of Shaw but it is good entertainment.

"Oklahoma!" Anniversary

Special festivities are planned for the St. James' Theatre on the night of March 31 when "Oklahoma" celebrates its fifth anniversary at that showcase. The longest-running musical in American history has attracted nearly 4,500,000 customers there during its performances, which will reach 2,314 that night. Among the stage celebrities who have appeared in the Richard Rodgers-Oscar Hammerstein success are Aldred Drake, Celeste Holm, Howard Da Silva, Joan Roberts, Joan McCracken, Bambi Linn, John Raitt and Pamela Britton.

Abbott Charges Duplessis Hurting Canada

QUEBEC, March 22 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott charged today that Premier Duplessis of Quebec is trying to "destroy the rights of the Federal Government."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Reform Club, he said Mr. Duplessis' actions were weakening the country at a time when unity and strength were needed.

"Let me recall to you that the extent to which he succeeds in hampering the Federal Government in the exercise of its constiutional rights, he weakens Canada at a time when our country has more than ever need of strength," said Mr. Abbott, speaking in French.

He sharply criticized Mr. Duplessis and Premier Drew of Ontario for not entering new taxation agreements with the Federal Government. The seven other provinces have signed agreements.

"In the face of the multiple warnings that have been given us, it is surely time to scrutinize the world and coldly assess the dangers and the perils which menace Christian civilization," he said.

"Certain of the principles and certain of the speeches of Mr. Duplessis and his Tory friends in this and other provinces appear aimed at harming the government of their country, weakening our unity and, consequently, at lessening our chances of survival in the atomic age."

Mr. Abbott said if Quebec had agreed to rent the income and corporation tax fields to the Federal Government, Ontario probably would have done likewise. Then the whole country would be united and it would be possible to carry out the health insurance and other welfare proposals made to the provinces at the Dominion-Provincial Conference in 1945.

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, March 22 — (CP). — President Truman closed his appeal to Congress for a preparedness program with a plea for unity at home in this year of world crisis. "At no time in our history has unity among our people been so vital as it is at the present time," he said.

"The world situation is too critical and the responsibilities of this country are too vast to permit party struggles to weaken our influence for maintaining peace."

The President and his administration were under heavy fire from all sides by his legitimate political opponents — the Republicans — who are seeking to put their man in the White House in next November's elections.

Worse than that, he was being attacked by numerous of those staunch Democrats who have maintained the party in power in the White House since 1932 but now feel Truman is not the man for them.

Resentful South

The President is faced by a resentful and determined leadership of Southern States, all Democratic, who seem willing to oppose him even at the cost of assuring a Republican victory because of his stand for fair treatment of the Negro minority.

He is opposed by a militant third party movement headed by Henry Wallace, his former secretary of commerce, and his predecessor in the vice-presidency.

Wallace appears willing also to do his utmost to embarrass the Administration and particularly the President even though it seems certain his efforts will succeed only in help the Republicans.

Thus the President's plea for unity comes at a time when disunity and internal political and labor strife is at its height.

The critical, and at times, scornful comments from Congressmen immediately after the President's grave message Wednesday indicated that in many instances his plea fell on indifferent ears.

Marshall Worried

For good or ill, Truman seems to take these things in stride, to remain calm and unruffled in the face of desperate situations, and come up smiling always.

It is not so with Marshall. He is obviously worried and worn by the burdens thrust upon him. He shows it in his voice and in his manner.

Marshall is closer than the President to the day-to-day evidence of mounting crisis, closer to the constant demands and desperate pleas that come from all quarters of the globe for United States aid.

Foster Home Week

A column conducted by the Peterborough Children's Aid Society in the interests of "Foster Home Week" which is being observed this week.

The Children's Aid Society is very proud of its group of foster parents. They are real people who are giving that love and understanding so necessary for the children.

There are occasions when people have applied to take children into their homes and then, after talking the situation over with a member of the staff, they decide their home would not be suitable. Inadequate accommodation; husband is disinterested; inadequate income to support their own family — such reasons are readily recognized as making this important foster home work impossible. However, the Society is glad to have people go to the office and discuss the work.

The Society is interested in the foster parents' relation to their community. Remembering the story of "Everyone being out of step but my own son, Jimmy," the Society feels that if a family is out of step with its neighbors, a foster child would not be accepted in the community.

While recognizing that illness or change of residence may bar foster parents from continuing their work, the Society finds that some give up the work readily, necessitating moving a child to a new home. Each time a child is moved he has to go through a difficult adjustment and it is important that these moves be as few as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, when approached in regard to a child who needed help with a particular problem — readily accepted him into their home. Not only did they help the child overcome his problem but they kept him until he went to another community to work. Truly they made their home his home .

The Society needs homes prepared to keep children for a short time only. This may be days, weeks, or even a few months. However, the greater need is for foster parents prepared to accept these children as their own and prepared to keep them over a long period of time.

Remember, he's innocent — all he did was — be born. Give him his chance. Consult your Children's Aid Society, corner Brock and Sheridan Streets, about this foster home work.

LONDON, Ont., March 22 (CP) —Provincial Police arrested two men here last night in connection with the stabbing of Mrs. Cecil Hill, 30, earlier yesterday. The victim's condition was described by hospital outhorities as "satisfactory." The woman's husband, Cecil Hill, and Harry Finlay, both of London, were arrested.

Dartford WMS Meet Home Of Mrs. Nelson

DARTFORD, March 22—(ENS) —The March meeting of Women's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Earl Nelson. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. A. McCracken. Roll call was answered by the name of a spring flower.

Scripture reading was read by Mrs. Earl Nelson. The study period on "Foreign Missions" was taken in four parts by Miss Muriel Darling, Mesdames Ethel McCleary, S. Atkinson and A. McCracken. Miss Verna McDonald gave the reading, "He Is Risen."

Lunch was then served by Mrs. Nelson and her assistants.

British House To Debate Communist Ban

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, March 22 (CP). — In the thunder and lightning atmosphere of controversy, House of Commons Thursday will debate the ban on Communists, Fellow-travellers and Fascists in security posts.

The Labor Government is opposed to an immediate debate on its policy to protect Britain's secrets from civil servants whose loyalty might be suspected, but members have exercised their right to bring the matter before the House irrespective of Government wishes.

The critical motion, asking that the Government safeguard liberties of individuals affected by the new policy, has been signed by 43 Labor members. Herbert Morrison, as House Leader, indicated that he did not intend to adjust sessional business to allow an early debate on this or another similar motion which has support from private Labor members.

Now three Conservative Opposition members have decided to raise the question on the motion for adjournment for the Easter recess. This will give Labor critics of the policy a chance to put forward their arguments

Political observers said that apart from two Communists and some Fellow-travellers none of the 640 members object to this action to protect Britain's security. Anxiety now evident both in Labor and Opposition Parties is about the methods employed.

Motions and speeches show that most critics of policy would be satisfied if the independent tribunal were established to hear cases of civil servants whose transfer is proposed for security reasons.

POSTERS REFLECT TENSIONS — Rome's walls were plastered with posters this week in a bitter battle between Communists and Christian Democrats which reflected the bitter tensions attending the coming election. In answer to posters announcing the Communist-inspired "assizes of peace" at the "Mussolini Forum" and calling 30,000 women to rally for peace, the Christian Democrats put up posters declaring their opinions that the whole thing was Red "wolf" under a sheep's skin. Tension is still mounting as the U.S. has threatened to withdraw all subsidies for relief or recovery if the people vote Communist in the April 18th elections.

Champion Girl Diver To Give Exhibition

Guest star of the swimming show "A Day At The Fair" being held at the YMCA on April 16-17, will be Evelyn Buchanan, champion Canadian woman diver. Miss Buchanan is from the Dolphinette Club, Toronto, and is trying out for Canada's Olympic team.

This swimming exhibition is being put on by the Ornamental Swimming Club of the YWCA, Peterborough, to raise money to teach boys and girls to swim during the coming summer at Riverside Park, Keene, and Inverlea Park.

Already in rehearsal the swimming skit will feature novelty numbers, special dances and swimming skits.

Peterborough will have its first glimpse of the American-style synchronized swimming which has been popular in the United States for some time.

Some of the features will be "Thin Alice", 25 feet long, the "Fat Lady", Bongo Bongo the Wild Man from Borneo, Bubble Dance, Doll Dance, Egyptian Medley Dance, and Street Dances.

Approximately 20 girls of the 'teen age and business group will take part. Nine of these have an instructor's certificate and badge in lifesaving.

Arrest Barrister

TORONTO, March 22—(CP)—Police said yesterday that Maurice J. Daley, former Toronto barrister, has been arrested in Timmins, on a warrant charging theft of $4,000 from Mrs. Clara Fitzsimmons of Toronto. Police said that Daley was a former registrar of the rental appeals court of the prices board. They said he was disbarred as a lawyer by the Upper Canada Law Society last September.

Teacher Strike Ends

MINNEAPOLIS, March 22 (AP) — The 27-day-old Minneapolis teacher strike was settled late yesterday and the 65,000 idle school children were back at classes today.

8 Die In Plane Crash

SOMERSET, Pa., March 22 — (AP). — A single-engine plane crashed on a fog-shrouded Pennsylvania mountain top Saturday, killing eight persons, including a year-old baby girl. The bodies were so badly mangled by the crash which drove an eight-foot hole into the mountain that the victims were not all counted until hours afterward.

Mrs. Gordon Powell Heads Auxiliary

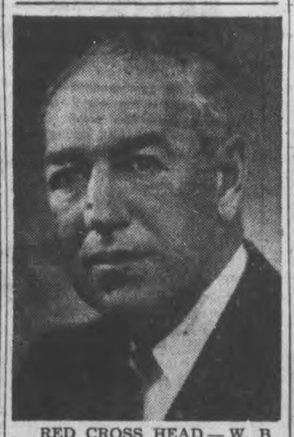
MILLBROOK, March 22 (ENS). —The "Lady Lions," auxiliary to the men's Lions' Club, at their initial meeting elected the following officers: president, Mrs. Gordon Powell; vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Wright; secretary, Mrs. G. A. Spicer; treasurer, Mrs. Clifford Larmer. The club has now over forty members, and at its next meeting, the executive will report of the division into groups, with each group to elect its own convener.

The Lady Lions added to their finances by over $35 at the St. Patrick's Day dance held in the Cavan Community Hall on March 17, the sale of sandwiches and coffee being in their hands. Winners in the card games, for which tables were in readiness in the basement, were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hall, and Mrs. Ira Lowe. Mrs. T. A. Campbell extends the hospitality of her home for the regular meetings.

The hot dinner held in the basement of Grace Presbyterian church under Ladies' Aid auspices on St. Patrick's day, netted approximately $90 to the funds. H. A. Kerr was cashier, and Miss Margaret Armstrong pinned a dainty shamrock on the lapel of each guest at the entrance door. The whole community, and much of the surrounding countryside, was represented in the attendance and the tables were seasonably decorated with green runners, pots of shamrock, and green candles in crystal holders.

In charge of tables were Mrs. J. Thompson, Mrs. Kenneth Moncrief, Mrs. H. A. Kerr, and Mrs. MacKay; among those serving the guests and otherwise assisting with the abundant meal were Mrs. Clifford Larmer, Misses Ethel Belch and Betty Wright, Mrs. S. E. Eakins, Mrs. A. Coyte, Mrs. H. C. Lord, Mrs. Milton Fallis, Mrs. L. Ingram, Mrs. Farrow, Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. Raymond Farrow, and Mrs. Charles Thorndyke, president of the hostess society, who had a general oversight.

Injured By Knife



TORONTO, March 22—(CP)—Jim Callaghan, four, escaped serious injuries yesterday when his throat was pierced by a knife during a fall from a piano. The child was taken to hospital and was released after treatment.

Averts Train Wreck

PEMBROKE, March 22 (CP). — Quick-witted 13-year-old Garwin O'Brien of Pembroke today averted a possible train wreck when he sighted a broken rail inside the town and flagged a westbound CPR train before it reached the spot.

Strike Brings Ruin

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 22—(AP)—A nine-week-old strike by sugar cane workers is threatening economic ruin to the picturesque little island of St. Kitts in the British Caribbean. The sugar industry is the economic backbone of the 68-square-mile island, discovered by Columbus in 1493 and won permanently by the British in 1713.

RED CROSS HEAD — W. B. Hanna, well known Toronto business man, was elected president of the Canadian Red Society, Ontario Division, at the annual meeting held in Toronto, March 19th. A senior executive of Ontario Division for several years, Mr. Hanna was chairman of the Red Cross prisoners of war liaison committee and headed up the division's big program for assistance to returning overseas personnel.

County Roads Show Signs Of Breaking Up

"The worst is yet to come," is the opinion of J. A. Fletcher, county road engineer, who is hoping that "the worst" will not become a reality.

County roads have been holding up to traffic so far, but they have a depth of frost that has yet to emerge with threat to surface conditions.

"Farm fields were covered with snow all winter, and that blanket kept the frost from penetrating the ground except a top layer," Mr. Fletcher said. "But, it is a different story with the roads. We plow off the snow that opens the way for the frost to get settled four or five feet. And what goes down has got to come up. As everyone knows it is when the frost is coming out that the most damage is done to the roads. So, we may have some trouble yet, especially if it comes out with a rush."

Several spots of difficulty were reported around the district at the week-end, mostly from overflowing creeks damned up at culverts, diverting freshet water across roads here and there. Some farmers had to make detours in reaching the city.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

STREET CLOSED

A large mud hole on Albertus avenue in the west end had closed that street for one block to all traffic. City employees placed barricades there this morning.

SIGNS OF SPRING

Warm weather and robins are not the only signs of spring in Peterborough. Workmen were putting up awnings this morning on a building on Water St.

NO SWEEP WINNERS

No Peterborough people held winning tickets in the Irish Sweepstakes, according to a thorough canvass made over the week-end. Quite a number of tickets were purchased locally according to reports, but none of them clicked.

MAIN STREET GROOMED

City employees were busy with brooms and shovels this morning removing a thick coating of mud, sand and slush from George St. Soon the street flusher will be along to remove the last vestiges of the winter grime, and the street will have its first thorough cleaning since last autumn.

GRATEFUL TO FARMERS

The members of the badminton club wish to thank the farmers who attend the Peterborough market for vacating the hall early Saturday afternoon, thereby making it available for the district tournament.

SPRING ARRIVES

Spring is supposed to arrive on March 21, but this year the balmy season was ushered in on March 20, actually about 11 o'clock on Saturday evening. This advance action crossed up quite a number of the local prophets who are now paying off in cigars. Pass one over, Mr. Gettas.

FOG DELAYS BUSES

Heavy fogs lay over the countryside of many counties in area last night due to condensation from cold ground currents meeting the warm air masses above. Busses from Ottawa, Lindsay, Trenton and Port Hope were delayed from half to three-quarters of an hour operators report.

LARGER MARKET REPORTED

A larger market was reported on Saturday both inside and out. Warm weather brought out a large crowd of shoppers but it cut down on the sale of meat. Stallholders were reluctant to risk exposing it in the hot sun. Homebaking and Easter confections were in increased demand and are reported to have been completely sold out by noon.

AT ANNUAL MEETING

Frank C. Paterson, Wellington Sutton, Henry Sharpe and Harry Faulkner left today to attend the annual meeting of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association. Peterborough has already listed 500 of the required 1,000 cattle for this county's minimum for acceptance in the Maple artificial insemination unit.

OTTAWA TAX PEAK

Ottawa's tax rate at 42.5 mills is the highest in the capital's history. The increase of 3.5 mills over last year raises the total increase since 1945 to 11 mills. The Ottawa Fire Department Appropriation is up $146,000; Police $116,000; interest and principal $128,000; Public Schools $115,000; Collegiates Institutes $118,000.

EVERYONE SHOULD BE HAPPY

Farmers cisterns and wells are filled to the brim after the frosty drought of winter and dynamos are humming in the power houses throughout the province which should practically eliminate the power shortage problem.

STORES OPEN WEDNESDAY

With Good Friday this week Peterborough merchants will remain open on Wednesday afternoon as provided by bylaw permitting stores to remain open on the Wednesday afternoon in the week in which there is a public holiday.

EDITOR HONORED

The Montreal Repertory Theatre presented three one-act plays by Robertson Davies on Friday and Saturday nights last, and will repeat them on Monday and Tuesday of this week. The plays were "Overlaid" (seen in a Little Theatre performance here in January), "Hope Deferred" and "Eros At Breakfast". Mr. Davies was present at the Friday and Saturday performances and addressed the audience briefly. All performances have been sold out.

BROCKVILLE RATE 51½ MILLS

Brockvilles 1948 tax rate is 52½ mills which will be reduced to 51½ by the grant of one mill subsidy by the Ontario Government. The new rate is the highest in the town's history. The rate in 1946 was 40 mills. The present advance cludes three mills to provide higher salaries and wages for municipal employees, and 1½ mills for hospital, Children's Aid Society and debenture costs.

OPENING NEW CHURCH

The first mass in the parish of Our Lady of the Assumption, Otonabee, will be celebrated by Bishop Gerald Berry beginning at 9.30 a.m. Tuesday. The sermon will be by Rev. P. J. Lynch. Formal opening of Assumption parish hall will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. Bishop Berry will be the principal speaker, and the program will include music by the children of St. Joseph's School.

500 Watch Reg't In Training At Lakefield

Some 500 citizens of Lakefield, as well as a number of carloads of interested Peterborough people, gathered at Lakefield Sunday to watch the 50th Heavy Anti-Aaircraft Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers RCA, training at the corner lot of Reid and Queen streets.

The regiment held an all-day training scheme including examination of equipment at the Armoury, lunch, and a well-conducted mobile run from the city to Lakefield, where the instruments were put in action b fore the crowd.

Following the exercise, a short description of the equipment was given by Capt. P. W. Sargeant, Administration and Training Officer of the regiment, and the crowd was given an opportunity of viewing the equipment, where instructors gave short talks. These included RSM James Miller, Sgt. B. L. Smith, Sgt. A. S. F. Watson and Sgt. J. K. Brown.

Tactical Control Officer for the day was Capt. L. D. Foster, and Capt. W. R. C. Perry was Gun Position Officer. Parade was under command of Lt.-Col. V. M. Eastwood, MC, ED, with Major H. Willis in command of mobile convoy. Sgt. R. W. Simmonds was in charge of convoy control.

The regiment will parade on Tuesday night at the Armoury when further recruiting will continue and all eyes of the regiment and its friends are on the Sergeants' Mess dance to be held on Friday, April 9, invitations for which may be obtained from members of the Mess.

DECORATING CHURCH

The chancel of All Saints' Church is being re-decorated and the work, which will cost approximately $3,000, will take ten weeks. The work to the walls and ceiling is being executed by J. McDougal from designs by Mr. Crawford, who studied in London, England. It is expected that there will be scaffolding in the church for quite some time.

TWO FIRE ALARMS REPORTED

Firemen had only two calls over the week-end. At 12.15 p.m. on Saturday they answered an alarm at 286 George St., site of the new Famous Players' Theatre at present under construction, where a tar pot was reported on fire. At 7.15 p.m. a plugged chimney caused smoke to fill the Service Station of B. W. Reid, 236 Charlotte St. Firemen cleared the obstruction.

Arena Canvass Of Homes Starts Monday

House to house canvass for donations to the Civic Arena project will not start until next Monday, Dick Ouimet, chairman of the general committee announced today.

This evening, Mr. Ouimet and Stanley McBride will appear before the city council seeking confirmation of the offer from the council of the lot on Park street, south of the CGE plant as a site for the building. They will also asked the Council if they are willing to accept the building when it is completed.

Tuesday evening, a meeting will be held at the YMCA at which all hockey players in the city will be asked to take over the job of canvassing the homes in the city. When this campaign starts, each canvasser will be wearing a lapel button, and will also carry an identification card signed by Dick Ouimet.

Percy Killingbeck, a foreman in the CGE has plans well along for the industrial canvass, and Archie Weir is meeting heads of industries seeking their cooperation in arranging for payroll deduction plans in each industry.

A downtown office has been opened on the east side of George street, just south of Brock street. There will be an attendant at this office after ten o'clock every morning and for the whole day. Citizens who wish to make their donations now, and not wait for the canvassers can call the office and a canvasser will be sent to their homes, or the citizens may call at the office and make their donation there.

Mr. Ouimet announced this morning that Boston Bruins hockey team had sent two hockey sticks to the city, both autographed by all members of the Bruins team. These will be auctioned off at a sale to be held in April.

Driver Jailed After Wild Ride

LINDSAY, March 22.—(ENS).—On his plea of guilty to a drunk driving charge, William J. Lytle, of RR 3, Woodville, was sentenced to 15 days' imprisonment by Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court today. Lytle's driving permit was canceled for six months and his car impounded for three months. He was ordered to pay $15 costs or an additional 15 days.

Lytle was arrested Saturday afternoon following a 45 m.p.h. chase through Lindsay's business district by O. P. P. Ralph Taylor. The officer said he chased Lytle north along highway 7 on the town's southern outskirts, up Lindsay street, across Kent, and finally caught him in the north end of the town after the accused nearly turned the car over taking a corner. Lytle said he had been driving from Omemee to Lindsay. Clyde Workman, a passenger in the Lytle car, was fined $15 on an intoxication charge.

CHILD DROWNED — Five-year-old Jack Lindsay, Port Hope, drowned on Saturday when he fell through a hole in the ice pack north of the railway tracks at Port Hope, being carried down by the Ganaraska's flood waters. His body has not been recovered. The drowning victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lindsay of 45 Caroline St. It is thought that the body was carried down to the lake.

Floods Block 16 Highways Across Ontario

TORONTO, March 22.—(CP).—Eighteen points on 16 Ontario highways are blocked by floods, the Ontario Department of Highways reported today, with a serious break in No. 2 highway. Detours of more than 25 miles are necessary on this main route to Windsor because of flooding between Thamesville and Lambeth.

Other highways closed: No. 54, Cayuga to Cainsville; No. 4, Hanover to Walkerton and also south from Wingham; No. 6, from the junction of No. 21 to Hepworth; No. 24, Singhampton to Duntroon; No. 104, from junction of No. 9 to Grand Valley; No. 79 Bothwell to Waterford; No. 24 at Galt; No. 73, south from Aylmer; No. 81, from Parkhill to Mount Bridges; No. 35, Lindsay to the junction of 7A; No. 7A, east from Port Perry; No. 45, Baltimore to Norwood; No. 83, Exeter to Dashwood; No. 86, between Wingham and Whitechurch, and also at Bluevale; No. 87, blocked at Wroxeter.

Sells Sweep Ticket Tries To Claim Share

TORONTO, March 22—(CP)—The only Canadian to win $100,000 with his Irish Sweepstakes ticket on the Grand National steeplechase at Aintree, England on Saturday, Alfons Zaborek said here today: "Apparently when you win some money everybody wants to be your partner."

Fred Snell of Toronto who claims to have sold Zaborek the last ticket in his book at half-price on the understanding that winnings would be shared, put in his bid on Saturday for $50,000.

Zaborek, a 45-year-old waste paper company truck helper said: "I bought two tickets from Fred and paid $2.50 (full price) for each of them, but never discussed sharing any winnings with him. In fact I didn't even promise him a cigar—just bought the tickets and left."

ADDRESS ON CANADA

Mr. Claire Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan, Gilmour St., now on the Quaker Oats staff at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was guest speaker at the Lions Club luncheon in that American city last week. His subject was "Canada".

Creeks Behave, River Rising Steadily

Peterborough people can carry on with their usual problems this morning for unlike many communities they had no flood problems to disrupt the even tenure of their ways. Things looked bad for a few hours on rainy Friday when Jackson's Creek raced down through town with tons of floating ice but the Parks Department fended off any calamity. The Otonabee is rising steadily and will continue to do so for many days and there is a huge volume of water flooding down to Rice Lake. Flooded cellars in the south end caused may a home owner to stay away from church and do a stint of baling by pump or pail. The small creek on west side of the Filtration Plant bend on Highway 28 had run itself down to its normal bed yesterday and snow everywhere disappeared almost visibilly.

Large ice pans floated down the Otonabee all day and spring was so in the blood of the youth of Lakefield at least six boats were out tooling up and down the flood.. Scores of children went wading over their high rubbers and homes on Sunday evening were filled more than usual with drying woollens. Things got too warm for small flocks of fish ducks that wintered on the river, they have disappeared to the north where water temperatures are more to their liking Regardless of last week's high winds, Lake Katchawanooka is still ice bound, and muskrats in their houses around Haig's Bay are making rude noises at trappers who are licensed to trap them but are prevented by the quantities of ice and snow in the frozen marshes.

English Adjudicator Lauds Drama Progress

TORONTO, March 22—(CP)—Presentation of the Hugh Eayrs Trophy to the Toronto University Alumnae Dramatic Club for the best play in the Central Ontario Drama Festival Saturday, concluded the regional drama festivals across Canada, and brought invitations to 14 plays to compete in the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa the week of April 26.

The plays were selected on the basis of the report of Robert Stuart, London adjudicator, who concluded his adjudication in Toronto by praising Canadians for their "eagerness for the best in theatre."

In his final adjudication, Mr. Stuart said Canada had shown him a "wonderful feast of the theatre."

"A tremendous force is at work here in the Canadian theatre—I say that advisedly since there is a powerful non-professional theatre here at work in Canada," he said. "There is an eagerness to learn and work—an intense love for the theatre which drives these splendid groups to devote most of their energies and time to the furtherance of good theatre in their own province."

Orer Inquest In Death Of Wm. Wright

H. G. Carleton, county coroner said today that an autopsy has been performed on the body of William Wright, Marmora woodsman who was found Friday lying beside the road near Garden Hill. The examination of the body showed that the man had been severely injured, possibly by a truck or some other vehicle. Seven ribs were broken. No date has yet been set for an inquest into the death, he said.

Police believe that the death was the result of a hit-and-run driver and are now investigating. Provincial Constable Nicol of Cobourg and McClure of Peterborough are investigating.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at Marmora Anglican church, with Rev. Mr. Brownley officiating. The body is resting now at the Comstock funeral home here.

Petes, Bowmanville Tie In Badminton Tournament

Nearly two hundred people watched the finals in the Market Hall on Saturday night of the Central Ontario badminton championships. Peterborough and Bowmanville tied once again for the Ayres Challenge Trophy with 26 points each. Bowmanville is to keep the trophy this year as Peterborough kept it throughout the whole of last year. The president of the Central Ontario Badminton Association, Clifford Palmer, introduced Alderman Dick Raine, representing the Mayor of Peterborough, and thanked Jack Watts and the Peterborough Club for the excellent job of arranging the tournament. "We are always glad to have the tournaments in Peterborough," said Alderman Raine in a short speech before he presented the prizes and cups. Lt.-Col. Claire H. Stuart and Allan Craig were the judges.

In the finals of the men's doubles, Alan Osborne and Jack Brough, Bowmanville, defeated Vincent O'Donoghue and Robert Baker, Peterborough, 15-3, 15-9. It was a beautiful game, with long rallies and superb volleying by Alan Osborne.

Mrs. Robert Baker and Mrs. Vincent O'Donoghue, Peterborough, beat Miss Kay Hopkins and Miss Lilian Koren, Oshawa, 15-4, 15-3, in the finals of the ladies' doubles. The Peterborough pair won fairly easily in spite of long rallies. Miss Koren was very obviously nervous in the first game.

Close Matches

In the finals of the mixed doubles, Mrs. J. Dipple and Alan Osborne, Bowmanville, defeated Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, Peterborough, 17-14, 15-4. It was a close match in the first game, which went to points, but in the second game the Bowmanville couple more easily overcame the strong Peterborough opposition.

Mixed Doubles—Semi-Finals.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, Peterborough, beat Mr. and Mrs. Stewart James, Bowmanville.

Mrs. J. Dipple and Alan Osborne, Bowmanville, defeated Miss Lilian Koren and R. Kinton, Oshawa.

Mixed Doubles Consolation—Semi-Finals.

Miss Fay Fry and Dr. H. Rundle, Bowmanville, defeated Mr. and Mrs. R. Swindell, Bowmanville.

Mrs. L. Van Driel and Dr. Charles Austin, Bowmanville, beat Miss E. L. Oliver and W. James, Bowmanville.

Mixed Doubles Consolation—Finals

Mrs. L. Van Driel and Dr. Charles Austin, Bowmanville, defeated Miss Fay Fry and Dr. H. Rundle, Bowmanville.

Men's Doubles Consolation—Finals

Gordon Flaxman and Robert Kent, Bowmanville, beat Jack Roughley and William Legge, Oshawa.

Ladies' Doubles Consolation—Finals

Miss Doris Fenner and Mrs. Ralph Charlton, Peterborough, defeated Miss Joan Shier and Mrs. Orma Perry, Lindsay.

The Lew Ayres Challenge Trophy

Peterborough—26.
Bowmanville—26.
Lindsay—1.
Ontario County Flying Club, Oshawa—5.
General Motors, Oshawa—3.

Charge Vagrant Window Peeped

Gordon Dundas, 536 Downie St., was found guilty today of vagrancy, after entering a plea of not guilty to the charge. He was fined $7 and $8.50 costs by Magistrate Philp after evidence was given that Dundas had been looking through a back kitchen window of a city home.

Chief witness was 16-year-old Mary McCabe, 200 London St., who stated that she had been acting as a baby sitter at the home of John S. Black, 598 Donegal St., on March 18, the day the charge was laid. She had noticed, she said, a man "slouching along" the shed at the rear of the house and that he had looked through a back window. The witness admitted that she had not had a look at the man's features but identified the accused from the clothes and his build.

PC's Denis Traynor and Vern O'Donoghue testified that they had picked up the accused at the corner of Park St. and Parkhill Rd. where he told them he was waiting for a bus. He had been visiting on Downie St., he told the officers. They took him to the home there where he stated he had been, they said, and were told that he had not been there that day at all.

Dennis Sullivan, 666 Downie St., gave evidence that he had not seen the accused at his house all that day.

Dundas recalled PC O'Donoghue and questioned him closely about the light conditions under which the girl had identified him.

The accused told the magistrate that he was not guilty.

HOLD SWIM MEET

The Peterborough interscholastic swimming and diving championships are to be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday evening. About one hundred competitors from the public schools are entered for the events. The Examiner Trophy will be awarded to the school with the highest number of points for swimming, and the Stan McBride-Cliff McInroy Trophy to the school with the highest number of points for diving. Don Duncan is directing the meet.

Butter Boost Justified House of Commons Told

OTTAWA, March 22.—(CP).—Increases in butter prices since last June were "amply justified," an executive of a firm of butter dealers told the Commons price committee today.

This opinion was given by John Freeman, manager of the Montreal firm of Lovell and Christmas (Canada), Ltd., as the committee entered its second week of investigation into high butter prices.

Mr. Freeman, whose firm deals in butter and cheese, said the chief causes of the butter price rise were:

1. Continued heavier consumption and increased consumer demand.

2. Reduced production in the second half of the 1947 production season, as compared with the previous season.

Mr. Freeman expressed the view, in response to questioning by committee counsel Fabio Monet, that operations of the Montreal Commodity Exchange, were not responsible for the rise.

Futures transactions in butter on the exchange were opened last June 17, following removal of butter ceilings.

Asked who had benefited most from the price rises between last June and January, Mr. Freeman said that "the industry benefited at every level as the result of the advance."

This would include farmers manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers.

Gordon McLean, secretary-treasurer of the company, on the stand with Mr. Freeman, told the committee that during the period the company never refused to supply butter to its regular customers. It did refuse bids from some firms that had not been regular customers, since its stocks did not permit it to supply all buyers.

Mrs. H. Phillips Dies At 87 Years

MARMORA, March 22—(ENS).—The death occurred at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Hector Boudreau, at Deloro on Thursday evening of one of the oldest residents of Marmora township, Mrs. Hannah Phillips, widow of Charles Phillips.

Stricken about six months ago she had since been confined to her room. Previous to that time she had enjoyed good health and was active.

She was born on May 15, 1860, at Nanthead, Cumberland, Eng., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Archer, who came to Canada when she was a child.

Her husband, Charles Phillips, a mason employee with a Deloro company for a number of years, died about 13 years ago.

Since then, she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Hector Boudreau.

She was highly esteemed in the district, and for a number of years, former lady neighbors joined to tender her a birthday party.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Hector Boudreau (Nell), Deloro, and Mrs. John Robertson (Florence) of Niagara Falls, NY. She is also survived by three brothers, William Archer of Grafton, Thomas Archer of Toronto, and Harry Archer, resident in California.

The body is resting at the home of her grandson, Albert S. Brown, in Marmora township (the former home of Mrs. Phillips).

The funeral takes place on Monday, arriving at St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, at 2.30 p.m. Burial will be in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

Grateful Airman

STRATHROY, March 22 (CP). Through the efforts of Donald Rutherford of Sarnia, Mr. and Mrs. John Meijer and son Donald of Rotterdam, have arrived in this Middlesex County town where the Dutch family plans to start fruit-farming. The Meijers saved Rutherford's life when he was shot down over Holland in 1944 while serving with the RCAF.

Dr J. F. Ryan Dies

NEW YORK, March 22—(CP)—Dr. John Francis Ryan, a native of Camden, Ont., who was graduated from Queen's University medical school, Kingston, died yesterday. Dr. Ryan, 55, had been a general practitioner in Brooklyn for 23 years.

Produce Better Quality Fairs Supt. Tells Farmers

BELLEVILLE, March 22. — With production costs increasing and Ontario farmers due to face keener competition in the future, farmers in this province will be forced to produce better quality products if the family-sized farm is to retain its identity.

This was stated here Friday afternoon by J. A. Carroll, fairs superintendent, as he addressed delegates of the Central Fairs Association at their annual convention held in the YMCA. New officers were elected at the meeting, while fair dates for the coming summer and autumn were set.

To assist in encouraging the production of better quality farm products the Ontario Department of Agriculture was prepared to make special grants to agricultural societies as prize money for exhibits in commercial production, according to Mr. Carroll. In keeping with this thought fair presidents present at the meeting were asked to state the products from which farmers in their district made the most money.

200 Fairs Receive Grants

The fairs superintendent questioned whether there was need for all of the number of small fairs which are held each autumn. "Over 200 fairs received grants in the province last year," he said.

"One thing is definitely certain," he said. "We do not need all of these small fairs if the same exhibits are being shown at a number of district fairs, and if the fairs are all of the same type. But the people themselves will determine whether these small fairs are to continue.

"Last year some fairs reported record crowds, while others went down, and went down badly. An interesting program will decide the success or failure of a fair."

The speaker noted that a sure test if a fair is successful is whether the number of exhibitors is going up or down. If the number of local exhibitors is increasing then the fair is successful.

Reported on Features

Presidents or delegates from each of the fairs in the Central district reported on the features of their fairs last year.

The Napanee delegate stated that next year the service clubs of that centre will supply the midway. In this way fair officials would be certain the society would not be "gypped" and that the money spent would remain in the district. Mr. Carroll stated that the trend in the province was to "clean up" the midways, but in this much of the responsibility lay with the fair board of directors.

The Picton representative noted that canning factory companies in their district had promised next year to have canning exhibits at the fair. The Belleville representative stated this fair would celebrate its 100th anniversary this year.

In a discussion period it was brought out that the only way agricultural societies could take advantage of the provincial recreational and community park grants was for the title of the fair grounds to be vested with the community and the grounds operated by a commission appointed by council.

Planning Improvements

Arthur Wartman of Warkworth stated their agricultural society had adopted this procedure and were accordingly planning extensive improvements to grounds and equipment.

Harry Coulter, Hungerford Township, was named president of the association and Harold McColl of Napanee and Art Wartman of Warkworth as vice-presidents. Secretary is C. W. Varcoe of Roseneath and district treasurer Fred Rutherford of Campbellford. Mayor D. L. Storey tendered an official welcome to the delegates and wished each of the fair boards success for the coming year, Brian Dodds of Picton acted as chairman.

District representative for the women's association, Mrs. W. A. Hume of Campbellford, reported 28 present at the women's meeting in the morning. "An effort would be made to have executive officers representative of the various counties in the district," she said. Mrs. Hume this year will serve her second term as district representative, while Mrs. Norris Rogers of Denbigh will act as secretary.

Fair Dates Set

Following are the fair dates set:

Belleville, Aug. 16-17-18-19; Napanee, Aug. 30-31, Sept. 1; Brighton, Aug. 30, Sept. 1; Wooler, Sept. 7-8; Centreville, Sept. 8; Denbigh, Sept. 9; Shannonville, Sept. 10-11; Tweed, Sept. 14-15; Marmora, Sept. 15-16; Odessa, Sept. 14-15; Stirling, Sept. 16-17; or 21-22; Campbellford, Sept. 22-23; Picton, Sept. 28-29; Warkworth, Sept. 30, Oct. 1; Madoc, Oct. 5-6; Roseneath, Oct. 7-8, and Norwood, Oct. 9-10.

Mrs. F. MacDougall Dies Suddenly

TORONTO, March 22 (CP)—Mrs. Frank A. MacDougall, wife of the Deputy Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, died suddenly Saturday.

Born in Belleville, Mrs. MacDougall was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Nugent.

Besides her husband, a son, John, and daughter, Maryanne, Mrs. MacDougall is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Annie Preston of Belleville; Mrs. Maude Hoffman of Escanaba, Mich., and Mrs. Jane Cochens of Beverly Hills, Calif., and a brother, Edward Nugent of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDougall and Hon. Harold Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, and Mrs. Scott entertained jointly at dinner Friday evening in honor of senior officers of the department.

Mrs. MacDougall, who had been in ill health for some time, collapsed during the dinner party and was taken to hospital. The funeral was this afternoon in Toronto.

Ronald Colman, Loretta Young Voted Academy Award Winners

By HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD, March 22 — (AP). — Critical Hollywood agrees that Gentleman's Agreement, released with some misgivings because of its controversial subject matter, is the best picture of 1947. Ronald Colman and Loretta Young are the best players of the year, likewise by decree of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. The British-born Colman won with his portrayal of a murderous actor in A Double Life and Miss Young for her characterization of a Swedish-American politician in The Farmer's Daughter.

London-born Edmund Gwenn, in Miracle on 34th Street, and Celeste Holm, in Gentleman's Agreement, were voted best supporting players.

A third award accrued to Gentleman's Agreement in Saturday night's presentation of Academy honors when Elia Kazan received an Oscar for best achievement in direction.

All of these are first-time Oscar recipients.

Colman's reward was long awaited. A star for 25 years, he remained Oscarless despite tremendous popularity. And he never portrayed an actor on the screen before. In the Garson Kanin production, A Double Life, released by Universal-International, he depicted a split personality: A charmer while acting in a romantic play for a comedy, a felon when his role is tragic. Interpolated in the film is a sequence from Othello and after playing Shakespeare's title character the actor turns murderous. He despatches a waitress, in precisely the same manner Desdemona was slain.

Her First

Like Colman, Miss Young is a movie veteran, although only 35. Her Oscar—also her first—was a real surprise. Pre-Academy polls, almost without exception, gave the nod to Rosalind Russell, for her portrayal of Lavina in RKO's Mourning Becomes Electra. Miss Russell herself seems to be the only person who thought she wouldn't win.

Loretta said she was equally sure she hadn't a chance.

Miracle on 34th Street, like Gentleman's Agreement, a Fox film, also won three honors. Besides the 20-year-old Gwenn's best supporting role award — he played Santa Claus — the picture was voted the best original motion picture story (by Valentine Davies) and best written screenplay (by George Seaton). A Double Life won with the best musical score of a dramatic picture (by Dr. Miklos Rozsa).

The best original song of the year was Zip-Adee-Doo-Dah, by Allie Wrubel and Ray Gilbert, in the Disney feature, Song of the South.

Britain's Great Expectations was honored for best art direction, best set decoration and best cinematography, among black-and-white films. The same awards went to Black Narcissus in the color film category. Both pictures are J. Arthur Rank productions.

WIN ACADEMY AWARDS—Loretta Young and Ronald Colman were named the best players of the year Saturday night and both received Oscars. The two winners won the Academy awards for the first time.

Want TrafficRe-routed Away From Abbey Area

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, March 22 (CP). — Restoration of the Westminster Abbey area as a quiet sanctuary where pedestrians may escape from the roar of London traffic is urged in an exhibition presented at the Tate Art Gallery by the Architectural Review.

Linked with the restoration plan is a proposal that the flagstones in the paved court of the Abbey should be inscribed with the names of all Commonwealth citizens who died in the two World Wars.

In support of the plan it is stated that until Queen Victoria's day the area immediately surrounding Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament "was completely free of Whitehall traffic."

"Before then traffic either turned left across Westminster Bridge or right down Birdcage Walk," said Gordon Cullen, editor of the Architectural Review. "With no through traffic..... the precinct was essentially for people on foot and among its squares and courts they went about their business or leisure in an atmosphere that enabled them to enjoy the surrounding beauty."

Spoiled To-day.

With the building of Victoria Street, a stream of traffic flooded past the steps of the Abbey's west front while another poured between the Houses of Parliament and the Abbey.

"To-day," Cullen said, "the pleasant backwaters of Smith Square and Queen Anne's Gate are stagnant with makeshift car parks."

Although the plan to restore Westminster's "precinctual" character was first suggested by Sir Patrick Abercrombie, the town-planning expert, so far it has received no official backing from the Government which endorsed his plan for satellite towns. ½

The Architectural Review is presenting small-scale models of the proposed new Westminster in the hope that it will catch the public imagination and enlist support.

"Such a memorial," Cullen said, "would make Westminster what it should be—a symbol of the unity of a number of widely scattered communities of British and other stock who want to live together rather than apart, in mind if not in body.

Small Alterations.

"The functional changes necessary to bring Westminster precinct back to pedestrian use are not sweeping and relatively small alterations, if well considered, could succeed in recreating the coherence it possessed before Victorian engineers cracked it wide open with the construction of Victoria Street and the Embankment."

"It is extraordinary that Westminster which is the physical centre of the Empire should have nothing but a couple of municipal seats and a few geraniums to express it."

Stock Exchanges Taking Heart

By The Canadian Press.

Stock exchanges, the pessimists of the year, seem at last to have taken some heart, with the last four trading days showing sharp reversal from the declines since early January, and especially a comeback since Tuesday's sharp peak.

New York closed the week with one of the strongest and fastest Saturday markets of the last several years, with trading in a wide list of 958 issues appearing, 821 in the and only 41 declined.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 1.4 points at 6, a high since February, and the biggest short-session jump since April 15, 1939.

In Toronto all groups were up and gains in the indices since Tuesday were: Industrials 6.82 to 155.95; golds 3.57 to 95.44; base metals 3.91 to 81.58; Western oils 3.87 to 32.55. In Montreal industrials Saturday gained from fractions to as much as 4 points.

CGIT Doings

The Lakefield CGIT girls met at the United Church last week. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer and CGIT pledge and purpose. Myrna Wannamaker read the English version of "The Lord is My Shepherd," and Doris Henry read the Indian version.

The study book was read by Mrs. G. Kelly.

After the meeting all enjoyed a short period of games, after which President Ruth Bullock presented a gift to the leader, Mrs. C. Wannamaker, who is leaving the village. The meeting ended with a delicious lunch served by the girls.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: When butter was only 40 cents a pound we used to make a dish you called Eggs Benedict. My husband has been asking for it for Sunday morning's breakfast, and I could make the butter and eggs stretch occasionally to make this delicious dish. I hope you won't mind repeating it—I'm sure there are other readers who would love to know how to make it.

Lindy Lou.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I hope you are right; I know this dish is exceptionally good but it is too expensive and too much trouble for me and my family very often.

Eggs Benedict
(or Eggs Benedictine)

For each service provide one slice white bread toasted and cut into large round, cutting off the crusts; 1 slice fried ham; 1 poached egg—very fresh; Hollandaise Sauce. The ham goes on the toast, the poached egg goes on the ham, the Hollandaise sauce goes over all. The Hollandaise sauce is the hard part:

Hollandaise Sauce: (This is the "never-fail" recipe, but do follow all the steps carefully.) Beat 2 egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored, then add ½ teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne pepper. Have ready ½ cup melted butter. Now add 3 tablespoons of it, 1 teaspoon at a time while beating. Then slowly add the remaining butter alternately with 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add all slowly. (This is the same principle as is used in making mayonnaise—if the butter (or oil) is added slowly enough to the beaten egg yolks they will emulsify.) This may be made ahead of time and reheated, if done over lukewarm, not hot water. Of course this is ideal with all the green vegetables such as broccoli, asparagus, spinach, cabbage, etc. Tackle this Hollandaise, for it can be an important item in your cooking repertory.

QUESTION: You suggested that we use blueberries in a sort of mild lemon pie filling for filling a pie crust, and put meringue on. I did this and my family thought it was marvellous. So I then made the same filling but served it as a sort of pudding in my sherbet glasses. I have a lot of canned Montmorency cherries. I was wondering if I couldn't use them up in much the same way. Would you have a recipe for this. Thanking you, Mrs. Armand J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Cherry Cornstarch Pudding

Drain 1 cup juice from can of cherries,—if there is not 1 cup make it up with cold water. Mix together 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons cornstarch, and slowly stir in the cold cherry juice. Add 1 cup boiling water stirring, and bring to boiling point, stirring, and then cook 15 minutes over boiling water, stirring frequently. Add the drained cherries, and flavour with ½ teaspoon almond flavouring and about ½ teaspoon salt. One-quarter cup evaporated milk in place of part of the boiling wate would give this a creamy look and a richer flavour.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I've been reading the letters from your readers, and wondered if you would answer a request for me. We have a big basket of butternuts we gathered last year and I want a good cookie recipe with nuts—possibly refrigerator cookies—to use them in. Hoping you have one I am, Sari Shirley.

ANSWER:

Nut Refrigerator Cookies
(lemon-flavoured)

One cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg well-beaten, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ to 1 cup chopped nuts. Cream together the shortening and both sugars until creamy and light. Add egg, lemon juice and rind and mix very well. Add the sifted dry ingredients and nuts and mix. From into long roll 2 in. in diameter. Wrap well and chill. When ready to bake cut in thin slices with sharp knife and bake on buttered sheets at 400 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes.

THREE CANADIAN FASHIONS for Milady to carry her through the spring and summer. At left is a summer design. Caramel chambray combined with a striped material in a Minx modes dress. The folds of the striped fabric on the bodice are matched by a double peplum that flares from beneath a tiny waistline. The creation in the centre has dropped handkerchiefs printed on a black ground. The long, tight sleeves and high neckline serve to emphasize the beauty of the simple silhouette. On the right is a spring outfit. Note the bouquet of flowers in the narrow belt of this street dress, which features a flared skirt and three quarter length sleeves.

Menus For Special Purposes

Low-Calorie Dinner
Hot or Cold Roast Beef (4 or 6 ounces lean only—185 to 275 cal.)
Mixed Shoe-String Carrots and Canned Peas (4 oz. each, 80 cal.)
Shredded Cabbage with Cottage Cheese (no mayonnaise—30 cal.)
Prunes or Pears in Lemon Jelly (100 cal.)
Clear Coffee (0 cal.)

High-Calorie Low-Cost Dinner
Sausage Meat Cakes baked on Casserole of Scalloped Potatoes
Jellied Beet Moulds on Bed of Shredded Cabbage (see note)
Apple Tapioca Hard Sauce
Coffee

One-Burner Dinner
Corned Beef and Cabbabe (see notes)
Fresh French Bread (see notes)
Cherry Cornstarch Pudding
Coffee

Directions

The diced beets that can be bought at present at about 3 20-oz. tins for 25 or 27 cents are worthy of our attention. They can be served Harvard style—that is with a thin sauce flavoured with lemon or vinegar; or, added to thick vegetable soup; or jellied in a clear aspic; Drain the juice from a 20-oz. tin diced beets and make up to 1 cup with boiling water. Soak 1 tablespoon gelatine in ½ cup cold water 5 minutes, then add to the beet juice and stir over boiling water until gelatine dissolves. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar, ⅛ teaspoon white pepper, and if on hand, 1 teaspoon celery salt, or a chicken bouillon cube. Stir until dissolved, then cool. Add the drained beets, pour into little moulds to chill. If served on bed of finely shredded lettuce or cabbage these are nic with mayonnaise.

For the Corned Beef and Cabbage buy a 5-lb piece brisket point. Boil 3 hours, adding cabbage during last 20 minutes. Lovely sliced cold. Cut Fresh French Bread in 1½-inch slices.

Betty Marie Blewett Married at Family Church

In Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, which has been attended by her famliy since its founding, on Saturday afternoon Betty Marie Blewett, became the bride of Harold Edwin Sanders, with the Rev. L. S. Haverstock officiating. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blewett, and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Sanders, all of Peterborough. The historic old church was decked with ferns for the occasion and Miss Marguerite Dunkley, played wedding music. During the signing of the register she played "O Promise Me."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white sheer made with a full peplumed skirt and fitted bodice with high neckline and a shirred ruffle formed a yoke and cap sleeves. Elbow-length mittens were of the same material and her finger-tip veil of net was caught to a scalloped headdress. She carried a ring bouquet of red roses with white sweet peas and white ribbon streamers tied with the flowerlets.

Miss Minerva Mercer was bridesmaid, frocked in powder blue tafeta in bouffant style with short sleeves. She wore matching net mittens and halo headdress with shoulder veil and she carried a ring bouquet of white irish and daffodils. Mr. Don Craig attended the groom. The ushers were Jack Blewett and Arthur Sanders, brothers of the bride and groom.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, 188 Dalhousie St. Mrs. Blewett received with the wedding party wearing a two-piece dress of grey crepe with navy plaid trim, navy accessories and a corsage of deep pink carnations. Mrs. Sanders, who assisted, was attired in a draped figured silk jersey dress and wore black accessories and white sweet pea corsage.

When leaving on her wedding trip to Toronto and Detroit, the bride was wearing a green tailored suit with hat to match and gabardine topcoat and accessories in brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will live at 677 Aylmer St.

Wallace-Fallen Vows Taken Saturday at Trinity

Spring flowers and fern formed a setting in Trinity United Church Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Muriel Isabelle, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fallen, to Gordon Renwick Wallace, son of Mrs. Wallace and the late Peter Wallace. Rev. Dr. D. B. Gordon performed the ceremony. Miss Mabel Clarry was at the organ and Miss Alma Blanchard was the soloist. Before the ceremony she san "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register "Because."

The bride wore a beautifully fashioned gown of eggshell satin with a yoke of fine net. The skirt was caught in a bustle back and fell in a graceful short train. Her ful-length veil of embroidered net fell from a halo headdress and she was carrying red roses. Mr. Fallen gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Joan Alexander as bridesmaid was frocked in American Beauty velvet with matching [illegible] trimmed with ostrich feath[illegible] and mittens of the sam[illegible]ol. Man 56, Advised to Wed Widow, 38, With 3 Children

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 56 years old. I know a nice widow, 38 years old, who lost her husband ten years ago. She has three children and she works very hard to support them and keep house besides, and I have been helping her with money and provisions. She wants to marry me to get a good home for her children and be able to send them to school. She does not care to run around and neither do I, which would help to offset the difference in our age somewhat. But I think so much of her that I don't want her to do anything that she might regret later on.

Dorothy Dix

If I marry her, do you think I will be another illustration of the old saying that there is no fool like an old fool, and that I had better keep on helping her with money until she finds someone nearer her age.

UNDECIDED

ANSWER: No outsider can say with any degree of certainty how a marriage will turn out, but if there is no obstacle to your marrying the widow except the 18 years' different in your age, then I'd say go to it, brother, and Heaven bless you.

A man of 56 isn't by present standards an old man. He is in his prime. And, by the same token, a widow who is 38 and who has had the hard life and the struggle that your friend has had, is no silly debutante. The only thing you want to be certain of is that she isn't in love with some other man who isn't willing to take her on with a ready-made family.

To marry a man who loves her and who loves her children and is already interested in them, would certainly be a godsend to the poor widow, and surely no one needs a loving wife and the care she can give him so much as the elderly man who wants to settle down by his own fireside. Such a marriage is not a gamble. It may be the means of securing to you a happy old age and, at any rate, it is a perferred risk.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Ever since her widowhood my mother has taken on a martyr complex and I am at a loss as to how to make her snap out of it. She is entirely dependent on me, financially and socially. She did not take the trouble to make friends during her married life and now she is alone all day until I come home at night, as I am a working woman.

I am a complete slave to my mother. She expects me to devote all of my time to entertaining her when I am at home, so I go out very little. I make it a rule to take her to shows frequently, which she enjoys, also to take her around to visit relatives and my friends. But she will go nowhere alone and flies in a temper when I urge her to go out by herself.

Now the crux comes to the situation. I am engaged to be married to a man who is in the service in Australia and my mother has determind that I shall not marry him. He has put in writing that he will make her a monthly allowance so she will be comfortable off, but he says he will not have her live with us, as she would eventually separate us.

I have made an honest effort to get along with my mother, but I do feel that she should not cling to me so closely. Am I being merely self-centered in my attitude? Please advise me.

WEARY

ANSWER: I do not think you are being self-centered and selfish at all. You are just being realistic in recognizing your right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and I think you would be very weak and foolish if you sacrificed your whole life and happiness to her whim.

Because your mother enjoys indulging in the martyr complex is no reason why you should follow her example. On the contrary, it is an awful warning that you should heed. What lies behind the alleged devotion of so many mothers, who sacrifice their daughters to themselves by monopolizing them, is not love.

It is nothing but selfish laziness. It requires an effort to get up and stand on their own feet and they won't make it. It takes trouble and thought to make friends and keep in the swim socially, and they refuse to make them. They are selfish egotists. And the poor enslaved daughters are weak and foolish to submit to it.

Don't you do it. Marry your man and be happy. When your mother finds out she had to behave herself, she will do it after she discovers that you won't dissolve in her tears.

FAVORITE FOR SPRING—This is the silhouette which the campus girls appear to like the best this Spring. They go for the sloped shoulders and flared back of the jacket; they like the flare beneath a neat waistline which the plaid skirt gives. This silhouette uses gray, yellow and white plaid wool for the skirt; gray wool jersey for the jacket; and fine checked yellow and gray cotton for the blouse and the jacket lining.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, March 23

While issues of major importance are in the balance it might be well to carry over decisive efforts or critical decisions, since the judgment is under rather confused and uncertain sidereal aspects. A revamping of schedules, plans or objectives might be advisable, with reconsideration of the ideas and wishes of others, concerned with writings, contracts, publicity, litigation, change and travel. There is much to be gained by compromise or amicable yielding in dubious places. Refrain from tension, restlessness. Postpone all decisions until the danger point has vanished and reason reigns.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may run into a year in which important decisions must be made, and with perspicacity and sound judgment. Yet a tendency to act under strain, nervous tension and jumble ideas might prove vital to pending matters of major importance. Large operations or plans, connected with change of scope and in relation to new contracts, writings, publicity, litigation and financial standing demand wise and seasoned judgment and astute action. Much is to be gained by reflection, rationalizing, compromise and sound business plans and clever thinking. Avoid haste, cloudy, or involved ideas.

A child born on this day may be active, energetic and creative but an inclination to nervous agitation and high-tension decisions may complicate its affairs.

New Tricks With Fish For Last Week Of Lent

Although there are actually about 160 varieties of fish sold throughout the county, the average family in Canada uses only about six of them on the dinner table. This Lent why not try a kind of fish you've never served before? This is the time, too, to try diferent ways of preparing familiar varieties. Besides its appropriateness for Lenten tables, fish is an economical, high-quality protein food that can help stretch budgets.

The most common fault in preparing fish of all kinds is overcooking. A good test for telling whether fish fillets are done is if they flake easily with a fork; when fish with bones is being cooked you should be careful to see that it flakes easily from the bone and is a uniform color throughout. Cooking fish only until it is done insures its being moist nad tender and brings out its delicious flavor.

One of the most readily-accepted ways of serving fish is creamed—especially when it's coupled with another well-liked food. Served in pastry shells or over hot making-powder biscuits, with pimiento or olives or hard-cooked eggs added, it usually makes a hit. If you are using home-cooked rather than canned fish for such a dish, it's well to remember that one pound of fillets will make about two cups of flaked cooked fish.

Almost more than any other food, fish that is fried, sauteed or broiled need garnishing. I know people who go into frenzies if fish cooked in this way and served without a sauce is unaccompanied by a wedge of lemon. Since there are so many garnishes that "go with" fish, it's usually not hard to find something in the refrigerator to accompany it. Here are some of the garnishes that make fish more attractive and are most popular; fortunately there are always a few of them in season.

When it come to something green, parsley and watercress head the list. But do you know the little professional trick of using these garnishes? Hide the stems. Tuck them in under the fish and let only the curly green head of the parsley and the bright smooth green of the watercress leaves show on the platter.

Green pepper and cucumbers are, of course, the other two green vegetables that do worlds for fish. Both of them not only add color, but give good texture contrast with their crunchiness. They are most attractive for garnishing when cut in thin rings.

When garnishing with that other primary color, red, tomatoes and radishes are favorites. If you are a window-pot gardener you may have some chives or basil to chop finely and sprinkle over the tomato slices. Or dribbled with a little olive oil and basil vinegar, seasoned with salt and freshly-ground pepper, these tomato slices make any plain fish dish taste grand. Serve radishes whole or slice them thinly to circle a fish platter along with a leafy green.

In the east many people like tartar sauce—mayonnaise mixed with chopped pickle and sometimes other seasonings—with fish fillets; others reserve it for seafood such as scallops or shrimp. An interesting use of tartar sauce with broiled fish is given in the following recipe. The broiled-on sauce gives the fillets one of the most beautiful golden-brown toppings I have ever seen. Small boiled new potatoes sprinkled with choppe dparsley complete the picture.

Broiled Fish Fillets With Puffy Sauce

8 very thin skinned fish fillets
1 egg white
½ cup commercially prepared mayonnaise
2 tablespoons pickle relish.

Remove pan from broiling compartment and put rack aside; aluminum foil may be placed on pan to hold fillets for ease in removing fish and washing pan. Wipe fillets with a damp cloth and place on pan. Preheat broiling compartment for 10 minutes or follow directions given by range manufacturer. Beat egg white until it is stiff enough to hold peaks when rotary beater is withdrawn. Fold in mayonnaise and pickle relish in several additions. Place broiling pan with fish fillets a few inches from source of heat and broil for about 5 minutes, until just about cooked through. Remove pan from broiler, put about 2 tablespoons of egg white mixture on each fillet and spread: Mixture will be runny. Put pan back in broiler and broil about 3 minutes longer, until sauce has pulled and is golden brown; watch carefuly or topping will burn. Serve immediately. 4 servings.

Communism A Symptom

How, then, can Canada defend herself against Communism?

This reported asked that question of scores of people, prominent and obscure, while gathering the material on which this series in The Windsor Star is based. He asked the question that is on the lips of tens of thousands today:

"How can Communism be cured?"

He learned that there is no cure for Communism.

There is no cure for Communism because that diabolic scheme for the wholesale enslavement of humanity is not a disease; it is a symptom. It is a storm signal, warning of gales that are almost upon us, not the storm itself.

Communism, for a little group of cynical leaders, is the device by which they hope to take advantage of that storm to capture the wealth and power of the world.

For millions of followers—among whom are many ardent, sincere men who honestly believe they are fighting for a better world—Communism is an expression of desperation, a revolt against the unquestionable selfishness of short-sightedness of too many men in high places, against the frightening boom-and-bust cycles that make life insecure for ordinary men.

Liberty Needs Security

A starving man will forego his freedom when it is the price of bread. Unless he can have both bread and liberty, he will subscribe to such plausible political-economic bounties as the Communists offer freely, while hiding the results of similar sell-outs in countries already conquered.

Canada should, certainly, enforce all existing laws against Communism to the limit. Known exponents of its violent doctrines should be barred from the Dominion, since it would be the height of foolhardiness for a man, seeing a friend and a foe at his door, to ignore the friend and invite the foe in.

Canada's alien Reds should, certainly, be deported, for the protection of the native itself and all the citizens of the nation. And such native-born and naturalized citizens as advocate violent revolution should be watched and arrested as often as they are found violating the laws enacted to safeguard the land and the inhabitants thereof.

These measures are as necessary as the application of soothing ointments to a painful rash that breaks out on the body of a sick man. But when the rash is the result of a dietary deficiency, the ointment alone will not effect a cure.

Democracy must rearrange its affairs to give its people more of the needful things the Communists have promised but failed to deliver in any land they have conquered. And there is no denying that many things are needed.

Guard Against Breakdown

Canada must be on guard against another breakdown of the nation's economic system and such consequent misery and suffering as characterized the unhappy Thirties. Since the economy of Canada is linked with that of the world, she must cooperate with other nations outside the Soviet zone of power to stave off that "collapse of capitalism" which Moscow so confidently predicts and so desperately needs.

Canada must strengthen her social security laws and extend benefits to the ailing, the jobless, the aged, victims of accidents and sufferers from other causes over which they have no control.

The illiterate and the underprivileged must be emancipated through education and the spread of hygiene. Parents must see their children growing up with all the advantages and equipment necessary to give them a fair chance in life, so that equality of opportunity will be a visible fact rather than a hazy theory.

Leaders of the church must inspect their apparatus to discover where it is lacking in the guidance it should provide. The lessons the modern disciples of Christ reach must instruct in a dynamic faith that sweeps aside emptiness and frustration and extends beyond the forms of worship into actual social relationships.

All the leaders of mankind must overcome their shortsighted group interests and set an example that will teach men not only their interdependence upon one another, but the supreme virtue of self-reliance, without which advances in social security would reduce hundreds of thousands to the status of pensioners and idlers.

Patriotism Is Needed

Above all, there is a crying need for a renaissance of patriotism and love of country if Canada is to be guarded from the enemies within her gates.

By this is meant not the quick, unthinking patriotism that spreads like wildfire—and as quickly turns to smoldering ashes—when the drums of war roll. There is a deeper, quieter, more steadfast brand of patriotism and loyalty to ideals than this, and it comes close to the brotherly love religion teaches.

At Ottawa two weeks ago the writer discussed this problem with Anthony Hlynka, M.P. from Vegreville, who in a sense represents a constituency that covers all of Canada. Born in the Ukraine, Mr. Hlynka has made the welfare of Canada's foreign-born his special province, and has brought to their problems an insight and a sincerity that are rare even among the best politicians.

It takes Mr. Hlynka three full months to cover his actual constituency in Alberta thoroughly. At least once a year he tries to speak in every hall and to every group among the people he represents.

The Communists, too, manage to get around to these people.

"For every speech I make," Mr. Hlynka said, "the Communists make from 10 to 25 speeches a year, and set them off with concerts and motion pictures made for propaganda purposes by Communists abroad.

"They hear the truth from me, as far as I know it myself, but from the Reds they hear exaggerations and distortions of the truth and outright falsehoods. Yet a lie, repeated 25 times, can get to sound like truth to many people.

Citizenship Is Lacking

"It is largely the fault of the loyal intelligent citizens of Alberta that my people hear more falsehoods than truth. One of the obligations of citizenship, it seems to me, is something very like neighborliness. That is, if a man wants his country to be strong and healthy, he should not be content with merely being strong and healthy himself, but should help his neighbor to be likewise.

"You ask me how to combat Communism, I can only tell you that if you do your part as a good Canadian, there will be no Communism.

"When New Canadians arrive from other lands, too often their neighbors leave them to their own devices, waiting for them to lose their foreign accents and all traces of their foreign wave before offering them fellowship. There is a tendency even in Canadian newspapers to neglect the affairs of foreign-speaking groups, simply because they are foreign, even though they constitute a large and important part of our population.

"Canadians say, 'We'll wait until they become assimilated.' But assimilation is not a thing that can take place overnight, nor is it a thing hastened among people left to themselves.

"The Communists don't wait. They welcome these strangers immediately. They talk to them in their problems, help them in many ways. And all the time they teach these strangers the creed of revolution instead of that of citizenship.

Bolsheviks By Default

"That is why many of my people have become Bolsheviks by default. That is why all but a handful of Canada's Communists are found among foreign-language groups, even though those groups are still 80 per cent. or more anti-Communist.

"Canadians could change this. They could say, 'We don't want you to break all your ties with your homeland and your traditions before we accept you. We want you to give us your best, right now, for our rich Canadian mosaic, and in return we offer you our best."

"Canadians could pay more attention, give more credit, to those foreign-language organizations, religious and social, that are fighting Communism and making a good job of it. They need and deserve encouragement, but most of them get very little recognition of any kind outside their immediate membership.

"Canadians could see that they hear lectures on democracy and our national ideals and traditions, and view motion pictures that show the finer and better side of Canada. With only a little effort it would be quite simple to counteract the poison the Reds have spread and are spreading among them.

"Then the Communists would be deprived of their greatest strength in this country—that of masses of peole who are followers and fellow-travelers only because they have not been invited to join the other camp. Then Canada would gain in the kind of strength she needs most of all—the strength of loyal, vigorous citizens eager to make the best of life in a new and potentially glorious land."

Mr. Hlynka has something there. Without the support of duped and deluded tens of thousands, the hard core of fanatical Communists in Canada would not be too dangerous for comfort. They would have little more than nuisance value.

They are worth infinitely more than that, in the coin of disaster, as matters stand.

Tomorrow—No Time To Lose!

$100,000 WINNER OF IRISH SWEEPSTAKE — "I'm through!" cried Alfons Zaborek, 45-year-old truck helper for a wastepaper company in Toronto, when he heard the news that he won $100,000 in the Irish hospital sweepstakes. He is shown here with his wife and daughter, Brenda, four, as they learned that Sheila's Cottage won the Grand National at Aintree. Mr. Zaborek, native of Poland, who came to Canada 20 years ago, has been working 19 years for the same firm and now he says he will quit his job.

Ontario Moves To Consolidate Housing Bargaining Position

TORONTO, March 22—(CP).—Directed at the scores of wartime housing districts within its borders, Ontario is taking steps to give itself a strong bargaining position when negotiations open with the Dominion on the question of grants to municipalities in lieu of taxation.

First action of this kind taken in Canada, it is contained in a bill brought down in the Ontario Legislature by Premier Drew.

The legislation deals broadly with any area in Ontario which may be taken over by the Dominion, such as when it builds rental housing. In this case, the land on which the homes are built becomes Crown territory, thus is not taxable.

At the same time, however, the city in which the housing district is located supplies all regular services like fire and police, roads, sewers and sewage disposal, garbage disposal, public health, welfare, public utilities and education.

Normally, occupants of the home would pay for these services by taxes to the municipality.

But when the Dominion Government is the landlord, taxation is out. Thus, agreements are negotiated between the Dominion and municipality to decide how much the Federal Government will pay in the form of a flat annual sum per home to make up for lost taxation.

Can Cut Services

The bill will provide the province with authority to cut off all public services to a community unless a "suitable" agreement is reached for the grants.

What it means is that if a stalemate is reached in negotiations with the Dominion and any municipality then the housing district in question could be cut off from all services.

Should this happen, the Dominion would be in the position of either having to agree to giving more money or else making provision for installing the services itself. The latter step of course would be costly.

Many municipalities have expressed dissatisfaction with the grants they receive from the Dominion.

Some, for example, receive from $22 to $30 a year for each home, ranging in size from four to six rooms. Rent for these homes, paid to the Dominion, is from $24 to $30 a month.

Dominion Holds Power

As long as the wartime agreements remain in effect the only way the municipality can get more money is to arrange with the Dominion to raise the rents.

In any agreements being signed this year the grants are considerably higher, due mainly to higher construction costs and thus higher rents.

The rents are from $29 to $38 for four to six-room houses. The annual grants are $70, $75 and $80 yearly, more than three times as much as under wartime agreements.

Given Ten Days

Norman Lee, Minden, was sentenced to 10 days in jail when he appeared for sentence before Magistrate Philp today on a charge of theft of a double-barreled shotgun from a city garage, to which he had previously pleaded guilty.

$100 In Fines Paid In City Court

Magistrate's court today saw more than $100 collected in fines and costs, mostly from minor liquor charges.

Paying $10 and $2.50 costs on each charge of being drunk in public were: Edward O'Toole, Sophia St.; Gilbert Jones, Cavan; Richard Chapman, 270 Rubidge St., Apartment B; P. J. Crummie, Chemong Rd.

Also fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public was Elaine Parcels, Campbellford.

The year was 1885 . . .

. . . above the crackling rifle fire of the Battle of Batoche in the Northwest Rebellion rose a make-shift red and white flag. It had been sewn together by Major-General (then Surgeon) G. Sterling Ryerson from factory cotton and pieces of red cloth "borrowed" from an ammunition cart. Under its protection wounded men were carried from the field. For the first time . . . the Red Cross flag had been flown in Canada!

Eleven years later the first "colonial" branch of the Red Cross in the British Empire was formed in Canada. The General Ryerson who had patched together the flag at Batoche was elected chairman of the executive. Even in their humanitarian efforts, the men of Canada demanded democratic procedure.

Today all over the world, the Red Cross is built on the recognized principles of democracy. Not only does the Red Cross deserve your support—it is a dramatic reminder that men of all races and beliefs can work together for the welfare of others—under all conditions—in war, in peace, in flood or famine, or personal distress.

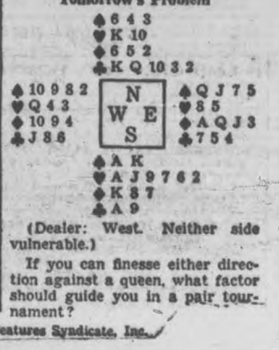
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A SPECIFIC ADVANTAGE

MAKING a suit bid has one advantage which can never be achieved in quite the same definite, exact, specific way by making a No Trump call or an informative double. It tells your partner exactly what suit he may safely lead, if the opponents wind up playing the deal at a contract of their own. That is, it can if the suit is approximately as indicated by the bid and if the bidding itself is not too unusual. In some cases it points out to him a lead he could not consider at all unless you bid the suit—often the only lead that could possibly defeat the contract.

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Dbl	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠



With no specific suit information, West led his club 10 because he preferred the make-up of that suit to the other three holdings. After winning in dummy, South made a safety play in trumps. Counting on East for the K, because of the double, the declarer scored the spade A and led the 4, his purpose in this being to protect himself from any possible defensive ruffs.

East won that and laid down his heart A and diamond A, watching to see what West would play. When the 3 went on the first of these and the 4 on the next, the case looked hopeless to him unless West had another spade and could trump with it. So, on the off-chance that the heart 3 had been a singleton, he returned that suit, his 2. That made it easy for the declarer to set up the dummy by simple reverse play and so take the rest of the tricks.

If East had bid 2-Diamonds instead of making that very bad double of 1-Heart, West would have had a perfect bold defensive stroke advertised to him. In this event, he should have led the diamond K. The repeat of his 4, lowest card he could possibly hold, would have told East he was now out of the suit. Simple counting would have shown East that his partner could ruff, but so could South. The heart A and later spade, however, would have furnished enough tricks to beat the contract.

Fined For Assault

Edward Hummell, 62 Robinson St., was fined $15 and $2.50 costs or 20 days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp today when he appeared for sentence on a charge of assaulting his mother.

The accused had previously pleaded guilty to the charge. He had been warned by Crown Attorney McElderry that if a similar charge were brought again steps would be taken to forbid him living at home again, where he had already caused considerable trouble.

HOLD HI-Y CONFERENCE HERE

Some 125 delegates from Kitchener, Windsor, and Owen Sound, but mostly from Toronto, will attend the annual Central and Western Ontario Hi-Y Conference to be held here on April 2-4. Problems of youth in Canada will be discussed. John Halcrow, executive secretary of the West End 'Y', Toronto, will be guest speaker. The local Hi-Y Club will be host to the visitors.

The Netherlands East Indies island of Bangka provided three-fifths of the Indies' tin output before the Second World War.

Lakefield Lions Will Help Drive For New Rink There

LAKEFIELD, March 22. — (ENS).—By unanimous approval, Lakefield Lions Club voted to support the movement under way in the village for a new rink this year. If requested by the permanent committee to bet set up representing the village as a whole, the club stated that it would be prepared to operate and maintain the rink in the interests of the community, once it has been erected.

Three members of the club named to the tentative committee will report back to the club on findings of a week-end tour of rinks at Lindsay and new structures at Cannington and Sunderland to ascertain types of structure and prices, with action to be taken at a general village meeting to be called shortly, when the permanent organizing committee will be formed.

Rink manager Lion Harry Stabler was appointed to attend the Lions' convention in Timmins in June in place of President Eric Anderson.

Deputy District Governor Doug Weaver offered to supply chickens for a chicken fry similar to the one held last year, proceeds going to the convention fund.

President Eric Anderson reported interest in Teen Town lagging badly and asked for suggestions to help the teen agers with their Saturday night program. He also reported the public address system out of order again, and the Teen Town finances too low to repair it. Lion Harry Stabler proposed a committee be named to draft suggestions and report at next meet, but Lion Everett Sloan asked that the two week delay be avoided if possible and asked that action be taken at once. He suggested the P.A. system to be fixed and that an entertainer or games organizer be brought in to put some new life in Teen Town.

As a result of this a club vote supported the idea and a committee of Lions Eric Anderson, Stan Richardson and Reg Doubt was named to take action.

Tickets were handed out for sale on the boat, motor and trailer to be main prize at the annual carnival. Lion Harry Stabler boosted Lion Archie Stewart and the booster prize donated by Archie was won by Lion Stan Richardson. Ways and means of taking the Lions' juvenile hockey team to see one of the professional hockey play-off games were discussed and money was voted from proceeds on the team's games for this, if tickets can be obtained. A junior final game may be substituted.

News .... In Brief ..

By Canadian Press

TORONTO—Some 700 Czechs from Toronto, Oshawa, Hamilton, Galt and Kitchener, Ont., attended a ceremony here yesterday, honoring Jan Masaryk, former Czech foreign minister who took his own life recently after the Communist coup. A wreath of flower was sent to Prague to be laid at Masaryk's grave. It was inscribed "We shall not forget" and "We are joined even in death."

LONDON, Ont. — Danger of serious flooding in the London area eased further today as the Thames River continues to recede slowly. At mid-morning the stram here was seven feet above normal, or 15 feet from the top of the breakwater.

TORONTO—Active in the nursign profession for many years, Miss Irene L. McDonald of Toronto, died last night in hospital. Born at Kingston, Miss McDonald was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roderick McDonald and graduated from St. Joseph's Nursing School in Kingston.

CORNWALL — A concerted drive on ilegal liquor traffic in east Cornwall was announced today by Cornwall Township police. They revealed that eight suspected "blind pigs" had been raided Saturday night.

WINDSOR—Two fishing tugs stranded in Lake Erie ice jams since Saturday morning limped safely into Kingsville, Ont., harbor early today. The tugs were forced to lay off Leamington when the ice became too thick to navigate the light craft.

BERLIN —The British military government reported German volunteers are rushing to enlist in a mythical German army which the Russian-controlled press alleged is being recruited by the western powers. The Russian propaganda apparently had boomeranged.

TORONTO—Officials of Trans-Canada Air Lines said plans were "under consideration" for shipping cattle by plane from the Owen Sound district to Havana, Cuba, but details have not yet been worked out.

MELBOURNE —Three Indian brothers were rescued from a tiny island in the turbulent Thames river near the Middlesex county village several hours aftre hope for their safety was abandoned and it was feared the trio had perished when they were swept downstream on a partly-constructed raft.

NEW YORK — War veteran Richard Earl Cox and his family no longer are "squatters" at the swank Waldorf-Astoria. The Coxes' hotel bill is paid up and, what's more, they have a credit balance. A Texan sent the hotel $100 to be applied to the account of the former serviceman who moved his family into a Waldorf-Astoria suite last week and said they would remain there until a home in a veterans' project is found for them.

End of Empire

LONDON—The Daily Express, Independent, forecast in an editorial 'the end of the British Empire" if a plan, alleged to be under consideration by the United States State Department, goes through for the United States to take over Britain's economic responsibilities in Australia, India, New Zealand and Egypt.

MONTREAL —Dr. Robert B. (Bobby) Bell, 47, of McGill athletic fame, died suddenly. A Montreal dentist for 20 years, he had been associated wtih University sport, particularly hockey and football, since he entered McGill in 1923.

ASSISI, Italy—Celeste Di Porto, Jewish girl accused in trial of having betrayed her race during the German occupation, was received into the Roman Catholic church.

Salonika Shelling Brings Death Sentence To 57

SALONIKA, March 22—(AP)—Fifty men and two women have been sentenced to death by a Greek military court in connection with the Feb. 10 shelling of Salonika, it was disclosed today.

The court sentenced two men and five women to life imprisonment. Seven men and one woman drew lighter sentences. Thirty-eight men and six women were found innocent.

The defendants were among a group of guerrillas captured after the Communist-led insurgents bombarded this second city of Greece.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the Greek Army has established a new defense program to protect Salonika. A United States military source said the city may be attacked by 2,000 to 3,000 guerrillas in the next few weeks.

The Salonika sources gave this description of guerrilla preparations:

Large numbers of guerrillas have been massed near the Greek frontier in Yugoslavia and Albania. Six divisions of the Fifth Yugoslav Army also have been stationed in the area.

While the ranks are filled with veteran Greek guerrillas, the units are led by non-Greek officers including Albanian mercenaries.

Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria are stockpiling military supplies for eventual use by the guerillas in zones near Greece. Civilians have been forbidden to enter those areas.

Miss Solomon Heard In Song Recital

CAMPBELLFORD, March 22—(ENS).—A recital by Miss Hazel Solomon, soprano, was held in St. John's United church Friday night under the auspices of St. John's Evening Auxiliary. Offering a varied program of sacred and secular numbers, Miss Solomon so captivated the audience with her charm and artistry that they invited her to be guest soloist at St. John's for the morning and evening services on Sunday. Mrs. George Nicholls was accompanist for the recital.

The program was as follows: Stilli As the Night (Bohm); Thru the Silence of the Night (Rachmaninoff); Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair (Foster); Just A-Wearying for You (Carrie Jacobs Bond); Beautiful Dreamer (Foster); Going Home (Dvorak); Scott's Lullaby, Morning (Speaks); The Almighty (Schubert); Ave Maria (Schubert); By the Waters of Babylon (Hovell); I Will Extoll Thee (Coste), Little David Play On Your Harp (arranged by Burleigh), On My Journey (arranged by Boatner); I Stood On the River Jordan (arranged by Burleigh); two encores, Honor Honor, and The Prayer Perfect; two requests, The Lord's Prayer and Were You There.

Members of the Auxiliary who looked after ushering, ticket selling and served lunch, were, Mrs. Don Bennett, Mrs. Gale McMaster, Mrs. Harold Pierre, Mrs. Vernon Spencer, Mrs. Bill Massena, Mrs. Tom Wallace, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Fred Phillip, Mrs. Vic Cochrane.

Will Stand Trial

OWEN SOUND, March 22 (CP). — Arthur Hooey, 25, will stand trial for murder at the next court of competent criminal jurisdiction, Magistrate E. C. Spareman ruled Saturday after hearing evidence in the preliminary hearing. Hooey is charged with the knife slaying of his childhood buddy, Allan Crowe, 22, who entered the accused's house March 6 with the intention of buying liquor.

ROME.—Russia has no intention of renouncing her right to a share of Italy's wartime fleet, a highly-placed naval source said. The Soviet policy is to say nothing, do nothing and delay everything until after the election.

CANADIANS IN LONDON—Miss Jessie Rosa Mennie, left, Vancouver and Ottawa, who is now in London. She is a Carnegie Fellow at the Institute of Education of the University of London who arrived in September. She was with the National Film Board of Canada as education officer. She is studying films for schools in Britain. She is the second daughter of the late John Mennie who was a pioneer of British Columbia, and the late Mrs. Mennie. Miss Mennie returns to Canada next summer. Mr. Bonar Stuart, right, last descendant of the famous Scottish family who were pioneers of Canada and the U.S.A. 100 years ago. They built Balmoral Castle for Queen Victoria who afterwards sent them out to build the Houses of Parliament in Ottawa and the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec. High School Girls Hold St. Patrick's Tea

OMEMEE, March 22 (ENS)—A colorful St. Patrick's tea was held Wednesday afternoon by the Grade Nine Home Economics girls of Omemee High School, at which their mothers, teachers, Mrs. J. Hough, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Shaw and the Board of Education were guests.

Irish emblems and decorations in green ad white with touches of black and gold gave the dining room a festive air.

The girls' needlework and work books were on display, as was also the boys' shop work.

Olive Faulkner, Ann Marie McGuire, Marion Murray and Shirley McConnell were the reception committee, while Dorothy Smith, Joan Zufelt, Eva May McBrien and Rosalin Flynn were responsible for the serving of tea and refreshments. Tea was poured by Mrs. Hough and Mrs. Shaw.

Teachers in attendance were Principal J. Hough, Mr. R. Widdis, Miss B. Smith, and part-time teachers Miss C. Connell and Mrs. S. D. Vaughan. The Board was represented by Mrs. G. N. Earle, Mrs. S. H. Moyer, Mrs. Wm. Brown, Rev. F. W. Pooley, Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt and Mr. S. D. Vaughan. Mrs. Zufelt, Mrs. Pooley, Mrs. R. Smith and Mrs. P. McGuire also attended.

Want Berlin Cleared

BERLIN, March 22 — (CP).—Russia's abrupt walkout on a meeting of the Four-Power Allied Control Council was followed to-day by renewed sugestions in the Soviet-controlled press that the three Western Powers should get out of Berlin. The Russian delegates charged that the Western Allies had "destroyed" the Control Council by taking secret actions regarding Western Germany.

Banned From US

VANCOUVER, March 22 (CP).—Permanent exclusion from the United States has been ordered by United States immigration officials for three British Columbia labor leaders, it was announced here last night by one of the men affected. The trio are Ernest Dalskog, B.C., president of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO), and two other IWA officials Bert Melsness and John McGuish.

Thousands Arab Fighters Withdraw Into Hills As British Troops Arrive

More Tanks, Artillery Rushed By Britain To Smash Fiercest Battle Raging Four Days Through Judean Hills

JERUSALEM, March 23—(AP).—British authorities rushed more tanks and artillery into the Judean hills today to smash the fiercest Arab-Jewish battle in Palestine's recent history. The fight has raged four days. An hour after dawn British headquarters said the battlefield was quiet. Tanks ranged the dirt roads leading to Jewish Hartuv and Arab Ishwa, main points in the battle, part of fierce fighting which claimed 140 lives yesterday alone.

Army chiefs denied reports that the British reinforcements were sent on a "punitive raid." This rumor spread when it was learned reinforcements were heading toward Ishwa, where the mutilated bodies of two British soldiers were found a few hours before.

British officials saad thousands of Arab fighters of Abdul Khader Bey Husseini's irregulars, which besieged Hartuv yesterday, had withdrawn into the hills with the appearance of the British forces. Police said Geoffrey Bradbury, British official of the Palestine railways, died of wounds received four days ago in Haifa.

The unofficial death toll since the United Nations decision on partition Nov. 29 now stands at 2,018. This includes 856 Jews, 1,013 Arabs, 120 British, four Americans and 23 others.

The Palestine government gave assurances today that Palestine will have supplies sufficent for two months after the British mandate ends May 15.

In Tel Aviv last night, the Jewish agency decided to convene the Action committee of the World Zionist Organization in special session April 4 to draft a blueprint of a new policy, in view of the United States action in proposing that partition be shelved.

"Although members of the Jewish agency are unanimously for rejecting other schemes than independence, there are differences of opinion on timing," an agency member commented.

Police Capture 2 Escaped Penetang Men

PENETANGUISHENE, March 23—(CP).—Henry Leo Cada and Melville Wilkie, two escaped criminally insane prisoners, were recaptured at Lafontaine, a few miles west of here, by Provincial Police early this afternoon.

Neither of the men, both accused of murder, were armed and they did not offer resistance. Dr. C. S. Tennant, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital for Criminally Insane, from where the pair escaped Saturday night after slugging a guard, said both of them were readmitted to the hospital.

Search for the men concentrated in the Lafontaine area last night, following reports that the home of Tom Desroches, at nearby Thunder Bay, had been entered and articles, including a rifle, ammunition, an overcoat and foodstuffs were stolen.

Wilkie, who confessed to burning his wife and baby to death in their Owen Sound home, has escaped four times. Cada was charged with murder in the knife-slaying of his sister, Ida, in a barn near Chatham last June.

Denmark Stops Easter Leaves

COPENHAGEN, March 23 —(AP)—Denmark yesterday cancelled Easter leaves for part of its military, in the wake of widespread thefts of arms from home guard depots.

Defence Minister Rasmus Hansen said the cancellations applied to part of the country's young military officers and non-commissioned officers. He said enlisted men would be given their usual furloughs.

Guards have been doubled at all military and naval establishments since last Saturday.

Danish police have reported thefts of weapons from all over the country. Last night they said sub-machine-guns, five rifles and some ammunition were stolen from a depot in Broerup, Jutland.

Allies Start Boycott Against Russ Move

BERLIN, March 23 — (AP). — Britain and the United States tonight started a counter-boycott to Russia's moves in Germany's four-power government.

The Russians called on four-power "sub-committees on taxation, currency reform and currency printing late today to meet later this week. Two hours later, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the United States military governor, notified Russian officials, the British and American representatives would not attend any sub-committee meeting until the Russians set a date for another meeting of the Allied Control Council itself.

The Russians cancelled nine such meetings yesterday. Saturday they angrily walked out of the Allied Control Council itself. The three western powers sat tight, apparently waiting to see if the Russian action means a total and final break in the four-power administration.

One Russian-controlled newspaper, the Berliner Zeitung, indicated that German Communists hope soon to replace the control council with their own organizations — a German people's congress and a people's council.

150 German Girls Wed In Canada

KITCHENER, March 23 (CP).—Some 150 German girls, fiancees of Canadian soldiers in the Canadian occupation force, will be brought to Canada next month it was announced here today.

Rev. H. H. Erdman, of Waterloo, an official of the Canadian Christian council for resettlement of refugees said today that a few have reached the Dominion already and the remainder should be here by the end of April. He returned yesterday after nine months in Germany and Europe.

The Canadian Christian Council arranges immigration to Canada of refugees from European countries who have been asked for by relatives in the Dominion. Nearly 12,000 have been named so far of whom about 450 have arrived. The remainder will come at a rate of about 400 every five weeks.

Judge's Car Stolen

LINDSAY, March 23. — Judge J. A. Gibbons of Lindsay is minus a car which was stolen Saturday at Oshawa and which has been recovered badly wrecked. His Honor parked the car in front of an Oshawa residence, locking the doors. Constable Gordon Campbell of the Provincial Police at Whitby recovered the car four miles south of Port Perry, where it had been abandoned.

Mine Workers Reject Plan To End Strike

WASHINGTON, March 23. — (AP).—The United Mine Workers (Ind.) today rejected a government plan for ending the soft coal walkout in the United States. Cyrus Ching, Canadian-born federal conciliation chief, promptly went to the White House to report the union action.

Ching's move apparently was the first step toward invoking the Federal Taft-Hartley labor law to halt the nine-day-old strike centring on pension demands which has crippled railroad and steel mill operations.

Under that law, President Truman is empowered to set up a board of inquiry. After the board reports, the attorney general could ask for the injunction.

The government settlement proposal was turned down in a letter set to Ching by a three-man U.M.W. committee which received the offer yesterday.

John L. Lewis, U.M.W. president, did not sign the rejection personally.

The committee termed the government proposal "grotesque."

"Aids Operators"

Ching's proposal, which was accepted "reluctantly" by the mine operators yesterday, called for creation of a fact-finding board to investigate the dispute over miners' pensions that touched off the walkouts.

However, Lewis would have to send the miners back to work before the plan would go into effect.

The UMW committee advised Ching it felt the proposal was made to "aid the coal operators, who have dishonored their (work) agreement and to further defraud the beneficiaries of the welfare fund."

Therefore, they said, they could not recommend its acceptance by the mine workers.

Deny Greek Army Not Taking Offensive

ATHENS, March 23—(AP)—Greek troops have scored a major victory over Guerrilla forces around Mount Olympus and Mount Pierria in the past month, War Minister George Stratos said last night.

In announcing the victory, he declared that "charges made by bad friends of Greece that the army is not fighting are flatly refuted." He did not identify the "bad friends."

In its second interim report 10 days ago the United States aid mission to Greece said failure of the Greek army to take the offensive had increased the strength of the rebels.

Canadians At Conference On Freedom of Information

GENEVA, March 23 —(CP)—Carlos P. Romulo, chief Philippines delegate, was elected chairman of the United Nations conference on freedom of information which opened here today.

Romulo, who proposed this meeting in 1946, received 20 votes on a secret ballot, to 16 from India's Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar.

Russia was defeated at the outset on her first proposal to the 300 delegates representing more than 50 countries. Soviet delegate E. E. Bogomolov proposed that non-members of the U.N. including Albania, Hungary and Romania, be given full voting rights. The ballot against him was 27 to 6.

Opposing Bogomolov, Britain's delegate, Hector McNeil, accused the Russians of inconsistency. He recalled Russia had vetoed applications of some powers for U.N. membership, adding that "we have never used our veto to deprive nations of the full rights of membership."

Jean Desy, Canadian minister to Italy, leads the Canadian delegation. Other members are Arthur Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press; W. Arthur Irwin, editor of Mclean's Magazine; Lorenzo Pare, Ottawa correspondent of L'Action Catholique, Quebec; and Daniel C. McArthur, editor of the CBC news service.

In the opening address, Benjamin Cohen, U.N. assistant secretary-general in charge of information, criticized the world's press. Cohen, a Chilean, said:

He deplored that on the basis of information generally being disseminated today, stating the conclusion is inevitable that the world stands "on the brink of a third world war."

Didn't Ask For Gorizia Tito Reply

Yugoslavia's Offer "Misunderstood"; Italy Rejects Trade

BELGRADE, March 23 (Reuters)—A categorical denial that Yugoslavia would ask for the Italian city of Gorizia in exchange for the return of Trieste was made here today in official quarters.

Foreign Minister Stanoye Simic, in his statement last night, "merely expressed the readiness" of his government to negotiate "in the spirit of the Tito-Togliatti talks" of 16 months ago, it was officially explained.

The impression that a demand had been made for Gorizia was due to a misunderstanding of the terms of Yuogslavia's offer, it was added.

(In 1946 talks between Premier Tito and Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist leader, Tito offered to let Italy have Trieste if Yugoslavia were given Gorizia which lies north of the free territory of Trieste.)

Simic did not state that the terms of those talks applied today, but merely the spirit, because "it showed that a basis for mutual understanding exists."

The impression here is that Yugoslavia would not now insist on Gorizia but merely offer to use these talks as a basis for entirely new negotiations in the "same spirit of co-operation."

Reject Trade Now

In Rome, meanwhile, a foreign office spokesman said today that Italy flatly rejected the offer to trade Gorizia for Trieste.

The spokesman said:

"It is clear that Italy cannot accept the separation of a part of Italian flesh bartered for another part of Italian flesh."

The Italian answer came only a few hours after great throngs roaring "Viva Trieste" welcomed Premier Alcide de Gasperi and Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza back to Rome.

The spokesman emphasized that the Italian government had received no official word of the reported proposal regarding Gorizia. He said he was speaking entirely on the basis of press reports.

Asked what other hopes of treaty revision there was in regard to the Italian colonies, the spokesman said:

Plan Compromise

"On the part of France, the thesis has been confirmed in the most absolute manner that she

Boy Aged 4 Dies When Home Burned

KINGSTON, March 23—(CP)—Reports reaching Kingston from Plevna, rural community 60 miles northwest of here, indicated today that Bobby Ohlman, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ohlmann, died in a fire at his home eight miles north of Plevna last night.

The body had not been found early today.

Another child, Douglas, three, was seriously burned about the face, neck and arms and was brought to hospital here. Two other children escaped unharmed.

Neighbors are assisting the parents who lost all their possessions in the fire.

Truman Won't Quit Runs For President

WASHINGTON, March 23—(AP)—Senator Lister Hill (Dem. Ala.) calle today for President Truman's withdrawal from the Democratic presidential race. But Senator Carl Hatch (Dem. N.M.) said the President will not quit.

Hatch told a reporter he had it from Truman himself that the President will "fight through to the end" to whatever political fate awaits him.

Hill had announced previously his support of Truman for the party nomination. Today he withdrew his endorsement in the face of mounting southern state resentment against the President's civil rights program.

EX-NAVY MAN RICHARD EARL COX gives his sons, James, two, and Richard Jr., one, their first bath in a year in a $12.60 a day room at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Cox moved into the hotel and announced that he would pay only $40 a month and send the remainder of the bill to Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York. He declares he will remain there until a home in a veteran's project is found for his family. Meanwhile Mike Jarman, a Texan oil operator sent the Waldorf $100 to be applied to Cox's bill.

Decisive Action Required To Combat Communism

(Editor's Note—Here is the twelfth and concluding article of a series in which Don Cameron, of The Windsor Star's editorial staff, has investigated and reported on the activities, strength and revolutionary aims of Communists in Canada.)

By DON CAMERON

Back in the comparatively calm days of early February, when the citizens of Czechoslovakia could boast of a place among the free peoples of the world, The Windsor Daily Star assigned this reporter to the biggest story since the war. The setting was all of Canada, one of the few nations in which an observer still can travel at will, look around as much as he pleases, and tell frankly what he has seen. The thing to be looked for was evidence of the extent to which Canada's defences have been penetrated by a global enemy which already had captured far greater areas of the earth and populations many times larger than ours.

A Conspiracy Of Murder

The theme of the story was treachery, expressed in an assassins' plot to murder human rights and a thieves' conspiracy to seize wealth and power, that this country might become a way-station to world consquest in the swift advance of the most ruthless tyranny our age has produced.

The end of the story is not yet in sight. Now that the people of Czechoslovakia have been yoked and chained by the enemy, and other strongholds of democracy are in deadly peril, there are millions who fear it must finally be written in blood.

Nevertheless in this series of articles The Windsor Star has been able to tell the greater part of the tremendous story of how a Communist fifth column, pledged to treason and violent revolution, has seized dangerous power which it plans to employ for the demolition of Canada's

Finns Promised Elections In July Will Be Free

HELSINKI, March 23—(AP).—(AP).—The Finns yesterday received a promise from their president that next July's parliamentary elections will be free. President Juho K. Paasikivi, at 78 Finland's strong man and her oldest active statesman, pledged that the will of the people will be the deciding factor. He said there would be no war in the near future.

For the time time in recent critical weeks, during preliminary discussions on the proposed Russian-Finnish friendship pact, Paasikivi granted an interview to four American reporters yesterday.

The "old man in the palace"—a term Finns use affectionately—talked with optimism about the future. He thought there might be a long period of cold war, "but peoples are not likely to be induced to bring a new war."

He seemed relaxed, now that weeks of conferences with his aides over the Russian proposal have ended, and the Finnish delegation is in Moscow. The group got there yesterday, headed by Foreign Minister C. J. A. Enckell.

Of the July elections, he had this to say:

"We will have elections in the legal fashion and there will be no question of postponing them. We are living in a country under legal order and according to our constitution. The elections will be totally free and the will of the people will be the deciding factor."

Of rumors about war, he commented:

"Perhaps I am a little naive, but I do not think there will be any war in the near future."

He thought the United Nations had had a "bad beginning," but expressed hope it would have some effect for peace in the near future.

WASHINGTON—The United States Army will continue in control of government in the American zone of Germany indefinitely, it was announced here today.

Czech General Elections To Be Held During May

PRAGUE, March 23.— (Reuters).—General elections for the Czechoslovak Natoinal Assembly, based on the new constiution, will be held May 9 or May 23, Vaclav Nosey, Minister of the Interior, said today.

Which date will be selected depends upon how soon the National Assembly finishes its agenda; nafonalization of wholesale and foreign trade and factories and shops with more than 50 employees; and the new constitution.

Rudolf Slansky, general secretary of the Communist party, confirmed that the Communists will go independently before the electorate.

Lists of candidates will be presented by the four Czech and three Slovak parties of the National Front: Czech Communists, Czechoslovak Social Democrats, Czech Socialists, the People's Party (Catholic) in Bohemia and Moravia, Slovak Communists, former Slovak Democrats renamed the Slovak Reconstruction Party, and the Freedom Party.

M. Piska, chairman of the Moravian Country Council, said today that about 200 persons arrested in Moravia during the February crisis, included a number of army officers, and the Country's Council's offices seven per cent of the employees had been removed as unreliable.

A number of Roman Catholic priests had entered the Communist party, Piska alleged.

The Lawyers' Action committee in Slyovakia announced that 20 members had so far been expelled from the Slovak law chamber.

Worker Falls Head First Down Chute

Police, Employees Rip Away Hopper To Get Trapped Man

TORONTO, March 23 (CP). — Arthur Robson, 46-year-old distillery employee, was saved from possible flaming death today when fellow workmen ripped away part of the furnace and hopper before he sipped into the furnace after falling into a coal shute.

Buried for an hour and 10 minutes Robson was able to walk to the ambulance which took him to hospital.

Robson was prying loose coal in a conveyor belt which fed a downtown distillery furnace when he tumbled head first into the mouth of the chute.

"All I could see were the soles of his shoes sticking out of the coal," said a fellow worker.

Plant employees tried to free Robson with hands and shovels, but the coal slid back faster than they could move it off him.

While two men dug at the mouth of the chute on the second floor police worked desperately to remove a section of tubing near the furnace mouth. Finally a workman freed a section of the chute and stuck his head in.

"I'm here," said a muffled voice from the conveyor.

"Are you all right?"

"Yes, I am keeping my eyes shut," was Robson's answer.

Hospital attendants said his condition was "fair."

Lt.-Governor Dies In Regina

REGINA, March 23—(CP)—Hon. Reginald John Marsden Parker, lieutenant-governor of Saskatchewan since 1945, died suddenly early today from a heart attack. He was 67.

He was the eighth lieutenant-governor of the province. Although he had not been in good health recently, the lieutenant-governor had not complained of being ill.

Born in Cornwall, England, in 1881, he came to Canada in 1896 and worked on a farm near Russell, Man. He moved to Saskatchewan in 1900.

In 1929 he was elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature for Pelly and was appointed minister of municipal affairs in 1934, a portfolio he held until the defeat of the Liberal government in 1944.

Believe Boy's Body Caught Under Ice

PORT HOPE, March 23 (ENS) —It will be several days before the body of five-year-old Jack Lindsay, who drowned in the Ganaraska River on Saturday, is located, it is believed by residents who are familiar with the river's behavior in spring.

The boy's body is thought to have been carried down by the flood water to the lake. Efforts to get a net across the river's outlet were not successful, due to the speed of the torrential stream. There is a possibility that the body may be caught under the ice north of Walton Street, and it will likely remain, if there, until the ice breaks up.

Sabotage School Held In Vienna

VIENNA, March 23 — AP). — Communist action committees are attending sabotage schools in a Russian-occupied suburb of Vienna, a highly placed Austrian source said to-day.

Austrian Interior Ministry officials said they knew there was a school, but did not know what was being taught there. It has been common knowledge here for some time that Austrian Communists, aided by Russian officers, have been conducting the schools in the Soviet zone. Earlier reports said the instruction was limited to Communist ideology.

The Austrian informant said the sabotage school is situated in what was a boys' reform school before the war in Kalksburg. Large stocks of explosives and some ammunition were being built up there.

High-ranking Austrian Communists and Russian officers are teaching courses lasting from four to six weeks, the informant said.

Find Missing Driver Delayed By Roads

PEMBROKE, March 23—(CP). —Anxiety over Douglas Meilke, 22, Pembroke taxi driver, who failed to report back after a trip to Apsley Sunday, ended today when the driver turned up, reporting that bad roads and fog delayed his trip home.

Miekle made the trip to Apsley, about 120 miles southeast of here, Sunday afternoon, but was unable to return until today. Alarm had stemmed from the slaying of another Pembroke cab driver, James (Jimmy) Edwards, 35, a week before. Edwards' slayer has not been found.

Canada Likely To Support UN Trusteeship

By ROSS MUNRO

OTTAWA, March 23 —(CP)— Canada will probably support the United States proposal for a temporary trusteeship over Palestine now that Washington has suddenly switched its policy from partition of the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab states.

The cabinet here will consider the question today and is expected to approve the plan to back the new U.S. scheme.

A carefully-worded declaration is being worked out and Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chief Canadian delegate to the United Nations in New York, is scheduled to deliver it to the Security Council Wednesday.

Ottawa fully shares Washington's view that it is impossible at this time to carry out partition and officials here can see no alternative except a temporary trusteeship.

During a trusteeship, it is hoped that more moderate Jewish and Arab leaders could work out a compromise Palestine settlement.

Considering the leading role Canada played at U.N. last fall in manoeuvring the parition plan through the general assembly, the government is in rather an awkward position to make a graceful withdrawal. But the United States was in a much tougher spot as the initiator of the plan.

RCAF Mercy Trip Begins To Arctic

WINNIPEG, March 23 (CP)—A brown R.C.A.F. Dakota aircraft and the laconic designation of its mission as "Operation Dodds" today were adding a new 4,000-mile record to the story of northern Canadian mercy flights.

The objective is the evacuation of Mrs. Sam Dodds, seriously-ill wife of a meteorological officer at Arctic Bay, 1,000 miles north of timber and slightly less than that distance south of the North Pole.

The first chapter was completed last night when FO. Bob Race of Vancouver set down his aircraft on the gravelled runway at the Churchill, Man., army-air force base 600 miles north of here.

Early today FO. Race and his crew of five were scheduled to take off on the second lap of their mission, to Coral Harbor 800 miles further north.

Need Better Roads

TORONTO—D. Leo Dolan, head of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, declared improved highways are a necessity if tourists are to be encourage to visit Canada. "If 85 or 90 percent of our tourists come to Canada on rubber tires, isn't it obvious that we have ot improve our highways from coast?" he asked.

GORE BAY—A ewe on the farm of Mrs. Keith Boland near here has given birth to quadruplets. All are thriving.

TORONTO — Joe MacKenzie, president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, challenged Premier Drew to call an election in Ontario.

Guilty On 9 Counts

PHILADELPHIA — Jerome Poster Poster, 25, who twice tried to blind himself to prevent forgery temptation, was found guilty on nine counts of mail robbery, forgery and passing worthless cheques. Sentence was deferred until April 9. Poster first attempted to destroy his eyesight last October while confined in Holmesburg, Pa., prison. He jabbed a hypodermic needle into his eyeballs.

SAN FRANCISCO—Dr. Bernard Cody, San Francisco physician, bludgeoned his wife and mother-in-law, then crashed his speeding automobile into a stone wall, police reported. He suffered a compound fracture of the skull. The wife, Mrs. Grace Cody, 43, and her mother, Mrs. Mary McDevitt, 80, suffered severe head injuries. Attendants said Mrs. Cody was not expected to live.

wishes to give Italy administration of Eritrea, Somaliland and Libia."

The spokesman stressed the importance of the Trieste development to Italy's hopes for general revision of the peace treaty.

He hoped Russia would go along with the western powers' Trieste proposal.

Revision of the treaty by restoration of Trieste to Italy could be the "guarantee of peace and that sincere collaboration which Italy desires with neighboring people."

Every indication in the Italian capital is that the government will reject yesterday's Yugoslav proposal to trade Trieste to Italy for Gorizia.

Tension High

With tension high over the exchange of shots between the border patrols, political observers said they doubted that Italy would accept the Yugoslav suggestion.

As recently as last Sunday, De Gasperi said in a political address: "We could not accept it (Trieste) for Gorizia."

The shooting scrape occurred at the border separating the Yugoslav and the United States-British zones of Trieste. An Italian policeman was wounded.

No immediate reason was given for the shooting.

It was the first incident of gunfire since the Western Powers asked Russia and Yugoslavia on Saturday to join in returning Trieste to Italy.

No Formal Reply

Russia has made no formal reply yet, Moscow radio Sunday night objected that the Western Allies had acted behind Russia's back in making the suggestion. Italy yesterday sent notes to Britain, France and the United States thanking them for the Trieste proposal.

Leahy Death Said Accidental

LINDSAY, March 23 — There will be no inquest into the death of John Leahy, 38, of Douro, who died after accidentally hit by a limb of a tree on Thursday, March 4th. This was announced today by Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan.

The Crown Attorney stated that Leahy was employed by C. Weaver in a logging camp at Brady's Lake, (near Hinden Hill), 16 miles north of Minden. He was engaged with another worker in felling a tree, said the Crown Attorney After felling the tree the men began to "trim" it, when a limb, apparently from the same tree which had been felled but which had broken off and caught in another tree—fell and struck Leahy on the head.

According to Provincial Constable E. Milligan, of Minden who investigated, the limb was about 4" in diameter, about five feet long and weighed about 20 lbs. Leahy, after being struck, was in a semi-conscious condition. Following a lot of difficulty with team and sleigh he was taken out to the highway and hence to Dr. Jamieson's office at Minden. On examination by Dr. Jamieson, Leahy was unconscious. He was then taken to Lindsay by car and on the way to Toronto, for an emergency operation was pronounced dead while passing through Sunderland.

"When circumstances indicate no negligence either the Coroner or myself can come to the conclusion that an inquest is not necessary said Crown Attorney Jordan who termed the incident "purely accidental." democratic structure.

The Star has put forward the facts, not only in its own columns but with the aid of more than 25 leading newspapers in all parts of the country, hoping to forewarn and thereby forearm loyal citizens and their leaders of the peril facing the nation.

This has been done in the firm belief that treachery cannot be effective in the light of day and that a conspiracy brought into the open need not be feared, but may be seen for what it is and dealt with accordingly.

Questions Are Answered

Wholly or in large part, the articles give the answers to six vital questions by which this newspaper sought to learn the full extent of the Communist threat to Canada. The answers were pieced together from information provided by statesmen and labor leaders, by members of the Red hierarchy themselves and by their bitterest foes, and by records that are not easily available and have never before been published.

The questions:

1. Is this country in any real danger from Communists or Communism?
2. What is Communism's actual strength in the Dominion, and where is it strongest?
3. Who are the leaders of Canadian Communism, and what are their links with international Communism?
4. What would happen to Canada if, conceivably, a Communist revolution should succeed here?
5. What are the circumstances that enable Communism to flourish in the Dominion?
6. Is there a cure for Communism, and if so, what is it?

Answer Number 1:

Yes, Canada is in serious and perhaps immediate danger. A trained and disciplined army of undercover agents, responsive to direct commands from the Kremlin and pledged to loyalty to the Soviet Union maintains a constant state of alertness in strategic Canadian cities from coast to coast. Its leaders await only a favorable moment of crisis to launch a potentially disastrous attack upon the very life of the nation.

Over northern Ontario skies are generally clear this morning and southwesterly winds will bring mild air from the midwestern states this afternoon. Over southern Ontario skies are cloudy due mainly to a weak disturbance presently situated near Louisville, Kentucky. This disturbance is moving eastward and will not affect the lower lakes except for an occasional light sprinkle over Lake Erie region. Tonight colder air from the Canadian prairies will enter northwestern Ontario and gradually spread southward over the central portions of the province on Wednesday. Thus Wednesday promises to be a fair day becoming considerably cooler over the northern portions but continuing mild over the southern portions of the province.

Forecasts:

Southern Lake Huron, Lake Erie and Lake Ontario regions — Overcast clearing tonight, Wednesday mainly clear but occasionally cloudy. Continuing mild today and Wednesday. Winds light.

Summary for Wednesday: Mostly clear. Continuing mild.

Georgian Bay, Northern Lake Huron and Haliburton regions — Clear today. Variable cloudiness on Wednesday. Mild today becoming cooler Wednesday evening. Winds light.

Summary for Wednesday: Variable cloudiness. Cooler in evening.

New Theatre Group Present Drama

A new Peterborough Theatre Group made its first appearance Sunday evening when a performance of "Thirty Pieces of Silver" an Easter drama, was presented in Knox Church. The play was in costume and the time the day of the Crucifixion. A congregation of almost 700 people filled the church.

The play was preceded by choral singing of "O Sacred Head now Wounded" by Bach, followed by a specially written prologue spoken by Rev. Mr. Douglas (as narrator) on the theme "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul". "He was depised" from Handel's "Messiah" was then sung by John Donaldson and the play then took up the story. "Thirty Pieces of Silver", a strong one-act play by Dr. C. Stewart Black of Glasgow, Scotland. It deals with the betrayal of Christ by Judas from a fresh viewpoint.

The stage was curtained and was well set, a painted backcloth by H. Lewis presenting a Palestinian scene. A realistic thunderstorm heightened the effect of a very tense dramatic effect which, culminating in the tragedy of Judas' death, provided a moving and sincere presentation. The players were Messrs. Donaldson, Jack and Edward Potter, Ganton Clark and Betty Stavesmeare. Staging was in the hands of Ray Gillies and the whole production and presentation was directed by Peter McCombe, recently arrived from Scotland where he was prominently associated with the Community Drama Movement. The play is to be repeated, in response to many requests on Tuesday, March 30 in Knox Church.

Industrials Maintain Rising Market Trend

TORONTO, March 23 (CP). — Industrials maintained rising trends but in a much slower tempo as the other groups eased. Firm pivotals kept the industrials up in face of a majority of fractional losses scattered through the list but profit cashing and general easiness held the mines and western oils down.

The exchange's noon index showed industrials up .64 at 158.55, golds down .16 at 94.71, base metals .41 at 82.14, western oils .24 at 32.25. Volume for the first three hours was 405,000 shares, about 91,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Brazilian Traction was a feature for the industrials on about 1,000 shares trade and a gain of a point at 19⅜. Others up were Atlas Steel, Bell, Canada Cement, Canadian Canners, Consumers Gas, Distillers, Dominion Textile, Ford, Walkers, International Petroleum, Massey-Harris Pfd., Orange Crush, Winnipeg Electric, Dominion Bridge and Brown Pfd.

Golds were quietly mixed on losses for Bralorne, Buffadison, Campbelli, Dome, Kirkland Lake, Little Long Lac, Negus, O'Brien, Wright-Hargreaves, Sullivan and San Antonio. Gainers were Giant, Kenville, Kerr Addison, Madsen, Sylvenite and Stadacona.

Base metals on the gain side were Eureka and Smelters while losers were East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Nickel, Normetal, Steep Rock and Sherritt.

Government Tax Resolution Lost In Committee, Won Second Time In House

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, March 23—(CP).—The Commons yesterday saw the Government outmanoeuvre the manoeuvres. What the Chamber saw was a minor but delicate crisis in which a vital section of a government taxation resolution was defeated by a standing count of 43 to 39 in a tricky, snap vote while the motion was going through Committee of Ways and Means.

While adverse votes in committee stage, even on such important measures as those imposing taxes, do not spell defeat for the administration, the Government thus was manoeuvred into an embassassing position until Finance Minister Abbott appealed against the vote on the grounds the procedure had been in error. In a formal division, he was supported by a vote of 79 to 72.

The manoeuvers in the case were a handful of CCF members who apparently quietly counting heads and finding the government side deficient in strength, called for an on-the-spot standing vote as committee chairman W. H. Golding (L—Huron-Perth) was putting the first clause of the resolution.

The 82 members in the chamber straggled to their feet and were counted. A victorious clamor rose from the Opposition benches as the assistant clerk reported the vote to be 43 to 39 against the section and chairman golding declared it lost.

In the confused clamor that preceded the formal division John Diefenbaker ((PC—Lake Centre), reminded the government that with the clause already defeated it could not very well have "two bites from the apple."

The resolution around which the procedural skirmish revolved was one giving statutory authority to the bitterly-contested 25-percent excise tax. The tax went into effect in the Nov. 18 austerity program and applies to a long list of consumer goods ranging from motor cars to cameras and toilet articles.

Motion Rejected

One, seeking to strike out all tax-levying sections, was ruled out of order.

The second, aimed at skirting this principle, sought again to remove those sections but this time to replace them by an excess profits tax which would make up for the revenue loss. It was rejected 81 to 18.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) told Mr. Abbott he would be a "bigger man" in the eyes of the people if he would "admit his mistake" and withdraw the tax entirely.

Mr. Abbott said he saw no reason for the industry to go on the rocks and held that the 11-per-cent content, while admittedly not a large amount, still was appreciable enough to warrant taxation

To requests by F. S. Zaplitny (CCF—Dauphin) and G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) that the tax be lifted from outboard motors when they are used for business, Mr. Abbott replied that this already had been considered and there could be no change.

Legislature Approves Seven Measures

TORONTO, March 23.—(CP).—The Ontario Legislature committee on private bills gave approval to seven measures today and laaid another one over.

Passed were bills respecting St. Catharines, Ottawa, Hamilton, Kingston, Port Arthur, Simcoe and Forest Hill village.

Laid over was a bill which would make the Ottawa ladies' college — at present under the United church—a non-denominational institution.

A bill for granting money to the Port Arthur General Hospital was approved.

Also carried was a bill changing the name of the Hamilton orphan asylum to the aged women's home of Hamilton and to extend the ppwers of the board of trustees.

The city of St. Catharines can annex parts of the township of Grantham under another bill approved without opposition.

No Opposition

The committee passed a bill permitting the Kingston Utilites Commission, which is exempt from taxation, to pay for any municipal services rendered by the city. There was no opposition.

The bill was proposed by H. A. Stewart (P.C.-Kingston).

Reeve James Moore of Woodhouse township appeared in opposition to a bill to annex part of the township to the town of Simcoe.

However, it was found that the ratepayers—about 20—in the area to be annexed were in favor of it, and the bill was approved.

Reeve Moore said the township would lose $24,000 assessment on schools in the area through annexation.

The residents were in favor because of sewage promised them by the town. The bill was sponsored by C. H. Martin, (PC—Haldimand Norfolk).

Won't Recall Patterson

OTTAWA, March 23.—(CP).—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told the Commons yesterday that the government had decided not to recall Dr. George Patterson from Korea for consultations on the situation there. Dr. Patterson is delegate on the United Nations Commission to facilitate Korean independence.

LONDON.—A man who told police Sunday morning he had been beaten and robbed by four men today pleaded guilty to assaulting a Dutch immigrant girl and was fined $20.

Paper's History Delights Rotary Club

A history of books, paper and printing was given to the Monday luncheon-meeting of the Rotary Club by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, pastor at Murray St. church, held in the YMCA.

"When we go into the bookstore and buy a book or set of books containing much of the world's knowledge, do we appreciate what we receive?" he asked.

He pointed to the workmanship involved and the history behind each process in the development of the great mass of information which is turned out in book form.

'Of the writing of many books there is no end," he said, quoting Ecclesiastes.

'Not until the second half of the 15th century were books printed from moving type. Previous to that they had been printed by hand."

He told of the libraries kept by monks and of the contribution they had made in keeping learning alive. But he pointed out that their works were both expensive and limited in volume.

'A thing occurred in the latter part of the 15th century more important than all the wars ever fought, or all the treaties ever signed.' It was the invention of printing he said.

Printing had been carried on in China centuries before he said, but the first indication of it in Europe was in 1439 when Johann Gutenberg was involved in a lawsuit, details of which showed he had experimented with it.

In 1449 Gutenberg borrowed money from a parish fund in Mainz to continue. Later he lost a lawsuit and his successor, Johann Fust made a fortune. Gutenberg died a pauper.

He then traced the history of paper. In 1930 in England, he said four sheets retailed at 10 cents and it was imported from Spain. The Spanish in turn got it from Saracens who inhabited the south of the Iberian peninsula. It was thick and coarse, being made from cotton.

In 794 the Arabs captured Samarkland where the art had been taken from captured Chinese who were manufacturing in 200 B.C.

Palm leaf strips were used in India and Burma and a pigment was rubbed into the cut figures on these strips.

In Pompeii tablets of wood and ivory covered with wax were written upon with a stylis. These tablets were hinged and stuck together, forming boks.

Birth of Parchments

Parchments which utilized fine hides of kids and calves proved to be the most popular medium. Papyrus was the contribution of Egypt.

Probably the earliest form of writing was done by the cave men when they carved figures on clay, rock, boulders, and walls.

The alphabet came to Rome from Greece who acquired it from the Phoenicians. Its original derivation was described as more obscure, but it is known there was a very early civilization in Crete, and another in the Sinai peninsula near Suez.

Around these beginnings is the history of our knowledge, he said.

"Get hold of a good book and realize you hold in your hands a great treasure. It will help you and feed your mind."

'In these days when nationalists would increase nationalism, it is a good thing to think of arts, sciences, and books which are the heritage of us all."

Mr. Morgan was introduced by James Dutton, Sr, and thanked by Norman Hambly. William Hamilton was in the chair.

All Must Assist Scheme Of Recreation, Club Told

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23.—(ENS).—J. K. Tett, director of physical fitness and recreation for the Ontario Department of Education, was guest speaker at the Rotary dinner meeting Monday. With reference to the proposed community swimming pool and playground, Mr. Tett spoke of the conditions under which the Government would aid the program.

Grants amounting to one-third of the cost of leadership and maintenance would be paid by the Government, he said, only if the directors were appointed by the Town Council. If public interest was sufficient to warrant this action by the Council, his department would then be satisfied that the program would not be dropped, but would progress.

Service clubs, he said, are only a part of a community, and as such can benefit only part of the town's people. He advised the Rotary Club to give thought to some form of town sponsored recreation scheme in which everyone could participate. If it is to be a community program, he said, let the community support it. In most cases the cost was too much for any one organization to bear.

"Leadership is important. Teach the people to have fun, then they will participate. It is a long term contract affecting peoples' lifetimes, and only in a long term will recreation have its value. It is a forever proposition, and as clubs change directors from year to year, so may their ideas change and the project dropped," he said.

"The community itself is responsible for its own recreation. And the cost is less when managed by the town, because of the already trained personnel employed by the town who can do much of the construction and maintenance of grounds and buildings.

"A service club with the idea of a recreational program in mind should endeavor to get the public interested and get the support of every organization in town behind them."

There are 82 programs in operation in Ontario, said Mr. Tett, and 55 have full-time trained directors of recreation. Full-time direction is needed in any town with 3,500 or more people, he said, but there are towns with as low a population as 800 who employ year-round trained people.

There is plenty of leadership in most towns, Mr. Tett said, and if all publically-owned buildings, such as schools, churches and libraries were used there are enough facilities to accommodate quite an extensive program. All that is needed, he said, is to get the people interested. Then, with good sound planning year in and year out, the program would be successful.

The speaker was introduced by Bert Taylor and thanked by Bill Brady.

Nomination of the 1948-49 executive officers was held, and the election will take place Monday, March 29.

81 Cases Mumps In Cobourg Area

COBURG, March 23.—(ENS).—Eighty-one new cases of mumps were recorded in Northumberland and Durham counties for the week ending March 20, with Cobourg tagged with 28 of them. Altogether there are 161 new cases of communicable diseases in the counties and next in line is red measles with South Monaghan township having 19 cases and Bowmanville 11. Total cases of measles are 63. A few cases of chickenpox, German measles, scarlet fever and whooping cough make up the balance.

Fined $50, Costs

Joseph McCarthy, Keene, was fined $50 and $2.50 costs when he pleaded guilty this morning before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, on a charge of being drunk in public, charged as a second offender.

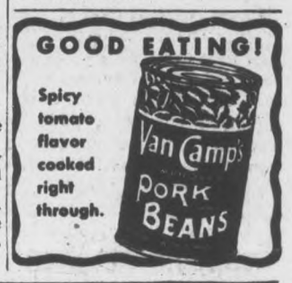
Ray Brown, no fixed address, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

Clean Out Cellars As Sewers Flood

COBOURG, March 23.—(ENS).—Monday was wash day in more ways than one. Besides getting out the weekly wash, housewives dug into the job of cleaning up cellars littered with sand and muck left behind the flooding storm sewers which had subsided after last week's heavy rain and spring break-up.

Residents on Chapel street had their sewers back up for the first time since they moved on that street, and were caught unprepared. James street residents, where the sewer backs up regularly every spring, were prepared and had cellars ready for the flood.

Youth, 15, Shot Deer Sentence Suspended



COBOURG, March 23 (ENS)—Charged with shooting a deer out of season, a 15-year-old Cobourg juvenile appeared in juvenile court here and was placed on suspended sentence after a sharp lecture on the error of his ways. The charge was the result of an investigation made by OPP Don Nicol of Cobourg and PC H. Pearse of the local police department. The boy admitted shooting the deer and said he buried it in snow. Police found the blood marks on the snow but no deer.

Aid War Pensioners

OTTAWA, March 23 (CP)—The multiple-disability war pensioners who apeared before the Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs last week got their first official reaction yesterday. The committee voted unanimously, after a procedural tangle, to recommend to the cabinet that helplessness allowances be increased from $750 a year to $1,400 as a maximum and from $250 to $480 as a minimum.

Play Saxon Harp

SUTTON HOO, Suffolk, England — (CP). — A 1,200-year-old harp, discovered by archaeologists in 1939, was pieced together and played at a meeting of the Society of Antiquaries.

Minister Is Speaker At Church Dinner

GORE'S LANDING, March 23—(ENS)—The annual St. Patrick's supper by the ladies of the WMS of the United Church was held Friday. A capacity crowd enjoyed the supper where the tables groaned with food. Decorated in green, the hall presented an attractive appearance.

Following the supper, Milton Ames, chairman, started the program with community singing with Mrs. Meggs at the piano. Mrs. Ed. MacFarland and Miss Myrna Larke each sang a solo and Mrs. Wallace Pratt read two Irish poems. Rev. A. E. Larke, as speaker for the evening, gave an account of his life since he was a small boy in England. His family moved to Spain when he was quite young where they lived for sometime, later moving back to England. At the age of 15, Mr. Larke came to Canada with a younger brother. He studied for the ministry and went to Alberta as a student.

Elect Band Officers

COBOURG, March 23.—(ENS).—Bert Cowin was elected president of Cobourg Kilties Band, succeeding Clarence Earle. He has been a member of the band for many years and served in the Second Great War. Vice-president is Thomas Goody; bandmaster, Joe Goldring; librarian, Garth Cane; publicity secretary, Ken Hempstead; secretary - treasurer, Eric Niles.

Flood Causes Large Lagoon

COBOURG, March 23.—(ENS).—The flooding factory creek has subsided, but has left its mark. Last week the ice jam was loosened by dynamiting, but before this was done, the creek had spread and a secondary stream ran along the east shore of the lake, back from the beach, until it reached Ontario street. Much of the sand was washed away and now a lagoon nestles back of the beach crown. One nearby resident said that it would be handy for sucker fishing as there is enough water now at the foot of Ontario street to harbor many schools of the fish.

Time To Stop And Think - - -

There are two reasons why your local Reserve Force Unit should be supported in your community. First, it is your immediate bulwark in the event of sudden hostilities — and now-a-days your enemies don't send you a telegram before they attack — and it is the source of your trained emergency personnel in event of peace-time emergency. Your Reserve Force Unit, The 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers) RCA, is prepared to stand by at all times in these emergencies, but needs more men to take their place in the ranks for this service.

HOW TO RECRUIT

The regiment parades Tuesday and Thursday night at 7.45 o'clock and trains until 10 oclock. For each evening, personnel are paid a half-day's pay of their respective ranks, at basic Army rates. Visit us, then, on one of these nights and see how we work, and then recruit yourself with the regiment. Information is always available at the orderly room during the day. Former Active Service types, and young men of the city are particularly invited to see our work.

ATTENTION! LAKEFIELD

All young residents of Lakefield interested in recruiting with the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment should report to the Town Hall tonight and Thursday at 7 o'clock, where return transportation to the Peterborough Armouries will be available. Arrangements for continued transportation of recruits will be announced later.

Birds Back, Roads Bad Indicate Spring Here

GORE'S LANDING, March 23—(ENS)—The first flock of wild geese was heard over the weekend, honking across Rice lake.

Wild ducks were also observed on Sunday.

Red winged blackbirds are here, and bluebirds and two hawks have been seen.

In addition, the robins are here in full force and are already building their nests.

All roads in the vicinity are in bad shape. The recent thaw and rain has torn the side roads up badly while the frost is coming out of the county roads and on Sunday cars were just getting through the bad spots. Rice lake is full of holes and if the present mild spell continues, ice in the lake will disappear very rapidly.

Red Cross Campaign Over Goal At C'ford

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23.—(ENS). — Response to the local Red Cross campaign has been successful, reports officials.

Cash on hand totals more than the $900 quota, and all returns from the canvassers are not in yet. Employees of the Gair Co. pulp mill have pledged $104, and the management has agreed to match that amount. The drive ends March 31.

Some Relief In The Power Shortage

The comparatively rapid thaw and the heavy rains of last weekend have gone a long way toward relieving the serious shortage of hydro-electric power in Ontario. Not that our situation is normal, by any means; we are very far from having all the power we need. But the acute stage of the shortage is relieved, and prospects for the spring are thought to be good. The relief of the power shortage has been paid for by the flooding and loss of Ontario people who live in low-lying districts, and we must regret this. However, there is very rarely a startling change in anything so important as the water supply without repercussions in some other sphere, and we must not find fault with what is, for the majority, an unexpected stroke of good fortune.

* * *

It is to be hoped that the summer will bring an adequate supply of rain. The two summers immediately past have been dry ones, in spite of promising springs. We cannot blame all our droughts on bad luck, either; lack of intelligent conservation of wooded areas all over the Province has had much to do with our troubles. Forests cannot create rainfall, of course, but they can conserve the rain which does fall, and they can keep erosive winds and spring floods from carrying away the good soil from the surface of the land.

* * *

It is still not widely recognized how much erosion there is in Southern Ontario, and what harm it does. We have suggested in these columns many times that one of our most impressive provincial problems is the work of intelligent afforestation and conservation. We have suggested also that the planting of forests by cities, to be used as memorial parks and city amenities, is a way in which the urban populations can help the rural populations in this important work. It does not cost much for a city to acquire a tract of land on its outskirts, plant it with trees (good trees, and not the interminable evergreens) and keep a man or two to tend it. But such city forests, scattered about Ontario, could do much in leading the conservation movement.

Do You Read The Classified Advertisements?

The pages of classified advertisements in daily papers offer more to the readers than bargain prices and invitations to rummage sales. They are really day-to-day reports on the state of affairs in the community, from the vital statistics in the births, marriages and deaths columns to the professional cards discreetly advising people whom to consult when arches are falling, figures are in the red and faces are fearful.

When there are many jobs offered and few people are advertising for work the town and country are busy. When a person advertises: "A nice room without board for three gentlemen, one double, two single" and there are frantic appeals for apartments and small houses, housing is at an expensive premium. People in search of apartments or even a couple of rooms are now advertising how quiet and "respectable" they are.

The variety of articles that people want to buy or to sell reveals not only individual domestic changes but the type of economy in a district. What, for instance, happened in the household advertising gent's grey striped suit, size 42? Who has lost and who found Mike? What child is beginning music lessons whose parents have advertised for a metronome? Who (or whose neighbours) has tired of the cornet offered for sale yesterday? Who wants to buy a baby's crib? We know one ardent reader of the Want Ads who is now so familiar with the telephone directory that she can place a name to every phone number she sees in an advertisement. We doubt, though, that she would be interested in buying a 24-foot portable conveyor chain drive. Peterborough's agricultural heart throbs in the columns. "Calf for Vealing", "Bronze Gobblers", (they lay no golden eggs), "Pair of Muscovy Ducks" (they quack-quacked at Uncle Joe and are therefore in exile in Peterborough county), "Erban Oats, Cleaned", "One Matched Team and Mow of Hay" (that sounds like a good buy—if only they would sell cars with the gasoline necessary for operating them). So the agricultural wares are offered.

A survey of the classified advertisements in this paper will show that Peterborough is thrifty, thriving and sane. There is no "agony column", humour is rare and unintentional when it does appear, and only occasionally does a husband advertise that henceforth he will not be responsible for debts incurred by his wife.

Stripping The Law Of Its Horsehair

In a debate on Britain's new Criminal Justice Bill last week a Labour M.P., Mr. Emrys Hughes, suggested in the strongest terms that judges and lawyers should abandon their gowns and their wigs. His suggestion was decisively defeated.

We are glad. The law is not a cut-and-dried thing, but an accumulation of wisdom and precedent, slow in growth, sloughing off what has become useless and acquiring new substance by a process of accretion. Lawyers in Britain and in Canada wear medieval gowns, which link them with the past in a remarkable manner; these gowns show that the modern lawyer pursues a calling which was in existence centuries before he was born, and which will be in existence centuries after he is dust. In this way the gowns lessen the importance of the wearer, and increase the importance of the law—which is all to the good. Canadian lawyers do not wear wigs, but English lawyers do so. Barristers wear periwigs—short wigs with side curls and a pigtail—and some judges wear full-bottomed wigs—large wigs with lappets which fall to the shoulders. These wigs derive from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and again they speak of the antiquity and impersonality of the law. We think that lawyers are wise to wear them. We think also that clergymen would not find themselves in such difficult positions at times if they had not abandoned the bob-wigs which they used to wear, and which bishops wore until about the middle of the last century.

We like the law to keep up to date, but we do not want it to become enslaved to fashion. The formalized dress of lawyers imposes a certain timelessness upon them and upon their proceedings which is all to the good. Many of the tiresome aspects of our age may be traced to the decline of ceremony, and there is no reason to make foolish reforms in the courts.

Charlottetown Voters Set An Example

Charlottetown, P.E.I., held a civic election last month. Final figures show that 91 per cent. of all eligible voters turned out to cast their ballots. That is certainly a record in municipal voting in this country.

In most urban centres the ratio of ballots cast to eligible voters is seldom higher than 40 per cent. In Peterborough's last civic election less than one-third of the electorate bothered to go to the polls. Toronto had a pre-election campaign to urge citizens to vote but it brought out no higher percentage of voters than in Peterborough.

Charlottetown had a "get out and vote" campaign. During the three days preceding polling the Board of Trade made appeals by radio, handbills, window display cards and the like. The total cost of the campaign was $35. The high vote polled was a result of this campaign and an indication that the people of Charlottetown have a high sense of civic responsibility and a just regard for the ballot, the instrument of democracy.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Boy Shoots Father In Stomach" says a headline. We hope that such disrespect does not go unpunished. Only a young hoodlum would shoot his father below the belt.

A correspondence school advises public speakers to express their thoughts in half the words they want to use. We will go further: why not give their thoughts adequate expression by maintaining complete silence?

The Toronto Globe and Mail seems to be having difficulty with Mr. Ilsley's name. In one recent report it firmly refers to "Justice Minister Ilsley". A few lines below the name becomes "r. Ilsley". Ten lines below that it is "r. Illsley. The final reference is to "r. IIIIsley". Perhaps the Globe is suffering from some psychological ills dating from the days when Mr. ILSLEY was Minister of Finance.

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

THE government's official forecast of conditions and plans for the coming year was published this week in the "Economic Survey for 1948". Unlike the similar paper published last year, this one presents a frank appraisal of conditions as they are and as they are likely to develop, and it does not make pleasant reading. This even though everything said in it has been said before on different occasions and with varying degrees of official sanction. The first and most outstanding fact is the frank admission that only U.S. aid under the ERP can prevent widespread unemployment, distress, and a near-fatal blow to the British recovery programme.

◇ ◇ ◇

ECONOMISTS and even such humble observers as myself have long foreseen this development; the government has naturally also seen it, but political consideration both at home and abroad make this sort of revelation a delicate and reluctant operation. Have you ever tried to use the argument to a bank that if you don't get a loan you will go bankrupt? It pays no better dividends in the international scene. The recent announcement that the last of the American loan was exhausted has forced the government's hand. Exports to dollar countries, gold, and other reserves are not nearly large enough to carry the weight of present imports from the dollar countries. Only ERP can now keep Britain even at the present austere level of national life, but even with ERP aid, the White Paper warns that food and clothing consumption will be "appreciably but not disastrously lower than in 1947". A gloomy prospect.

THE Economic Survey goes on to discuss output targets, and speaks of the undermanning of some important export industries. This brings up the vexed question of transfers of labour force to areas of vital industry, such as textiles and coal. In a democratic country, especially now, with the great housing shortage, there is tremendous resistance to such transfers, and this quite understandably. To take a Peterborough example, suppose the Canadian government decided to close the Quaker Oats plant, and transfer all the employees to work in a Port Hope newsprint mill, as a more essential industry to the country as a whole. Firstly, most employees would prefer to try and get jobs in other local plants rather than move, and secondly, those who did go to Port Hope would quickly find a housing shortage existed there also, and in most cases they would be giving up comfortable homes for the doubtful advantages of rooming houses, and similar types of accommodation. Add to these private discontents all the problems of the municipalities concerned, such as the question of providing extra school space in Port Hope, the loss to Peterborough merchants, and suchlike matters, and you get some idea of what a headache it is to all concerned. In wartime, people will cheerfully face such discomforts, but not now. There have been several touching cases here of fiercely resisted transfers by the people concerned. One such case that comes to mind concerns an exhausted coal mine in Wales. The Coal Board decided it was operating at a loss, and better use could be made of the miners if they were transferred to other mines in neighbouring districts. This led to a sit-down strike in protest, the miners staying down until the Coal Board promised to keep the mine open and abandon their attempt to transfer the miners. Pathetic and silly perhaps, but be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.

LONDON newspapers welcomed the news of the Royal Visit to New Zealand and Australia next year, as announced on Saturday. The great welcome given the Canadian and South African tours has demonstrated the unifying value of such visits, and in these days of rapid, safe and comfortable transportation, there is no serious reason why they should not be undertaken frequently, and not merely once in a reign.

THE spring-like, or rather summer-like weather continues, and temperatures in the seventies have been recorded. While grateful for the unexpected warm and sunny days, the average Londoner regards them with pessimistic foreboding, convinced they forewarn of a wet and cold summer. My wife reports that both the milkman and baker told her that they had never known a warm March without a cold June. A gloomy bit of folklore which we will hope is only that.

CANADIAN Army Vets will be glad to hear that they are sadly missed by the local people in all the areas of former Canadian camps. Last week-end the writer had the opportunity to revisit such familiar places as Milford, Witley, Thursley, Hindhead, Greysnott, Bramsnott, Lipnook, Farnham, Bordon, Aldershot, and points in between. Every camp formerly occupied by the various Canadian reinforcement units is still in use, either by the British Army or the Polish Corps, and local people repeatedly volunteered the information they would gladly exchange all the later arrivals for one good Canadian. A great welcome was given in the local pubs, such as the White Lion of Milford, and the Dog & Pheasant at Brook. I was overwhelmed with eager queries as to what had happened to numerous Canadians from seemingly every province and city of the Dominion, all of whom were unknown to me. Many local people now have permanent ties with Canada, since so many of the British war brides came from these camp areas, and again, I was showered with requests for information as to how they were making out in Canada. Equally, many of the Canadians who decided to stay in England are living in these districts.

Masaryk: A Genuine Democrat

TO a history-minded people like the Czechs, Masaryk was the incarnation of the old and the new, the traditional and the radical, the pride of yesterday and the humility of today, the dignity of rebellion and the triumph of reason. He was the moral and intellectual bridge that spanned the nineteenth and twentieth centuries....

Ardent Czech, he was also a cosmopolite. He knew Russia and England, France and America, old Austria and old Germany, not only their history and their literature, but their languages and their character. Three times he had made lengthy pilgrimages to Yasnaya Polyana, Tolstoy's old home, to engage the famed Russian in controversy. While a student in Leipzig he fell in love with Charlotte Garrigue, a Boston girl "of French blood and American vigour," and after marrying her came to regard America as his second fatherland. He had lectured in the Universities of Vienna and Prague, in Chicago University, and in the London School of Slav Studies....

He searched for truth and morality wherever he could find them, in the French Revolution and the Great Reformation, in Goethe and Tolstoy, in Francis Bacon and Dostoyevsky, in Plato and Comte, in English poetry and Slav folklore. Above all, he sought truth in his own nation's past and found it particularly in Jan Hus, the man who had said, "Teach the truth, love the truth, speak the truth, uphold the truth, live the truth." "Nothing is great," Masaryk wrote, "which is not the truth."....

He viewed democracy as a task that could be fulfilled only by individuals who possessed knowledge and by people who were "enlightened and decent." To the development of such individuals and such a people he dedicated himself with extraordinary zeal by personal example, by promulgating a system of highly liberal education, by glorifying the need and the joy of good reading, by fostering free and serious discussion.

He did more....

He strove to infuse into the concept of democracy a fresh meaning and a fresh purpose. Faith alone, he constantly declared, was of no value unless sustained by untiring effort, by work and toil, both physical and moral. He had no "theory of a leisure, either for the highborn or for the lowborn. Nor did he content himself solely with a political definition of democracy. "A genuine democracy," he said, "must be economic and social as well as political."

What is more, no man in his time, not even the late Woodrow Wilson, stressed with greater eloquence the moral basis of democracy than did Masaryk. Like a spring torrent, it overflows all his pronouncements. "Truth conquers," like "reason and conscience," was a pillar of his political thinking and his social efforts. As Benes sums it up, Masaryk taught Czechs "to respect our liberty and that of others, to be objective and tolerant, to honour truth....to esteem mankind, to emulate equality and toil, to exalt moral and spiritual values and religious faith, to adjust East and West within ourselves.... and, above all, to remember that democracy is evolutionary, still striving for perfection and strength, still in process of development, and still beset with dangers."....

Little wonder that, when Emil Ludwig asked George Bernard Shaw who in his judgment was qualified to be President of a United States of Europe, Shaw replied: "There is only one man—Masaryk."—From "The Bright Passage," by Maurice Hindus, copyright, 1945, 1946, 1947, by Maurice Hindus. A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth. Make thee an ark of gopher wood; rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch....Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he. (Gen. 6: 13, 14, 22.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And the Lord said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy house into the ark; for thee have I seen righteous before me in this generation ....And Noah went in, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him, into the ark, because of the waters of the flood.... And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days. (Gen. 7: 1, 7, 24.)

◇ ◇ ◇

By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith. (Heb. 11: 7.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him. (Isa. 64: 4.)

Dance Band In Church

A dispatch from Bury in Lancashire, a progressive manufacturing town of some 80,000 people, informs us that the vicar has introduced a dance band into his service of worship. The dispatch continues:

But 650 people attended his All Saints' church when Billy Hawkins and his dance band played sacred pieces and saxophone and trumpet solos during the time usually devoted to a sermon. The average congregation is 120.

"This is no stunt," explained the Rev. A. Wasey, the 44-year-old vicar. "You could not expect a parson to get so many people inside a church for his sermon."

He claimed justification, for organizing the service in "the power of music to stir the emotions."

The band—three trumpets, two trombones, five saxophones, a piano, double bass and tympan—played for forty-five minutes, with the church's leading chorister, ten-year-old Barry Atkinson, as soloist.

We were always under the impression that people went to church to worship God. Surely a congregation of 120 who came to worship God without the attraction of any "stunts" would be of more value to the community than a congregation of 650 attracted by a dance band.

Admittedly we are living in a progressive age. In our opinion, however, any vicar who would inflict upon a congregation who came to "worship God in the beauty of holiness", five saxophones, three trumpets and two trombones, should change his profession.

A BRITISH OPINION

"Perhaps you realise now, Vera, that if you'd thought more about your country and less about Frank Sinatra we wouldn't be in the mess we are now."

Left to right are: Col. R. E. S. Williamson, U.S. military attache to Canada; Dr. Bush; F. H. Richardson, Secretary of the U.S. Research and Development Board and E. L. Canada's Capital Expenditures Will Reach An All-Time High

OTTAWA, March 23 — (CP)— Canada will spend the greatest number of dollars in its history this year for capital expansion if the forecast of the Federal Government is met.

The forecast— an expenditure of $2,800,000,000 on new building, new machinery and repairs to existing equipment—was contained in a report on this year's investment outlook prepared by the Reconstruction Department.

A companion report, surveying probable production of building and other basic materials, was tabled in the Commons at the same time by Trade Minister Howe.

The report on investments notes that periods of heavy capital expenditure, in the past, have accompanied periods when the level of employment and income was also high.

The gloomiest aspect of the entire picture, which sweeps broadly over the country's basic economy, is in steel and iron production. The survey notes that production of both is near the country's capacity, that it is hardly likely to increase much this year, and that the dollar-saving import restrictions are likely to increase the demand for domestic steel and pig-iron.

Lumber Production Down

Lumber production, it notes, will probably be down, but the decrease will likely be more than offset, so far as supplies to domestic consumers are concerned, by a drop in the British demand for Canadian timber. Building supplies are expected, in most ranges to improve.

Much of the increase in capital expenditure survey shows, results from higher prices.

It is estimated that industry of all sorts from mines to retail stores, will spend $1,200,000,000 on new equipment and on repairing and maintaining old installations. Building outranks this expenditure and will probably cost $1,600,000,000 this year. "Building" covers homes, factories, stores and extensions.

"KEYSTONE OF FREEDOM"

The Magna Charta, granted by King John at Runnymede to English barons in 1215, has been described by historians as the "keystone of freedom."

"MEXICAN BOY IN TAXCO" by Emme Frankenberg had its premiere showing in Montreal when the Canadian all-woman show was presented. The 64 paintings have been exhibited in New York, Toronto, London, Kitchener and Ottawa.

Charges Cabinet Too Dictatorial

OTTAWA, March 23 (CP). — Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) charged in the Commons yesterday over a cry of government protests that the Cabinet last week had "thrown to the winds" the democratic guarantee to the people that when a Cabinet minister says a thing will be done, it will be done.

He referred to Trade Minister Howe's action in withdrawing a promise to the Chamber to split a contentious Government Grain Bill into two parts and then moving to an enabling motion with what amounted to a request to Liberal members to see that it was defeated.

Noting that only two Cabinet ministers had voted for Mr. Howe's motion, Mr. Graydon said Cabinet solidarity was a "keystone in the very arch of responsible democratic government" and gave the people the guarantee that government understanding would be carried out.

As a clamor of Liberal protests drowned him out, he shouted that he wanted to protest Mr. Howe's action "with every bit of vigor and earnestness at my command."

Life Imprisonment

MONTREAL, March 23.—(CP). —William Prest, alias Diamond, 45-year-old recidivist, yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment by Mr. Justtice Wilfrid Lazure on two charges of attempted murder and one of hold-up. The charges were laid following a hold-up at the Chez Ernest cafe in which two patrons were shot. His two accomplices in the hold-up, Frank Cote, 38, and Delphis Sicard, 29, a former waiter at the club, drew sentences of 20 and 10 years respectively.

U.S. Considering Italy For U.N.

LAKE SUCCESS, March 23 — (AP). — Reliable sources said last night that the United States is considering presenting a demand that the United Nations Security Council immediately take up again Italy's request for UN membership.

United States spokesmen refused to discuss the report. It would be expected that such a step would be in line with American efforts to see the Communists defeated in the Italian elections next month.

Italy's application for UN membership was vetoed last year by Russia. Andrei Gromyko vetoed the request on the ground that Italy could only be taken into the UN in a bloc with other former enemy countries. At that time the United States and Britain opposed membership applications from Romania, Bulgaria, and Hungary.

All applications must be recommended first by the Security Council and then must get a two-thirds final vote in the 57-member Assembly.

Army Students Tour

OTTAWA, March 23.—(CP). — Students of the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston arrived today for a three-day tour of important industries and military establishments here and in Montreal.

Municipal Act Changes Pass

TORONTO, MARCH 23 (CP)— Bills to amend the assessment act and municiple act were approved with a few changes in the sitting of the Ontario Legislature Municiple Law Committee today. T. K. Creighton (PC—Ontario) was chairman.

In the Municipal Act, a section which would have required the Municipal Council in preparing its estimates to consider only the cash surplus at the end of the preceding years, instead of taking into account expected revenue during the current years was withdrawn.

Other amendments broaden the powers of urban municipalities to regulate, control and inspect heating plants and equipment; allow municipal police to deal with the pigeon nuisance; give authority to a municipality to revoke public garage licences and define a public garage to include a car-washing establishment.

Maximum licence fees for Hawkers and Tourist Camps are set. A municipality may not charge more than $2 for a Hawkers licence. Fees for tourist and $100 top for the camp or camps are $10 maximum a cabin trailer camp.

Provisions of the assessment act make it clears that a school Board in unorganized territory has authority to assess and collect taxes on the profits of a mine or mineral work in the area for which the board was set up.

Easter Seal Campaign to help crippled children goes this week and everyone is asked to help. While there are eight nurses on staff for this work in Ontario now, 14 are needed, these nurses being especially trained in the various aids for these unfortunate children. Another service provided is that of summer camps. Two established now and a third one for Eastern Ontario planed this summer. Some 350 crippled children utilize these camps for summer vacations and for training periods. Not enough room for all, though. It goes without saying that the care of crippled children in one's community is a most important work and the service clubs are helping considerably. Donations may be sent to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, 112 College St., Toronto 2.

George McNabb, Legion sports chairman, and Prexy Ed Riley of the Petes' puckists, have promised to have their players help in the Civic Arena canvass. No doubt, the IOOF-ers will assist, too, and the juvenile Kinsmen, Trojans and Marines. They are all asked to attend tonight's "Y" meeting at seven to get organized. This rink is needed and we hope everyone does his share to put the campaign across. The boys who will be using the rink next winter will make future valuable citizens. Present manufacturers, merchants, etc., had a covered rink in Peterborough in their youth—more than the boys of today have. And when some 1,200 people take the trouble to clip the coupon from this paper and send it in, there is definite interest shown.

In The Gay Nineties

Jack Chamberlain sends in a clipping from the Daily Examiner of March 7, 1895, concerning sports. It speaks of an exhibition game to be played here by Toronto Granites and the local team, which had won the junior championship over Toronto. Other puck squads mentioned are Keene, Norwood, Peterborough Seconds and Collegiate. Looked like lots of hockey for March in those horse-and-buggy days around Peterborough and Ashburnham. Probably they were playing then on the Charlotte St. rink, as we doubt if the Brock Arena was built before the turn of the century.

* * * * * *

Same clipping under a heading "Curliana" speaks of Peterborough as the Plate Glass City and lists a number of rinks in various competitions. Names like: Dickson Hall, Will Thompson, E. B. Clegg, D. Davidson, Gus Hay, C. Lebrun, C. N. Brown, Geo. Horkins, P. Henry, W. H. Robertson, D. Belleghem, John McKee, V. McGill, Capt. Eden, J. Pentland, C. McGill, M. O'Brien, W. G. Morrow, W. Salisbury, J. H. Connal, H. Phelan, C. Rutherford, E. Brown, T. Rutherford, J. Carter, E. H. D. Hall, George Schofield, J. M. Irwin, J. Wylie, and W. G. Ferguson. Oldtimers may recall many of these. A junior lacrosse meeting was also being called in this clipping.

Legion Have Had It

And that's that for the 1948 edition of Legionnaires' puck squad. Toronto Fliers grounded them 5-2 on Quinte ice last foggy eve to take the OHA senior "B" semi-final round 13-10 before more than 3,000 fans. Mostly from up this way. Legion got half the gate and made some dough on the special train so their loss was sweetened somewhat by the sugar that buys shoes and steaks. Tough luck for 'em bowing out after giving the semi-finalists such a stiff series, but Toronto proved the better club last night. They clicked on their opportunities while Legion turned in one of their poorer efforts. Couldn't do anything right, though they tried hard enough. Flubbed passes, missed nets and let fast-stepping rivals roam about at will. One of those games.

* * * * * *

Thus endeth this Legion hockey chapter, but the ex-servicemen can't complain. They had a good season throughout. Finished second in their group, wiped out Kingston in semi-finals, knocked the Petes off handily in group finals, edged Orillia in provincial playdowns, and finally fell in Ontario semi-finals to Toronto in three games. Built up a good local club and a hefty following here and in Lindsay—and drew well practically every game all winter. They plan to rebuild for next puck campaign and try to keep their district crown. But with Easter bonnets bobbing on the week-end horizon, the Legionnaires have called it a season and will turn to summer pursuits in the near future. They did well in hockey harness.

BROCK ARENA -- WEDNESDAY

Legionnaires Bow To Toronto In Senior "B" Semi-Final Before More Than 3,000 Fans

Legionnaires reached trail's end in Belleville last night when they bowed to Toronto Fliers 5-2, being eliminated in OHA Senior "B" semi-finals by the score of 13-10 on the round. Over 3,000 fans filled the Quinte arena, most of them from Peterborough and district, for the deciding game of the series. The Fliers struck fast to roll up a 3-0 margin in the first frame, and they had a 2-1 edge in the second to build a 5-1 account going into the third. Only in the last heat did the Vitarelli pack outscore them, and then only 1-0. It was a fast clean contest, with Legion drawing but three of 11 penalties handed out.

Cashed In

Cashing in smartly on opportunities, the Fliers earned the win on good ice. Legionnaires had as much if not more of the territorial play but they lacked finish when in close. They also muffed a lot of passes and didn't check back as well. It was one of their poorer playoff showings while the winners made every move count as they clicked at the right times. Twice the game was held up by bottles being thrown on the ice, and Referee Walsh threatened to forfeit the fixture to Toronto if it happened again.

There were no particular stars for Legion over the whole route, but the third line of Bob Parnell, Dootch Vitarelli and Harley Greenlaw probably showed more fight most of the time they were out there. Dootch and Harley were each in on the losers' two tallies. The others worked hard but couldn't seem to click up to form. Singleton, B. Rich, Kwas, DeLaat and Irons all showed plenty for the victors, with the defence also solid throughout.

Had An Edge

Legion pressed the first half of the initial inning and had a definite edge on play, but they couldn't sink the burnt biscuit. Both their first and second lines were right in several times but didn't count. E. Nicholls did get a goal but it was disallowed when he waved a high stick in the crease. Play was fast and exciting with Toronto taking a lead at the 13-minute mark when Lu Vipond's hot angle drive was screened and sail by the goalie from 15 feet out. Godfrey missed the net on a nice try and then DeLaat made it 2-0 from Singleton and B. Rich on neat combination in close, pulling Ross right out. DeLaat raced back shortly for another from Murphy and B. Rich at close range and they had a margin on play near the finish. Diplock was gated for hooking and then Parks for playing with a broken stick at the end.

Didn't Click

Fliers were shy two men to open the second but Legion couldn't make it pay off, and after these two returned, O'Donnell got it for elbowing but again the Legion drive missed fire. Later, they tramped in for several fine chances but Irons beat them, especially a threat by Godfrey and Ernie Nicholls. The frame was over half shot when Singleton slapped home a fast pass inside from Kwas and the count read 4-0. Vipond was waved over for holding and Dootch Vitarelli cuffed home the first Legion marker right in on Irons' doorstep, Ned Vitarelli and H. Greenlaw getting assists. Parnell was chased for slashing and Kwas followed for charging. Rochetta came close as the net was nearly upset. A bottle thrown on the ice held up play and a fight broke out in the crowd. Singleton scored another for Fliers near the finish on a corner passout from Kwas, giving Nicholls no chance on it.

Tried Hard

Legion ganged up in the third and an Ace-Ernie threat nearly paid off. H. Greenlaw and Godfrey came close and then another bottle was flipped over the boards. Dootch made a nice try as Legion pressed but they couldn't finish off their plays. Halfway through, H. Greenlaw got their other marker, aided by D. Vitarellli and Parnell, on a passout. Parnell went off for tripping but was back when Fournier got it for boarding. O'Donnell followed for holding but even with two off the Fliers kept Legion at bay. Ned Vitarelli and T. Rich mixed it briefly and drew minors and Legion kept pressing, but to no avail, till the final going went. They then congratulated the winning players.

The teams:

Toronto: Goal, Irons; defence, O'Donnell and Kwas; centre, Singleton; wings, B. Rich and T. Rich; alternates, Bradshaw, Fournier, Diplock, Murphy, Vipond, DeLaat and Parks.

Legion: Goal, R. Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and N. Vitarellli; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and R. Greenlaw; alternates, E. Nichols, A. Nicholls, Burns, Parnell, D. Vitarelli, H. Greenlaw and Hicks.

Referees, M. Walsh and S. St. Louis.

Curling News

By Herb Martin

With the playing of finals in the skips' and vices' competition and the finals of the leads' and seconds' competition, the ladies have concluded their curling for this season, that is as far as any pre-arranged schedule is concerned; any curling from now on will be from day to day. They have had one good long season and have thoroughly enjoyed it all. The competitions were many and all keenly contested. The installing of artificial ice has certainly improved the game in every respect. The ladies are holding their annual meeting some time early in April.

We continue this evening with the Neill trophy games.

Today T. Doughty is skipping a rink up at the Granite club, Toronto, in the annual mixed rink bonspiel.

Tomorrow B. Scott, G. Braund, N. Hamley and R. Best will be there, and then on Thursday, S. Lowe and Dr. C. McKee.

Watson Will Try To Tame Davis

With at least four outstanding matmen on the Brock Arena card tomorrow night beside a third good match, Manager Jim Laidlaw is preparing to welcome the largest crowd in many a moon. The main bout of course is the keenly-awaited match between Whipper Billy Watson and Wee Willie Davis.

Cardiff Giant

It should be one of the most rugged affairs of a very rugged mat season here.

The famed Cardiff Giant will make his first appearance when he wrestles big Pete Managoff who is also capable of considerable mighty matwork.

In the third bout Jack Dillon will be introduced here against Irish Tommy O'Toole another fighting Irishman who also has designs on Whipper Watson's Empire title.

W. Gracie Prexy Of Soccer Loop

An enthusiastic number of soccer fans attended the annual meeting of the Peterborough and District Football (Soccer) Association on Monday evening in the YMCA.

A general discussion took place relatives to the opening of the soccer season in the city and it was agreed that the new officers formulate a specified schedule and all teams must adhere to the proposed schedule.

Lindsay, CGE, O'Hallorans' and Spartons were represented with Canada Packers and Legion being absent.

A discussion in regard to injured players' accounts was held in abeyance until the new officers were elected for the season.

Officers were elected as follows: Past president, Stroyan Leith; president, William Gracie; first vice president, Robert Strong; 2nd vice president, Asa Downer; secretary-treasurer, Edgar Woodcock; committee, B. McMaster, S. Howden, Reg. Cox, D. Downer and Jack Chamberlain; along with a club representative from each team who will constitute the board.

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening in the YMCA at 7:30 when all clubs are requested to inform the board of their intentions for the season.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Alphonse Therien, president of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association, said yesterday he had been informed the Association's Memorial Cup representatives must be ready to meet Quebec Red Wings March 25 even if the present Montreal Royals-Montreal Nationales series ends on the same date.

Therien said in a statement at Montreal that the order came from Azaire Choquette, president of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, and produced a "ridiculous situation" whereby either Royals or Nationales might have to play a double-header to remain in the Memorial Cup race. Nationales now lead Royals 2-0 in the best-of-five series. The fourth game is scheduled for Tuesday and the fifth, if necessary, Thursday.

Therien described Choquette as "another Avery Brundage," and said that Choquette is "making himself the laughing-stock of Quebec hockey circles."

President Ken G. Waters of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association said yesterday the O.M.H.A. honor award will be presented annually to the person or persons making an outstanding contribution to minor hockey. The winner will be decided by the Association executive from recommendations made by club, association and executive members.

The award is a trophy to be held by the winner for one year after which he will receive a replica for permanent possession. No elected officer or executive member of the O.M.H.A. is eligible for the award.

Maurice Podoloff, president of the American Hockey League, yesterday set the playoff dates for his loop. Series A will be a best-of-seven semi-final affair with Providence at Cleveland, starting March 23. Series B will be a best-of-three quarter-final with Pittsburgh starting at New Haven, March 23. Series C will also be a best-of-three quarter-final affair starting with Buffalo at Hershey March 23.

Joey Maxim of Cleveland, one of the ranking heavyweight contenders, and Pat Valentino of San Francisco, battled to a 10-round draw at San Francisco last night. Maxim weighed 178 and Valentino 185.

Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers, Olympic hockey champions, played to a 5-5 draw with Dundee Tigers, one of the best clubs in the Scottish Hockey League at Dundee, Scotland last night. It was the first of a six-game series in eight days for the Canadians.

Captain Syl Apps of the N.H.L. champion Toronto Maple Leafs who went over the 200-goal mark over the week-end, received the plaudits of Premier Drew and members of the Ontario Legislature yesterday. "He represents the thing we want to develop in sport," the Premier said of Apps who is also Ontario Sports Commissioner. The Premier said Apps had brought to the Commissioner's position an "unsullied reputation for the finest thing in sport."

Terry Sawchuck, 19, of Omaha Knights last night was named "outstanding rookie" in the United States Hockey League by the loop's eight coaches. Sawchuk, a five-foot, 11-inch native of Winnipeg, was called "one of the most brilliant young goal tenders ever to break into professional hockey." Sawchuk was brought up from Windsor, Spitfires, a O.H.A. junior A entry, after the start of the season. He will receive $250 and an engraved puck as his award.

Normals Take Cag Title Over Lock Co.

Normals defeated Lock Co., 18 to 15, in the YWCA last night to capture the intermediate championship of the Girls' Basketball League. They had taken the first game 20-14 last Friday and their victory last evening made it two straight in as many starts of the best-of-three finals. The juniors and seniors have yet to declare winners for the season.

Lock Co. drove hard early and piled up a 9-2 lead at the halfway mark last evening. But the Normals finished stronger and had a 16-6 margin during the second half. At that, the winners muffed a flock of free throws, cashing in on but four in 18 tries. Lock Co. got one in 11. It was a good game all the way. Peggy Brown and Luella Homan led the Norman scorers, while Wilma Floyd topped Lock Co. The teams:

Lock Co. Y. Harvey 2, J. Johnston 4, D. White, J. Reynolds, A. Firth, J. McIntyre, B. McIlwaine, W. Floyd 9.

Normals: P. Brown 7, M. Jackson, L. Homan 6, M. Curtis, M. Watson, M. Hickey, R. Jordan 1, E. Gill 4.

Referees, L. Grose and R. Burrows; time, A. Neiman.

Leafs Banking On Centre-Strength In NHL Playoffs

By FRASER MACDOUGALL

TORONTO, March 22—(CP).—Toronto Maple Leafs bank on their solid strength "down the centre" in the Stanley Cup playoffs they open here Wednesday night against Boston Bruins. In Syl Apps, Ted Kennedy and Max Bentley, the National Hockey League champions have the strongest centre-ice brigade in the league. Behind them is a solid, if not spectacular, defence, and the sound goaltending of Walter (Turk) Broda who won the Vezina Trophy with the league's best showing over the 60-game schedule.

Veteran utility forward Nick Metz, at home in almost any position, and leftwinger Joe Klukay form another reason for Toronto optimism. The hard-checking pair rank as the most effective penalty-killers in the NHL.

Managing director Conny Smythe said today his Leafs, seeking their second straight Stanley Cup, may find the Bruins, who wound up third in the league race, a tough crew to hurdle in the semi-finals.

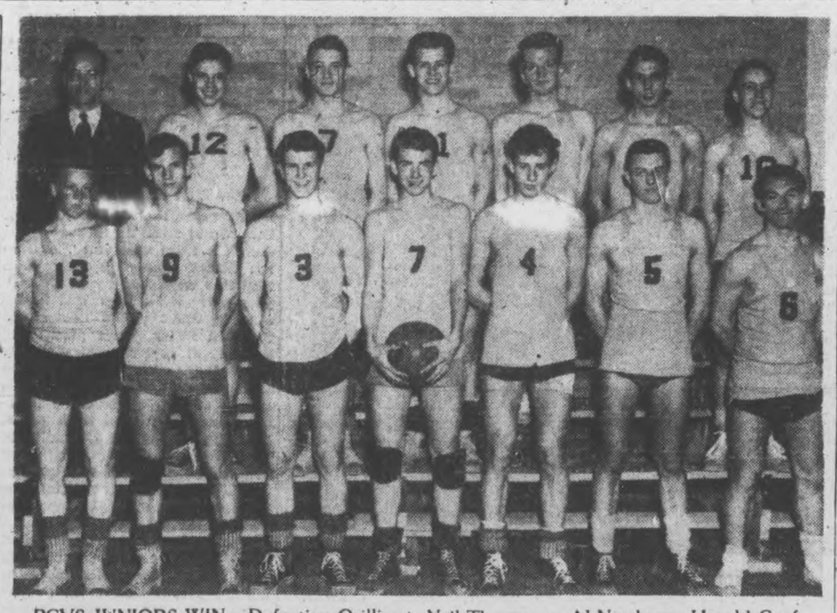
Orthodox Play

"Boston clubs always play a very orthodox brand of hockey and they don't make many mistakes," he said. "They are hard to open up and a hard club to get on top of."

However, Smythe is high on his own team's chances because "our club last year and this year seems to be able to go out and win when they have to win."

Apps, who finished the season at a dazzling pace with six goals in his last four games, heads the most potent Toronto attacking line. Apps himself, finishing off what may be his last season of hockey, tallied 26 goals. Leftwinger Harry Watson got 21 and Ezinicki, on the right side 11.

Kennedy led his line with 25 goals, leftwinger Lynn producing 12 and rightwinger Howie Meeker 14. Bentley matched the Apps goal total with 26. Klukay, left wing on Bentley's line, had 15. Don Metz, the right wing, was out of action much of the season and scored only four times. He is one of the team's most effective checkers. Nick Metz, the elder of the wheat-farming brothers, also scored four times and Sid Smith, the other forward, got six.



Greyhounds Win NOHA Crown

By The Canadian Press

The path to the all-Ontario Senior hockey finals was cleared last night as the Northern Ontario Hockey Association representative was decided. Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds won the N.O.H.A. senior championship and the right to enter the provincial finals by eking out a 2-1 decision over McIntyre Macmen in the second overtime period of the fifth and deciding game of the best of five finals.

Now the Greyhounds move into the stretch drive for the all-Ontario senior championship against Hamilton Tigers, representing the Ontario Hockey Association.

The tilt was a fitting climax to a great final series, with both teams displaying a hard-checking and fighting brand of hockey, and both goal tenders playing brilliantly to keep the score low.

PCVS JUNIORS WIN—Defeating Orillia handily in COSSA finals in Toronto over the weekend, the junior PCVS basketball team won the COSSA title for the second straight year. Macbeth Trophy Up For Rangers

NEW YORK, March 23.—(AP).—The William J. Macbeth Memorial Trophy will be awarded to the member of New York Rangers considered the "most valuable in the Stanley Cup playoffs which start tomorrow.

The trophy has been returned to competition by the New York Hockey Writers Association and will be awarded each year to the "most valuable Ranger" in the playoffs. In the event the Rangers fail to make a playoff, the trophy will remain idle.

The winner will receive a wrist watch.

The cup originally was a team trophy, presented to the winner of the intra-series between the Rangers and the defunct New York Americans.

It was first placed in competition in 1937-38 and was awarded annually through the 1941-42 season. The Rangers won the cup every year.

The trophy is in honor of Bill Macbeth, former Herald Tribune sports writer, first writer to cover professional hockey in this city. He died while covering a race meeting at Saratoga in 1937.

Red Wing Hopes Depend On Shaking Slump

DETROIT, March 23 (AP). — Detroit Red Wings' hopes in the Stanley Cup playoffs depend on how well they shake out of a late-season slump when they open the semi-final series against New York Rangers tomorrow night.

The Wings did an abrupt about-face after leading the National Hockey league much of the season, winning only one and tying three of their last eight games.

Seeking corrections, coach Tommy Ivan, who piloted the Wings to the runner-up spot in his first NHL season, has called up an array of reserves from the minors. Injection of new players may be enough to snap the regulars back into form.

No change is planned for the prized Abel line of Capt. Sid Abel- Ted Lindsay-Gordon Howe, top line in the loop. This combination scored 63 goals this season, Lindsay counting 33 to head NHL goal scorers, Howe 16 and Abel 14. Lindsay also led the team with 52 points.

Centres Set

Only the centre spots are set on the two other lines. Jim McFadden, who collected 48 points and is regarded as the year's best rookie, will pivot one, and Don Morrison, another first-yearman, will centre the other.

Right wings now available are Pete Horeck, Fern Gauthier and Rod Morrison, and the left wings are Jim Conacher, Enio Sclisizzi, Bep Guidolin and Nelson Podolsky. Fiery Marty Pavelich, who plays an forward position, will see considerable action somewhere, while Pat Lunday is the extra centre.

Jack Stewart and Bill Quackenbush top the club's defence corps, but the latter still is on the doubtful list with a hand injury.

The big problem is Lumley, who faded in the stretch in the goalie duel with Toronto's Walter (Turk) Broda for the Vezina trophy. The team relies heavily on Lumley regaining the form which brought him seven shutouts, tops among the league's net-tenders.

Agar Sets Record

MINNEAPOLIS, March 23.—(AP).—George Agar, Houston, set a record of 112 points in 66 games in the United States Hockey League for the regular playing season. Agar was also top man for assists with 69 and his teammate, Hub Macey, made second berth in the over-all scoring tabulations with 91, 21 points behind the ace. A third Houston player, Ken McKenzie, held third position with 85 points.

Tug Clears Ice

KINGSTON, March 23 (CP)—A tug cleared a path through harbor ice yesterday to permit lake and river freighters passage to the Canadian Steamship Lines wharf. The coal-carried Glenelg will be the first vessel to be moved to dry-dock. The vessels were repaired at the Canadian Shipbuilding and Engineering Ltd., plant here during winter.

HONOR 'HOCKEY AGENT'—Old-timers and present-day hockey players met in Montreal to honor Felix Berger, who during the past 30 years has looked after some 50,000 of them "on the road" as CPR passenger agent. In appreciation they clubbed together and handed Felix a cheque for $1,000. Left to Right: "King" Clancy, "Newsy" Lalonde, Mr. Berger, Billy Wray, chairman for the evening and long-time hockey fan, and Maurice "The Rocket" Richard.

Liscombe Sets Scoring Record

NEW YORK, March 23 (AP).—Carl Liscombe of Providence Reds came within a whisker of winning all individual American Hockey league scoring marks in the season that ended Sunday.

The 32-year-old left-winger of the Reds won the scoring crown by collecting 118 points, a professional record. He also took goal-getting honors with 50. Liscombe missed out in the assist department. He tallied 68 assists, second only to Philadelphia Wall Stefaniw's record 72.

By winning the scoring title, Liscombe will receive $300 from the league.

Cliff Simpson of Indianapolis Capitals finished in second place with 110 points. The Cap centre scored 48 goals and 62 assists. Harvey Fraser anl Johnny Chad of Providence finished third and fourth with 97 and 94 points.

What's What In Baseball

NEW YORK, March 23 — (CP). — Washington Senators, who can't count on pounding out as many hits this season as some other clubs, are planning to make the most out of those they get.

Manager Joe Kuhel has installed at Orlando, Fla., the first sliding pit a Washington club has seen at spring training in 13 years. "There's no sense kidding ourselves," says Kuhel. "We aren't going to power a lot of runs across the plate. We've got to scramble on the bases to get everything out of what we have."

Leslie O'Connor, vice-president and general manager of Chicago White Sox, is not perturbed by the club's dismal showing in spring exhibition games. "We're lucky to get all that bad baseball out of our system before the games start to count," he says. "We still have a lot of time to get in stride for the season opener."

What happens when the regular season starts is an entirely different matter, but so far Johnny Mize is leading Ralph Kiner in home runs.

Mize of New York Giants has smacked two, one against Bob Feller with the bases full, while the only thing the Pittsburgh outfielder has driver out of the park is his shiny new convertible.

The two wound up in a 51-all tie for the 1947 National League home run championship.

Arbitration Board Decides On Firemen's Increases

TORONTO, March 23—(CP).—Firefighters are placed in a special category regarding collective bargaining as a result of a bill now before the Ontario Legislature. The measure, sponsored by the Government, will force any municipality to abide by the decision of an arbitration board on wage increases for the firemen in the community.

The provisions are that requests for wage boosts be entered before Nov. 30 of any year. If no agreement is reached by negotiation the matter goes before an arbitration board. The decision is binding on the municipal council. The Government reserves the right to cut off grants to the municipality if it refuses to abide by the decision.

The Bill was one of five government measures given second reading yesterday at a busy but quiet sitting. Sixty-nine Bills were dealt with, 36 given final reading, while 12 private and 12 Government Bills were approved in committee. Four were read for the first time.

Crown Lands Bill

Second reading was given to the Crown Lands Bill which permits the province to cut off services to any Wartime Housing area where the municipality and Dominion do not reach suitable terms for money to make up for lost taxation. Crown lands are not taxable and where the Dominion has taken over an area provision is usually made to give the municipality money to make up for the taxes which would normally be received.

Premier Drew, discussing the measure, said that in a case where the Dominion was to provide services for an area, the province would give grants just as though it were a municipality.

Also given second reading were Bills to return taxes on professional sporting events if it is shown that all proceeds are for charity.

A number of police schools will be established in Ontario under an amendment to the Police Act, given second reading.

Premier Drew referred to a newspaper clipping which he said quoted W. J. Grummett, CCF House Leader, as giving approval to the Ontario Federation of Labor brief presented to the Cabinet last week.

He asked if the report were true, but Mr. Grummet replied: "I'm not prepared to answer that question."

50 Per Cent Raise in Grant

Aurelien Belanger (Lib.-Prescott) commended the government on the Bill to increase provincial and municipal contributions to training schools by 50 per cent.

On the Crown Lands Bill, Thomas K. Creighton (PC-Ontario) outlined the situation in his constituency at Ajax where, he said, there was a large Crown land project but no agreement for payment in lieu of taxes.

Dana Porter, Planning and Development Minister, said that the chief responsibility for finding a solution to floods which are plaguing Southern Ontario belongs to the people and their own municipalities.

"It is not a good thing to have flood control under a centralized government," he said.

"The Government is prepared to give every assistance to municipal authorities and has already agreed to pay part of the cost of carrying out a flood control project.

Bar LPP Members

WASHINGTON, March 23.—(CP).—The Justice Department has issued an immigration ruling which a labor lawyer said last night has the effect of excluding from the United States "every member" of the Canadian Labor-Progressive Party.

O'Connor Will Get $1,000 For Efforts

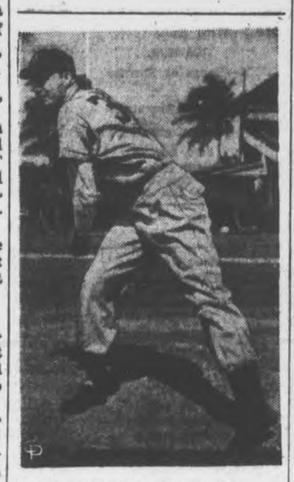
NEW YORK, March 23 (AP).—Buddy O'Connor of New York Rangers, will get $1,000 although he finished second in the National Hockey League's scoring race.

O'Connor, who led the league virtually the entire season, was dethroned by Elmer Lach of Montreal, Saturday night. Lach finished with 61 points, O'Connor with 60.

Lach will get the $1,000 league prize.

O'Connor will get $500 from the league and another $500 from the Ranger management "because of his unselfish attitude."

Swimming Coach Predicts 10-Point Win



NEW YORK, March 3.—(AP).—Peppery little Mike Peppe, Ohio State swimming coach, predicts his team will win the United States Collegiate A.A. team title this week-end by at least 10 points, if the Bucks' Bill Smith is ready and right....That seems to be a fairly safe prediction, since rival coaches are virtually conceding Ohio State a clean sweep in the fancy diving events. But it still is a radical departure from the tearful tradition of coaching...Amateur Chuck Kocsis and pro Skip Alexander have been nominated by a vote of former champions in their fields as the most capable players not previously invited to play in the Augusta masters golf tournament ....One American Association ball club reports it has improved the umpires quarters by purchasing new chairs—adding pointedly, "rockers."

First Class, Please

It happened during a spring football scrimmage at the University of Florida....A player failed to get up after a play and the quarterback called across the field, "hey, coach, send us a halfback."....The coach, unable to identify the casualty as a right or left half, asked "what kind?.... In unison three voices came out of the huddle: "a good one."

One Minute Sports Page

Herman Hickman, new Yale coach, will be honored at a luncheon today by the West Point Athletic Board and Coaches.... They'll give him a silver plate inscribed: "to Herman—in appreciation for associations as line coach, friend, bon vivant and reconteur."....Publicity Director Brownie Leach points out that one or two records may be set or four old ones equalled in the 1948 Kentucky Derby....From this distance it looks like only one....If Citation wins, as expected, he'll be the first Belmont futurity winner ever to capture the Kentucky classic...Jack Dempsey and his former trainer, Gus Wilson, plan to import Jo Weiclin, 25-year-old Vienna-born heavyweight, some time this spring.

IN PLASTIC CAST—Shown warming up is Lou Brissie, who came back from Europe with a dangling leg and a pocketful of medals. He shelved his crutches to win 25 games and lose only six for a minor league team in his first season of professional baseball last year playing in the plastic cast which makes his left leg as thick as a fence post. Venerable Connie Mack, mentor of the Philadelphia Athletics has great confidence in him. Brissie tried out with the Philadelphia Athletics seven years ago when in college. Then a war intervened. He was nearest man to a Nazi artillery shell which killed 11 of his comrades in Italy. The doctor expected to have to amputate his leg. But he came back talking baseball and wanting to pitch. Now after fighting off blood poison and burning pain in the leg, the 24-year-old youth from Ware Shoals, S.C., is getting his chance at the Philadelphia Athletic training camp at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Gets 6 Months' Term

LONDON, Ont., March 23 (CP)—A row in suburban Manor Park Saturday night had its sequel in court Monday when Daniel Stonefish, 39, was sentenced to six months on a drunk charge. Meanwhile, Mrs. Florence Hill is in hospital recovering from knife wounds suffered in the brawl. Charged with assaulting Mrs. Hill, Nellie Stonefish was released on bail until Thursday. Clarence Hill, 32, husband of the injured woman, will also appear in court Thursday, charged with creating a disturbance.

Fight Age Handicap

OTTAWA, March 23 (CP)—The government reported progress yesterday in its campaign to get jobless veterans out from under the handicap of "age". Of 43,276 veterans of the First World War —or of both wars—unemployed at last April 1, jobs "or some other means of maintenance" were found for 36,064 by Dec. 2.

Trusteeship In Palestine Given Canadian Support

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. — The Canadian Government's attitude to the new Palestine development can best be summed up by the opinion of a Canadian official in New York, when asked for his opinion on the American trusteeship formula. He said:

"Trusteeship is obviously the thing we have to try. But it is not a permanent solution. And the long term solution may be the formation of an Arab state and a Jewish state. But first, trusteeship must work. Trusteeship does not preclude a partition solution or something of that nature."

Canadians, one may assume, are not immune to the general misgivings voiced by delegates here. Will the British agree, despite warnings from London to hang on for a few more months? Will the moderates—Arab and Jewish—agree to make trusteeship work. Or will the extremists on both sides take over and dig themselves in? In that eventuality, will an Arab state and a Jewish state take form by default, when they cannot be created by positive action? As the Jews have already threatened to do this and have made some opening moves, can their position be defended in law?

There is a general feeling here that the American proposal for a UN trusteeship is not out of line with the urgent recommendation for conciliation made on March 3rd by General McNaughton. It has been assumed since that statement that Mr. Mackenzie King inspired the Canadian position taken on that date. If the Canadian prime minster was shocked by the lack of conciliation effort at the U.N. last autumn, he was not the only one.

The "Villain's" Role

A great many U.N. observers, looking back at the feeble efforts made to concilate Jews and Arabs at that time are casting Dr. Herbert Evatt of Australia in the villain's role. Not that they impute malice to the Australian Foreign Minister. The charge is that Evatt, as usual, tried to do too much.

In addition to making his country's major statements on policy and attempting to answer every sally from the Soviet bloc; in addition to delivering a series of university lectures which were later enlarged into a book (and a useful book), Evatt was chairman of the General Assembly's AD hoc Commission on Palestine. In that capacity he set up three sub-committees. The first was to work out a partition scheme; the second to plan for a unitary Palestine state. The third, headed by Evatt himself, was to attempt conciliation.

When the partition scheme was adopted on November 29, the Arabs hurled bitter charges that Evatt had done nothing to conciliate. The Australian was by that time on the high seas and could not answer. But this reporter knows something of the procedure Dr. Evatt fololwed.

Evatt first wrote to Emil Feisal of Saudi Arabia, suggesting a private meeting with Secretary Marshall, head of the United States delegation. The Saudi Arabian replied that he would attend such a meeting. Evatt then wrote the American Secretary of State. When he failed to get a reply (Mr. Marshall had by then left the U.N. meetings) Evatt summoned Herschel V. Johnson brusquely out of a meeting of the Palestine working group. They shouted at each other in the public corridor outside committee room number eight. Johnson told Evatt that "a nice, courteous letter" was awaitng him at his hotel. He said that other U.S. officials might meet with the Arabs but Marshall was too busy. In any case the United States was committed to partition. "We can't be dickering publicly with Prince Feisal," Johnson said: "What would the Jews say?"

Evidence Lacking

The Arabs claimed on November 29 that they had never heard from Evatt after he received the Feisal letter. The Australian may have worried himself over the situation. He may have sought out other intermediaries. He may have drafted formulas for compromise. But there is no available evidence that he did so. If Evatt's defenders have such evidence, a lot of people would like to see it. Those who regard Evatt as an able and useful statesman would like to see his role made clear.

Almost a year ago, at the special session of the General Assembly, Australia suggested U.N. trusteeship for Palestine. Last October the Canadians mooted it in informal conversations and dropped it because of United States opposition. Even the best friends of the trusteeship plan feel it would have been adopted more gracefully last Autumn before the Jews' hopes were raised so high and then let fall.

Balance Remains

The astonishing fact is that last week's turbulance has not affected the United Nations visibly, or the tug o' war therein between the United States and Soviet Russia. Relations between the two most powerful U.N. delegations are still correct and cool—but not cooler than they weer before Mr. Truman spoke.

Neither the President's verbal artillery nor Andrei Gromyko's grumbling retort "propaganda for internal consumption"; neither the Czech case, nor the amazing United States shift on Palestine partition, has done much to shift the balance here. In fact, Mr. Gromyko's observations on the American Palestine stand were surprisingly sober and moderate. He even detected a certain consistency in the American position which was not visible to less acute observers.

Nor is this afternoon's hearing of the Czech affair—Chile, acting as agent for Dr. Jan Papanek has accused the Soviet Union of engineering the Czech coup—expected to tear the Council wide open. For one thing, the Western powers, while favoring a full hearing, are not disposed to go out on a limb for Papanek.

They fear, frankly, that the former representative of the Prague government is not sufficiently well documented.

This does not mean that Western statesmen are not morally certain that Russia and Russia's emissary—Valerian Zorin with the cheese-cutter-profile—did not play a part in the downfalll of the free Czech state. But it is a long way from moral certainty to a case for the prosecution, backed by overwhelming evidence.

It is especially difficult for an individual, let alone an exile like Papanek, to assemble documentary evidence against a sovereign state. The odds are almost hideously against him.

Back By Colonies

Papanek, it is true, has the backing of the influential Czech colonies in the United States including the powerful Chicago colony, nearly half a million strong. These people, through a trusted newspaper friend (Irving Pflaum, foreign editor of the Chicago Sun-Times) have already had something to say. The presumption is that they may have gathered some evidence, may even be able to produce Czech refugees who have run the gauntlet. They are Papanek's chief backers.

But although American delegation people gave Papanek comfort and advice when he decided to wash his hands of the Gottwald regime, they do not wish to commit themselves too far. They fear that if his charges fail to the ground, the failure will boomerang against the United States and against the Marshall Plan nations of Western Europe.

It is not difficult to see how this could happen. Many a juryman has felt morally certain that the prisoner in the dock was a murderer but, on the learned judge's instruction, he has been unable to convict because the evidence did not establish guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Decisive Action

Communist activity on all levels on which Stalin's busy advance agents operate to pave the way for world revolution has been intensified in recent months, and is comparable to the stepped-up tempo of the expansion of Soviet influence westward and eastward through Europe and Asia.

Program Is Drawn Up

There exists a carefully-drawn program of action by which Reds plan to take full advantage of political and economic disturbances anticipated for this year—disturbances they intend to instigate in some cases and in all cases to aggravate—with the single aim of bringing our democratic free-enterprise system to the state of collapse so ardently desired by Stalin and his fellow plotters for world dominion.

Top-level leaders in the Canadian government know this. Today, in high circles, there is more anxious planning for security than at any time since the war emergency.

Answer Number 2:

A hard revolutionary core of about 26,000 Communists in Canada are known to have taken the Red oath of allegiance to their ideological fatherland, the U.S.S.R. Most of them are members of the Labor-Progressive Party, which is the current legal name of the Communist Party of Canada. This means that Communists in Canada proportionately, are nearly four times as strong as in the United States, where there are about 75,000 Reds for a population almost 12 times as large.

However, it is estimated that, through labor unions and "Communist front" organizations, Communist leaders control a following of from 350,000 to 500,000 "cryto-Communists" and fellow-travellers, most of whom may be led in party line battles short of violence, and thousands of whom could be coerced into joining in violent demonstration.

Strongest In Trade Unions

The largest and most militant group of pro-Communists is found in the trade unions, which the Reds have cultivated assiduously with extraordinary success. Despite strong opposition from non-Communist labor leaders and loud protests from the majority of the rank and file, nearly 180,000 of the total membership of around 800,000 workers affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress are under the complete domination of Communist factions in 13 big unions.

Next strongest support for the Red cause comes from liberal-minded people who belong to organization which either have been organized by Communists who conceal their identity, or taken over by Communists who have joined and seized control, to further party line principles. Tens of thousand of men and women belong to such organization without suspecting they are furthering the schemes of the Red fifth column. Examples are most branches of the Canadian Housewives' Consumer League, a popular movement which Communists have taken over almost completely.

It is significant that more than 75 per cent of Communist strength in Canada is found among foreign-language groups, which are served by their own Red press. An alien ideology, Communism finds readiest acceptance among people who, largely, have come from lands where freedom is not understood because it has never been permitted.

Answer Number 3:

The only real and authoritative leaders of Communists in Canada are Joseph V. Stalin, secretary-general of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, and his fellow-members of the Central Executive Committee and Politburo who direct Communists parties in all countries of the world. Through the Cominform in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and through Soviet diplomatic and trade representatives and innumerable secret agents, the orders of this hierarchy are conveyed to the Canadian Central Executive of the L.P.P. in Toronto.

Members of the Canadian hierarchy—Tim Buck, secretary-general; Harvey Murphy, born Chernikofsky; Joseph B. Salsberg and A. A. MacLeod, both members of the Ontario Legislature; Stewart Smith, Norman Freed, Charles Sims, Leslie Morris and others—hold authority only by grace of the higher-ups, and are subject to command by a host of secret agents whose names are never publicly connected with Red activities.

Labor Leaders Powerful

There is, however, a large body of labor leaders who, because of the undoubted power they wield in important unions, have far more real influence than these nominal heads of the Communist movement in Canada. They are the ones assured of high places in the "dictatorship of the proletariat" when, and if, it ever becomes a fact in this country.

The most successful of them were named in the fifth article of this series.

Answer Number 4:

What would happen to Canada if a Communist revolution should succeed here is shown with shocking clarity by events of the last two weeks in Czechoslovakia, and by records of what has happened in other nations that have been brought under the totalitarian rule of Communism.

Slave-labor battalions, concentration camps and the execution squad for non-conformists, liquidation of whole segments of the population considered unnecessary in the Communist scheme of things, police control of speech and actions, strict censorship of the press, suppression of religion and political distortion of education, ruthless suppression of all other parties, assassinations, suicides—the list is long, and fills columns daily in our free press.

No Difference in Canada

There is no reason to suppose things would be different in Canada, that this of all nations should be singled out for any "moderate" form of Communism. It would be far more likely that the Red conquerors would employ exceptionally ruthless measures to put down manifestations of "bourgeois" self-reliance, which are more plentiful here than in the lands the Communists already have captured.

Answer Number 5:

The undeniable imperfections and injustices of our democratic system are the circumstances that permit alien Communism to flourish in the Canadian climate. The short-sightedness and selfishness of too many of our leaders, the preoccupation of too many of our ordinary citizens with their own affairs to the neglect of their neighbors, whose affairs may be in worse shape, are indictable.

Notwithstanding that democratic free-enterprise offers greater advantages to more people, with more freedom, than any other way of life ever conceived—and that it is capable of as much improvement as the people wish to bring about by sincere co-operation—there are many who fall into the bottomless gap of despair that lies between the ideal and the reality.

Half-Truths In Propaganda

The apostles of Red revolution tell half-truths, finding just enough basis for their vilest slanders of democracy to carry weight with those who, through bitterness or carelessness, are unable to see the whole truth clearly.

Meanwhile, our Church and democratic institutions have succumbed to an apathy which lets the challenge go unanswered. Lost and bewildered people too often find no answers in our society to the doubts and problems that perplex them. They do, however, find plausible, fine-sounding answers held out by our enemies.

Answer Number 6:

There is no cure for Communism because Communism is not a disease, it is a symptom. It is the expression of the vast unrest that permeates all the people of the world, not excepting our own, as the result of the moral, spiritual and economic breakdowns of "bourgeois capitalism."

What we should seek is a cure for the ills brought upon the world by our own selfishness — the disastrous wars, the terrible cycles of boom and bust, the neglect of the underprivileged.

There is a cure for those basic ills, and it is not the slave-system of Communism. It may perhaps be best defined as a higher patriotism, a deeper love of country, an earnest wish for peace and well-being than transcends selfish interest and approximates the Christian ideal of the brotherhood of man.

A renaissance of patriotism of this type would do more than laws, suppression or indignation to draw the fangs of the Red serpents who lurk in our midst with their poison creed. It would turn all men of good will toward the work of building a better, happier land than we have ever known.

It probably would leave a little group of malcontents and misfits who still would shout for rebellion and still would dream of stealing wealth and power; but without their mass following of the thoughtless, the bewildered and the embittered they would be helpless.

These are the best answers the reporter could find, and they are answers he believes to be correct within their limits. To them he would add one more answer to a question not considered at the beginning of the assignment, but of late heard with increasing frequency:

"How much time have we?"

There is no time to lose.

Floods Worst In Pennsylvania

CHICAGO, March 23—(AP)—Flood waters from many rivers and streams spilled over thousands of acres of land in several East and Midwest states today, leaving hundreds in some sections homeless.

Hardest hit by the rampaging waters appeared to be sections of Pennsylvania and communities along the Susquehanna and Chenango rivers in South-Central New York State. But there were local floods in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio and Vermont. Showers and thunderstorms continued from Missouri eastward across parts of Illinois and Indiana to the Atlantic coast. There were heavy local thundershowers from Kentucky southward. Light snow and rain fell in parts of the Pacific northwest.

In Pennsylvania, the state's three principal rivers were the main threats. The Susquehanna and Delaware have overflowed their banks while the Allegheny was inching toward flood stage. Many small streams were out of their banks after flash floods and heavy falls of rain Sunday.

Rest Home Blaze Kills Five Inmates

OMAHA, March 23— (AP) — Fire swept through a rest home here early today, taking the lives of five elderly persons.

A county hospital spokesman tentatively identified the dead as: Tom Ward, Eugene Sullivan, F. H. Welty, R. G. Burman and Harry Wackter.

Identification was handicapped because the casualties were all in night clothes.

Seven other persons were in hospital, some in critical condition.

Firemen said the fire apparently began in a small ante-room on the first floor and scorched several rooms on that floor before sweeping up the staircase.

Britain Still Intends To Quit Palestine

LONDON, March 23.—(AP)—The Foreign Office reported today the cabinet has confirmed a decision to surrender the Palestine mandate on May 15 and to withdraw all British troops by Aug. 1.

A spokesman told a press conference the cabinet had considered Palestine problems at length yesterday "in a general way."

It had not considered in detail the suggestion by Warren Austin, United States delegate to the United Nations, that a temporary trusteeship be created to replace the plan to split the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab countries.

The cabinet wanted more details before committing itself one way or the other.

Greer Garson Will Make 3 Films In '48

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 23 (AP) —Greer Garson, who is calling herself "The New Garson" these days, will get something new in film schedules. She is scheduled to make three movies this year.

Through most of her career, the Irish actress has averaged one picture a year.

"Now I have to make up for lost time," she said, indicating her last two movies. After "Julia Misbehaves," she will probably do "The Forsythe Saga," and then "The Saintly Miss Peters"—planned after the "Mrs. Miniver" sequel, which may be made in Britain.

Hollywood Gandhi

J. Carroll Naish told me an interesting project on "The Missing Bandit set. He has an offer from a British outfit to star in a film biography of Gandhi—if he can shelve 40 pounds. The actor says he would relish the assignment is is consulting with his doctors to see if he can drop the poundage....

Walter Wanger's next film will be "The Bastille," and for shrewd reason. He will make use of sets made for the expensive Bergman opus, "Joan of Arc." He also reports he may film "The Ballad and the Source" in Britain.

The Picture Set

Bud Lancaster was explaining why he broke away from tough guy roles: "I was becoming typed against my will in forceful, lawless parts. I wanted to try something different, but the producers wouldn't listen to me.

"It cost me $50,000 to be able to play a more subdued role in 'All My Sons.' Again I played a weak character in 'Sorry, Wrong Number,' but it took a lot of salesmanship to get the part. I don't believe an actor should wander too far from his basic type, but to stick to it exclusively in jeopardizing his career."

Over Necking

Linda Darnell and Rex Harrison will have some torrid love scenes in "Unfaithfully Yours." A 20th-Fox statistician added up 16 clinches in the script, not to mention various pecks and pats. Said Linda after a clinch: "Amber was never like this"....

Frank Sinatra says he will be doing a lot of dancing with Gene Kelly in their baseball picture. Remember their wonderful routines in "Anchors Aweigh?" The picture is now called "In the Good Old Summer Time," but Gene wants it to be "Take Me Out to the Ball Game." He only wrote it.

Lift Rooming House Tax From Operators

TORONTO, March 23 (CP). — Swayed by the weight of expression by Toronto rooming house operators, the Ontario Legislature Committee on Municipal Law today changed a section of the Municipal Act so that rooming house operators throughout the province will be virtually free from business tax.

A large delegation of rooming house operators, almost all women, appeared before the committee to object to an amendment to the Act which would have required them to occupy 50 per cent of their house in order to avoid business tax.

The second, when changed, read that a rooming house operator must occupy 10 per cent of the house in order to avoid paying business tax. The business tax amounts to 25 per cent of the assessment on the house.

Palmer Kent, K.C., member of the Toronto City Legal Department, said the courts had decided a number of years ago that rooming houses are taxable. He said the bill in question was passed for houses where most of the space was rented out and wanted the 50 per cent figure inserted to make it clear.

Business Booms In Dominon

By The Canadian Press

The upward trend continues in Canadian industrial expansion and earnings.

Reports presented in the House of Commons yesterday forecast capital expenditure of $2,800,000,000 in 1948, an all-time high and $400,000,000 ahead of 1947.

At the same time a report from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics stated that Canada's exports to the United States in February were 37 per cent greater than in February last year, following a January increase of 32 per cent. Total Canadian exports to all countries in January and February were up 14.3 per cent.

In the field of earnings, dividend payments by Canadian corporations for the first three months of 1948 were $104,081,668, an increase of $18,651,305 over the same period last year, it is reported by J. R. Timmins and Co., brokers. For March they were $42,797,974, up $2,066,010 from March 1947.

Security markets continued active yesterday and New York had its heaviest trading in almost a year.

Return True Bill Against Mrs. St. Cyr

COCRANE, March 23—(AP)— A true bill of murder in the axe-slaying of her husband, Jerome, was returned by a grand jury yesterday against Mrs. Clara Irene St. Cyr of Timmins, 32-year-old mother of six.

Her trial is expected to begin today.

Mrs. St. Cyr was charged after the finding early March 5 of her husband's body on a blood-soaked bed in the family's five-roomed tar paper shack in Timmins. The 32-year-old laborer's throat had been cut.

Sport Taxation Will Be Used To Aid Cripples

TORONTO, March 23.—(CP).— One of the primary uses of money from professional sport taxation will be to further facilities for instructing crippled children, Premier Drew said in the Ontario Legislature yesterday.

He said there has been a complete survey of crippled children in the province, including where they are located and nature of treatment necessary.

The Premier spoke warmly of Conn Smythe, president of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, and declared that he has brought to the society the vigorous leadership which produced National Hockey League champions in the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Outlining plans of the society, the Premier said land valued at $150,000 has been set aside on the outskirts of Toronto for a school of instruction. It would be the most modern of its kind on the continent.

A school was already operating in Toronto for western Ontario. The new school would serve Central Ontario and a third to be built in the eastern part of the province would handle that area.

The Premier said Northern Ontario would come into the program when extended later.

Police patrols are keeping a close watch these days on the open stretches of water along Jackson's Park Creek where school children are usually passing. The department has instructed men to warn children away from these spots.

RECRUITING IN LAKEFIELD

A member of the A and T staff of the 50th HAA Regiment, Prince of Wales Rangers, will be on hand at the Lakefield Town Hall tonight to interview interested applicants who wish to become members of the force in Peterborough. Officials say that arrangements have been made to transport such recruits to and from Lakefield as an inducement to attend parades.

TAX RETURNS POUR IN

Between 600-700 income tax refunds a day are pouring into the Post Office. By 11 a.m. on Tuesday morning, 640 had been counted as that day's tally. Each refund must be registered, meaning it is entered in the record book, entered in the letter carrier's sheet, and signed for by the addressee. Those who cannot be contacted personally by the postman receive their refunds by applying at the post office.

CIVIC ARENA DRIVE ON

Streamers, stickers and a headquarters are three indications that those campaigning for the secondary rink are really in earnest. Stretching across George street is a huge streamer with the words "Support the Peterborough Civic Arena Drive. We Need A Rink. It's Now or Never." Stickers boosting the $50,000-project have appeared on many store windows. On George street a headquarters has been opened. So it's on with the drive!

AWAY WITH METERS

About a year ago nearly every sizeable community in Ontario was going through the throes of parking meter installation problems with many a pro and con of public opinion. Belleville takes some sort of honor in being the first town heard from where some thief or fanatic made off with meter and standard on Bridge St. Hardly a thing one could hide for long or get rid of through a "fence", it may show up in the river bed when waters recede to summer levels.

Taxi Operators Organize Unit

Taxicab operators and drivers formed an organization over the weekend, so that concerted action can be taken by the group in regard to problems affecting the business generally. It was reported that there were about 75 owners and driver registered. It is known as the Peterborough Taxicab Association.

President of the association is Herb Stinson. Other officers are: vice-president, Hugh Davis; secretary-treasurer, Mike McGuire; board of directors, William Hawthorne, Fred Dwyer, Donald Conway and Leo DeLaire.

Edward McDonald Dies In 90th Year

Edward McDonald, Peterborough, who worked for many years in McDonald's Cooperage on Queen St., died on Tuesday in his 90th year after a short illness.

Son of the late Bernard McDonald and Mary Ann Flood, he was born and educated in Peterborough spending his whole life here. He was employed at his father's cooperage which is remembered by older residents of the city.

Surviving are his nephew, Frank McDonald, and Mrs. Catherine McDonald, his sister-in-law, both of Peterborough.

The body is at the Anglesey Funeral Home. Requiem mass will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday in St. Peter's Cathedral. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Succeeds McNaughton

OTTAWA, March 23 (CP)—Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council, has been appointed chairman of the Canadian Atomic Engery Control Board, it was learned yesterday. He will continue to head the Research Council as well as the Atomic Board. Dr. Mackenzie succeeds Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton.

PICKING PANSIES

Pansies, one herald of spring in the realm of flowers sometimes don't even wait for the snow to go. On Saturday, Mrs. I. Everett, 637 Chamberlain St. picked one bloom in her garden with snow still along the fence. This morning she found two more blooms. It seems the crocuses, the violets and hepaticas are getting a little competition.

Edwards Sells Big Garage To Bus Lines

Peterborough Bus Lines has purchased the property formerly owned by Edwards Motor Sales situated on the east bank of the Otonabee approximately a block in depth and with 120 feet of frontage on Hunter St. East.

Laurie R. Mitchell, manager of the bus lines, said the property had been purchased and will eventually be used as a garage and for general maintenance work. In the meantime Edwards Motor Sales will continue to use the premises, or at least a portion of the building until sometime in the spring when a new location will be found.

Percy Edwards, proprietor, emphasized that his firm is not selling out; it still has a truck and tire warehouse franchise. A new place of business has not been decided upon definitely, and he said the firm will continue to use part of the building for a few months.

Mr. Edwards bought the property in 1940 and erected a building with an estimated 8,000 square feet of floor space for servicing truck and buses.

It is not believed that very much altering will have to be done to make it an efficient garage and servicing centre for the city bus line.

Kingston Rate Up 6.15 Mills

KINGSTON, March 23—Kingston's tax rate of 47.5 mills was approved by city council last night. The 1947 rate was 41.35 mills. The 1948 rate is comprised of a general rate of 45.13 mills inclusive of the rate for school purposes, and a garbage and ash collection rate of 2.37 mills.

The rate of 47.50 mills is identical to that of the highest mill rate levied in 1936. It is pointed out by members of the finance committee, however, that in 1936 this rate produced taxes amounting to $927,710.24, whereas in 1948 the same rate will produce $1,149,155.21, an additional $222,155.97 in taxes. Debt charges of 1948 are $120,902.37 less than those in 1936, making the tax revenue for strictly current purposes, $343,058.54 greater than in 1936. The increase in taxes by the imposition of a like mill rate results from the rise in taxable assessment from that of 1936 of $18,892,160 to that of 1948 of $24,000,860.

The 1948 tax levy is made up as follows: Unemployment relief, .67 mills; general debt 4.48 mills; city's portion of local improvements, 1.09 mills; general purposes, 17.89 mills; total city council rate, 24.13 mills; high school (board of education), 2.88 mills; technical school, 2.770 mills; public school appropriation, 11.42 mills; public school debenture and interest, 2.90 mills; separate school, 14.32 mills; total estimated expenditure for educational purposes, $477.705.12; public library board, 1.10 mills; garbage and ash collection, 2.97 mills.

Summary of changes in the 1948 tax rate over 1947 levy are: General rate increase, 3.09 mills; garbage and ash collection rate increase, .07 mills; school rate increase, 1.89 mills; library board increase, .20 mills.

A Chilly Swim

John O'Leary, who lives on the River Road between Nassau and Lakefield, joined the ranks of early swimmers last week-end. It did not start out with any bets but the necessity of drawing two pails of river water from the Otonabee for his home. In the "dipping" process John's feet slipped on a piece of ice and shot him into the water, pails and all.

He scrambled around and retrieved the buckets and took himself very quickly to the house for a dry change and managed to punch his time card at the Quaker Oats without a lost-time penalty.

Canadian First To Breed Double Petunias Outside Japan, Speaker Tells Local Club

Failure to credit a Canadian with the first successful breeding of double petunias outside Japan was attacked by A. E. Hick, of Lindsay, at the monthly meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, Monday evening at the YWCA. He explained that until the war, double petunias had been bred only in Japan and that it was a Canadian, who had discovered the secret of breeding them, but that American growers had gained all the credit.

Mr. Hick discussed the problems of flower seed growing and the seed market, with particular reference to Canada and the United States. "More interest than ever is being taken in this country in plant breeding," he said, and mentioned the desire for new strains among the novelty-conscious public. He praised the work of the universities, agricultural colloges and experimental farms in improving and developing new strains of seed. After the lecture, Mr. Hick showed many colored lantern slides of numerous types of flowers. The second vice-president of the society, G. H. Brock, was in charge of the meeting.

Spring Freshets Eliminate Voluntary Power Saving

Voluntary rationing of Hydro which has been observed by local consumers since February 16 may now be relaxed, Ross L. Dobbin, general manager Peterborough Utilities Commission, announced on Tuesday morning. Recent warm weather has allowed freshets to flow again and the volume of water is now adequate enough to allow authorities to return to Hydro Commission regulation as they stood before the voluntary saving began.

It was emphasized that this does not mean there will be a return to the standard of pre-war lighting. In November the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission issued a series of regulations designed to conserve power. These affected commercial premises in particular.

These regulations do not apply to interior domestic use, hospitals, fire, police or other protection services.

Requirements of war production and scarcity of materials since the war have restricted construction of electric-power developments, the Ontario Hydro Commission contends.

It points out that power consumption has increased by 25 per cent. over the 1945 figure. Previous to the war the Commission at all times required a 15 per cent. reserve in case of an unexpected power demand. If that is included in the estimate, Ontario power requirements are now 40 per cent. over 1945.

Power Still Short

As the demand continues to be greater than the supply, these emergency regulations must be continued.

When the cold weather froze many of the streams and rivers thus reducing the flow of water the Hydro-Electric power situation, already subject to emergency regulations, became worse. Electrical cut-offs began in many Ontario centres and continued until the present.

Without permission of the local commission, electric power may still not be used for interior or exterior signs, show windows, ornamental lighting, decorative or advertising purposes.

Air heaters, electric grates, or electric boilers used for heating in stores or offices also fall under the ban.

During hours of darkness service stations are allowed 100 watts per gasoline pump standard, and exclusive of lights in pumps. Parking lots and used car lots may use two watts per 100 square feet, during business hours.

Outdoor industrial premises may use lighting for working areas only.

It is permissible to light marquees or sidewalk canopies to the extent of two watts per square foot of floor-space or sidewalk area covered.

Street lights will only be switched on during hours of darkness.

The local Utilities Commission, realizing the danger, asked all consumers to reduce their use of electricity. Due to co-operation on the part of household users, commercial enterprises of all varieties, and in particular large-scale industry, it was never necessary to take the drastic step of completely shutting off the power in Peterborough.

Commenting on this Mr. Dobbin thanked Peterborough consumers for their public spiritedness in volutarily rationing their electrical demands.

"It was very successful," he said. "We got down below the level asked thus obviating compulsory shut-offs."

Model U.S. City Interests Rotary

Peterborough Rotary Club is considering an invitation from the Rotary Club of Kingsport, Tenn., for a group of five to visit the American model city. The five would not necessarily be Rotarians, but would represent the various organizations in the city and would submit recommendations to the local planning board on their return.

Kingsport boasts of a 65-acre recreation area. It shares three airports providing fresh fruit and vegetables daily, and a huge fleet of trucks and three trunk highways also serve the city. Kingsport Bank directors are the heads of industry and business executives and provide 20-year loans at a low interest rate to people building homes. The city has a full-time architect, whose services are free to home builders, and has well set back homes, winding streets and shaded boulevards. Kingsport boomed during the depression of 1929-32, because of a planned program set up by the Rockefeller Research Council.

In May, 1946, the Kingsport Rotary Club sent their sponsored book, "The Planned Industrial City of Kingsport," to the Peterborough Rotary Club. Highlights of the book were forwarded to all members of the Chamber of Commerce, in Peterborough.

Radio Appeal Finds Elderly Lady Quickly

A fast sequence of events, centred about an elderly woman who had become confused in her directions during a stroll, led to the finding of the woman in a matter of a few minutes after a radio broadcast that she was missing.

The woman, Mrs. Buchanan, left the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Smoothy, 438 Hamilton St., about four o'clock Monday afternoon, and, several hours later, had not returned from the trip to a store one block away.

Radio station CHEX was notified, and at 6.29, the station broadcast a description of Mrs. Buchanan and an appeal to any who should see her.

The radio receiver which got the message and took the next part in the chain of events was in the car of James Dunn, 465 Gilmour St., who was driving on Highway No. 28, near the Kawartha Cub. At almost the same time as the broadcast, he noticed an elderly woman walking along the highway in front of him. He stopped, picked her up and took her to her home.

The police reported to the station exactly 11 minutes after the broadcast that he woman had been found.

Every Citizen Urged Fight Inflation

TORONTO, March 23.—(CP).—All individuals and interests need to be in a state of mind which will consciously resist inflationary pressures, Donald Gordon, Deputy-Governor of the Bank of Canada, declared today in an address prepared for delivery to Toronto members of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

"I suggest that you get out of the habit of thinking that this inflation problem is purely a government problem. The time is past for government effort only—this question of prices has become the personal problem of each citizen.

"First, in our capacity as consumers, let's complain long and loudly about high prices. And let's do without a whale of a lot of things until the prices get down to a respectable level. And let's look over our imported stuff and get along without it wherever we can."

One of the obvious factors in inflation was the rapid upsurge in prices in the United States following the ending of office of price administration control in July 1946. In four years of war the general wholesale price level in the United States rose only 15 per cent, but in the last 20 months the increase had been close to 50 per cent.

"When we bear in mind that the United States accounts for nearly half the world's total industrial output and nearly one-third of the world's exports it is not difficult to understand why American prices have such a powerful effect on the price levels of other countries. Since June, 1946, the United States price for coal has risen by 35 per cent, for crude petroleum by 100 per cent, and for fats and oils by some 90 per cent."

Council Hears Delegations Make Suggestions On Two South-end Sites

Two south-end properties, proposed as separate arena sites, received introductory consideration of the Board of Works Monday night. A deputation from the Children's Aid Society suggested the possibility of selling for something like $40,000-$50,000 the Shelter block, George St. South, for the Community Memorial Centre.

A second deputation sought as a gift from the city the property on the west side of Park Street South, opposite the end of Lake St., for the Civic Arena Committee's secondary rink project.

The board, with Ald. Hurrell Dodds presiding, and all the other members of the council present manifested interest in both proposals. Aldermen Doug Miller, Gordon Armstrong and Hugh Waddell were appointed a special committee to continue discussions with representatives of the Children's Aid Society.

Depending on the progress of the second rink committee with its financing and other plans, the board expressed its willingness to make all or part of the Park Street property available when the other essential details have been definitely determined.

The Children's Aid Society was represented by James Dutton, James Hamilton, J. McKerchar of Lakefield, T. T. Rodger and Fred Ash, and the Civic Arena Committee by Dick Ouimet and Stan McBride.

Purely Tentative

Both site projects are only in their inceptive stage. It will be recalled that the general committee of the Memorial Community Centre several months ago requested the council to consult the CAS about the possibility of obtaining the George Street block after prolonged enquiry into securing a corner of Morrow Park had ended up a blind alley.

The CAS block is bounded by George, Princess, Lock and King Edward Streets. On behalf of its deputation Mr. Dutton said that although the Shelter has been long in use as a temporary home for the wards of the Society, a new and modern building adapted to the special needs of the CAS offered obvious advantages for its future requirements. Separate sections for boys and girls would be a decided improvement in the event of the Society moving from the present location to new premises of its own designing. The value quoted to the council had been suggested by others who were at one time interested in the property.

An idea that has received some thought from the council was the possibility that with new hospital accommodation within the next year or two, the Queen Mary Hospital might be vacated, and some transfer might be arranged with the CAS. Mr. Dutton said that nothing would be done about the south end block until the council has had ample opportunity of considering it. "The Society will give you a chance to say no if you wish."

Cut Estimates

The proposal of the secondary rink delegation was that the council provide the Park Street lot, which was bought more than twenty years ago for industrial purposes, accept it when complete and appoint a commission to assume its management. Mr. Ouimet said the committee had investigated three types of building, and had obtained an estimate of cost at $50,000 without artificial ice. Its dimensions would be 140 ft. by 247 ft. with a regulation playing surface, 80 ft. by 180 ft., seating facilities for 1,000 to 1,200, and standing room for 800-1,000.

Original estimates had been whittled down by economies in the type of seats, dressing rooms, seating capacity, flooring and so on.

Ald. Grant Miller said he was not opposed to the enterprise of the secondary rink promoters, "but according to general costs today I can't see how you could put up a building of that size for $50,000."

For Young Players

Mr. Ouimet replied that the committee did not have a firm bid, but preliminary enquiries indicated it could be accomplished. As to revenue, he said that Norwood this winter had made $2,800 by packing in up to 1,100 at some of their games.

Ald. Waddell asked about the use of the rink, suggesting that it should be for younger teams. Mr. Ouimet said he had registered 273 boys in minor league hockey this season. If a rink was available next winter it would be used probably by 40 teams. The age for juveniles was 16-18 and for midgets 14-16. The Industrial League had 10 teams this season; the CGE Shop League, 12 teams, and there was also the Church League. The handicap to minor Peterborough teams was that they were required to have a roof over their heads. With only outdoor rinks at home they had to transfer their games elsewhere.

Mr. Ouimet said Cannington had recently built a satisfactory rink for $31,000.

"They are asking the city for this lot because they say there is no other one," Ald. Dodds remarked.

In the discussion after the two young men from the committee had left, Ald. Raine said that from reports he had read it appeared that the committee was expecting to get $10,000 from the city.

"I think that tentatively, until we know more of their details, we might consider letting them have the site," Ald. Swanston suggested. "But, if it is built and any fellows are paid for playing, I think they should pay for the use of the rink. If it is for the kids of the city I don't mind future councils paying."

Ald. Raine said the property had been for years an open air rink of the CGE Social and Athletic Club. "If they build there they would simply be improving it, putting a roof on it."

"If we say the council would make the site available when their other plans are completed, I think that is as far as we can go at present," Mayor Ovens said. Ald. Swanston seconded his motion.

"The civic arena committee is not out of the woods yet," Ald. Gordon Armstrong remarked. "They still have the problem of raising funds. Their building plans is only in a tentative stage, and are dependent on funds."

The Park Street lot extends easterly to the CPR. It affords adjacent railway siding convenience if an industry decided to locate there. Mr. McBride said it offered a great deal of parking space at the rear. An idea of the board is that only the front area would actually be needed for a rink.

The Ovens-Swanston motion carried, but nothing was done about the assumption of the proposed building by the council. That was considered a later development in the event of successful financing and approach to the stage of contract.

Fail To Serve Two Inquest Summonses

Injuries To Principals Resulted In Long Delay

LINDSAY, March 23 (ENS)—An inquest called Monday night to enquire into the death of Lorne McLean Cresswell who died June 29, 1947, as the result of a car accident, was adjourned until March 29 owing to the absence of two key witnesses. Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan said "through misinterpretation or misdirection" the summonses to appear were not served to the two Toronto men, Herbert Sanford and John Valencourt. Sanford is said to have been the driver of a vehicle which was in collision with McLean's car at the junction of highways 7 and 46 ten miles west of Lindsay at about 9 p.m. on June 28. Valencourt was a passenger in the Sanford car. Donald McLean, father of Lorne and passenger in his car, was also killed. Dr. G. C. Hall, who attended the accident victims, stated Lorne McLean died of a fractured skull, and shock. His father died from internal hemorrhage resulting from multiple chest and lung injuries, the doctor said.

Bernard Hardcastle, Cresswell laborer who was likewise a passenger in the McLean car and the only surviving occupant, could remember very little about the accident. He said the McLean auto was proceeding south on Highway 46, but that he remembered nothing before the crash. "I was dozing", he stated. "It's unfortunate we can't get more information from this witness", said Mr. Jordan. Hardcastle was seriously injured in the crash and was confined to Lindsay hospital for many weeks. The accident is believed to have occurred as the McLean car turned off Highway 46 onto 7. The eastbound Sanford car is said to have plowed into the side of the former. Both cars were completely wrecked.

Mr. Jordan said the reason for the long delay in holding the inquest was that Valencourt and Sanford had both been very severely injured and were hospitalized for a long time. He said that PC William Milton, who investigated the accident, called Toronto during Monday night's proceedings and learned the summonses had not been served on the men.

Believes Dams Only Answer To Bad Floods

TORONTO, March 23 — (CP). — The opinion that control of flood water or alleviation of floods in the Upper Thames Valley is unlikely in the near future except by construction of key controlled dams was contained in a preliminary report by G. Graham Reid, consulting engineer of the provincial planning department, issued yesterday by Planning Minister Porter.

The estimated cost of diversion of flood waters directly to Lake Erie was listed in the report as $25,565,600 for the "Wardsville cut-off."

If constructed in a tunnel across concession 3 to 8 inclusive in the township of Aldborough the cost would be about $16,495,600. These structures would, it was stated, bring relief from flooding of the lower Thames from London to Lake St. Clair.

The report notes advantages in location of a storage dam at Wardsville.

Affect Tobacco

"The farm area lying between the Thames River and Lake Erie from Delaware to Thamesville comprises much tobacco land. The effect of raising the water table during the summer months in his area and prevention of early frost in the fall by the storage of water would be very great, in addition to the value of flood prevention in the lower reaches of the river by reason of the elimination of property damage.

"The total of the benefits that could be derived from the operation of such a project would easily exceed the amount of $117,000 annually required to retire the capital cost of the project in 20 years at three per cent."

Polish Treasures Well Placed Duplessis Says

By The Canadian Press

Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec told the Quebec Legislature that priceless Polish art treasures, brought to Canada during the war for safe-keeping, are "well-placed."

He charged that R.C.M.P. ordered by Federal authorities to find the treasures, entered the Hotel Dieu convent in Quebec city "without warrant and without legality' and "intimidated" the Sisters.

Change In European Events Jogs Thinking of British

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, March 23 — (CP).— Events in Europe in the last few weeks have resulted in a sharp change in British thinking-- the people's interest has been dragged off their own problems and focussed on the troubled Continent.

Until the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia, it was hard to arouse much public interest in any development not directly affecting Britain. Now, although economic difficulties are as great as ever, there is a new appreciation of the international angle.

There is no desperate feeling that war is inevitable. But there is widespread frustration, worry and fear at the political forces wrestling with one another across the English Channel

The Englishman who had impassively watched the reorganization of the Empire felt a twinge of concern when reductions in the strength of the armed services were announced recently. A few months before he probably would have agreed with a group that wanted the forces reduced almost to nothing, ostensibly to provide manpower for civilian production.

No Murmurs of Protest

For years, workers in this country have sizzled every time anyone suggested that the Franco regime in Spain be recognized. But when Portugal suggested Spain as a partner in the European recovery program at Paris last week—a suggestion politely ignored by the other countries present—there wasn't a murmur of protest.

Another cause for uneasiness is the insidiousness of the Communist campaign. For example, when somebody urges an immediate reduction in the armed forces, is he doing it because he seriously believes that the country's production effort will benefit by using men so freed, or it is part of an international plot to weaken the country's defences?

John Bull finds it bewildering that in the meantime, while he has been preoccupied with the trade balance, convertibility, inflation and other technical problems, a first-class international crisis has come upon him.

Will Forfeit Car To Crown Driving If License Cancelled

TORONTO, March 23 — (CP). — A person caught driving his own motor vehicle while his licence is either suspended or cancelled will forfeit the machine to the Crown under an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act introduced in the Ontario Legislature yesterday.

Under the amendment, introduced by Hon. George Doucett, Minister of Highways, the same penalty will be imposed if a person whose driving-permit is under suspension or has been cancelled, applies for or obtains a new permit before the suspension is lifted or the permit has officially been restored.

There is also a provision for fines ranging from $25 to $100 and a jail term not exceeding 30 days in addition to the confiscation.

The Ontario Research Commission is established on a permanent basis under another bill given first reading. The Commission will be composed of 12 members, appointed by the lieutenant governor in council.

The Commission was appointed in 1945 to inquire into and report on all matters pertaining to agriculture, industrial and scientific research as they affect Ontario. The government has decided to continue it as a permanent body.

Under an amendment to the natural gas conservation act the minister of mines may designate storage areas and control the drilling operation of gas wells in Ontario.

A bill to encourage construction of community halls and athletic fields in rural areas and small towns and villages was given second reading. The bill increases from $2,000 to $5,000 the amount the province can give a municipality towards establishment of such facilities.

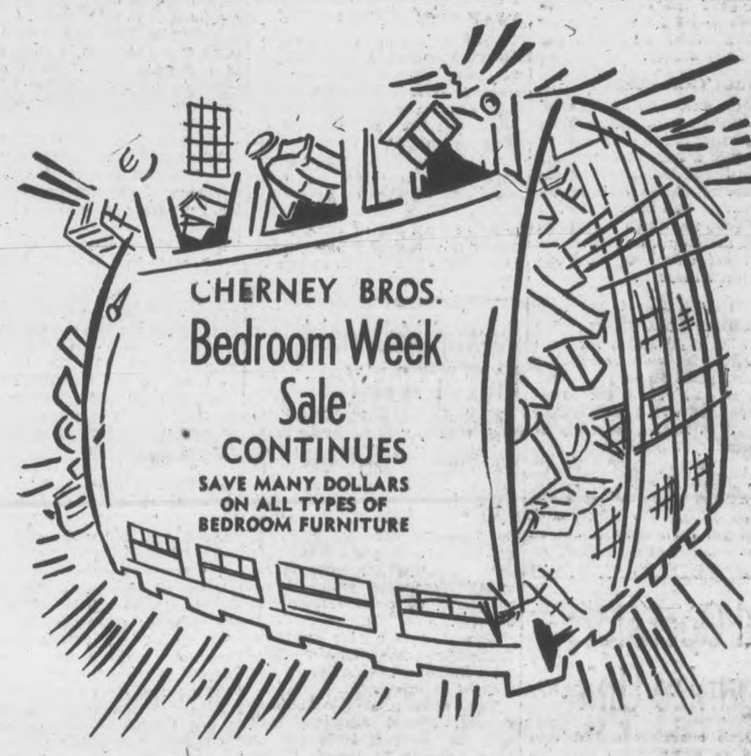
Newsprint To Increase

TRENTON, N.J., March 23. — (AP). — Newspaper publishers were told yesterday they may expect further increases in the price of newsprint. The warning was made by Cranston Williams, manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in an address to the New Jersey Publishers Association.

Faces Murder Trial



BRANTFORD, March 23—(CP). —Maynard Jonathan, 17, of the Six Nations Indian Reserve, will go on trial March 30, before Mr. Justice Urquhart and a Supreme Court jury on a charge of murder. He was charged after the death last November of Isaac Hill, 77-year-old trapper. A grand jury yesterday brought in a true bill on the murder count.

Try To Influence Vote

HAMILTON, March 23.—(CP). —An effort to defeat Communist forces in Italy was made yesterday when 6,000 Italo-Canadians began writing air-mail letters urging relatives in Italy to vote against the Communist party April 18. Father J. F. Bonomi and Father C. T. Mascari asked church members to write letters.

Plan To Probe Wilkie Escape

OWEN SOUND, March 23.—(CP).—An investigation is to be made of the fourth escape by Melville Wilkie of Owen Sound from the Ontario Mental Hospital at Penetanguishene, it was announced yesterday. Henry Cada of River Rouge, Mich., escaped Saturday night with Wilkie.

Dr. MacKinnon Phillips, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for North Grey, said Ontario Health Minister Kelley promised a full inquiry. Dr. Phillips told the minister Owen Sound residents were alarmed and indignant over the frequency with which Wilkie, who killed his wife and baby daughter here, has escaped from the hospital.

Mayor E. C. Sargent of Owen Sound, commented:

"It is getting to be no joke. If they haven't competent supervision at the Penetanguishene institution, they ought to take steps to get it. People in this city are getting fed up with this kind of thing. It is bad publicity for Owen Sound."

Fewer Deer Killed

FREDERICTON — (CP). — Total number of New Brunswick deer killed in 1947 was 2,789, compared with 2,870 in 1946. Lands Minister R. J. Gill attributes the drop to extremely dry weather and to hunting days lost by reason of forest fires.

Police Search 4 Hours For '2 Strange Men'

KITCHENER, March 23—(CP)—District police conducted an intense four-hour search of the Maryville district, 12 miles north of here, following a report that two strange men had been seen there last night. The hunt followed a long and fruitless search in the Breslau area the night previous for Henry Leo Cada and Melville Wilkie who escaped from the Ontario hospital for the criminally insane at Penetanguishene on Saturday.

Chief constable Hilbert Schedewitz of Waterloo township said today that the men reported in the Maryhill area might very easily have been the two seen at Breslau, and there was also a good chance that they are the Penetanguishene pair.

BROMPTONVILLE IS ICE-BOUND — Death and destruction followed in the wake of the worst flood in the history of Brompton ville, a small Eastern Townships centre, as the St. Francis river went on the rampage. Shown in the Top photo are the remnants of two homes that were ground to pieces by the ice. Below, a truck can barely proceed along ice-lined St. Albert street, while telephone emergency crews are attempting to restore service. More than 100 persons are homeless.

Blame Diversionists

BELGRADE, March 23.—(AP).—The Interior Ministry said today a coal mine explosion March 14 at Racha which killed 71 workers was caused by a diversionist group. Racha is on the Istrian Peninsula, near Trieste. The Interior Ministry, which investigated the explosion, said documents found disclosed the blast was caused "by order from outside."

Mother, 3 Daughters Die In Blazing House

GREENWICH, CONN., March 23—(AP)— A mother and her three daughters perished today in a fire which destroyed their cottage.

The dead: Mrs. Mamie Alberta Wiggins, 38; Myrna Valeria, 11; Barbara Dana, 10; and Clare Louise, 4.

Three other members of the family, Samuel Wiggins, the husband and father, and two sons, Samuel, 12, and Richard, 13, escaped.

The fire, police said, occurred as the father was refilling a kerosene heater.

Porter Praises Town Planners

TORONTO, March 23 (CP). — Ontario Planning Minister Porter yesterday said professional town planners deserve credit for progress in the amount of planning being done in Ontario and for increased public awareness of the need for planning.

He told the first annual meeting of the Institute for Professional Town Planners that public support for planning had made it possible for the present provincial administration to bring into being legislation to assist community planning.

Frederick J. Adams of Boston, head of the Planning Department of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and president of the American Institute of Planning, said planners must be carefully trained. Canadians should make sure that their planners were competent, qualified persons.

Praise for the Ontario Planning Act under which Mr. Porter said 95 planning boards have been established in its two years of operation was expressed in a panel discussion in which G. Culham, Dr. G. B. Langford, and J. Layng, all of Toronto, took part. Speakers in a panel which discussed urban expansion into adjacent areas were Anthony Adamson, P. A. Deacon, and Dr. E. G. Faludi, also of Toronto.

Senate Rejects Move To Speed Wheat Changes

OTTAWA, March 23 —(CP)— The Senate last night rejected a government bid for top-speed consideration of wheat board act amendments adopted last week in the Commons.

After first reading of the bill, the acting government leader, Senator A. B. Copp (L—New Brunswick) suggested second reading be given today,

But Senators Norman Lambert (L—Ontario) and T. A. Crerar (L—Manitoba) demanded careful study of the legislation. Their objection led to a decision to postpone second reading to tomorrow. Senator Lambert criticized the "inadequate attention" received by the bill in the Commons and warned against undue haste simply because of the nearness of the Easter adjournment. Senator Crerar described one amendment —state-marketing of oats and barley—as "most objectionable."

Raps Rent Control

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Leader, speaking on second reading of a bill extending the transitional measures act to March 31, 1948, called domestic rent control "positively the most iniquitous control that can be imagined."

He urged the government to announce now it will remove rent controls June 30, 1949, giving tenants "time to get new accommodation or adjust themselves to the situation."

There would be little construction of houses until a "reasonable return" was guaranteed on building investment.

"Rent control doesn't solve problems—it makes them worse. The sooner the government realizes that, the better for the people who want accommodation," Senator Haig added.

Senator Crerar supported the contention that the transitional measures extension should not contain powers for extension beyond March 31, 1949. With Senator Haig he was opposed to all controls and hoped they would be discarded as soon as possible. Any further extension of the emergency powers should be authorized in a separate bill.

Find Missing Boys

TORONTO, March 23 —(CP)— Objects of a city-wide police search during the 24 hours they were missing from their west-end homes, Fred Blahut, 11 and Bruce Tomlinson, 13, were found late yesterday. Police said a patrolman who saw the boys loafing on a street corner a few blocks from their homes recognized one from a photograph.

TRIESTE AGAIN HOT SPOT IN COLD WAR — With the joint proposal of the United States, Great Britain and France that the free territory of Trieste be returned to Italy, this former Italian seaport again becomes the focal point in the cold war between the western democracies and Soviet Union and her satellites. Trieste, marked with an arrow, is garrisoned by a handful of British and American troops while across the Yugoslav border Marshal Tito is believed to have massed overwhelming military power. The three-power proposal was given the Soviet embassy, the Italian embassy and the Yugoslav embassy in a U.S. state department communication. Yugoslavia has offered to trade Trieste for Gorizia, but Italy rejected the offer.

Gives Interesting Talk

KEENE, March 23.—A meeting of the Young Adult Fellowship Organization of Keene United church was held in the Sunday school Monday evening. Agnes Walton and Isabelle McIntyre had charge of the program, which began with a short worship service, in which Evelyn Richardson, Jean Drummond and Arthur Elmhirst took part.

Thomas Weir gave an account of his travels through the United States to Florida, and made his talk interesting and amusing, with an account of his stay in Sarasota and the trip on down to Miami. He illustrated his talk with some very good pictures.

President Tom Hope led the short business discussion, during which Tom Gall read the constitution.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, April 4, and it is expected to include a debate.

"Sorry I'm late — I've been watching a wedding."

GOING TO ENGLAND—Trying on a dress which she will include in her wardrobe on a trip to London is Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late FDR. It is bouffant style in black lace with high rounded neckline and a yoke of black lace over white net. The former first lady is going to England to attend the unveiling of a statue of her late husband.

Laced Waists Endanger Life

LONDON, March 23 — (CP).—Waspish waists are essential for a really new look but British doctors plan a campaign against tight-laced corsets, an official of the British Medical Association said:

"'New look corsets' now on sale here are harmless," he told reporters. "They merely emphasize the waist and increase the hips by padding, but the danger will come when women start tight lacing."

(Paris shops now are selling corsets which depend on tight lacing to cut the waistline.)

British health authorities agree tight corsets can cut a woman's life expectancy by twenty or more years.

30th Anniversary At Harwood

HARWOOD, March 23—(ENS). —Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shearer, Harwood, entertained at a large party on Friday evening on their thirtieth wedding anniversary. The bride of thirty years ago cut the beautiful three-tier wedding cake.

Previously Mr. and Mrs. Shearer had entertained at a dinner party for their family and near relatives. Community singing concluded the evening.

The entertainment included fifteen tables of progressive euchre. The travelling prize was won by Mr. R. S. Johnson. Ladies, first Miss Elizabeth Wright, second Mrs Wilfred Stevenson; gentlemen, first Mr. R. S. Johnson, second Mr. S. O'Connell.

Francis-Irvine

At the parsonage of St. James' United Church, on Friday, Rev. F. W. Craik quietly solemnized the marriage of Lorna Joyce Irvine and Robert John Francis. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Irvine of Prince Albert, Sask., and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Francis of Peterborough.

The bride chose a suit of grey gabardine with grey straw flower-trimmed hat and black accessories. She was attended by Mrs. Richard B. Francis, sister-in-law of the groom who was attired in brown gabardine suit with matching straw hat and accessories. Mr. William Francis attended his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis will live at 581 Sherbrooke St.

Carveth-Smith Mid-March Nuptials Held

The marriage took place in Bailieboro United church parsonage of Hanna Christiana Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Smith, Millbrook, to Russel Walter, only son of Mrs. Walter Carveth and the late Mr. Carveth, Stony Lake, Rev. Mr. Heywood officating.

The bride was wearing a wine gabardine suit, with black accessories, blouse of white triple sheer, and corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Attendants were Mrs. Keith Flynn, of Toronto, wearing a brown gabardine suit, brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mr. Dave Miller was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families was held at Hooper's Palm Room, Peterborough. Mrs. Smith was wearing a black crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of spring tulips. Mrs. Carveth wore a dress of turquoise crepe with wine flowered hat and corsage of red roses.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Carveth left for a motor trip to North Bay, Ottawa and points east. For travelling, the bride chose a printed silk jersey dress with lace trim, beige coat and black accessories. They will reside at Stony Lake.

Afternoon Tea Delightful Affair

TRENT RIVER, March 23 — (ENS). — A delightful afternoon tea and March meeting held at the home of Mrs. Ross Pollock on Thursday by Group 4 of the Women's Association of the United church.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Tom Wight and Mrs. Ernest Vance. The guests who numbered 35 were served from the dinette table which was adorned with a shamrock table cloth and centred with cut flowers and silver candle stick with green lighted candles.

Mrs. T. J. Brown, president of the Association, poured tea and was assisted by Mrs. John H. Scott.

During the tea hour a sing song was enjoyed by the group. Mrs. Frank Openshaw accompanied at the piano.

During the business period with Mrs. Walter Lewis' group presiding, names and fees were ordered handed in to the secretary in regards to the autograph quilt which is being assembled by the group.

Cards were ordered sent to the sick and bereaved of the community. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Lewis.

CWL Presents Variety Concert

A splendid Irish program was presented Friday evening in St. Mary's Hall by the Catholic Women's League of Immaculate Conception church. The president, Miss A. O'Grady, and Mrs. Leo McColl were in charge of the door. The stage background had been painted by Miss Dorothy Rose.

A travelogue film, "In the Footsteps of St. Patrick," shown by Frank Leahy, opened the program. An introduction entitled "The Music of Ireland," was spoken by Bill Duignan. There followed harmonica selections by Neil Plumpton, solos by Misses Carmel and Marie Leahy with Mrs. V. Kennedy accompanying, and violin solos by Kevin Leahy, accompanied by Ann Zsammers. Old-time selections were by Messrs. Bert Shanks, George Corey and Frank Heath.

Anthony DeNoble entertained with vocal solos and was accompanied by Miss M. McCabe. Step dancing by A. Tyndall was much enjoyed. Accordion selections and a solo were contributed by G. A. Touzel. Mrs. D. Campanaro and Maurice Leonard kave a comic vocal duet with Miss McCabe accompanying.

Home and School Association News

PCVS

Mr. Bev Goulding, director of physical education at PCVS, was guest speaker at he fathers' night meeting of PCVS Home and School Association Monday. Introduced by Mr. H. A. Craig of the staff, Mr. Goulding outlined in detail routines covered by the boys through school life, pointing out that 18 classes take physical training twice a week.

They start outside at the first of the term when weather is favorable. Then inside for exercises, volleyball, mat and bar work and basketball with tests taken on their work at intervals. After cadet inspection in the spring they are allowed to relax and play softball.

Second phase of physical education in the school is inter-mural which is planned to gain interest and covers basketball, volleyball, hockey and track meets. In inter-school contests, scholastic standing is watched. Rugby practise is begun the day school opens and uniforms are issued the same day. Practises are regular and strenuous. Basketball practise begins the first week of December and games start in January.

A group of boys from senior, junior and bantam basketball teams put on a demonstration at this point. They covered standing, running and penalty shots, passing and defence plays, and a few minutes of actual play that was very exciting.

Mr. E. Chambers thanked Mr. Goulding and the boys for the very entertaining talk and demonstration.

Mr. G. Wilson Craw was chairman for the occasion. Speaking briefly, he urged parents to interest themselves in the work of students at school so they will continue to higher education. He also outlined costs of keeping up and maintaining the Collegiate which is used so extensively by so many.

Mrs. V. R. Henry, publications convener for Home and School Council, gave a splendid address on the literature available from federation, covering physical and mental health, religious education, sex education, child psychology, many books on adolescent, citizenship, talks by Dr. S. R. Leacock, and the "Ontario Home and School" which she urged should be going to every member's home. Mrs. Henry had an expansive display of the books on hand and orders could be taken.

Mrs. T. J. Carley of the YWCA outlined the camp personnel and activities at Camp Inglestane, Stony Lake, and urged parents to consider advantages gained by girls attending.

Mrs. O. Laderach, president, had charge of the meeting. Refreshments were served by the fathers, under direction of Mrs. A. G. Stock, hospitality convener.

Stage Irish Play In Hastings Hall

HASTINGS, March 23.—(ENS). —There was a good crowd at the town hall on Irish Night, when the play, "Mrs. Murphy's Chowder," was presented by a very able cast. Those taking part were Joan Quinlivin, Patricia Quinlivin, Barbara O'Shea, Dick Condon, Patsy Penny, Beverley McGuire, Kerry Kumph and Francis Berry.

Before the first curtain, the orchestra, consisting of Mrs. E. Petticrew, J. Condon, D. Armstrong and Bill Herrington, played a number of Irish tunes. Father J. Garvey praised everyone who had taken part, and said he hoped that the talent the children had shown would be continued in the future. Mr. J. L. Doherty acted as chairman, and Mrs. Leo Rivard and Mrs. E. Petticrew arranged the evening. Leo Petticrew and Vincent Herrington also took part.

Fashion Flashes

Very dressy blouses are liked for late afternoon wear with suits or with a separate skirt to form a pretty dress. Sky-blue satin as a foundation for sheer, Chantilly-type black lace is the formula for a pretty blouse made with a small Peter Pan collar and full sleeves.

✧ ✧ ✧

Gaining steadily in popularity is the coat or jacket with cape detail. Black, blue and gray striped worsted makes a smart suit, the stripes, used horizontally on the jacket, and vertically on the skirt. A soft shoulder capelet, with small high-placed revers, gives the look of a shoulder yoke.

✧ ✧ ✧

Very neat little sailors with gay trimming are nice for the tailored or softly-tailored suit. Black shiny straw is used for a small off-face sailor trimmed with a wreath of red cherries that are massed in flat clusters against the crown in center front. Upstanding soft green wings complete the trimming detail.

✧ ✧ ✧

That extra-special little dark dress that seems so right for almost any daytime occasion might well be a model of navy or black silk chiffon. A pretty model acquires a hippy look with bands and bands of shirring. The deep, square necked bodice has a bib drope that extends over the shoulders.

✧ ✧ ✧

Increasing in importance is the full-length fitted coat, after so many seasons of the sawed-off boxy model. Wool crepe is used for a good-looking coat which achieves shoulder breadth by means of a small cape over the set-in sleeves. The cape is stitched down to the bodice and the line points up the narrow waist. The skirt is full.

✧ ✧ ✧

No matter what the current hat favorite may be, the little peaked bonnet goes on and on. Black or navy felt faced with pink is used for a pretty bonnet, the pink felt lining the peaked brim. The bonnet is draped with pink nylon net and a single pink rose juts forward to accent the line.

✧ ✧ ✧

The report from Palm Beach describes the sun-back dress with little jacket, bolero or cape for afternoon wear—and the softly handled shirtwaist dress in pure silk prints, as the two favorites.

✧ ✧ ✧

On the move is the word for the people of this broad land. We are doing more travelling than ever, and right through the year, at thtat. Which accounts, perhaps, for the popularity of the handsome town or travel coat in pastel woollens or tweeds with handsome collar and tuxedo stole of lynx or fox.

✧ ✧ ✧

It's young, say the designers of the compose jacket suit, that is, the suit with jacket and skirt of a different color. Pink woolen makes the long slim jacket of a handsome suit, which has a slim skirt of black wool with a moderately flared hemline flounce. The jacket buttons high to a small shawl collar.

✧ ✧ ✧

Back interest is to the fore in many of the new hats designed to go with clothes that have bustle bows or back drapery. Pink cio straw makes a youthful little bonnet worn far back off the face. It has masses of shaded pink blossoms in back, set off by black velvet streamers that extend from the draped crown band.

Skirts Stay Long Optimist ? Says

"The new look will be with us for at least nine more years."

Men take note!

A famous Parisian couturier making his first visit to America explained that he made the nine-year estimate because the extremely short skirt had remained in vogue for that long.

What will happen to women's styles after the nine-year span he could not predict.

Grace Simpson Heads Ex-Servicewomen

First installation of officers of Elizabeth Smellie Branch No. 45 Canadian Legion, was held Monday evening following the regular meeting. Mr. P. Burke and Mr. H. Yelland of Branch 52 were the installing officers. Exservicewomen taking the oath of office were: Miss Grace Simpson, president; Miss Irene Vivash, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Ball, secretary; Mrs. Alice Morin, treasurer; Mrs. Belle Merritt, Sgt.-at-arms.

Mr. Burke spoke briefly to the new officers wishing them every success in their fine work, and asked all members to give them full support.

During the business session preceding, a report of the very successful sale of Easter baskets held Saturday in the Market Hall was given, showing more than $3 cleared for welfare work. A donation of $10 was made to the Canadian Appeal for Children.

A bingo to be held Monday, April 12, in the Legion Hall with proceeds for another branch of welfare work was announced by Miss Vivash of the Ways and Means Committee.

Clothing will be brought to the next meeting by members and this is for shipment to South Poplar Legion Branch in London, England. Each member brings one article of food or soap to every meeting, and one girl appointed each month to be responsible for parcelling and shipping these goods to Britain.

Ross Hood provided the highlight of the evening when he showed colored pictures that he had taken during service overseas. Particularly beautiful scenes were of the flowers about the houses in England. Members took keen interest and delight in seeing these pictures which were of many places they too had visited.

Refreshments were served afterward by Mrs. Pat Vaisey.

Of Interest to Women

Many Women Live to Regret Shedding Good Provider

If husbands and wives counted the cost of a divorce before they got one, it would do more than any other one thing to put a crimp in the home-wrecking industry. But they don't. They figure it out in ttheir books to be all gain. You swap off a husband or wife, who has gotten on your nerves and whom you are tired, for a glamorous new mate. Your decree absolute works a miracle that makes you young and gay again, and there you are tra-la, tra-la, singing a merry roundelay!

Millions of men and women are sold to the belief that a divorce is a sure cure for all of there matrimonial ills, and as it is so easy to get one, why put up any longer with Jane's nagging and John's grumpiness? Why bother with a mate for whom you have lost your taste any more than you would with an old model automobile or a hat that no longer hit your fancy?

DOROTHY DIX

Of course, we all recognize that there are marriages in which divorce is a sad necessity. It is the surgeon's knife that cuts the cancer away in cases where the husband is a brute and wife a virago, but such instances are comparatively rare. The great majority of divorces are the result of married couples longing for freedom, and their belief that they wouldn't have a care in the world if they were rid of their present mates.

Women, Greater Offenders

This is especially true of women, who are the chief patrons of the divorce courts. I get thousands of letters from wives who write: "I hate to break up my home, for I have such a beautiful house, but I want to go to Hollywood and be a movie actress." Or: "I hate to break up my home for my husband is such a good provider and so kind, but he never takes me out to places of amusement." Or: "I hate to break up my home because my children are so fond of their father, but I might as well be married to a dummy for my husband never talks or tries to entertain me."

And so on and on, and it is appalling to think how many women who are married to men who are kind and generous and good providers, divorce them because they are not glamorous. They never stop to count the cost when they throw their meal tickets into the discard until they try living on grudgingly given alimony. Still less do they appreciate the deadly wrong they do their children in depriving them of a father's love and care and money.

These divorcees, who expect to be so blithely happy when they have taken the children and gone back to mother, are due for a rude awakening. Parents give a cold welcome to the daughters who come back and dump a bunch of kids upon them. Old friends look down their noses upon them because they think they were such fools for giving up a good home and shopping ticket because their Johns or Toms bored them. Not many men are looking for brides who bring along a ready-made family. And many and many a once-pampered wife finds out that the only freedom her decree absolute gives her is the freedom to go out and earn her living.

The reaction of men towards divorce is very much the same as women's. Probably the reason that men do not oftener contest their wives' applications for divorce is because they let the onus of breaking up the home fall on Georgina. But many a husband secretely rejoices in being delivered from a nagging wife until he finds out that alimony comes high and that nothing on earth pays him for the loss of his children.

"It's a boy, Captain—displacement eight pounds!"

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B1, C, D, Riboflavin (B2), and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underpar, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

London Hats Give Milady Wide Choice

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, March 23 (CP). — Hats that ran the limit in frivolity, femininity and color were on display at London's spring hat shows with designers reaching for flowers, fruit, feathers, ribbons and veilings as close to the Paris trimmings as possible.

Most of the new styles are worn straight on the head, requiring a fringe effect. With upswept hair styles they are reminiscent of the French Impressionist school: the deep-crowned, narrow-brimmed boater of Renoir and the wide-brimmed bonnet with upswept back, fluted front and floral decoration of Manet.

Recalling Victorian days were Ninich bonnets with shallow, forword movements, the back cocked up "parson's style," flat little sailors with traditional crowns, often have lace overlays; saucer-brimmed Bretons, Watteau plates as flat as trays; half hats with nothing at the back; shepherdesses with wavy brims. There were also big hats, cartwheel, sailor or coolie style; Watteau bonnets with wavy brims filled with flowers and fruit; poke styles and toques.

Austin O'Connor introduced the "Beefeater." A small reproduction of the real "Beefeater" worn by Tower of London guards, it was created in black fur felt having a black veil coming from the crown, caught at the throat with a choker ribbon, the veiling continuing below and decorated with bands of white lace. This made an attractive jabot or, when the veiling was swung to the back of the hat, a collar.

Muffin-Shaped Felts

For photographic purposes some of the models were worn by Hazel Court, British film actress. One such was a muffin-shaped pink fur felt with velvet ribbon chin tie. The hat itself was covered in dark veiling and decorated all over with pearl beading stitched in star shapes. Other models of the muffin shape were composed entirely of flowers.

A navy felt cartwheel had a coarse yellow straw underbrim, its narrow self ribbon catching with neat little bows on either side of the crown heavy heads of ripe yellow wheat.

A black, fine straw, coolie type with side swept brim, was decorated with two large red roses.

Large Breton sailors with fruit or flowers snuggled in their crowns sometimes sported ruched satin ribbon on the edge of their upswept brims.

The boater sailors were liberally decked with fruit, flowers, ribbons and veiling, the veiling often used as a chin tie.

Two fine, pink, Baku straws showed variations of the boater poke bonnet styles. The boater was small with a fluted brim above its straight one, the space between filled with sweet peas, and the bonnet, straight edged and small, had a jabot veiling decorated with pearl beading.

OLDEST WESTERN CHURCH

The oldest church in the western hemisphere is the church of San Nicholas in the Dominican Republic, built in 1512.

THEY WANT A RINK — Nobleton, a police village of 175 citizens in northern York County, wants a $20,000 rink, already has $16,000 on hand. Last night, a supper and dance in the community hall raised $500 for the project. Mrs. William Hoover, whose husband is a cousing of Herbert Hoover, former U.S. President, was marshal of these fine pies for the supper.

While there is definite sign of a productive, pleasant and profitable state of affairs, affecting the career, ambitions, possessions and especially personal relations, yet, as well, there is sign of an irrational, erratic and abrupt or impetuous move or course of conduct, upsetting the "apple cart" disturbance. Some rabid desire, jealousy, enmity, or unrepressed urge stemming from a purely personal urge, could have unhappy and spectacular climax.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which its success and happiness depend upon its own conservative, reasonable and considerate conduct, in which business, finance, possessions, career, and home life and felicity, have utmost significance. It is probable that some unruly passion or desire, enmity, ill will, or emotional crisis could react with dire result on a promising and highly auspicious situation. Personality is a matter of prime importance in all relations.

Friendly Advice Big Factor In Ending Marital Troubles

By J. C. GRAHAM,
Canadian Press Correspondent.

AUCKLAND, N.Z., March 23 (CP).—Great success is being achieved in New Zealand by conciliators set up under the Domestic Proceedings Act eight years ago to attempt reconciliations between couples contemplating divorce.

Although the conciliators have rooms in the magistrates' courts in the chief cities, there is nothing of the courtroom atmosphere about their operations. Conciliators usually write a friendly note to the parties when separation proceedings are filed asking the couple to come and talk things over. They seldom meet with an outright refusal.

Lawyers are barred from proceedings before the conciliator and he treats anything that occurs before him as confidential to himself and the couple involved. In such an atmosphere grievances are often overcome.

Some conciliators claim that in more than 50 per cent of cases before them legal proceedings have been dropped and undertakings given to make a new start.

Conciliators come from varying walks of life. The conciliator in Auckland is J. B. Paterson, a 74-year-old former shipping manager with many years of service on local bodies behind him. In Wellington the position is filled by Rev. Harry Squire, young Anglican missioner. An understanding of human nature has been found a better qualification for the post than any legal or academic training.

Need Auxiliary Help

Some of the conciliators have found, however, that quite a large proportion of the [illegible] come before them when [illegible] too late to bring any real reconciliation and they favor the creation of auxiliary bodies to give help at an earlier stage in marriage [illegible]ements.

To meet this need, marriage guidance councils have been formed in several cities on the lines of those operating in Britain. Young couples meeting difficulties in their marriages are being urged to come to these councils for advice before their disagreements become acute. The councils have a panel of experts, including doctors, and trained psychologists, to call on in dealing with special cases.

Returns show that a very large proportion of the marital failures in New Zealand occur in the first 10 years of married life. Of all divorce petitions filed 72 per cent of the parties have been married less than 10 years. There is no living issue in 50 per cent of the cases and only 17 per cent of those filing petitions have three or more children.

Mr. Squires says that in his experience of cases which have come before him, the second year of marriage is by far the most dangerous period. "The novelty has worn off by then," he said.

Roman Catholic Prelate Uses Strongest Words Against 'Reds'

VATICAN CITY, March 23 —(AP)—The sharpest, most explicit condemnation of communism to come from any ranking Roman Catholic prelate in Italy yet was made public here tday.

Looking toward Italy's vial parliamentary elections April 18, Eugene Cardinal Tisserant disclosed he had told priests and parishioners in his archdiocese:

"I think that no menace so grave as atheistic communism has ever confronted christian civilization."

Cardinal Tisserant, prelate of Porto and Santa Rufina archdiocese, made his statements in a circular letter sent out some time ago but released publicly only today.

He is the sole non-Italian cardinal of the Vatican Curia. His archdiocese is in the environs of Rome.

As secretary for the congregation for Eastern churches the sturdy, French-born cardinal, who will be 64 tomorrow, is peculiarly concerned over communist gains.

He is responsible to Pope Pius for the spiritual well-being of millions of Roman Catholics of the Eastern rite. The bulk of these live in Poland, the Ukraine, Romania, Southern Albania, Greece, Bulgaria, Turkey, Iran, Lebanon, Syria, Palestine, Egypt, Eritrea and Northern Ethiopia.

Doesn't Pull Punches

Cardinal Tisserant's letter put the church viewpoint squarely before his priests and parishioners: that their choice lies between communism and God. His language was both plainer and stronger than any yet used by the Church on this subject.

The social doctrine of Marxist communism, his letter said, "If not exactly understood and strenuously combated by Roman Catholics, generates equivocation and error, and leads to subversion; to the very ruin of life and of Roman Catholic institutions in Italy."

Catholics who favor or spread Marxist social-communism expose themselves to loss of faith and "co-operate in the diffusion of false doctrine...the triumph of immortality, disorder and anarchy of the family, country, and state."

Such people, he said, cannot ask of priests to be admitted of the Holy Sacrament or to have the Ritual Blessings of the Church.

Unusual Butter Profits Still Probed By Committee

OTTAWA, March 23 —(CP)—Examination into "unusual" profits made by a firm of butter dealers on the recent price rise in butter continued today before the Commons price committee.

In its second week of inquiry into causes of the butter-price rise, the committee.

In its second week of inquiry into causes of the butter-price rise, the committee scrutinized operations of Lovell and Christmas (Canada) Ltd., of Montreal, which in the last year made about six times as much money on butter as it did in all the previous nine years.

While two company executives attributed this profit to an unforeseen market rise created by the law of supply and demand, Health Minister Paul Martin, committee chairman, suggested to them yesterday they could have dropped their selling prices to a more moderate profit.

The two witnesses—President John Freeman and secretary-treasurer Gordon McLean—said much action by their company alone would not have affected the general market price. The firm, they said, handled about two per cent of Canadian butter transactions—not enough to influence the market heavily.

In response to Mr. Martin's suggestion that "there was nothing to prevent you selling at a lower price and making a profit," Mr. Freeman said that if his company had given up its profit, it merely would have been "taken up by someone else."

Hard To Understand

The health minister observed that it would be "very difficult to make a reasonable man understand why it would not have been very easy to reduce the price."

The company witnesses testified their company had made $113,000 in the 11 months up to Feb. 28 and expected to make $168,000 in the fiscal year ending March 31. This compared with a loss of $10,000 in the previous fiscal year and over-all profit of about $22,000 on the 1939-47 years.

However, they said the period of high butter profits had "definitely" come to an end with the reimposition of price control on that product in January.

The company president said industry representatives had taken the initiative in proposing the ceiling be replaced.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

AN ADDITIONAL FACTOR

TACTICS in a duplicate tournament for pairs, decided by match points based on how your own scores compare with others on the same deals, are the same as those in rubber bridge a good deal of the time. But in close questions you have another factor to consider. That is the matter of what you estimate that other pairs have done with the same hands. If you feel you have a fine score already and are just seeking to protect it, try a finesse the same direction you think most of the others will do. If you feel the need of some extra good scores in order to win, then deliberately finesse the other way.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♣	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	6 ♥

That terrifically strong bidding by South, including a jump in his own suit and a later bid above game, invited North to try the slam if he had anything at all of special value for the purpose. The latter properly decided that his heart K was just what the doctor ordered. Whether he was right or not depended on what the declarer did.

At all tables of the tournament where 6-Hearts was reached, West led his spade 2, the J bringing South's A. Deciding that the contract depended entirely on the heart finesse, all but one of the declarers then led to the heart K and brought back the 10, covering with the J and losing to the Q. Each of the Wests then switched to the diamond 10, so that the A beat the contract.

South at the remaining table reckoned his pair's score was only fair to that stage and that he must eke out several very good ones to be in the money. After winning the first spade trick, he decided that most if not all of the others would play the hearts the way they did. So, to be different, he finessed the heart 10 on the first round. When it won, he scored the K, led to the club A, cleared trumps with the A and then ran clubs to take all the tricks and score a big top while East went to bed with his diamond A.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

What factor should impel West to find the correct defense against South's 3-No Trumps?

Atomic Debate Frightens MP

LONDON, March 23 —(CP)— Tears in her eyes, a woman member of parliament last night interrupted a debate on atomic warfare by describing the discussion as "appalling."

After Sir John Anderson, national member for Scottish universities had analyzed the possible safeguards against atomic bomb explosions, Mrs. Leah Manning rose in the House of Commons to plead with the government "not to frighten the people for nothing" about the horrors of a new war.

"If you men can discuss this coldly and scientifically here, the women cannot," said Mrs. Manning, labor member for Epping.

"It is ashocking commentary on our times that after drawing breath from one war we should be getting ready for the next."

Earlier, Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Florence Patton, labor member for Rushcliffe, the only two women members of parliament present, looked shocked when their male colleagues talked of gas masks, flash burns, deep shelters and dispersal of population among the dominions. About 25 members participated in the debate.

Obituary

FRED ARMSTRONG

TORONTO, March 23.—Former general manager of the Port Hope Sanitary Manufacturing Co., Fred Armstrong died yesterday at his home, 189 Madison Ave., in his 85th year.

He retired from business 10 years ago. Mr. Armstrong had been a member for many years of the Albany Club, where he played billiards nearly every day. He was also a member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Toronto Board of Trade, Granite, Royal Canadian Yacht, Queen City Curling and Canadian Clubs and a life member of Rameses Shrine Temple. In his younger years he belonged to the Queen's Own Rifles. He was a member of the Church of the Redeemer.

Surviving are a son, Arthur O. Armstrong, Seattle, Wash.; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Baker, Toronto, and one sister, Miss Emma Armstrong, Toronto. Another son, Fred Carr Armstrong, was killed in France in the First Great War.

DAMASCUS. — Haj Amin El Husseini, the exiled mufti of Jerusalem, said not a single Arab accepts trusteeship for Palestine as a solution of the Holy Land's troubles. He said, in an interview, that no Arab would accept anything less than complete independence for Palestine.

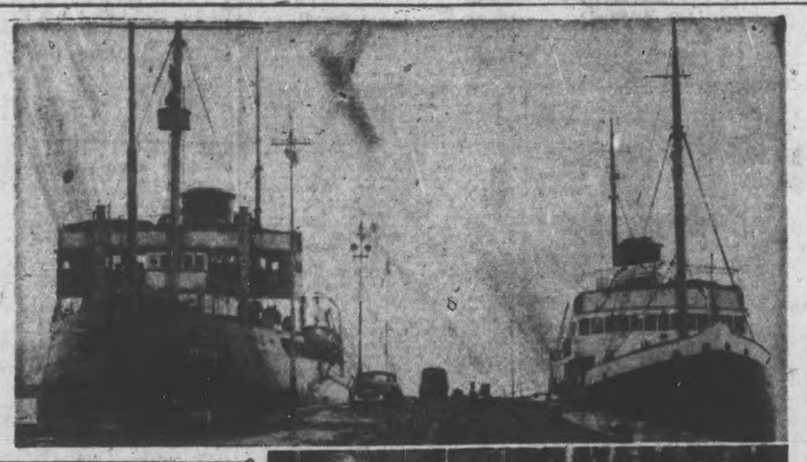
Rev. John Davey Leads Service

HAVELOCK, March 23 — (ENS).—Rev. John Davey, Toronto, who resigned last year as minister of the Presbyterian charge of Havelock, Norwood and Hastings, conducted a special Palm Sunday service at Knox church here on Sunday.

Mr. Davey spoke on the text, "In the beginning God" and pointed out that it would make all the difference in the world if the boys and girls of today have a good beginning for the conception of God will form each one's desting.



In speaking on present day national events and the crisis through which Italy is passing, Mr. Davey said what happens there in the next few weeks may determine whether there will be a third world conflict or not.

Members of the Sunday school formed the choir and entered the church in processional. Prior to this, Fred Bennett sang "Open the Gates of the Temple." Miss Dora Ketchen played the organ. Two Easter anthems were sung by the children. A quartette of Eleanor Scott, Shirley Seabrooke, Dorothy Graham and Harvey McNeely sang.

"The Message of the Flowers" was rendered by Carol Anderson, Marilyn Jack, Lynn Tucker, Jo-Ann Kennedy and Carol Rutherford.

The Scripture lesson and responsive reading were taken by Harvey McNeely and Larry Sayers. The offertory was taken by Scott Sayers, Garry McNeely, Robert McNeely and Fred Anderson.

At the close of the service Mr. Davey administered the rite of baptism to: Susan Patricia Sayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Sayers; James Richard Rutherford, Marilyn Berniece Rutherford, Robert Frederick Rutherford and Ronald Warden Rutherford, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rutherford; Bonnie Sharon Rutherford, Carol Jean Rutherford, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Grenville Rutherford; Elmer Alexander Buchanan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Buchanan.

Havelock Boy Flies West

HAVELOCK, March 23 — (ENS).—Cadet Carleton Longmuir, RCAF, who is attending Royal Roads Military College at Victoria, B.C., and who has just resumed his studies there after taking a month's course at Trenton, wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Longmuir of Havelock, a detailed account of his return trip to western Canada.

Prior to leaving he flew from Trenton to Montreal and went through a large aircraft manufacturing plant where he was very much interested in seeing the big "North Star" planes for Trans-Canada Airlines being built. The following day he left by air for Centralia and arrived in Clinton for tea in the 'officers' mess.' Here he spent almost two days and met quite a number of chaps he knew. The next flight was to Winnipeg, where he met Gordon Southward, a Havelock boy. From Winnipeg he flew to Edmonton and from there to Whitehorse, which is an old mining town and where gold was once found. The last lap of the journey was from Whitehorse to Victoria, where he settled back to the old routine. When he wrote there were leaves on the trees, some flowers were in bloom and the grass was quite green. He mentioned a Havelock boy who is training in the navy, Bob Jones, and who had just returned from his trip.

Grievance Talks

DETROIT, March 23 — (CP) — Grievance talks resumed, 9,000 Hudson Motor Company employees are scheduled to return to work today after a half-day suspension of work. Company assembly lines closed at 1:30 p.m. yesterday after a wildcat walkout of seat building employees. An official of Local 154 United Automobile Workers (CIO), said a dispute had arisen over dismissal of 12 spot welders on a company charge of loafing on the job. The company declined comment.

Eaton Says War Not Too Remote

WASHINGTON, March 23 — (AP). — Chairman Charles Eaton (Rep. N.J.) of the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee said today the possibility of a third world war "is not very remote."

Eaton was asking the House rules committee to send to the House floor quickly legislation for $6,265,000,000 worth of economic and military aid to western Europe, China, Greece and Turkey.

Earlier, the Foreign Affairs Committee had formally reported the bill. It said in a report to the House that "the very survival of the United States" is at stake in the present program to stop Communism and help Europe recover economically.

In other foreign aid actions:

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee recommended $463,000,000 for aid to China for 12 months. Of this, $100,000,000 could be used for military supplies. The administration had asked $570,000,000 economic aid for China for 15 months.

The House Appropriations Committee recommended an emergency grant of $55,000,000 to Austria, France and Italy.

CANADA ATTACKS BIG 4 FENCE SITTING

Arab Troops Open Attack On Jewish Fortress; British Alert Artillery

Two-Storey Pillboxes Protect Village Scene Of Many Skirmishes; British Security Forces Fight Losing Battle

JERUSALEM, March 24—(AP).—Arab irregulars attacked a fortress-like Jewish stronghold six miles north of Jerusalem today, and 11 Jews were known to have been slain. British troops moved out of barracks here toward the Jewish settlement of Neve Yaccov, where army sources said about 700 Arabs are attacking. British artillery units were put on the alert for duty. Two armored cars en route to relieve Neve Yaccov have been immobilized by Arab fire, Palestine police reported.

Neve Yaccov is the only Jewish settlement between Jerusalem and Ramallah, headquarters of Abdul Kader Husseine's Arab irregulars. It is completely occupied by Hagana, the Jewish militia. Women and children were removed weeks ago.

The settlement is surrounded by barbed wire and commanded by a two-storey pillbox fortress. It has been the scene of a number of skirmishes between Hagana defenders and Arab raiders. The settlement situated on a high hill, commands the main highway from Jerusalem to the Arab strongholds of Ramalah, Nablus and Jenin.

British security forces, thinned by gradual withdrawal of troops, appear to be losing their fight to prevent chaos in Palestine and three principal cities—Jerusalem, Haifa and Tel Aviv—are virtually battlegrounds.

Sheik Hassan Bey Salameh, the man assigned by the Arabs to conquer all-Jewish Tel Aviv, has declared he is ready to do it as soon as the British forces leave. He has headquarters in all-Arab Jaffa, neighboring Tel Aviv.

Traffic policemen and an immigration department employee in Jerusalem were injured by gunfire during an Arab-Jewish duel.

EMBARGO HALTS EXPORT COAL — With coal rendered as precious as "black diamonds" by the current U.S. coal strike, an embargo has been placed against coal slated for export. Shown here are some of the hundreds of carloads of bituminous coal stranded at the Greenwich Point yards in Philadelphia, Pa., as the embargo halts their scheduled shipment abroad. UMW officials rejected a new bid by the government to end the coal strike.

Bitter Civil War Looms In Holy Land, Move Soon—McNaughton

LAKE SUCCESS, March 24—(CP).—Canada today told the great powers in effect to "get off the fence" on the question of Palestine. Warning that "bitter civil war" is imminent in the strife-torn Holy Land unless the United Nations decides upon a concrete plan for bringing peace to that Middle East country, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton told the Security Council:

"The Canadian delegation is not at the present stage prepared to declare itself in favor of one course of action rather than another until they have seen some evidence that there is a meeting of minds on the part of the countries most directly concerned in what the best course of action should be."

Much of the General's lengthy lengthy statement was devoted to a review of the history of the U.N. plan for partition of Palestine, approved by the General Assembly last Nov. 29. Before the Council is a recommendation of the U.N. Palestine Commission that an internatonal army be set up to carry out partition after Britain gives up her mandate May 15.

Takes No Stand

Following unsuccessful talks by the United States, Russia, France and China seeking a solution of the problem, the United States last week suggested that instead of partition, a temporary U. N. trusteeship be formed to govern the Holy Land. Gen. McNaughton did not commit Canada either for or against the American proposal.

Noting the "brief but vigorous effort" which has been made in the United Nations since last November to give effect to the partition plan and that it had been proposed that "this effort should be suspended, at least temporarily," McNaughton added:

"The experience of the Commission has demonstrated, I think, that major tasks in the United States involving heavy responsibility should not be entrusted to commissions consisting entirely of small powers, especially if the larger powers are not in agreement that these tasks should be carried out.

"It is to be hoped, therefore, that if new plans for Palestine are to be considered, the responsibility for them will be assumed more directly by the powers which have major interest in that area."

Raps Indecision

Gen. McNaughton's statement was interpreted as criticism of the great powers' vaccilation on the most controversial issue yet to face the United Nations.

Farris El Khoury of Syria spoke briefly at the start of the session hitting anew, on behalf of the Arab states, and at the partition plan in general.

United Nations action on Palestine was stalled by a last-minute decision of the United States to withhold its proposal for a special UN assembly.

The UN Security Council had been called with expectations of acting on a United States resolution which had been promised by Warren R. Austin last Friday.

Says Consumer Helped By Butter Jump

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, March 24 —(CP)— Newest twist in the government's butter-price investigation is evidence that the consumer was among those helped by the price jump of recent months.

This slant was advanced before the Commons Price Committee yesterday by a butter dealer, whose claim was that higher prices favored the consumer because they made more butter available for him to buy.

This testimony—by William R. Aird of Montreal, president of Dominion Dairies, Ltd.—rounded out the list of those supposed to have benefitted from the price rise. On the basis of Mr. Aird's and earlier testimony, it would include everyone who handled butter, all the way from the pasture to the table. Some skepticism over the purported all-around benefits was shown by William Irvine (CCF—Cariboo). If that were the case, he said, then "we're wasting our time here."

Mr. Aird also gave the committee evidence that between last June and December price of butterfat went up the equivalent of 18.3 cents a pound, while the price of butter was rising 16.9 cents.

The dairyman — whose chief business is in fluid milk distribution—said his company generally lost money on butter, which it marketed as a convenience for its milk-route customers. But it had made a profit of 1.31 cents a pound on butter in the nine months up to the end of last year.

Mr. Aird was still on the witness stand when the committee rose last evening for the parliamentary Easter recess, and he was to be recalled when it reconvened April 5.

Release Union Vice-President On $500 Bail

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — Reid Robinson, eastern vice-president of the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (CIO) was released today on $500 bai when an immigrration board of inquiry adjourned hearing of a deportation order against him until 9.30 tomorrow.

The hearing was adjourned at Robinson's request after a half-hour session.

He was brought here yesterday from Timmins by RCMP action on the direction of immigration officials to enforce the Immigration Act to forbid entry of alien Communists.

Andrew Adamson, inspector of immigration and a member of the inquiry board, said he expected witnesses would appear before the board tomorrow.

Immigration authorities here will question the union leader with his alleged Communist activitiesin Northern Ontario. Robinson went to Northern Ontario last October when he left the United States, allegedly to evade the Taft-Hartley Labor Law which forbids Communists to hold office in U.S. labor unions and continue to deal with government labor boards.

Robinson has been in Northern Ontario since last October and his presence in this country has been the subject of questions in the House of Commons. He has been referred to by Senator Robert H. Taft, possible presidential candidate, "as one of the several U.S. Communists who fled to Canada."

Robinson was quoted as saying he was going to stay in Canada until he was picked up by police and escorted to the border.

"They'll have to send the RCMP after me before I'll leave voluntarily," he said.

Sweden Charges Baltic Piracy

STOCKHOLM, March 24—(Reuters).—The unexplained disappearance of the crews of the two Swedish cargo vessels in the Baltic have led to accusations of "piracy" against Russia and Poland in the Swedish press. Seamen are becoming increasingly nervous of Polish ports which, they say, are "unsafe." Both vessels—the Kinnekulle and the Iwan—left Stolpmuende, Poland, Feb. 18, bound for Sweden.

The Kinnekulle was later found near the Danish island of Bornholm abandoned by her crew. There were signs of an explosion in the engine-room but the machinery itself was intact and the vessel seaworthy.

The Iwan has not been traced but a waterlogged lifeboat, a lifebelt and pieces of wreckage bearing her name suggest she has foundered.

Sweden's right-wing and centre press is suggesting that Russian naval units may have "captured" the two vessels and abducted their crews. Two members of the Ivan's crew were Estonians who fled to Sweden to escape Russians.

On the Kinnekulle, a woman's shoes and underclothing of Polish origin found in the crew's quarters are believed here to indicate that a Polish refugee was on board.

Russia has shown increased interest recently in regaining any of her subjects who flee abroad.

So far, the Swedish foreign office has refused to comment on these accusations of what the people's party Aftonbladet describes as "piracy in the Baltic." It has, however instructed the embassies in Moscow and Warsaw to ascertain whether any Swedish seamen have been picked up by Russian or Polish vessels.

Rancher Threw Horse's Remains In River, Fined $25 And $30 Costs Under Health Act

LINDSAY, March 24 (ENS) —Byron L. Maunder, 68-year-old Cameron mink rancher, was fined $25 and $50 costs in court Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of putting the remains of a dead horse in the Beech river, Halliburton county, contrary to a section of the Public Health Act.

Magistrate E. A. Gee, pointed out that many Stanhope township residents get their water for domestic use out of the river.

"We must remember that in Toronto, restaurant owners are being fined $50 for having a few cockroaches and this is a much more serious offence", stated OPP Cpl. Ralph Taylor, who prosecuted the case.

Maunder stated he went to Haliburton to buy a horse for feeding his mink. He cut the meat from the carcass, he said, and on the way back to Cameron dumped the remains into the Beech river some miles above Minden. PC Arthur Watson of Minden said he investigated after receiving a call from Cecil Irwin of Stanhope who told him the carcass was there. Magistrate Gee pointed out that the act forbids the dumping of refuse even on the banks of a stream.

Mr. Maunder pointed out that farmers who water their cattle at streams also perform an unsanitary act.

Charge Racket Operated In Flax Buying

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — A certain flax-buying outfit in Western Ontario is operating a racket in which many flax farmers are being rooked. Ross A. McEwing (Lib.-Wellington North) today told the Ontario Legislature standing committee on agriculture.

Mr. McEwing said that many farmers had been docked up to 25 per cent of the contract price for what the company said was inferior flax seed. This had been done, he declared, in many cases before the bag of flax seed had even been opened by the company.

To overcome this, he suggested a proper system of grading flax before delivery. He strongly advised farmers to keep samples of each crop so that it could be tested and graded.

Chairman of the committee, Stanley Hall (PC—Halton) asked J. M. Newman (Lib.-Labor—Rainy River) if farmers there had run into similar difficulty.

Mr. Newman replied that his constituents make certain they don't sell until they know just what the dockage will be. If they're dissatisfied, they just don't sell.

J. P. Johnston (PC—Bruce) agreed, declaring that some smart lawyers could draw up contracts which give the company's too many loopholes.

Pair In Train Wreck Where Uncle Killed

WINDSOR, March 24—(CP).—Strange coincidence marked a railway-crossing accident here today. One man was injured and a second leaped to safety when a fast Windsor-bound passenger train demolished a light pick-up truck at a Canadian Pacific Railway road crossing.

Edward Ouellette, 25, Puce, Ont., driver of the truck, suffered head injuries and received numerous abrasions and cuts. His father, Charles Ouellette, 44, escaped when he jumped seconds before the collision.

Last November 5 at the same crossing Arsene Ouellette, 22, received fatal injuries, his brother Alphonso, 20, and a cousin Eugene, 17, sustained lesser injuries when a car in which they were riding was struck by the same passenger train at almost the identical time. In the November crash Albert Garant, 30, and Edward Riley, both of Puce, were killed. Alphonso and Arsene are nephews of Charles Ouellette involved in today's accident and Eugene is a son.

Costello Asks Canada's Aid To Solve Irish Partition

DUBLIN, March 24—(Reuters).—Prime Minister John A. Costello, head of Eire's six-week-old coalition government, today emphasized his conviction that the governments of the United States and the British Dominions—particularly Canada—could play an important part in solving Eire's No. 1 problem—the partition of Ireland.

Interviewed in his office, Costello refused to discuss the manner in which he thought the United States and Canadian governments might help, but indicated that he was thinking of "friendly persuasion" on their part.

He recalled Canada's help to Eire at the time of the Imperial Conferences in 1926 and 1930 at which Costello, then Attorney-General, represented Eire.

Expresses Gratitude

"I have always wanted to make clear our gratitude for the help given us by Mr. Mackenzie King and other Canadian statesmen at that time," he stated. "Their help played a big part in the establishment and recognition of the liberties of the Irish nation."

Costello regarded seriously any move intended to assist unification of Ireland, at present split into Eire and the six counties of Northern Ireland which are part of the United Kingdom.

He declared his accession to power after the county had been 16 years under the Premiership of Eamon de Valera had brought changes in the approach to partition.

Won't Reveal Beating Details

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — No details of an investigation into charges that a prisoner was beaten by police will be revealed until the matter comes before the police commission, Chief Constable John Chisholm said today.

John McLeod, a post graduate student at the University of Toronto has charged in a letter to Mayor H. E. McCallum that a prisoner was brutally beaten by police officers while being removed from a patrol wagon.

Police today said the man mentioned in Mr. McLeod's letter and two other men arrested with him on charges of intoxication were involved in a fight with a fourth man preceding their arrest.

Police said they were able to subdue the prisoners only after a fierce struggle in which buttons were torn from one officer's tunic.

Ex-Deputy Premier Tried For Treason

PRAGUE, March 24 (AP). — Czechoslovakia's Communist government will try former deputy premier Jan Ursiny on charges of aiding spies for western powers, the interior ministry announced today.

Ursiny, a Slovak Democrat, will be the first of several former high office holders to face hearings, the announcement said. The trial will take place before the newly-reorganized supreme court of Slovakia at Bratislava.

Borrows 60 Million

LONDON, March 24 (CP)—An informed source said today that he believed Britain has borrowed another $60,000,000 from the international monetary fund to help stretch her dwindling supplies of gold and dollar reserves.

Havana Trade Pact Signed

HAVANA, March 24—(Reuters) —Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, described as a "momentous landmark" today's signing of the "final act" of the international trade organization.

In a message from Lake Success, read at the signing ceremony by David Owen, assistant secretary-general of the UN department of economic affairs, Lie paid tribute to the delegations "whose unflagging efforts and spirit of compromise have now resulted in what may in future come to be regarded as one of the most momentous landmarks in the history of international economic co-operation.

Though many countries were faced with immediate and overwhelming economic difficulties, they had been able to approach "long-term planning for the orderly development of international trade under normal circumstances" and had made provision for the period of transition.

Cold Wave On Way

TORONTO, March 24 — (CP). — Dropping temperatures were expected here tonight and throughout the Lower Lake regian as weathermen foresaw masses of cold air sweeping over the province from the far northwest. Thermometers would drop to 10 above tonight and would not rise above 22 degrees on Thursday.

Communists Say Benes Promises 'To Be Good'

PRAGUE, March 24.—(CP).—A Communist deputy said last night President Eduard Benes has promised he will never fight Communist policy in Czechoslovakia.

The deputy, B. Stiner, told a group of Czech war veterans that Benes made his statement to Communist Premier Klement Gottwald at the president's country home. He did not say when the statement was made.

Stiner quoted Benes as follows: "I do not intend to leave the republic. I never intend to take part in anti-Communist policy. I never will come into contact with those who are enemies of Czechoslovakia."

(The resigned Czechoslovak ambassador to the United States, Juraj Slavik, said last week he believed President Benes is a prisoner of the Communists Alexandre Parodi, French delegate to the United Nations, repeated the statement to the Security Council yesterday.)

Stiner also said that Msgr. Jan Sramek and Msgr. Frantisek Hala, two of the ministers whose resignation precipitated the Czech crisis last month, will be confined in a Roman Catholic monastery.

"The new regime does not want any martyrs," he added.

Internal Affair

NEW YORK, March 24.—(AP) — Alexander S. Panyushkin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, said last night that the recent Communist coup in Czechoslovakia was an "internal affair" made in accordance with the constitution of the Czech republic.

"It was in these changes that the will of the Czechoslovak people for freedom, independence and democracy found its reflection," the youthful envoy said.

Boy Saves Own Money For Atlantic Passage

LONDON, March 25.—(CP).—Eleven-year-old John O'Connor of Birmingham is en route by plane today to join his parents in Toronto—and he's paying for the trip himself.

Long ago John expressed a wish to visit Canada, but his Grandmother, Mrs. Margaret Proctor, told him jokingly: "You'll have to save a lot of money."

Every week John saved his pennies and shillings and last night boarded a plane with £10 ($40) in his pocket and the ticket he had bought himself.

John's parents went to Toronto last year from England and said they would send for their son later.

DP's Pose As Single To Enter Canada

Believe Kitchener Centre Of Grapevine System For Illegal Entry

CAMPBELLTON, N.B., March 24.—(CP).—A tiny Polish immigrant, who herself entered Canada claiming single status although married, today said that many had done the same and had come to the Dominion by giving false information.

Her statement came as an investigation was under way into the departure of two refugee workers at the soldiers' hospital here for Ontario.

Brown-haired Vita Beorovit admitted she had claimed single status to enter Canada, although she was married to a Yugoslav army veteran.

"There were many who said they were single to come," she said.

"We were married about a year ago. I couldn't stay in Europe any longer.

Quite Happy

"I told them I was single. I had no children. My bargain was to work a year, and I shall do so. The other girls want to be near relatives, but I am alone. I am happy here."

Mrs. Beorovit was one of three girls placed at the hospital here about two months ago. The other two, hospital officials said, went to Ontario and Mrs. Beorovit said they were working near Kitchener.

One said: "The girls appeared to know everything as soon as they arrived. Letters from Canadian and American spots started coming in immediately. There must be a regular grapevine with Kitchener at the centre.

"If it keeps coming in I will have to get a secretary."

Mrs. Beorovit also said her husband, a 38-year-old lieutenant who fought with the Chetniks under the late General Mihailovitch, had left Belgium March 7 for Canada. She did not say how he was travelling.

Speaking English slowly but distinctly, she said she had met her husband in one of the displaced persons' camps.

Know Whereabouts

A. L. Fournier, manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission here, said a report on the flight of the two girls had been forwarded to Ottawa. He admitted their whereabouts in Ontario had been discovered, but did not say whether efforts would be made to have them returned to Campbellton.

It was not known if girls employed in other New Brunswick centres had also left jobs without permission.

When brought from Europe they had agreed to stay at their work for one year.

Reunites His Parents But Son Gives Life

DETROIT, March 24.—(AP).—Six-year-old Jimmy Hess finally brought his divorced parents together again.

Robert Hess, 33, and his wife, Bessie, 36, were divorced in 1947 after 11 years of marriage. Last month, Hess was sentenced to six months in jail for failure to pay $86 in alimony. But when Hess was released to attend a funeral, he and his ex-wife decided to again try to make their marriage work.

But little Jimmy won't be around. It was his funeral they attended. He fell into the Rouge River and drowned.

State Marketing Clause Fought

OTTAWA, March 23 — (CP). — The Senate banking committee today voted 15 to eight in support of a motion by Senator John T. Haig, Senate Progressive Conservative leader, to delete from the government Wheat Board Act an amendment providing for state marketing of oats and barley.

The contentious bill, passed through the Commons after introduction by Trade Minister Howe and given second reading in the Senate yesterday, is expected to come up for third reading later today.

If th Upper Chamber agrees to Senator Haig's amendment, the bill would be defeated.

Mother Of Six Says Husband Abused Her

COCHRANE, March 24 (CP)— The case of Clara Irene St. Cyr, charged with the axe-murder of her husband, Jerome, may go to the jury Thursday, it was indicated today.

As the trial opened yesterday, testimony included admission of a voluntary statement by the 32-year-old mother of six children in which she told of attacking her husband after continual ill-treatment at his hands. St. Cyr's bludgeoned body was found at their home March 4.

Mrs. St. Cyr's statement charged her husband frequently beat her and committed indecent acts.

Ontario Plans To Impose Theatre Tax To Boost Hospital Grants

New Fund Will Be Expected To Provide 135 Per Cent. Raise In Municipal Maintenance Allowances

TORONTO, March 24—(CP).—The Ontario Government plans to replace the present 20-per-cent. Federal amusement tax with a similar levy to raise money for hospital purposes. The Provincial tax will go into effect as soon as the Dominion lifts its impost. As legislation for imposition of the tax was introduced yesterday in the Ontario Legislature, Provincial Treasurer Frost said revised provisions for hospital assistance if they become effective this year, will result in maintenance grants for all Ontario hospitals totalling $5,400,000 compared with $2,200,000 paid last year.

He estimated Toronto hospitals alone would receive $1,800,000 in place of $750,000 paid in 1947.

Mr. Frost said Finance Minister Abbott recently announced that the Federal Government intended to relinquish amusement tax.

"We have, at this moment, no intimation from the Dominion Government as to when they may vacate this field. I point out, however, that it is in accordance with their announced policy and it would appear that the Dominion vacation of this field should not be too far removed."

Wait for Dominion

The new legislation would not be proclaimed until such action was taken by the Dominion.

Mr. Frost emphasized that the hospital aid plan would go beyond providing for indigent patients. An effort would be made to relieve municipalities which had absorbed deficits of their local hospitals. The entire proceeds of the amusement tax would go into a fund to provide for hospital aid.

Aside from existing hospital grants, the new fund would provide a 135-per-cent increase in maintenance grants and would reduce municipal liabilities by applying a set rate to municipal hospital contributions.

Tito Backs Out On Gorizia Trade

ROME, March 24.—(AP). — Yugoslavia backed out yesterday from an offer to trade Trieste for the Italian city of Gorizia.

The Yugoslav foreign ministry voiced regret over the "apparent assumption abroad" that Yugoslavia would insist on obtaining Gorizia in exchange for Trieste.

At the same time, a ministry spokesman hinted that Yugoslavia might consider some other swap for the great Adriatic port now in free territory partially occupied by Yugoslavia.

EDWARD BONGARD

Edward Bongard, Norwood, 66, died today at Civic Hospital after a lingering illness. He was born in Norwood, son of the late Ezra Bongard and Lydia Dulmage, and except for temporary work elsewhere, had lived all his life in the village.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Emma Pocok, and a brother Claude, both of Toronto. Another brother, David, lives in Norwood. He was a member of LOL 522, South Dummer.

The body is resting at the residence of his nephew, Alfred Bongard, Norwood, from where the funeral service will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. Rev. John Shannon of Norwood Pentecostal church, will officiate, assisted by Rev. W. B. Greenwood of Peterborough. Burial will take place at Norwood cemetery.

Jews Plan To Set Up Government

Organize New State When British Mandate Is Finished

JERUSALEM, March 24 (AP)—A provisional Jewish government will be set up in the Holy Land May 16, representatives of Palestine's 600,000 Jews announced last night. Britain will give up her mandate in the Holy Land May 15.

Members of the Jewish agency and the Jewish National Council (Vaad Leumi) announced in Tel Aviv:

"The Jewish agency and Vaad Leumi have learned with regret and astonishment of the attitude adopted by the United States representatives on the Security Council concerning the United Nations' decision on Palestine. The Jewish agency and Vaad Leumi declare that:

"1. The Jewish people and Yishuv (Jewish people of Palestine homeland) will oppose any proposal designed to prevent or postpone establishment of a Jewish state.

No Trusteeship

"2. We categorically reject any plan to set up a trusteeship regime for Palestine, even for a short period of time. A trusteeship would necessarily entail denial of the Jewish right to national independence. It would leave Palestine under a foreign military regime.

"3. The failure and disintegration of the mandatory administration, continuation of which was unanimously rejected by the United Nations, necessitates early arrival in Palestine of the U.N. commission (on partition). The Jewish provisional council of government should be recognized without delay by the U.N. commission so that authority may be transferred to it as envisaged in U.N. decisions.

"4. Upon termination of the mandatory administration — and not later than May 16—a provisional Jewish government will commence to function in co-operation with the representatives of the U.N. then in Palestine. In the meantime we shall do our utmost to minimize the chaos created by the present government and we shall maintain so far as lies in our power the public services neglected by it.

Bad Weather Delays Flight

WINNIPEG, March 24.—(CP).—Bad weather, bogey of many northern flights, today caused a 24-hour postponement in RCAF plans for evacuation of seriously-ill Mrs. Sam Dodds from her Polar outpost at Arctic Bay, 2,000 miles north of here.

No. 11 group headquarters in Winnipeg reported receiving a signal from Coral Harbor stating the aircraft used in the mercy operation had returned to the Southampton Island base because of inclement climatic conditions after flying half-way to Arctic Bay.

A second attempt will be made tomorrow.

The signal received here added that when the plane lands it will be prepared to take aboard two patients, instead of only Mrs. Dodds as originally planned.

A brief entry recording the landing will be made in the No. 11 group headquarters log of "operation Dodds" when word of the arrival at Arctic Bay is flashed 2,000 miles south to Winnipeg. The entry merely will record the fact.

Arctic Bay, where Mrs. Dodds has been lying ill for the last four months, is located north of the Magnetic Pole. This means that ordinary compasses perform strange gyrations, rendering the work of the Dakota's navigator, FO. Don Evans of Winnipeg, extremely difficult.

Wins Acquittal

TORONTO, March 24—(CP)—Wallace Campbell, 24, of Toronto, was acquitted yesterday of the $7,814 armed robbery of the Dominion Bank branch of Glencairn and Dufferin streets last Dec. 24. Despite "a strong suspicion" by Judge Samuel Factor he was connected with the robbery.

Hidden Bullet

ATLANTA, March 24 — (AP).—The prolonged nose bleeding of 16-year-old Robert Liggett mystified doctors here—until X-rays revealed a bullet lodged near his brain. Then Liggett admitted what he had been ashamed to tell before: that he had shot himself accidentally Sunday night. Doctors said no immediate efforts will be made to remove the slug.

Narrow Price Changes Prevail On Exchange

TORONTO, March 24—(CP).—Mixed trends and narrow price changes prevailed in quiet trading on the Stock Exchange today. A handful of industrials continued to edge upward but losers also were scattered through the boards. Mining stocks were easier and western oils slow.

The Exchange's noon index showed industrials up .07 at 159.62, golds down .55 at 94.07, base metals .44 at 83.14, western oils .22 at 32.00. Volume for the first three hours was 361,000, about 44,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Winnipeg Electric featured the industrials on about 6,000 shares traded and a gain of ⅝ at 25 and others ahead were Abitibi, Bathurst Power A, Building Products, Canada Cement, Canada Packers A, Canada Wire B, Canadian Car, Dominion Stores, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Loblaw A and Steel of Canada.

Easier golds were Bidgood, Chesterville, Cochenour, Giant, Kerr Addison, MacLeod, Negus, Keno Hill, Teck Hughes and San Antonia. Base metals down were Nickel ⅜ at 32⅛, Noranda ⅜ at 45½, Waite Amulet, Steep Rock and Sherritt. Quemont and East Sullivan were gainers.

Few Traffic Fines

Minor traffic cases were light in court this morning.

G. S. Carpenter, 750 Lansdowne St., was fined $5 and costs for speeding within the city limits.

For improper lights on his car, Edward Bomhour, Lang, was assessed $2 and $1 costs.

Roy Davis, Havelock, was also fined $2 and $1 costs for improper lights on his truck. He also paid $5 and $2.50 costs for failing to mark "right hand drive" on his truck.

US Keeps Army In Germany Blocks Russ Expansion

WASHINGTON, March 24—(AP). — The decision to keep the United States zone of Germany under army control indefinitely has put Russia on fresh notice that the United States means business in its stop-Communism drive. The move was generally regarded here as a step to strengthen one of the most important sections of the lines the United States wants to hold against Soviet expansion in Europe.

The White House announced late yesterday that plans to place a civilian governor over the American zone of Germany on July 1 had been abandoned.

"Following a review of the present situation," the announcement said, "it has been decided that it would be inadvisable to make any changes in our present administrative arrangements for Germany."

The statement declared that Gen. Lucius D. Clay "remains as military governor and as commander-in-chief of the United States forces in Europe."

These forces — estimated at 100,000 — presently occupy the American zone in Germany, the American zone in Austria, and share with Britain the occupation of Trieste.

Their psychological value as a symbol to non-Communist countries of the presence of American military power on the continent has always been rated high by State Secretary Marshall and his advisers.

Diplomatic officials privately contend that the presence of th forces in many ways is a better guarantee to western Europe of American military support than a formal treaty would be. Nevertheless the possibility of having the United States join in a mutual defence pact with the other western powers is under consideration.

UN May Order On-Spot Probe

LAKE SUCCESS, March 24. — (AP).—United States' demands for fullest inquiry into the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia has opened the possibility of an on-the-spot investigation by the United Nations.

American delegate Warren R. Austin said the Security Council could not close its eyes to the grave charges that Russia engineered last month's grab of power in Prague. He added sternly that the new Czechoslovak government and the Soviet Union must lay their cards on the table.

Austin did not go beyond this point yesterday in a speech to the council which an aide said was of a preliminary nature. It was quickly noted, however, the previous council policy has been to dispatch commissions to the scenes of controversy before taking final action.

TORONTO, March 24—(CP)—Hog prices were unchanged at Brantford, $29.10 delivered to farmers; unchanged at Stratford, Grade A delivered to farmers $29.10, to truckers $29.25, in markets reporting early this morning.

Getting The Money To Pay For Our New Schools

This year the Board of Education is adding a wing to Queen Mary School at a cost in the neighbourhood of $229,000 and increasing the size of Confederation School at a cost of about $112,000. Serial debentures have been issued to provide the monies, at current rates of interest, and the principal indebtedness will gradually be paid off during the next twenty years.

* * *

There are several ways of financing capital expenditures by municipalities or Boards of Education. The worst was the method used to pay for the Prince of Wales School. That was built in 1920-21 at a cost of about $250,000. Financing was managed by the City Trust. A sinking fund was provided for, and debentures were issued, the major issue being for $240,000 at an interest rate of 6 per cent. A couple of smaller issues bore interest rates of 6½ per cent. The deplorable factors in financing the Prince of Wales School are these: The debentures were issued for the long term of 30 years. They bore the high, then current, interest rate of 6 per cent. There was no provision made for paying off the debt by instalments. There was no provision made for reducing the interest rate. The principal will not be paid off until 1950; then the holders of the debentures (who are believed to be mostly local people) will receive the $240,000. Since 1920 they have been receiving 6 per cent. on their money—at an annual cost to the city of $14,400. In order to meet the principal payment in 1950 a sinking fund has been built up, but the money in that is not earning 6 per cent., or anything like $14,400 annually. The simple fact is this: In order to get $240,000 to build the Prince of Wales School the citizens of this city will have paid out by 1950 a total of $420,000 in interest alone. Therefore the school will have cost not something in the neighbourhood of $250,000 but nearly three times as much—about $700,000. (This figure takes into account small issues at 6½ per cent. interest, but not the relatively small interest earned by the Sinking Fund.)

* * *

Another method of financing school building is that used in the additions to the Queen Mary and Confederation Schools. The debentures are for twenty years. They are serial debentures, and annual payments will be made to reduce the principal indebtedness. This method is better—at present low rates of interest it adds less than 50 per cent. to the capital outlay.

* * *

A third method has been used in part by Ottawa, under provisions of an Act passed by the Ontario Legislature in 1944 and repealed in 1946. This Act permitted a Board of Education to anticipate building requirements by laying away up to 10 per cent. of its maintenance costs of the preceding year. Under this Act, the Ottawa Board of Education began in 1945 to collect $50,000 annually towards the cost of erecting new schools for which there were then available neither material nor labour. Building in progress now at a cost of $400,000 is already partly paid for. The Board is taking out of four or five years' taxes enough to pay the full costs of schools which will serve the city for the next thirty years.

* * *

The chief advantage of this "pay-as-you-go" method of financing is that the capital outlay is greatly reduced, because there is little interest to pay. Fifty per cent. more schools can be built than can be built for the money got from financing by 20-30 year debentures, or conversely, schools cost 50 per cent. less. A weakness is this: the citizens whose children use the schools twenty years hence may not be the ones who have paid the costs in 1945-49.

* * *

The pay-as-you-go method has so many sensible, money-saving aspects that our own Board of Education might investigate it, in co-operation with the Department of Education and the City Council. The Ontario Government might find that a revised version of the lately-repealed Act would be favourably received by Boards of Education, City Councils and the taxpayers. In four or five years Peterborough will have to undertake an expensive building program for secondary school pupils. Some thought should be given now to the method of financing it.

A National Theatre For Canada?

Mr. W. Eason Humphreys, the president of the Central Ontario Drama League, is bothered by loose talk about a Canadian national theatre. Before we have such a thing, he says, we must have more acting and producing talent in Canada, a substantial Canadian dramatic literature, and large groups of people who want to see plays. Mr. Humphreys think that it will be at least ten years before we are anywhere near these goals. We think that he is right, and that his caution is wise. Nevertheless, we should not like to feel that Mr. Humphreys had given aid and comfort to those Canadians who perversely think that no real dramatic activity is possible in Canada.

We will have a national theatre in time. But before we have anything of the sort we must have hundreds of theatres which are not national, but which are supported by communities which want to see plays. The Little Theatre Movement is the source from which such theatres may spring, and it has been extremely active since the end of the war. In the recent Dominion Drama Festival more than seventy plays were produced, and there are about 20,000 people in Canada who are acting or working in the theatre as amateurs or professionals. It is from this source that our national theatre will come.

Canada is not an easy country in which to present plays. Donald Wolfit, an English actor of established repute, has just toured Canada, playing King Lear, Macbeth, Richard III, The Merchant of Venice, A Midsummer Night's Dream, Much Ado About Nothing, Twelfth Night; his company numbered 35, and they played 100 performances; they played in a great many of the principal cities of this country, and travelled 16,000 miles; their cost of transport alone was more than $30,000; financially, the tour just covered its expenses. Something of the difficulties of theatrical ventures on a large scale in Canada may be judged from these facts.

Nevertheless, a theatre is one of the amenities of civilization, and in time Canada will have a theatre of her own. The Labour Government of Great Britain has just announced its intention of contributing one million pounds toward the construction of a national theatre in Britain, to be run under public auspices, as a joint project of the Shakespeare National Memorial Theatre and the Old Vic Company. Britain, in her hour of need, realizes that people need the theatre, and that they should have the best that the theatre can offer.

Canada, at present, feels no such hunger. People do not yearn for food which they have never tasted. But the taste for plays and playhouses is growing in Canada, and we may expect great developments in our national artistic consciousness during the next ten years.

Why Do We Do It Backwards?

It occurs to us every now and then that all the letters which we receive or write are addressed backwards. The obvious and logical way of addressing a letter, of course, would be like this:

Ontario
TORONTO 3
500 Bay Street
Canadian Dehydrated Mushroom Co.
Shipping Department
Mr. John Jones

This method narrows the address down, step by step, from a large postal area to the man for whom it is intended. Surely post offices and mail clerks would find it easier to handle mail if it were addressed thus?

We do not expect that this suggestion will be given any serious consideration. Tradition insists that the first words on an envelope should be the name of the recipient of the letter, and we would be the last to deny that tradition often is rooted in deep wisdom and psychological insight. We suggest, merely, that the above method is the logical one, and add hastily that we have not too much respect for logic as applied to the affairs of daily life.

A Mexican woman of 101 is to play the part of a woman of 100 in a Hollywood movie. Apparently they think the makeup department can take the extra year off her appearance.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

That Message To Garcia

By SAMUEL MARCHBANK

IN many Canadian homes there are still to be found books bound in limp goat's hide, and printed in black with red capitals, which were the products of the Roycroft shop at East Aurora, New York. I do not like these books myself; the printing is showy rather than good, and the binding is disagreeable to the touch; very often they contain an offensively affected little colophon, explaining that the volume was "done into a printed book by the Roycrofters", and I find that sort of writing painful. Nevertheless, it was through these volumes that the majority of readers on this continent became conscious of the fact that a book can be a thing of beauty, and that typography is one of the great industrial arts. The Roycrofters did not do very good work themselves, but they cleared the way for others who have done admirable work since their time. It was through the Roycroft shops that something of the great example of William Morris and his Kelmscott Press was brought to North America.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE guiding genius of the Roycroft shops was Elbert Hubbard, a man who made a good deal of money early in life as a soap manufacturer, and who is credited with having been the first of his tribe to increase the sale of soap by giving away premiums. But Hubbard's soul yearned after higher things than soap, and when he was still a young man he sold his business and went to Europe to see the world; it was in England that he met Morris and fell under his spell, and when he returned to the U.S.A. he set up a printing shop in imitation of the Kelmscott Press.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT was not a very successful imitation. Morris was a great artist, a man of fine taste, and he had great typographers and designers to help him produce his books. The Kelmscott Chaucer is one of the gems of modern book production. Hubbard lacked these advantages. However, he set out courageously to print books and although he never approached the high standards of Morris he made Americans conscious of the appearance of books as they had never been before. Hubbard's greatest fault was an innate sentimentality of taste. Typography and book-binding are austere pursuits, and Hubbard was never austere. His sentimentality has its monument in the red and black pages and the floppy goatskin of his books.

✧ ✧ ✧

HIS business ability was great, and it did not desert him in his aesthetic adventure. The Roycroft press made money, and soon the Roycrofters were producing furniture, metal objects, pottery and a variety of other things. Visitors flocked to East Aurora to see what was going on, and Hubbard ran a successful hotel to accommodate them. He wore his hair long, and he affected a black windsor tie; many of his principal assistants copied these idiosyncracies of the master. He made countless public speeches about the dignity of work and the beauty of life; he was the nearest thing to a philosopher and an artist that many Americans had seen, and he became exceedingly popular.

✧ ✧ ✧

HIS greatest popularity was achieved by a single piece of writing. During the Spanish-American war a certain Captain A. S. Rowan was told to take a letter to a Cuban leader, named Calixto Garcia, and in spite of some difficulties, he did so. Hubbard chose to exalt this act as an example of the one thing in the world which he professed to love more than beauty — efficiency. Historians have seen nothing remarkable in Rowan's action, and war correspondents at the time protested that Rowan did no more than they themselves did countless times in the ordinary course of their jobs, but Hubbard created a legend, and for a time it had a rich, throbbing life. He wrote "A Message To Garcia" in 1899, and before his death in 1915 it had been reprinted in more than 40,000,000 copies. Manufacturers distributed it to their employees in order to spur them to greater flights of efficiency; fathers gave it to their sons in order to show them how to succeed in life (even though Captain Rowan never distinguished himself subsequently); politicians gave it to their followers as a kind of general admonition to work hard and ask no questions. Hubbard himself made a long and successful vaudeville tour, reading the "Message" twice daily to applauding audiences for $3,000 a week. Such protesting voices as that of Stephen Crane, who declared that Rowan was "a chump....who wore a yachting cap as part of his unfiorm, which was damnable" were drowned in the general acclaim. Those were the days when it was confidently believed that efficiency would move mountains quicker than faith or even brains.

✧ ✧ ✧

HUBBARD went down on the "Lusitania". He was a remarkable man, and his example did much for American craftsmanship. As a philosopher he was a fake, but as an individualist he was a healthy influence, and contributed greatly to the enfranchisement of the arts in his country. He was a very shrewd man, and a very kind one. Because we have seen through the cult of efficiency of which he was a high priest, we need not dismiss Elbert Hubbard as a man of no account. Like many another man, his secondary intentions succeeded better than those to which he gave his first allegiance.

Tightening And Expanding

If we are to combat inflation successfully, it is essential that we tighten up on all forms of credit which expand consumer buying power, or which permit manipulation. It is just as essential that we encourage loans for increasing, and cheapening production and that we try to divert some of the "spending money" of the people into savings.—Milwaukee Journal.

REMARKABLE VISION

Sir: Concerning article in paper about man peeping in window.

I would be interested how a sixteen-year-old girl, could look out a window and identify a man by his clothes and build and yet not see his features.

How this girl could state so looking out a window at night is most amazing.

Yours truly,
DISGUSTED.

BUTTER

Sir: Apparently there is a great commotion about butter shortage and the price. Oh, the cost of butter, we have on every street corner, in the stores, and social functions, teas and etc. Perhaps I could give you a few facts, that might surprise you.

I understand, it takes a real good butter cow, to put up a pound of butter a day. In order to have a real good butter cow, money amounting to perhaps $200 up to, possibly $500, is invested in the cow, to start with. There you have that amount of money invested, before you get a pound of butter, and one would be a long time getting the value of the cow at the price butter is today, even though it is 73 or 75c a pound. Now, we will go on from there. Any one knows that you can not feed a cow for one day for 75c, and I doubt, if you can feed a cow for one day, for $1.75. Can you tell me, then, how the farmer can get rich, or make many selling butter? Now, what about the labour, getting the butter, the care the cow must get. She must be kept clean, has to be fed and cared for. She has to be milked at least twice a day,—who is going to do the milking? Would you dear city reader, do the milking? When the cow is milked, then the separators must be (turned) the cream separated from the milk. The separator must be washed, along with the pails and other necessary utensils. The cream must be carefully cared for, then churned, perhaps for an hour or more. Finally the butter appears. It must be mashed, salted, mixed, printed and wrapped in paper. All this take time, labour and money and adds to the cost of producing a pound of butter.

The butter is now made and must be taken miles into the city to be delivered for consumption. I will leave it, to your own intelligence to figure the cost of producing a pound of butter, and ask you, if there is any of you, who would or could come to the country, and produce butter at even 75c a pound, without a financial loss.

Thanking you,
FARMER.

Ed. Note: As butter is obviously a losing proposition, how about giving it up and going in for margarine? It pays very well and the people who make it like their work.

Time Marches On Into A Cold, Grey Dawn

Considering the fact that last week's issue was the twenty-fifth anniversary number, Time Magazine hardly seemed as alert to colour as it might have been. It must have been a very grey day in New York, if the following quotes means anything:

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them. For the customs of the people are vain: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest, the work of the hands of the workman, with the axe. They deck it with silver and with gold; they fasten it with nails and with hammers, that it move not. They are upright as the palm tree, but speak not: they must needs be borne, because they cannot go. Be not afraid of them; for they cannot do evil, neither also is it in them to do good.

Forasmuch as there is none like unto thee, O Lord; thou art great, and thy name is great in might. Who would not fear thee, O King of nations? for to thee doth it appertain: forasmuch as among all the wise men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms, there is none like unto thee. (Jer. 10: 2-7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is stablished, that it cannot be moved. Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting....

The Lord on high is mightier than the noise of many waters, yea, than the mighty waves of the sea. Thy testimonies are very sure: holiness becometh thine house, O Lord, for ever. (Ps. 93: 1, 2, 4, 5.)

Thanks To Maisonneuve

Toronto, it seems, is having power shortage troubles. Service interruptions, with all their consequences, some with their comic side, some potentially dangerous, have been necessary. With no thought of gloating over the Queen City in her trouble, we may think how much more fortunate we are in Montreal.

We have our brief blackouts at times, of course, but only through accident, usually promptly attended to. When our lights go out, it is not because the generators that keep them bright have slowed or stopped.

Happily for us, when Maisonneuve looked about him for a suitable spot to found Montreal, he hit upon a site with abundant never-failing rivers to be harnessed. Lucky Montreal, that he built it near the mouth of the Ottawa, rather than the mouth of the Humber or the Don. What vision!—Montreal Star.

UNCONSIDERED TRIFLE

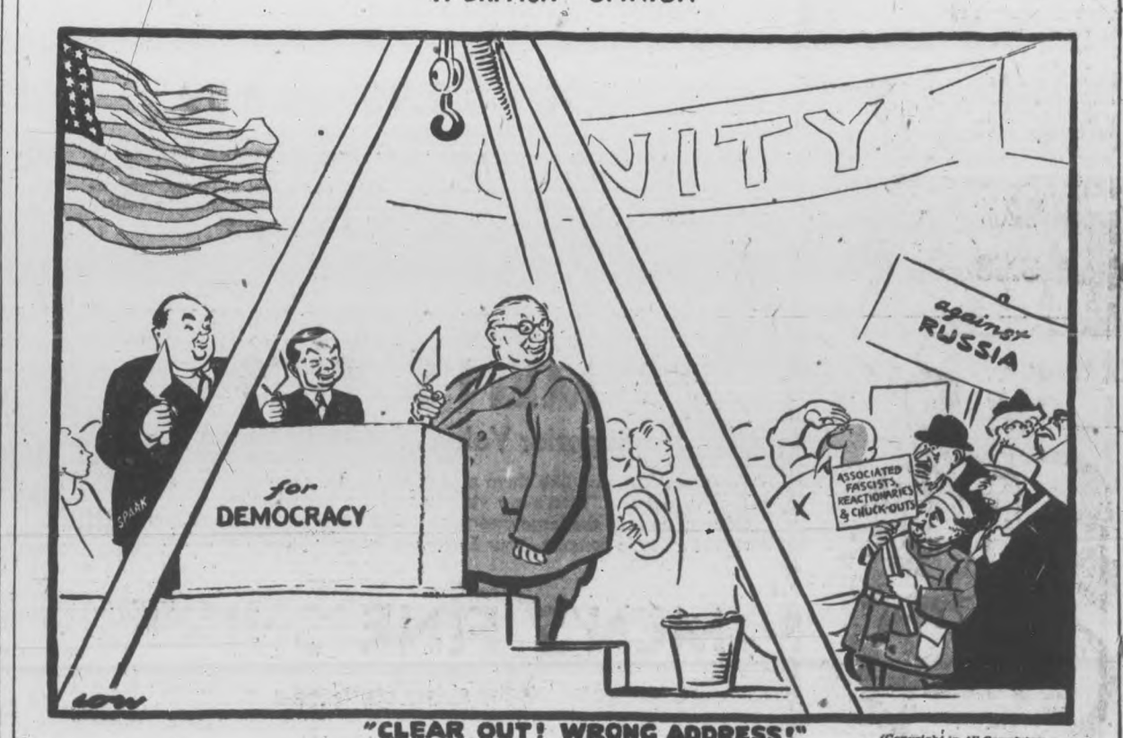
"Robert, where is Adolphus?"

"I'm sorry, miladv, very sorry, but it's dead."



"Dead! Good gracious, Robert, how did it happen?"

"Well, you see, we put it on a blue cushion and it turned blue; then we put it on a yellow cushion, and it turned yellow."

"That is quite natural."

"Then we put it on a Scotch plaid cushion —and then it burst itself."

Temperance Act Replaces Prohibition Law

By The Canadian Press

A step towards enabling residents of Prince Edward Island to buy liquor without a doctor's prescription was taken yesterday in the legislature at Charlottetown.

The House approved a "stringent temperance act" to replace the island province's nominal prohibition law. The measure will go into effect if authorized by a plebiscite next June. It will provide for one purchase a week on the same basis now legal under the prescription system of sales.

Throne speech debate ended at Halifax and Premier Angus L. Macdonald, who also is provincial treasurer, announced he will bring down the Nova Scotia public accounts at today's sitting.

The Quebec legislative assembly concluded discussion of estimates for the attorney-general's depactment amounting to $4,049,000, approved $900,000 credits for the fisheries department and credits of $882,600 for wildlife administration.

The British Columbia government was urged to take over strikebound mines on Vancouver Island unless settlement of the two-month-old strike is reached soon.

A special house committee on the elections act rejected 5-2 Opposition leader Harold Winch's efforts to enfranchise all Canadian citizens who have been in British Columbia six months. The section of the Act Mr. Winch would have deleted now disqualifies every Japanese, Doukhobor, Hutterite or Mennonite unless they are veterans.

Attempted Murder Charge Laid In U.S.

HALIFAX, March 24—(CP)—Raymond Flemming of suburban Fairview was charged with attempted murder today following a shooting Monday in Nova Scotia's legislative buildings when a clerk, Alexander Fraser, was wounded.

No plea was taken from Flemming and he was remanded a week without bail.

Meanwhile, Fraser was reported resting comfortably from a hip wound.

No motive for the shooting was advanced by police.

Picket Union

TORONTO, March 24—(CP)—Canadian Seamen's Union pickets yesterday surrounded the building containing the rival offices of Pat Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union in downtown Toronto. Led by vice-president Dewar Ferguson, the pickets carried signs, one of which displayed a head photograph of Sullivan attached to the body of a rat. The placard read' "No rats for us."

Two Die In Fire

SIMCOE, March 24—(CP)—Mrs. Fred MacLaughlin, 48, and her son, Pat, 14, died late yesterday in Norfolk General Hospital here after they were painfully seared in a blast of flaming oil from an exploding kitchen stove. A second son, James, 19, is suffering from serious burns but hospital authorities said he has a "fighting chance" to recover.

New Lt.-Governor

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP). — Dr. J. M. Uhrich, 70, of Regina, has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan, it was announced yesterday. He succeeds Hon. R. J. M. Parker who died suddenly yesterday. Dr. Uhrich is a former Liberal minister of public health in the Saskatchewan legislature, and will be sworn in as soon as possible.

PRIESTS ARRESTED

PRAGUE — The Prague radio said two Roman Catholic priests, both members of the government prior to the Communist march to power, were arrested while trying to flee the country.

BLACK BAND: "Who has the right to wear a black band on a nurse's cap? My understanding was that only graduate nurses were permitted this honor."
And you're right. The black band on the nurse's cap indicates that the wearer is a graduate nurse, in good standing, of a qualified hospital. Anyone else who wears the black band, say the Nurses' Registry officials, is guilty of misrepresentation. However, no legal action can be taken against the unqualified wearer, we have been told.

PATTERNS: "I want to make slip covers for my chesterfield suite. Where could I get a pattern which would give me the amount of yardage and so on?
McCall's have excellent slip cover patterns. You would need to see the book, though, to get the right style. They are not too hard to make, either.

EYELASHES: "I have colorless lashes and eyebrows that give my face no expression. I don't like mascara—it makes my face look hard. Is there anything else?"
Get the right shade of mascara, then tip it on very lightly on the upper eyelash. Leave the lower lash plain. Buy an eyebrow pencil and touch up your eyebrows ever so lightly. You'll look like a new, very feminine woman.

COSTUMES: "Where could I rent an old fashioned costume of the 1890's? I want dress, parasol, bustle and all."
Malabar's, 309 King St. W., Mel Keay, 22 Madison Ave., or Patricia Card Costumes, 22 Hayter—any one of these can fit you up complete with bustle.

CURDLED COFFEE: "Why does evaporated milk curdle when put in coffee? How can the curdling be prevented?"
Pour the milk in the cup first, then pour in the coffee. If it curdles then, beat lightly with a fork, and away go the curdles.

CHURCH WEDDING: "Could you please tell me where I might obtain information regarding a church wedding? Any information as to proper procedure would be appreciated."
We are sending you a book with the wedding correctly done from the proposal to the last bit of rice. Weddings are thrilling, aren't they?
Send your questions to: KATE AITKEN, 225 Jarvis Street, Toronto, Ont.

CHAMPION — Playing in New York, top-seeded Billy Talbert, of the same city, defeated Sidney Schwartz for the National Men's Amateur Indoor Tennis championship by scores of 4-6, 8-6, 9-7 and 6-2. Above, Schwartz looks on as the winner receives the cup from A. H. Mann, captain of the Davis Cup team.

Sundridge Beats Marmora 11-5

BELLEVILLE, March 24.—Bucko McDonald's Sundridge intermediates ran wild in the last eight minutes of play Tuesday night to trim Marmora Millionaires, 11-5, in the first game in the home-and-home, goals to count series in the second round of the OHA intermediate "B" playdowns. Up until the last eight minutes play had been fairly even, with Sundridge enjoying a 6-5 margin. However, the winners clicked in rare fashion to rap in five markers to smother the Trent Valley champions.

Bo Wheeler and Mac Lang each tallied twice and were credited with as many assists for the winners. Sedore earned four assists, while Harold Hill and Bucko McDonald each netted two.

Earl Cousins chalked up three of the losers' markers, while Ken Trumble and Loveless scored the others. The second game will be played in North Bay Saturday.

Sundridge—Goal, C. Hill; defence, Macdonald and Rennie; centre, Lang; wings, Wheeler and H. Hill; alternates, H. Kidd, Russell, Sedore, H. Christie, D. Christie, Percival, K. Kidd.

Marmora—Goal, Koski; centre, Cousins; wings, K. Trumble and Goodchild; alternates, Doyle, E. Trumble, McInroy, Loveless, Forestell.

Referee—Maurice Walsh, Newmarket; linesman, "Speedy" St. Louis, Belleville.

Whipper Sure He Can Win Tonight's Bout With Davis

Whipper Billy Watson expressed confidence that he can win tonight's main bout against unpopular 270-pound Wee Willie Davis. The Whip figures his speed and science will carry him to a win over his heavier opponent.

In view of Watson's campaign for a match with world champion Wild Bill Longson the Canadian star can ill afford to take any chances with the huge Davis. That should make for a hard actionful match.

In the semi-final Pete Managoff will attempt to spoil the debut of the 350-pound Cardiff Giant. Starting off the big evening will be Jack Dillon and Irish Tommy O'Toole, a pair of fine, fast, big fellows who are reported to know all the answers.

Tonight's stellar matches should provide the fans with plenty of action and thrills.

Leaf Peewees Get Title Against Wings

NORWOOD, March 23—(ENS)—What should have been a fast game on the kind of ice Norwood hockey fans have enjoyed this winter, turned out to be a water-soaked hard slogging game for the Pee-Wee league final on Monday night, in Norwood with a fair crowd in attendance. Leafs took the lead in the first five minutes of play, Peoples getting one on a lone try at 4:55 and Wrightly banged one in 15 seconds later. There were three goals in the last three minutes of play—the first Wrightly counting two more for the Leafs and Carl Davis one for the Wings, their lone goal of the game.

Slashing and splashing seemed to be in order in the second. Horne and Davis threatened to fight and were given a couple of minutes in the cooler. Wrightly again scored.

There were no goals in the third, though the Wings tried hard, but found it difficult to lift or move the puck on the poor ice surface. All the boys tried hard but a three-star selection of each team would include for the Leafs, Bud Wrightly, Lawrence Peoples and Don Rae. For the Wings Carl Davis, Bobby and Ernie Spencer

Final score was 5-1 for Leafs. Each of these teams were allotted players from the Hawks and Bruins.

Line-up:

Leafs—Goal, Don Rae; defence, Ross Horne, Lawrence Peoples; centre, Bud Wrightly; wings, Dick Fredericks, Jack Stackhouse; alternates, M. Scott, D. Rusaw, D. Lochhead, D. McMaster, E. Begg, C. McNulty, J. Mullins, M. Ranson, C. Fredericks, G. Kavanagh, W. Smith, N. McNulty.

Red Wings—Goal, Billy Mullins; defence, Bob Spencer, Bill McNulty; centre, Carl Davis; wings, Ernie Spencer, D. Valin; alternates, J. Feeley, G. Alfred, C. Burtt, D. Morrison, M. Millett, C. Mainland, T. Ranson, Max Millett, J. Ferguson.

Referee: Walter Scott. Linesman, Jack Robson.

Summary.

First Period

Leafs—L. People's 4:55
Leafs—B. Wrightly 5:10
Leafs—B. Wrightly 18:05
Leafs—B. Wrightly 18:30
Wings—C. Davis 19:55
Penalties—B. Wrightly, D. Rusaw.

Second Period

Leafs—B. Wrightly 16:40
Penalties—Horne, Davis, Wrightly, E. Spencer.

Third Period

No score.
Penalty—J. Stackhouse.

After the game the "Pee Wee" trophy was presented to Captain Bud Wrightly by Mr. Arthur Bitten, president of the rink commission.

Keene Bonspiel

The Keene curlers finished their bonspiel at the local curling rink with rinks skipped by Sam Comrie and Charles Mather coming one-two. Mr. Comrie's rink included Henry Weir, Ross Comrie and Harold Kempt; while Mr. Mather's curlers were J. Robbins, Hugh McFee and Roy Stewart. The participants enjoyed the presentations and dance, and the curlers and rink committee expressed thanks to Jack Loucks for making the affaair possible. The final standing:

	W	L	Score
S. Comrie	5	0	54
C. Mather	5	0	48
J. Loucks	4	1	41

WINS TROPHY — Playing coach Ned Vitarelli was voted by Legion puckists as the most-valuable player to his team the past season. His name will be sent to the OHA and he will receive an engraved trophy to keep. Ned beat out Goalie Ross Nicholls in the club voting.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

St. Kitts' scribe is naturally tickled about their surprise cage win over our Marines. Says he: "Petes were not only terribly disappointed at the outcome but they were exceedingly bitter over the super-strict refereeing, with the result that it took an hour after to pacify the Marines officials. Frankly, it was not an easy chore for any refs to handle and, considering the conditions, they did a mighty good chore, even if Petes were unfortunate in not being allowed to display football cagery. All the verbal orchids go to Legion for they did one terrific job in holding Joe Stewart of Petes to one single hoop. He was a stern checker, with four fouls at the half, and out of the game in 10 seconds of the fourth period."

* * * * * *

It runs along something like this, and we don't blame a writer for praising a team that fights back to overcome a big deficit and pick up the marbles. But surely the Marines alone weren't guilty of "football cagery", not after the way those St. Catharines chaps looked in their game here. Nor the way they fought at home. We're told the refs had odd ideas of "super-strict refereeing", being extra tough on some things and looking out the window on others. Rocky Kidd and another guy tangled—they were great guys for getting you under the basket — and nearly knocked each other through the wall, but it only resulted in a free toss. Oh, well, let him have his gloat.

* * * * * *

Fresh Out Of Ice

With the ice gone it's practically a cast-iron cinch that the PM HA finals will not be played in this year of grace. The Legion-Trojans finished the juvenile schedule in first place with Marines second. In midget, it was St. Peter's first with Rotary, who didn't play as many games, next. And Trojans topped the bantams, having played more than Lions. So no champs can be declared or crests passed out, though there'll be a banquet for the boys. They're working on it now and selling ducats—with prizes put up by Dit Clapper and Isadore Black. The lads of this rinkless city have been back of the eight-ball all winter.

* * * * * *

Ned Vitarelli, playing coach (on defence) for Legionnaires, was voted the most valuable player to his team during the recent OHA senior "B" campaign. His teammates did the voting and gave Ned a nod over Goalie Ross Nicholls. His name will be sent in shortly to the OHA and Ned receives a trophy. It seems to be a good choice to us as the heady and scrappy little veteran did a whole lot of hockey playing for Legion after he decided to again don the blades this past winter. He and Godfrey (in front of Ross Nicholls) made Legion's defence the best in their grouping. And he spearheaded many dangerous rushes, besides coaching the club all through. Congratulations, Ned.

* * * * * *

Scribe Carver of Belleville says: "Well, that settled it. And Goldup's squad was a bit too finished for our late enemies, the Peterborough Legion. The latter played their hearts out but they lacked the finish when the chips were down. Furthermore, a gent by the name of Irons, in the Toronto net, was a bulwark of defence for the winners. They should call the guy 'Flat' for he gypped M'sieu Vitarelli, Nicholls and Godfrey out of a dozen goals, and we're not kidding. We like to give the Legion devils their due. The game was played before a packed house, the greater part of them from Peterborough and points nearby.

* * * * * *

"It was slambang hockey—typical senior 'B'—and the big crowd thrilled to every minute of it. It was speed plus, with every player out there battling as though the Stanley Cup was the payoff. The better team won on the night's play, although the score does not indicate that point. Peterborough brought down a trainload of fans, and a lot of others came by bus or in cars. A great night for the ice palace was packed to the rafters. True some nitwits threw a couple of bottles on the ice which delayed matters but no serious harm was done—and the culprits were promptly escorted to the hoosegow." And a Quinte item in the police news says two bottle-throwing fellows and one who started a fight were kept in the cooler for a spell but let out in time to catch the train.

* * * * * *

A Week's Program

Noted a week's program listed for the St. Catharines Arena and thought it might be of interest here, with the arena drive now on. Monday they had OMHA juvenile finals, admission half a slug. Tuesday 'twas industrial puck finals at two bits. Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and Saturday a.m. they had skating, 35 cents adults and a dime for kids. Three school finals carded for Thursday eve with a quarter admission for adults. Friday set aside apparently for OHA competition, while Saturday night they advertised ice lacrosse between Mimico Mountaineers and St. Catharines Athletics for half a buck. And this is the tail end of the hockey season.

WON TITLE—Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd, of La Jolla, Cal., beat Miss Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., at New York, for the Women's National Indoor Tennis Singles title. The score was 3-6, 6-3 and 6-2. Here, Mrs. Todd, left, shakes hands with Miss Hart just before the games.

What's What In Baseball

NEW YORK, March 24.—(AP).—Manager Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics, is getting his boys ready for the siege of night games. The A' are playing their exhibitions in Florda under the lamps

The A's have some men who like night play—Elmer Valo, who batted .398 under the lights in 1947; Barney McCosky, whose night average was .325, and Hank Majeski, who had a respectable .319, compare to a season's average of .280.

Chicago Cubs' hospital list at Los Angeles is gradually getting smaller, but it's still imposing. Phil Cavaretta, Bob Sheffing and Lloyd Lowe now have their arms working well after treatment. But Bill Nicholson still has shoulder miseries and Len Merullo is troubled both with a lame arm and bad back.

Several members of New York Giants, including Manager Mel Ott and outfielder Willard Marshall, have been laid up with colds in Sacramento, Calif.

Ray Sanders, first baseman acquired from Boston Braves, isn't going to rush things in workouts with Brooklyn Dodgers in the Dominican Republic. Sanders has seen no action yet, although he works out easily each day and is swinging hard in batting practice.

Thinks Rangers Have Chance To Capture Cup

By NORMAN ALSTEDTER

NEW YORK, March 24 (CP). — Take it from Frank Boucher: New York Rangers have a chance to win the Stanley Cup but pick the Boston Bruins to win the National Hockey league's prize bowl.

Boucher, leading the Rangers into their fourth playoff series against Detroit Red Wings tonight, looks dubiously at his injury-riddled lineup but nevertheless advises the guessers to throw the season's records out the window.

With sudden death hanging around the corner anything could happen.

But for those who like their statistics, it might be noted that Rangers were unbeaten in seven games during one streak this season and stretched that to 12 with one loss.

Boucher's injury troubles begin with Phil Watson whose chances of playing tonight are slim. And Captain Neil Colville's and Frank Eddolls' are little better.

On Bright Side

Looking on the bright side, he has sure-fire Buddy O'Connor whose 60 points during the season were just one behind Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens in the individual scoring race.

A definite starter is the line of Edgar Laprade, Tony Leswick and Ed Kullman who piled up a total of 25 points this season against Detroit.

Don Raleigh, a 32-point season scoring record behind him, will pivot Cal Gardner and Rene Trudell, who had 25 and 20 points respectively. All are competing in their first playoffs.

That leaves as possible wingers for O'Connor: Rookie Ronnie Rowe, recently brought up from New York Rovers of the Quebec Senior Hockey league; Ed Slowinski, who scored 11 points this season; and veteran Bryan Hextall who has played in five playoffs with the Rangers and notched 22 points this season.

With Eddolls and Colville doubtful starters, the defence will comprise Bill Juzda, Jean Paul Lamirande, Fred Shero and Bill Moe.

FLYWEIGHT CHAMP

Rinty Monaghan of Belfast, last night became the undisputed fly-weigth champion of the world by knocking out Jackie Paterson of Glasgow in the seventh round of their scheduled 15-rounder title bout at Belfast.

Planning Movie On Basketball

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP)—Big project on the book for the United States Basketball Coaches Association is the filming of a movie that will show approved rules interpretations "on which we all agree...." The title probably will be "The Unfinished Movie." There still aren't too many signs of agreement. Doug Mills, reporting on the Big Nine's experiment with allowing cage coaches to talk to their players during time outs, claims the only complaint is that the coaches can't think of what to say.... Similarly, Colgate's Karl Lawrence, describing his elaborate coaching charts, warned his colleagues: "Don't get so mixed up in statistics that you forget to coach."

It Snow Fun

The break-up of a hard winter prompted Alden Calkins, who beats the drums for the Hambletonian, to check up on whether horses trained in the Sunny South or Snowy North have been more successful in the August trotting classic....While Southern training is beneficial in preparing for early racing in California, the results don't prove much.... It may be that the late Walter Cox, who always did his training at Goshen, NY, was right in his theory that the stables shipped South not so much for the horses as for the comfort of the trainers.

CALGARY, March 24 (CP).—Canada's finest figure skaters, including world and Olympic champion Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa, to-day donned their skates for final practice sessions as they strive to perfect the form that they hope will earn them top laurels in the Dominion championships opening here to-morrow.

Following the lead of the pretty Ottawa skating queen, majority of the 40-odd skaters were scheduled to concentrate on the difficult compulsory figures — the opening event of the two-day competition.

Miss Scott again was expected to follow her schedule yesterday when she spent the major portion of a stiff four-hour workout on the figures and then wound up with a brief display of free skating. She only left the ice after her physician had ordered a complete rest for the remainder of the day.

Also practising figures were Wally Distelmeyer and his partner attractive Suzanne Morrow, both of Toronto, who placed third in the Olympic pairs event.

Four-time winner of the Ottawa junior skating championship, 17-year-old Pierette Paquin of the Minto Club—Barbara Ann's home club—spent several minutes on one particularly difficult one-foot figure before going on to the next. Miss Paquin is entered in both senior and junior events.

Little Jeanne Mathews of Vancouver, Western Canada women's champion, was the centre of considerable attention from spectators as she went through her routines under the watchful eye of Trainer Otto Gould. Miss Mathews, Miss Morrow, and defending champion Marilyn Ruth Take of Toronto are expected to prove the main opposition for Miss Scott, who did not compete last year.

Bruins Ready For Leafs Hampered By NHL Scandal

BOSTON, March 24 — (AP). — Beset by injuries most of the season and hampered mentally by hockey's betting scandal which hit them directly Boston Bruins nevertheless are well set for the Stanley Cup series against Toronto Maple Leafs.

They face a jinx in the fact that they haven't won a game against the Leafs on Toronto ice all season.

Nevertheless the last time the Bruins opposed the Leafs in a National Hockey league playoff series, 1940-1941, they won in seven games. That, too, like this season, was in the first round for the Stanley Cup and the Bruins went on to win the cup in the final match against Detroit.

The Bruins also won the coveted ice trophy in 1939 by whipping the Leafs in five games.

Milt Schmidt, Bruins' great centre missed 27 games this season because of injuries. Without him the Bruins appeared like a rudderless ship.

Doing Better

Since his return to action the Bruins have lost only one of nine games—three were ties—as they finished the regular season with the hottest streak of any team in the league.

Boston also is strong defensively and playoff hockey is essentially defensive hockey. In Frankie Brimsek they have one of the game's best goalies, with due respect to the Leafs' Turk Broda, winner of the Vezina trophy.

On this point the Bruins also are confident, emphasizing that Brimsek is best in a series of this type. Defenceman Jack Crawford and Murray (Moe) Henderson also have recovered from injuries.

The Leafs, Bruin players agree, not only are tough to beat but are the defending champions and cup holders.

All three of the Boston lines are scoring threats, even the new trio comprising Paul Ronty, Johnny Pierson and veteran Kenny Smith.

Taking No Chances

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — Ticket seekers started to line up outside the Maple Leaf Gardens at 7.30 p.m. yesterday almost 15 hours before public sale was due to open for tonight's semi-final game between Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins. The ticket wickets were scheduled to open at 10 a.m. today. Scalpers were said to be peddling $2 greens at $16 a pair. Better tickets also were reported selling at a black market rate of four times their original cost.

Not Up To Par

LONDON, March 24 — (AP).— Two crews of rowing heavyweights will "pull their hearts out" in the annual Oxford and Cambridge Universities boat race on Saturday. Britain hopes to find its Olympic Games "eight" from this annual contest dating from 1829. Neither Oxford nor Cambridge, however, has fulfilled its early promise in final training on the 4¼-mile stretch of the Thames from suburban Putney to Mortlake— the traditional boat race course.

Three Teams Win By Identical Scores

By the Associated Press.

Identical 3-1 scores gave Kansas City, Minneapolis and Fort Worth leads last night in the United States Hockey League playoffs. The three games opened the playoff series. Kansas City won at Houston in the best-of-seven series between the Northern and Southern Division leaders. Fort Worth won at Tulsa in the series involving the second and third place teams of the Southern Division and Minneapolis won at Omaha in the Northern Division's second and third place team encounter.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Fred Perry, former amateur tennis champion, polished off 44-year-old Big Bill Tilden in four sets at Madison Square Garden 11 years ago today. Fourteen thousand enthusiasts paid $30,000 to see the black-haired Briton defeat the "Old Master" 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0.

Tigers Have Changed Minds Beg To Get Back In Fold

By FOSTER BARCLAY

OTTAWA, March 24 (CP). — In the spring a young man's fancy turns to love—or football.

There wasn't much love shown on the first day of spring—March 21—when Hamilton Tigers, angered when they failed to achieve a desired financial split on away-from-home games, stomped out of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union.

It was a set-up for Hamilton Wildcats of the Ontario Rugby Football Union to graduate to senior company. They drew big crowds last year and could do it again in the Big Four.

Again it may be that unpredictable spring weather, but the Tigers' love for football has engendered a change of heart. They may be back, begging foregiveness.

Change Minds

On the eve of a Big Four executive meeting in Toronto at which an application from Wildcats is scheduled to be considered, Jack McGill, Tiger executive, appeared in Ottawa and confessed that Hamilton had changed their minds. They are willing to continue in the Big Four if the league is willing.

Nobody is going out on a limb, but a report from Franch Filchok, Tigers' triple-threat United States import, is coming back to Hamilton to accept a job, may have some influence.

It also means that a big six, instead of a big four, is in the making—if the Tigers can obtain a satisfactory financial arrangement. A meeting of the executive at Toronto tonight will decide the issue.

Besides the Wildcat application, it is understood Toronto Indians, another ORFU entry, has applied for a berth in the IRFU.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

President Azaire Choquette of the QAHA said today that unless the Junior Amateur Hockey Association winners are ready to meet Quebec Red Wings at Montreal in the first game of the provincial finals Thursday, the JAHA winner will forfeit the right to continue in Memorial Cup play. The JAHA finalists, Montreal Royals and Montreal Nationales, are slated to meet in the fifth and deciding game of their series the same night, Thursday.

Choquette said that President Alphonse Therien of the JAHA had been notified twice that his league would have to declare a winner before March 25. Quebec Red Wings won the Quebec City League championship, a Junior B circuit until this season when the loop was raised to Junior A status.

General Manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens said yesterday at Winnipeg, he is seeking to expand the pro team's amateur farm system in western Canada. He disclosed he was heading for Regina to complete negotiations for sponsorship of Regina Pats of the Saskatchewan Junior League.

"We are more anxious than ever before to take junior clubs and their minor affiliates under our wing," he said. "We frankly do so with the idea of building up an endless reservoir of future talent for our pro teams, but also genuinely wish to assist the operators and promoters of minor amateur hockey."

Canada's Olympic hockey champions, RCAF Flyers, last night defeated an all-Canadian Scottish League club 7-1 at Perth, Scotland. The Flyers were without 33-year-old Louis Lecompte of Ottawa, out with a badly-bruised eye.

Jack Davies, president of the Quebec Track and Field Association, announced yesterday that the eastern zone Olympic trials will be held at Montreal June 1st. The eastern zone takes in Quebec and the Maritimes. The women's preliminary trials likely will be held the same day, with provincial championships also at stake.

Guy Lombardo, who is fast becoming as famous for his boat racing as his band leading, will attempt to set a United States' speed record for power-boats in his Tempo VI. With a new 1,300-horsepower, 12-cylinder engine mounted in the 25-foot boat, Lombardo, a native of London, Ont., hopes to better the 124-mile-an-hour record established by Gar Wood 16 years ago. In a trial run yesterday Lombardo estimated the boat "hit around 120 miles an hour."

South African golf star, Bobby Locke and Vancouver's Stan Leonard will stage a two-week exhibition tour of western Canada next August. That is, if Leonard can get a leave of absence from his job as professional at Marine Drive golf course, Vancouver. Locke has definitely arranged to fly north immediately after the Tam-o'-Shanter golf classic scheduled for Chicago late in July.

Round-Robin Decides OHA Junior B Title

TORONTO, March 24 (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association Junior B championship will be decided in a round-robin series, it was announced yesterday. Taking part are St. Michael's College Buzzers, Hamilton Aerovox, and either Kingston Vics or Upper Canada College, depending on the outcome of the best-of-three series which the College crew now lead 1-0. The round-robin opens to-night with St. Michael's at Hamilton Aerovox. The three teams will play home-and-home games against each other on the basis of two points for a victory and one point for a tie. The two squads finishing with the highest points will then meet in a best-of-five final series for the title.

Marmora Considers High School Area

MARMORA, March 24. — (ENS).—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Marmora, Deloro and district was held in the town hall, Marmora, on Monday evening to consider whether Marmora village should become part of a large High school area, which has been recommended by the county council.

Reeve Vincent Lynch acted as chairman and introduced Mr. S. D. Rendall, high school inspector, who addressed the meeting and discussed the local problems and the advantages of the larger high school area. He said the new area would cover Rawdon, Huntingdon, Hungerford, Marmora, Madoc, Elzivir, Grimsthorpe and Castel townships and Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Deloro and Tweed. Mr. Rendall pointed out that the new project would be very economical as well as giving vocational training to the rural centres. A vote was taken which showed almost all present in favor of the project. Mr. Lynch advised that the matter would be dealt with at the next meeting of the council.

RANGER'S MOST VALUABLE PLAYER — Buddy O'Connor of the New York Rangers received a trophy and a $100 bond from Harold W. McGraw (right), for being chosen the Rangers' most valuable player. James W. Danahy (left), looks on at Madison Square Garden in New York where the Rangers wound up in fourth place in the National Hockey League race by losing to the Chicago Black Hawks, 4-3, Sunday night. O'Connor was just nosed out by Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens in the race for individual scoring honors. Lach took the title with 61 points, while O'Connor wound up with 60, but to O'Connor's $500 prize a like amount was added by Ranger management so both players will get $1,000.

HARBINGERS OF SPRING — The winter blackout of island navigation beacons came to an end in Montreal and the Tetreautville back light, one of the first to come on again, is shown pouring its welcoming rays across the river—an early season aid to the icebreakers while working in the harbor.

It's Time National Film Board Cleaned Up, Fraser Declares

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, March 24—(CP).—The Commons, clearing its decks for a 10-day Easter recess, moved two important Government measures through key stages yesterday. The House is expected to adjourn today until April 5 for its first holiday of length since it returned from Christmas recess late in January. In a rambling sitting, it:

1. Voted 122 to 45 to give second reading and later, without division, gave final reading to a bill to extend to March 31, 1949, the Government's powers to bulk-purchase farm products to fill food contracts with Britain. They were negotiated at the turn of the year.

2. Completed long, hectic, occasionally bitter study of a resolution implementing a 25 per cent excise tax on a wide range of goods as part of the dollar-saving program. The enabling bill got first reading. It will be up for second reading to-day.

3. Heard M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, criticize a $202,000 cut in appropriations for the National Film Board, and G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) contend it was time the board was "cleaned up."

4. Listened to T. J. Bentley (CCF-Swift Current) urge that "some form of continuing commission" study all phases of Canadian farming to seek an income tax form to replace the present "impractical" one.

The Commons was in the midst of consideration of $80,000,000 worth of supplementary estimates for the current fiscal year at the night adjournment.

Food Pact Assured

The bulk-purchasing of foodstuffs measure went through the Commons after Agriculture Minister Gardiner emphasized that there was "no doubt whatsoever" that Britain would be able to take and pay for all the quantities of commodities for which she had negotiated. They include bacon, beef, cheese and eggs.

Mr. Gardiner said something had happened yesterday which made "it absolutely certain, if it were not certain before, that this food will all be paid for throughout the year."

Outside the House, informed sources said they thought it likely that this indicated Britain had assured Canada she could pay for the food between the time present financial arrangements end on March 31 and the Marshall plan begins operating. The time lag, if there is one, may cover only a few days.

Trade Minister Howe announced that next August 1 the Government will remove its $5-a-bushel ceiling on flax and initiate a $4-a-bushel support price to be paid only if the market drops to that level. Demand for flax was lessened.

No Hint on Budget

Questioners failed to get a hint from Mr. Abbott as to when he would bring down the budget. In the Film Board discussion, Mr. Coldwell urged an increase rather than a reduction in NFB operations. It gave Canada a world audience of 70,000,000 persons annually.

Mr. Coldwell regretted closing of an NFB office in Australia and curtailment of the offices in the United States and Britain, as well as in board activities at home. He said working conditions in the board's Ottawa offices were a "disgrace."

Mr. Fraser said bad NFB films were injuring Canadian trade relations abroad. After seeing several of them, he didn't think some of its cameramen knew much about light. One of the visit of former Trade Minister MacKinnon to South Africa, must have been made "by the rankest amateur."

Mr. Fraser said the board's salary total was $1,500,000 out of a budget of $2,200,000. It also had travelling expenses of $3,000.

He was in favor of films for education and to advertise Canada. But they should be of the right kind, "not some of these frizzy pictures the board puts out."

ed into the troop through the going up ceremony.

Following the dismissal, some of the boys remained and passed tests. Bob Baker, Union Jack; Don Cooke, folding clothes, cleaning boots, message; John Morris, savings, physical exercise, first aid, signalling; Tommy Cuffe, savings, cleaning boots and folding clothes. We were pleased to have Mrs. Meredith with us for the evening.

St. John's Troop.

Indoor Soccer was the main item in the games of the evening. Scouter Dominik attended the camp fire program and spoke briefly on the coming craft show.

Badge Committee.—The first meeting of the badge committee in action was witnessed at St. John's when one of the rooms was turned over to Mr. Peter Moore and his examiners. Mr. Moore reported some very good tests being passed. One of his assistants was that genial Commissioner A. Hope.

Attention All Scouters. — You are requested to get in touch with the badge secretary at least seven days before the first and third Monday of each month with the names of boys desiring to try for any 1st class or proficiency badge test in order that arrangements can be made with the examiners.

At All Saints'

For the past three weeks the Rover Crew have been getting into shape with the result that a slate of officers have been elected. The only two names at present known is that of Rover Mate Fred Simmons and his assistant R.R. Gord White.

The group neckerchief has been adopted and the crew uniform will include green shirts. At the present there are 12 members on the roll with 10 attending each meeting.

Sacred Heart.

Three reports received this week from this unit. It appears that a great deal of activity has been going on with the following boys being invested into the Brotherhood of Scouting: Paul Kingdon, Don Chambers, Urban Kubica, Leonard Healey, Dan Damario, Wayne Crowe, Jack Gilbert, Basil Healey and Donald Crowe.

Troop Leader Paul Jones of the K. of C. troop has been active with the troop doing the work of assistant scouter for several weeks also Senior Scout Walter Ryan has been on hand to assist.

The Bulldog patrol won the honor pennant for one week with the Beavers working hard to overtake them. Donald Crowe is now leader of the Beaver patrol. A hike book has been started, same being read at the last meeting. Mr. Chambers of the Group committee, attended the meeting and spoke on the summer camp and also brought to the attention of the group the coming paper collection.

In the pack Bill Casey, Peter Doherty, Terry Doherty, Jerry Montgomery, Bob Marino, Kenneth Woods, and Jack Clancy were invested as tenderpads. Gerard Lucano is assisting in the leadership of the pack. Frank Kennaley is second of the Red Six, and Bob Kearns, Sixer of the Blue Six. We are sorry to report the loss of Akela Ray Collett and his two worthy assistants, Joan and Marion McCarthy and wish them Good Hunting until their return to Cub work.

Senator Haig Admits He's No "Wise Guy"

OTTAWA, March 24—(CP)—Senator John T. Haig is the first to admit he's no "wise guy" when it comes to wheat speculation.

The Progressive Conseravtive leader was describing to the Senate yesterday the operations of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. He said there's bound to be speculation by "wise guys who claim to know what the price of wheat is going to be next October."

"I tried it myself but I'm a poor guesser."

"You're not a wise guy?" asked Senator Lucien Moraud (PC-Quebec).

"I was not a wise guy—gee whiz, I was always wrong!"

Ghosts Were Welcome

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa — (CP). — Manie Vellam was very unhappy. He had moved to a new home to find he had to share it with several other families. Suddenly ghosts began to announce their presence with knocks and taps. Vellam's other occupants moved out and now Vellam and his family live alone in the house — with the spooks.

DENTAL WHITENESS

Don't you admire the way a dentist cleans your teeth so white? That's real dental whiteness: and he relies on powder. For unless dull, dingy film is removed, it hardens—darkens—turns into harmful, ugly tartar. But Pepsodent Tooth Powder is especially made with Irium to safely remove that trouble-causing film . . . right in your own home. Change today to Pepsodent Tooth Powder for dental whiteness!

Camporee Notes

Here we have one or two of the tests that the patrols must be prepared to pass when they attend the Camporee on the weekend of May 24.

1. With the aid of a compass, staff and four pegs map out on the ground a 50-foot square.
2. Render first aid to an injured person. This section will include one or more of the fractures as outlined in 1st Class first aid.
3. With the patrol staffs, erect a flagpole and hoist the patrol pennant thereon.
4. With the patrol staffs and lashings — make a ladder between two trees.
5. Follow an observation trail.

Another list will be given next week.

Craft Show.

We urge all Scouts to do their best and get busy on the construction of the many crafts for display. Remember, if you have a pet hobby that is not included on the lists, bring them along.

At St. George's.—According to the last report Bill Jordan and his brother are carrying on. The average attendance has been 30 Cubs in the pack and 18 boys in the troop. The patrol leaders have planned a hike for the weekend. Bill White was presented with his Second Class badge by District Scouter George Houghton. Vern Orr and Norm Moffatt were both invested.

In the pack, Jack Playford, Carl Jensen, Garry Henwood, Kenneth Asling, Arthur Little and Roger Orr were invested as Tenderpad Cubs, the pack is growing in such a way that another Six has had to be formed.

Trinity Church Scouts.—Twenty-two scouts were on parade to witness the investiture of Alvin Phillips. Scouter Cy Davis, who was in charge, stressed the importance of all scouts, new and old, obeying the 1st Scout Law. C. Stone welcomed Alvin into the scouting game and presented him with his hat and group neckerchief. P.Y. George Fanjoy presented the "scout tenderfoot badge." Alvin's mother was present for the investiture.

Several games were played. Study corners was given over to semaphore and signalling while Dr. J. Perry instructed on First Aid. Fifteen scouts attended the badge inspection meeting Friday evening at St. John's Parish Hall. A real good time was had by all. Sixteen badges were completed and various sections of several more. The following passed their Handyman's badge: B. Hinton, B. Burgess, R. Gill, V. Smyth, M. Yelland, I. Whyte, M. Thompson, P. Ward, A. Phillips, D. Liscum, D. Coit, G. Fanjoy, K. Currie passed the Metal Worker's test.

Trinity United Church Wolf Cub Pack.—Scott Allin led the Grand Howl which opened the meeting for which John Tushingham had been working for some time. John was invested by Akela, the ceremony being witnessed by his father, Mr. D. S. Tushingham.

The game, "Bag Busters" was won by the Grey Six. Major Clifton instructed in signalling, and after a sing-song, Jimmy Elliott led the closing Mouse Howl.

Tests Passed.—Physical Exercise: Sonny Hutton, Gary Hancock. Hygiene: Gary Hancock. Somersault: Raymond Henwood. Leap Frog: Murray Mann, Raymond Henwood. Hopping: Murray Mann, Raymond Henwood. Ball Throwing: Raymond Henwood, Murray Mann.

St. John's Cub Pack

It was fun night in the Jungle. The pack was divided into five teams, and hammer throw, shot put, 30-yard dash were among the many contests held. Michael Craig and Gary Smith bid farewell to the pack and were accepted into the troop through the going up ceremony.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*

a drain on energy—a damper on charm!

How do you appear to others? Are you tired-looking and listless? Is your face pale? Have you lost charm along with the vitality you once had?

Such effects often come from a blood condition. You may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. Your red blood cells may be too faded and weak to transmit full energy to your body. Many women, men and children drag their weary way through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets build up your blood and vigor

When your color is fading—and your energy is too low—due to this common blood condition, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your usual vigor.

Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may be due to other conditions—so consult your doctor regularly.

But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Take them to start your energy shifting back into "high", to help restore your natural color. Take them so you can enjoy life again!

Butter Outlook 'Bright' Says Lindsay Dairy Man

LINDSAY, March 24 (ENS).—Although butter is still quite scarce in Victoria county, the situation is not desperate, according to H. S. Johnston, local dairy manager. The shortage is no more acute here than in other centres; in fact, Mr. Johnston stated, Lindsay is in a happier position than Toronto owing to the town's proximity to butter producing areas.

The outlook for the future is fairly brigh. The situation isn't expected to improve much before the first week in April, but Mr. Johnston says it should be rectified by the middle of the month, since cattle will then be on fresh pasture.

"In the meantime we're trying to distribute the available supplies as evenly as possible," he stated, "and are doing our best to see that all customers get some butter. At present we are depending entirely on our fresh production. There is no butter stored. Normally our surplus stock would carry us through until April, but not this year."

Continuing, Mr. Johnston said his company's butter sales in Lindsay are down about one third of the normal volume.

He declared the reason for the shortage dates back to the time of the war, when the government kept butter prices lower than that of cheese, thus encouraging farmers to produce cheese for overseas shipment and neglect butter. Nor is the current price of feed any incentive to produce butter. The shortage of farm labor is another cause, he pointed out.

Farmers now prefer to feed their milk to calves and raise baby beef, which is less trouble and does not require the labor that butter production necesitates.

And present beef prices are an added temptation to the farmer.

"I would feel safe in saying that in Victoria county there are thousands of cows not being milked for this reason," the dairy manager continued.

Mr. Johnston said there is no rise. "The price ceiling will take indication that butter prices will care of that." He pointed out that although butter now retails in the neighborhood of 72 cents, this is not as high as after the first World War when the price jumped to 77 cents a pound.

Salaries, Wages Major Tax Items

COBOURG, March 24 (ENS).—With the view of acquainting the taxpaying public with details in the various estimates on which the 1948 tax rate of 53 mills was struck, the mayor's office has issued a further batch of figures that connection.

In the estimates of the highways and streets committee, which total $48,098, one of the major items is listed as "salaries and wages" and this totals $19,200. Calcium chloride amounts to $1,400; sidewalk repairs, $7,372; surface treatment to paved streets $6,256; new equipment, $3,500; improvement on east end of Spencer Street, $2,000.

Included in the public buildings and printing committee total of $7,800 are printing, $1,400; fuel and repairs, $2,000; interior decorating, $2,000, the rest of the budget being individual items of a few hundred dollars each. Main item in the estimates of the fire, water and light committee is $4,900 for fire hydrants and fire hall, in the water section; $7,000 for the electric section and a total of $3,850 for the fire department.

Police estimates, which total $13,275, include $9,700 for salaries; $1,750 for new car; $500 for car maintenance and $500 for flasher lights. The sum of $500 is earmarked for floor and decorations of the market building. In the health and sanitation committee report, garbage collection totalled $5,200 and dump caretaker, $1,200.

Cheese Move Undecided

OTTAWA, March 24.—(CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons yesterday he could not say whether the government would requisition cheese supplies this year to fulfill the cheese contract with the United Kingdom. He recalled that the government at this time last year had not intended to requisition cheese but later found it necessary. Requisitioning began around July 1.

Seymour Farmer Dies In Hospital

CAMPBELLFORD, March 24 — The funeral of the late Percy Wood was conducted at Bennett's Funeral parlors on March 5, by Rev. J. O. Ralston of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member. Although Mr. Wood had not been in the best of health for some time, his death in Peterborough Civic Hospital early this month was a shock to his relatives and friends.

Born in Crookston of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wood, he was in his 54th year. Spending his early days in Springbrook, he married and moved to Belleville, where he was in the employ of the Canadian National Railway for 10 years. The last 20 years he has farmed in Seymour West district, where he was known for his cheerful nature and readiness to help others.

Surviving are his widow, Sarah Wilhelmina Lain, two daughters Ila of Toronto, Jean of Peterborough, two sons J. H. (Harry) and Wilbert (Bud) also of Peterborough, two brothers Wilbert D. of Campbellford and James of Springbrook.

The pall-bearers were Earl Wood, J. P. Wood, Densmere Lain, Chris Newman, Tommy Windrem, and Kenneth Cox.

The flower-bearers were Clarence Barnum, Gordon Webb, Robert Wood, Alfred Brown, Raymond Stillman, Charles Stephens, Alexander Green, and Chester Irwin.

Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Taxi Driver Faces Trial

OSHAWA, March 24.—(CP).—Lloyd Pince, 26-year-old Oshawa taxi driver who told police he was slugged and thrown into a ditch at Malton, west of Toronto, March 11, will face trial March 30 on a charge of causing a public mischief.

Inspector Wilbur Dawn stated that a thorough investigation by city police led them to doubt Prince's story and resulted in his arrest. Found in a dazed condition on the night of the alleged assault, Prince had been hospitalized at Brampton for several days before being allowed to return to his home here. Bills from his wallet, torn to shreds, had been found near the scene and had led to the belief that he might have been assaailed by a maniac.

Prince was taken to the county jail today and remanded until March 30 for hearing.

Gets Three Clasps To Efficiency Medal

COBOURG, March 24 (ENS).—Regimental-Sergeant-Major Roy Service was presented last night with the Canadian Efficiency Medal with three clasps at a training parade of 33rd Medium Regiment. This represents 30 years of service in the Canadian active and reserve forces. The presentation was made by Lt.-Col. Gordon King, the CO of the regiment.

RSM Service served in the Canadian Field Artillery from 1915 to 1919 and after that war joined the 22nd Medium Battery in the reserve, again serving in the Second Great War.

Boosts Wool Industry

CANBERRA — (CP). — Australia is endeavoring to obtain specifications for Japanese wool-combing machinery to make yarn and manufacture goods from her wool. Difficulties of importing the machinery have led the department of commerce to have local engineers build a plant from specifications.

Meters To Get Final Review

COBOURG, March 24.—(ENS).—It is expected that the retail merchants will present their opinions in regard to the parking meters when the town council meets next week. The year-trial period of the meters will be concluded shortly and the council has to decide whether they want the meters or not. Opinion is divided in town, particularly among the merchants, as to whether the meters are desirable or not. The Chamber of Commerce may poll the merchants on their opinion of the meters and the result of the poll will likely be made known to the town council.

Aussie Tipplers Spunky Veterans In Frothy Bout

BY LESLIE BRODIE
Candian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia, March 24 (CP)—Two young men wandered into a hotel bar in North Sydney on January 1, 1912, and ordered beers.

Since that day 36 years ago the youths, Rowley Collins, now 59, and Stan Warren, 63, have repeated the order more than 72,000 times from the same spot.

Collins told a reporter that it all started over an argument early in 1912 on the amount of beer a man could drink in a lifetime.

Collins estimated that he would drink about 120,000 pints before he died. The crowd laughed, and the two men decided to test their estimate by keeping count of the number of pints they had in the hotel.

At their steady average rate of over the past 36 years it will take consumption of 5½ pints a day them another 24 years to reach their target.

"When we each get through our next 6,000 gallons (48,000 pints) to reach our target I'll be only 83, and Stan 87." Collins told the reporter.

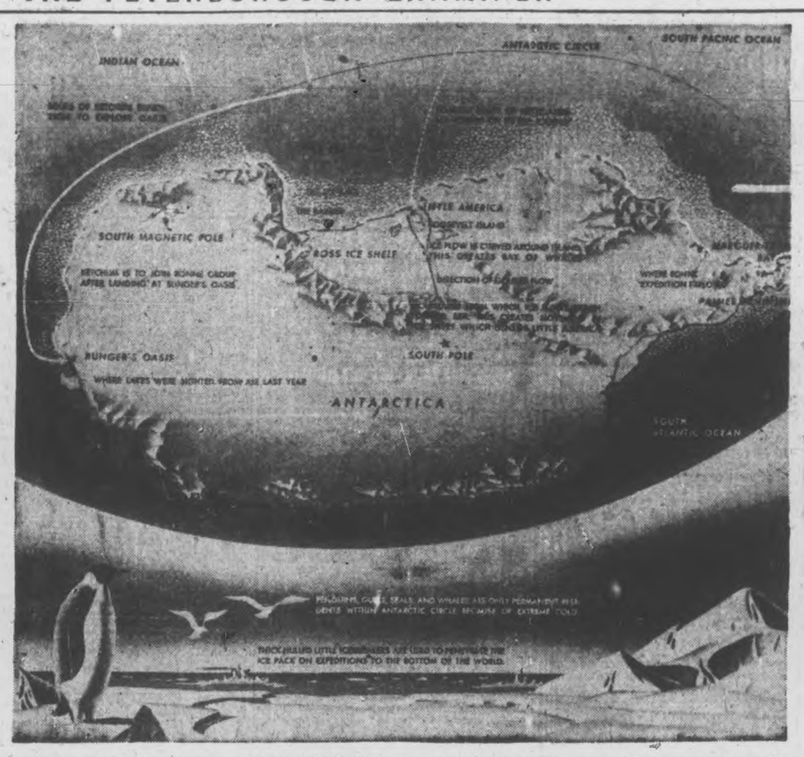
"If we feel then as we do now, we'll make our target 160,000 pints each."

The Sydney Sunday Telegraph went into figures relating to the two men's phenomenal drinking and arrived at the following conclusions:

To drink 120,000 pints each it will take them 60 years at their average rate of consumption. Drinking leisurely, says the Telegraph, Rowley (Collins) lifts and replaces his glass five times and takes four swallows to each lift.

1,440,000 Swallows

He has lifted his glass 360,000 times for 1,440,000 swallows and will lift it another 240,000 times for a further 962,000 swallows for a grand total of 600,000 lifts for 2,400,000 swallows.



Stan is a slower drinker an takes a few more swallows. He already has some 432,000 lifts and 2,160,000 swallows and will finish up with around 720,000 for 3,600,000.

Their place at the bar counter is indicated by brass plates bearing their names.

The Sunday Telegraph adds these final figures to indicate the distance they lift their glasses from the counter to their mouths and the return to the counter.

Both stand close to the counter and the beer travels two feet each lift and two feet back again to the counter, which gives Rowley a distance of 272.6 miles in lifting and setting down his glass, and Stan 327.2 miles. Before they have finished, the two weather-beaten little boat builders will have a grand total of distance in lifts etc. of 454.4 miles in the case of Rowley, and 546.4 miles in the case of Stan.

Both men clainm to have been heavy drinkers "before they settled down to the quiet few at the local."

ICE TOLLS BELL FOR "LITTLE AMERICA" — This drawing shows how "Little America," Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's famous Antarctic base, has been doomed and will soon float off to set as an iceberg. It is estimated that the "Little America" berg will travel from 1,000 to 1,500 miles north before it finally disintegrates. The drawing also shows Bunger's oasis, an ice-free area of red and green colored lakes discovered last year from the air by a navy expedition. A water expedition led by Commander Gerald L. Ketchum is now en route to make further explorations there. This expedition expects to join up with another expedition—the Ronne expedition. Antartica is very much in the news right now with Britain, Chile and Argentina at odds over territory on or near the icy continent at the bottom of the world.

Beer Bottle Carton Rate Raised 11 Cents

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — An increase of 11 cents on each carton of 24 pint beer bottles was announced yesterday by Toronto glass companies. The present refund of 72 cents for returning 24 bottles would then be increased to 83 cents.

The Ontario Liquor Control Board confirmed the decision of the glass companies, but so far it has not received a request from brewers to pass on the added cost to consumers. Increased labor and material costs are given as reasons for the price boost.

Enter Second Week Without Hydro Power

BRANTFORD, March 24 (CP)—The village of Ohsweken, on the Six Nations Indian Reservation, yesterday entered its second week without hydro service, disrupted last Wednesday when ice and flood waters washed poles and cables down the Grand River.

Officials and residents of Ohsweken and others served by the only lines running onto the reservation, are totally without electric power.

Risk Capital Needed, Gordon Says

By The Canadian Press

A gap in the machinery for raising money was emphasized by Donald Gordon, deputy-governor of the Bank of Canada, in an address yesterday to Toronto members of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

This is in the field of small enterprises.

Governments and large corporations may float bond issues; the public through stock exchanges may invest in anything from gilt-edged issues to speculative mines; the man with a definite piece of collateral can borrow on that; small personal loans may be had now even from the banks.

But the man with an idea, struggling to build an enterprise, has no such well-defined place to go.

These need "risk" capital; money willing to take a reasonable chance.

Mr. Gordon's remarks indicated that he thought there should be more opportunity for Canadians to invest in one another. He said in part:

"With modest exceptions new risk capital for smaller enterprises cannot be found in Canada through the facilities of our investment dealers, and we need techniques to fill the gap."

NEWS IN BRIEF

By The Canadian Press

HALIFAX. — Seven hundred and two Dutch farmers, first of 10,000 to come to Canada this year, landed from the Kota Inten, chartered by the Netherlands Government.

NEW YORK.—Bryan Herbert, stage and screen actor now appearing with the Dublin Gate Players in Canada, will fly Sunday from London, Ont., to New York to take part in a radio production of "The Informer." Herbert, who will return to London immediately after the radio show, will play the part of "Terry" in the (Ford Theatre) production Sunday evening.

CHATHAM.—A petition bearing the names of some 6,000 Chatham householders will soon be presented Health Minister Kelley, demanding that he take immediate steps to inaugurate a public health unit in Chatham under the direction of a "qualified" medical officer of health. The petition was presented to the local Board of Health today by a 15-member delegation from the Association of Home and School Clubs, who recently protested the lack of health protection when an epidemic of pediculosis (lice) broke out two weeks ago in Chatham schools.

WASHINGTON.—Two American biologists are going to search the Arctic coast this summer for the resting grounds of the whooping crane. After two years of observing the 37 known survivors of the species in their Texas wintering area, the scientists say they have a clue as to the nesting region.

TRENTON. — Trenton's tax rate was set last night at 59.5 mills in special meeting of Council, a 2.5 mill decrease from last year.

CLEVELAND.—Electricity was restored to most of Cleveland after a switchboard fire plunged large areas into darkness last night. The blaze, at the main plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating plant, was caused by a transformer short-circuit. It was extinguished quickly.

NEW YORK — Two New York newspapers said Russia has been purchasing huge quantities of possible war material in the United States. Several shiploads already have gone to Russia.

OTTAWA— Failure of a Combines Act prosecution against a group of dental supply firms was termed a "costly debacle" by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) in the Commons.

HAMILTON — J. R. McLeod of Toronto, secretary of the Milk Transporters' Division of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, criticized a proposal that licensing of milk truckers be transferred from the Ontario Municipal Board to the Ontario Milk Control Board.

Boy 8 Hangs Self

AUDUBON, N.J., March 24.—(AP). — Eight-year-old Barry Wayne Lafave, adjudged New Jersey's "healthiest and prettiest" baby boy in 1941, accidentally hanged himself yesterday while playing the roll of a horse thief, police said.

Eire Builds 50 Hatcheries To Supply Eggs For Britain

By JOHN DAUPHINEE

DUBLIN, March 24—(CP).—Fifty big commercial hatcheries will be built in Eire this year, first stage of a £1,250,000 ($5,000,000) plan to develop egg production for Britain. The announcement was made in the Dail by James Dillon, firebrand Independent deputy, in his first speech as Agriculture Minister in James A. Costello's coalition government.

He said the new administration will carry out the recent agreement with Britain which was worked out by ex-Premier De Valera and his Ministers. Under it, the British purchasing authority increased its price for Irish eggs and Eire undertook to boost egg production. Plans would be announced later for a scheme to provide funds for construction, improvements and repair of farm buildings.

Wheat Supply

Dillon met no opposition on this part of his program, but Fianne Fail members criticized his decision to do without compulsory wheat-growing in 1949.

When wheat imports fell off sharply during the war, more home production was essential. De Valera's government found many Irish farmers un-cooperative and took power to set the amount of grain which must be grown on every farm.

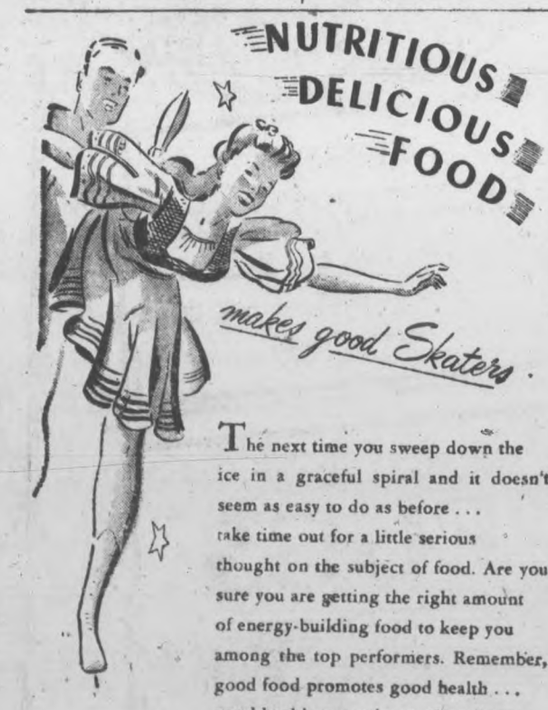
Dillon acknowledged that compulsion had to be used more widely than in previous years and hinted that farmers showed little respect for the war. But he said the power would be dropped next year.

Sean MacEntee, former health minister, complained that Eire would have to buy wheat in the world market at an enhanced price if home production was not large in 1948 and 1949.

T.B. Scourge

Dr. Noel Browne, MacEntee's successor at the health ministry, has declared an "emergency" in the treatment of tuberculosis, which has become a major health problem in Eire.

He announced plans to build temporary sanitoria accommodating 2,000 persons, set up a panel of "radio doctors" and improve working conditions for nurses. Ultimately, he said, there will be workshops, village settlements and rehabilitation centres for ex-patients.



Broadcast Ceremony

VATICAN CITY, March 24 — (AP).—Pope Pius will appear on the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica at noon Easter Sunday to give his blessing to the faithful. The ceremony will be broadcast. Federico Cardinal Tedeschini will celebrate a solemn pontifical mass earlier at St. Peter's.

Arena Donations Total $435 On First Report

Donations on Monday—the first day of the Civic Arena drive for funds—totalled $435, the committee in charge stated. It was pointed out that donations since Monday have been substantial, but have not yet been turned in to headquarters.

Those received Monday were: Clare Collins, $100; Kingan hardware, $100; Mayor W. G. Ovens, $100; Gordon K. Fraser, $50; Peterborough Review, $50; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woodcock, $10; John Hill, $10; Mrs. E. Brackenridge, $10; Mr. and Mrs. A. Price, $5.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woodcock, an elderly couple, were the first to call in at the Arena campaign headquarters to make a donation. They have both been hockey fans for years, and they miss the opportunity to attend games in an enclosed rink. The rigors of winter prevent them from standing at outdoor rinks, they said.

Dick Ouimet commenting on the progress so far, said he is well satisfied with developments, and agreeably surprised at the amount of enthusiasm. "The 'little people' in this community want this rink, and perhaps their spirit and determination will affect those people who are in a financial position to give the project substantial aid," he said.

HEAD DRIVE FOR RINK—Dick Ouimet (Left), chairman of the General Committee, and (Right) Stan McBride, chairman of the Publicity Committee, are leading in the present campaign for $50,000 to erect a Civic Arena. The two men have spark-plugged the drive since its foundation was laid several weeks ago at a well-attended public meeting.

Girl, 12, On Bicycle Knocked Down By Car

Twelve-year-old Marie Lamore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lamore, 491 Elm St., received a badly bruised leg and a completely wrecked bicycle when she was struck by a car Tuesday evening. The accident, which broke no bones, occurred on Park St. North about 5:30. The injured girl was struck by a car driven by Miss Mary Stevenson, 506 Charlotte St. who drove to the girl's home with her. The scene of the accident was near several parked cars, and the police state that no charges will be laid. Damage to the bicycle was about $25. PC J. J. O'Donoghue investigated.

Cattle, Forests Don't Mix Anderson Tells Council

"Cattle and trees don't mix," said W. A. Anderson, appearing before County Council this morning to ask for council aid in helping farmers fence off woodlots from grazing cattle. "Many men feel the cost of labor and materials prevent them from looking after hardwoods."

A statement of expenditures on the Peterborough County Forest Area over the 10-year period, 1938-1947, was presented.

The original purchase from the Department of Lands and Forests was 2,660 acres for $3,100; but it has now grown to approximately 4,000 acres with subsequent purchases. Before the county can obtain a deed to the property it has to show the Department that it has fulfilled the original stipulations that $1,000 yearly be employed in improving the area, and 2,500 trees planted annually.

Apparently the county has carried this out more than adequately. Total expenditure (including purchase price of property) is estimated at $20,753.93. Some 52,000 trees were planted in that time.

Because of this it is believed that the department will consider the terms to have been carried out satisfactorily and grant the deed.

W. A. Anderson, former county councillor and one-time chairman of the committee in charge answered a few queries on the Forest Area. He was particularly concerned about the problem of waste land and the necessity of conservation.

Mr. Anderson advocated that the County Council financially assist farmers to fence off wooded lots on their farms so cattle could not damage the hardwood trees. He asked Council to think of the future, not in terms of immediate interest.

By fencing off hardwood lots from the rest of the farm he contended that trees would have a better opportunity of growing into valuable timber for later years. "Cattle and trees don't mix," he said.

"What is wanted is a planting plan. It would be wise for you to cooperate closely with the District Forester at Lindsay in your planting operations."

Ministers Plan For Holy Week

Conducted under the auspices of the Peterborough Ministerial Association special services are being held in the city commencing tonight and continuing through until Friday afternoon. This evening at eight o'clock a special Holy Week service is being held in the George Street United church with the preacher being the Rev. F. R. Harback of Tabernacle United church, Belleville. On Thursday evening a service of Holy Communion will be held in the Murray Street Baptist church while on Good Friday at 10.30 in the morning services will be held in the Park Street Baptist church, where the Rev. H. Douglas of Knox United church will be the preacher, and in the George Street United church where the Rev. Binney S. Black of Bonarlaw Presbyterian church, Toronto, will be the preacher.

Commencing at 12.00 noon on Friday and lasting until three o'clock a special service will be held in the Trinity United church, part of which will be broadcast. The subject taken by the several ministers will be "The Seven Words from the Cross."

FILL STREET HOLES

Motorists have been finding that a trip up Main Street has provided its share of bumps since the roads became free of snow and ice. On Tuesday Board of Works trucks were dumping coarse sand and gravel into the greatest depression. A few holes in sidewalks were being patched up this way also.

Want Building To House 15 Old Veterans

"There is a dire need for an Old Veterans' Home in Peterborough district", said Mel Morrow, Legion Welfare Officer, to gathering of service clubs. "We have called you representatives together to look into this matter immediately. The need is urgent, we have old veterans who need accommodation right now."

Such were the opening remarks of Chairman Morrow in his effort to establish an Old Veterans' Home in this district. His intention is to organize a general committee of all Legion branches in this zone as well as representatives from every veteran organization in the district.

A Ways and Means Committee headed by Archie Hamilton has already looked into the possibilities of such a project. The proposition is to establish and maintain a home to accommodate about 15 old veterans who are in need of comfortable quarters and care, but not hospitalization. The home would have to be manned by a staff of about six people.

Without exception, every representative at the meeting stood up and offered the support of his or her organization. Said the Lakefield representative, "The Lakefield Branch of the Canadian Legion will back and help this Home in every way possible. We have one veteran right now whom we would like accommodated."

Volunteer Help

Grace Simpson, new president of the local women's branch, Canadian Legion, said, "The ladies of our branch will get behind such an important project and support it." The same feeling was expressed by the Women's Auxiliary of branch 52. Legion branches from Apsley, Havelock, Campbellford and other out-of-town points in the zone expressed similar confidence. Naval Association, Hasty P's, PWR's, Red Patch and CGE Vets' Club supported the motion.

Branch 52 itself is the instigator of the project. Its officers are coming into contact every day with more old veterans who need comfort and some semblance of care. Many are living on low pension in poor surroundings as unwanted boarders. A few must find new accommodation immediately. Six such vets are looked after by an old lady of 80, and a new home may be required for them at any time.

The committee will make representation to Department of Veterans' Affairs in Ottawa for help, but in the meantime every effort will be made to get a home started in a small way. Location, financing, maintenance and such items will all be investigated almost immediately.

Archie Hamilton closed the meeting with pointed remarks, "Veterans' organizations present today can do a great service by sponsoring this project. We can ensure that old veterans without proper accommodation can spend the rest of their days with similar comrades and in some degree of comfort."

NO FIRES REPORTED

Perhaps because ...aces are burning low in the ...tes these last few warm days, risk of fire has been substantially reduced. In any case Acting Fire Chief Smith said there were no alarms on Tuesday.

FIRST SERVICE HELD—First mass was said at the Church of Our Lady of the Assumption, Keene Road, Otonabee, Tuesday, by His Excellency Gerald Berry, DD, Bishop of Peterborough. The new church has been erected by voluntary parishioner labor under technical direction. The parish priest is Rev. W. C. McCarney, shown Top Right.

County Tax Rate Boosted Up Three Mills To 15.683

A sum of $169,105.97 was calculated on Tuesday afternoon at a sitting of the County Council as necessary to meet this year's expenditures. The original budget called for less, but an additional $5,000 was tacked on to defray expenses of the Old People's Home near Lakefield, and to compensate North Monaghan for its loss in equalized assessment due to annexation. Also included is a surplus of $1,000 to give a safety margin.

First calculations put the tax rate at 15.099 mills, but the additional sum boosted the rate to 15.683 mills. In 1947 the mill rate was 12.191.

Reeve Wm. Pakenham of Norwood was successful in presenting a motion that the county roads committee consider the Norwood village recommendation that the upkeep of the connecting link on highway through that centre be taken over by the county. The committee was expected to report back in June.

Reeve William Grant, Lakefield, also had some research for the roads committee. He wanted to know what municipal authority was responsible for the maintenance of the cement bridge at Lakefield. He said the reinforcing rods were now exposed and he asked that responsibility be decided so repairs could be undertaken by the proper authority.

This particular question had been placed on the agenda of the council before, he pointed out, and he felt a decision was long overdue.

Two members were nominated for positions on the Fife Memorial Committee as Peter Mather and Harry Reid are no longer on the council. Their places were taken by W. W. Dawson and Harry McIntyre, Reeve and Deputy-Reeve of Otonabee respectively.

Fourteen members of the council, plus Warden James Humphries, spent the latter part of the afternoon discussing contract terms and other matters affecting the Chemong Causeway. When the council's solicitor, F. D. Kerr, KC, was called upon the hearing was conducted in camera.

NO DRILL THURSDAY

The 50th Regt., HAA, Prince of Wales Rangers, will not train Thursday night. Training will be resumed next Tuesday night.

DUST IN THE AIR

Dust was flying on city pavements and on stretches of rural roads today while the bright March sun was drying fields, with seeming promise of an early spring.

PEARLS FOR SUPPER

Charles Wilkman, Bonarlaw, made a bright find while attending an oyster supper in the Springbrook Orange Hall. During the meal, he found a perfectly-developed pearl in one of the oysters.

ATTEND MEETING

L. H. Ingram, vice-president of the Quaker Oats, is attending a meeting of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association in Toronto this week. He is first vice-president of that organization.

LONG-DISTANCE WALK

There is possibly one city dog who has a penchant for travel. Police here have received an inquiry from a Belleville hotel asking about the owner of a Kerry Blue dog. It was lost about the middle of January and has been located there.

CARS COLLIDE

Slight damage was caused cars driven by James G. R. Ouimet, 615 George St., and Gerard LaPlante, 169 Lake St., when they collided on George St. Monday. Ouimet was driving south on George and the LaPlante car was pulling from the curb when the contact was made. Fenders and a bumper were the damaged parts.

Assumption Hall To Serve As Church, Hall

Bishop Gerald Berry expressed the hope at the opening of Assumption Hall in Otonabee township Tuesday evening that it would become a means of removing the excess of individualism that sometimes obtains between neighboring farmers. In that respect it could be of real benefit by creating closer relations and understanding among the people, by promoting social and community activities in which they would come to know and appreciate each other better and break down an aloofness that had long prevented farmers from co-operating ni their own special interests.

The hall would be available for entertainment that would not be commercialized, but would be of the people's own choosing.

Farmers today were faced with many problems, Bishop Berry said. Some of these problems could be approached by enquiry and study, and His Excellency said that one of the functions of Assumption Hall should be to encourage study clubs enabling farmers to protect their own way of life, to understand the movements in other branches of industry and the place of agriculture and its progressive methods in the nation's life. Farmers were engaged in work that offered to them more freedom than most other occupations, and it was an advantage to be retained. Study and discussions of farm questions and methods were taking a larger place in rural life today, and His Excellency said he hoped that full use of Assumption Hall to these ends would be one of the effects of building.

The opening of the building as a community hall was attended by 250 men and women. Reeve W. W. Dawson and Councillor Percy Davison spoke briefly and also Rev. V. J. Gillogly of Ennismore, director of rural life movements in the diocese. Mr. L. J. Clancey was chairman of the meeting.

Bishp Berry explained that the construction of the building had been restricted at present by factors of funds and materials. Eventually, it was hoped that a church of Our Lady of the Assumption would be erected in the parish and that Assumption Hall would be entirely devoted to social and community purposes. His Excellency celebrated Mass in the morning assisted by Rev. H. Fitzgerald and Father Joseph Lynch, both young priests who were natives of the parish. Rev. W. C. McCarney is parish priest.

Kinsmen Hold Annual Inter-Club Meet

"Oratory is one of the worst things that has ever been foisted upon the public," said W. J. McCulloch, a sales promotion manager of a Hamilton brewing company and a former newspaperman, in a speech at an inter-club dinner of Kinsmen on Tuesday evening at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. In his speech entitled "So you won't talk, eh!" Mr. McCulloch said there was no such thing as the gift of public speaking, which was based on preparation and practice. "We are living in a streamlined age, when speeches must be put tersely, lucidly and logically," he said before outlining the most important points to be remembered in public speaking, and stressing the importance today of being able to talk and sell oneself.

The guest of honor at the dinner was District Governor Russell Thompkins, who outlined the history of Kinsmanship from its beginnings in Hamilton in 1920. He mentioned its slow growth until 1935, the excellent war record of its members and the Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund, which sent over 30,000,000 quarts of milk to British children. Mr. Thompkins attributed the success of the clubs to the fact that the Kinsmen were he first young men's service organizaion in Canada to break across race, class and creed. He suggested that the purpose of Kinsmanship was to achieve cooperation, tolerance and understanding. "To find peace," he said, "we must rid ourselves of racial, religious and political fears and prejudices."

Kinsmen from Bobcaygeon, Oshawa, Toronto, Lindsay and Omemee attended the meeting held by the Peterborough club. Those present included Henry Devitt, Bobcaygeon; Jack Cooke, Oshawa; Roy Phillips, Peterborough secretary; Jim King, Peterborough president; Nick Carter, Toronto; and Lindy Mackey, Lindsay.

Ed O'Toole introduced the District Governor, who was thanked by Harley Weir, and Lionel Brown introduced the guest speaker, who was thanked by George Bouck. Jim King was chairman.

Prince of Wales Swimmers Win Cup

Top All Public Schools In Diving Prowess

Prince of Wales school won the Stan McBride-Cliff McInroy Trophy at the interscholastic diving championships on Tuesday evening at the YMCA, with 168 points. Queen Mary school was second with 162 points and King George school was third with 149½ points. The outstanding diver in the senior class was Keith Reid of Queen Mary school, who was also the outstanding all-round diver. In the intermediate class, Lionel Hempstead of Central school was the outstanding divery and in the junior class, Ken Johnson of Prince of Wales school.

Four public school swimming records were broken in the heats of the swimming events, the finals of which are to take place Wednesday night for the Examiner Trophy.

In the eleven years and under 40 yards free style Jack Boorman of Central School set a new record of 26 seconds, to better the record made by Keith Reid of Queen Mary School in 1943 of 27.8 seconds. Boorman, who was placed second in the 50 yards free style at the Ontario championships in Toronto last week, also broke Murray Grafstein's 1945 time of 16.6 seconds for the 20 yards back stroke event, with a time of 14 seconds.

Jim Hefferman of Central School broke the record of 17 seconds made in 1942 by Hugh Dibben, King Edward School, for the 20 yards breast stroke, 11 years and under. Hefferman used a smooth butterfly stroke to make a time of 16.3 seconds.

In the 14 years and over, 40 yards breast stroke, George White, Prince of Wales School, and Keith Reid, Queen Mary School, each did the time of 31 seconds to beat Jack Forbes' 1945 time of 31.6 seconds.

Repair Cathedral Damaged By Blasts

HALIFAX, March 24 (CP). — Damaged by two great explosions —one in 1917 and the other in 1945 — All Saints' Cathedral, Primatial See of the Church of England in Canada, is being repaired.

Built in 1910, the cathedral rocked under the great explosion in 1917 which followed the collision of the explosive-laden Mont Blanc and the Ymo in the narrows of Halifax harbor two miles away.

Almost 28 years later the series of explosions which occurred when ammunition dumps at the naval magazine on Bedford Basin caught fire, again damaged the cathedral.

Last year two bays on the west edifice were torn down and rebuilt. This year, workmen will concentrate on the east wall.

PLANE HITS MOUNTAIN — This is wreckage of the light plane that crashed into the mountainside at Hamilton last evening, killing its occupant, Ralph E. Cash, former RCAF instructor and part owner of Peninsula Air Services.

Nothing Derogatory

EDMONTON, March 24. (CP). — Provincial Secretary Hooke said last night he did mention in a Legislature speech last week discomforts experienced during his recent trip to Britain. He said, however, that the remarks were not intended in the sense taken in his native Whitecroft, Gloucestershire, where Postmaster Albert Farr accused him of talking "behind our backs."

ELECTIONEERING REACHES FEVER PITCH — The crucial elections, which take place in Italy on April 18, and which will be the cynosure of the eyes of the world, are bringing out pre-voting day crowds like the huge throng shown (top). Seventy thousand people jam the public square in Bologna to hear Premier Alcide de Gasperi, as he opened his campaign tour of Northern Italy. Lower the Premier is shown as he told his listeners that Russia and four other Comintern countries had founded a "special secret committee" to "synchronize the conduct of Communists in Italy and France."

Drew's Legislative Program Upheld By Wide Margin

TORONTO, March 24—(AP).—The legislative program of Premier Drew was upheld in the Ontario House yesterday when three Opposition amendments to the Throne Speech were defeated by wide majorities, and the Speech itself was supported by an equally wide margin. The Opposition groups lined up with some solidarity on the Liberal and Labor-Progressive amendments but only the two LPP members were on the supporting side when vote on the CCF amendment was called. The result was 72 to 8 against it.

The Liberal amendment was defeated 61 to 19 and the LPP expression was lost 63 to 17.

One government bill and four private bills were read for the first time. The House gave third reading to 12 private bills and 11 government measures, and gave committee approval to the Community Halls, Crown Lands and Athletic Control Acts.

Condemnation of the "Government and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission" was expressed in the defeated Liberal amendent which charged "failure to provide adequate reserves of electric power."

The CCF sub-amendment regretted that it described as inadequate labor legislation, insubstantial housing program, lack of health and welfare planning and failure to recognize "need for comprehensive planning and broad measures of social ownership."

Want Higher Pension

The LPP sub-amendment, supported by CCF and Liberals, regretted failure to "make available to all old age pensioners the $10 monthly supplement now being paid to a restricted number of Ontario's age pensioners."

Alex Parent (Ind.-Essex North) supported the resolution. Mr. Meinzinger, James Newman (Lib.-Labor-Rainy River), and William A. Murray (Lib.-Stormont) sided with the government on the amendment.

Delayed Too Long

Speaking on the Liberal amendment, Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver reiterated previous contention that the Drew government should have proceeded with development of the Upper Ottawa river in 1943 when it first came into power.

He recalled that Hon. George Challies, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, had said in the Legislature that the former Liberal government had been responsible for the overall power shortage and that low water levels were the cause of the specific shortage this winter.

Mr. Challies' assertions, he said, are completely at variance with statements of Commission members who declared the situation would be worse in 1949 and 1950. Surely, Mr. Oliver said, weather conditions could not be predicted a year ahead. Thus, there must be other reasons for predicting the shortage for next year.

"In 1943 Ontario was drawing power considerably in excess of what was contained in the original contracts" with Quebec companies," Mr. Oliver said.

Therefore, he added, the cancellation of contracts with those companies in 1935—only to be renewed within 18 months—cannot be the cause of the present power crisis.

On the CCF amendment, Mr. Oliver said their criticism of the government housing program was premature in that the plans had not yet been presented to the Legislature.

QUITS COMMUNIST PARTY—Douglas A. Hyde, who said on March 18 he has resigned as news editor of the Communist Daily Worker in London, and is joining the Roman Catholic Church, sits with his daughter, Rowena, at their Wimbledon, Eng., home, the day of his announcement. His action recalled that of Louis F. Budenz, who resigned as managing editor of the Daily Worker in New York in 1945 and returned to the Roman Catholic Church. Hyde, a Communist for 20 of his 38 years, has been news editor of the Daily Worker for five years.

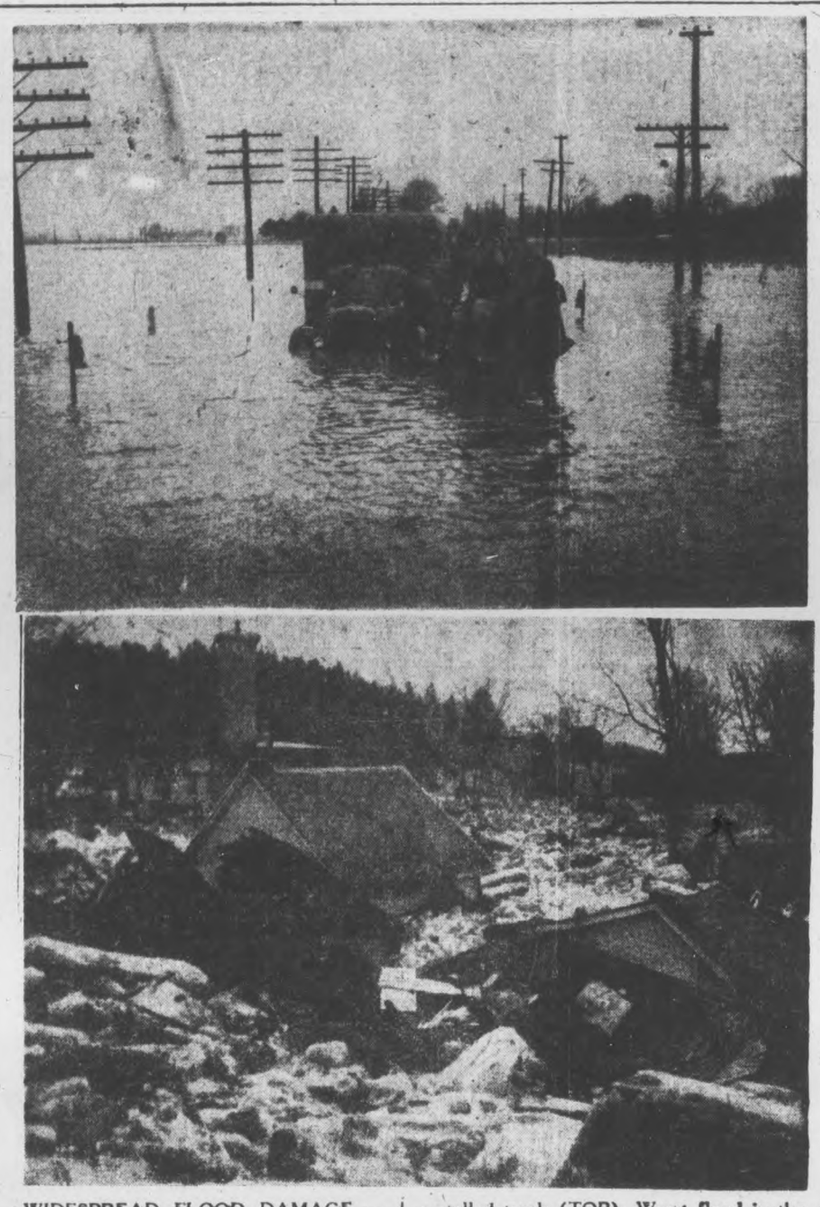
Rent Controls Studied Soon

OTTAWA, March 23— (CP)— The question of rent controls must be given careful consideration in the "very near future," Finance Minister Abbott told a Senate Committee today.

Mr. Abbott refused to commit himself on Senator J. T. Haig's (Cons.—Manitoba) Suggestion that all rent controls should end on June 30, 1949. He agreed, however, that it was essential that full advance notice should be given of their end.



"This question of rent controls is one to which I have given consideration with my officials and to which I shall have to give more in the near future," Mr. Abbott said. He was appearing before the senate committee on banking and commerce which had before it his conservation of Canadian Foreign exchange resources bill.

Senator Haig told the minister that serious rental difficulties would arise if, provided rent controls were lifted in 1949 at all, action was taken later than June.

Mr. Abbott told the committee the import restrictions introduced in November had turned the $70,000,000 monthly drain on Canada's gold and American dollar reserves into a small net gain but warned that his might not be maintained.

No Separate Treaty

LONDON, March 24.—(Reuters).—Foreign Minister Karl Gruber of Austria yesterday denied reports that Austria would welcome a separate treaty with the western powers. "A one-sided withdrawal of troops would be absolutely senseless," Dr. Gruber told a press conference.

Find High Registration In Business Course

TORONTO, Marvh 24—(CP)— High post-war registration at Canadian unversities has been reflected in enrolment in the University of Toronto's graduate course in business administration.

S. G. Hennessey, supervisor of the course, told the annual course banquet last night that growth of interest in post-graduate studies of problems of business management and organization likely would lead to provision for additional scholarships. Four fellowships now are offered.

Class president Donald MacKay said the post-graduate course in business administration, similar to a course proposed for the University of Western Ontario in London, had been offered since 1936. During the war enrollment was small but now 44 students, about half of them war veterans, are registered.

Halt Disposal Of Air Property

OTTAWA, March 24 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton disclosed to the Commons yesterday that several weeks ago he issued instructions that steps be taken for disposal of surplus naval and air properties be suspended while the question was being reconsidered.

He was replying to a question from G. H. Stokes (PC-Hastings South) regarding the airport at Deseronto.

The minister said that this airfield had been declared surplus sometime ago and "I think procedure was being entered into for its disposal."

However, the suspension order has temporarily at least stopped the disposal of the Deseronto airfield along with the armed services surpluses.

It is understood that the instruction was issued before the current crisis in world affairs but is nevertheless interpreted here as a mild precautionary measure in event of an emrgency arising.

Foreign Office Denies Reports Of April Parley In U.S.

PARIS, March 28 — (CP). — The foreign office today denied reports appearing in the French press that Georges Bidault and Ernest Bevin would visit the United States next month.

The foreign office denial followed earlier reports, attributed to official quarters, that the French foreign minister would be accompanied by Britain's foreign secretary to confer with State Secretary Marshall in April.

Foreign Minister Bidault's press secretary said earlier today Bidault will go to Washington next month to confer with State Secretary Marshall and Foreign Secretary Bevin.

A spokesman for the British foreign office in London denied the meeting was planned. Informed of the denial, the press secretary said:

"We were given to understand that Bevin would also go."

He said the only thing undecided is the exact date.

French diplomatic quarters said the three ministers will study possible United States military guarantees to the western European union created last week by Great Britain, France, Belgium the Nertherlands and Luxembourg.

These quarters said they also will examine how the European recovery organization being created here can best co-operate with the Marshal Plan administration. The plan is based on a first-year United States grant of $5,300,000,000.

Find Crash Victims

WOODLAND, Wash., March 24. —(AP).—Washington state patrol officials announced last night that six bodies were found in the wreckage of a United States Air Force transport that crashed Sunday. Two crew members, who had crawled from the wreckage and through the snow-covered wilderness for assistance, are in hospital at Vancouver, Wash.

Women Beat Man-Size Problem of Keeping Meats on Menus

By Ruth Parsons

With meat prices what they are, it's no wonder housewives are wondering and worrying. To beat the man-size problem facing them, women on a budget turn naturally and wisely to cheaper cuts. While not as juicily tender, they are just as nutritious as the more expensive meats. And trust the woman with imagination to know how to make the most of them. She depends on 3 old favourites, Heinz 57 Sauce, Heinz Worcestershire Sauce, and Heinz Mustard, to add savoury taste and goodness to these cheaper meats. Here's just one suggestion from the Heinz kitchens—a recipe that raises the lowly hamburger to new heights of flavour . . . results in a delicious low-cost main dish that serves 5.

DEVILLED HAMBURGERS
1 lb. minced beef
2 tablespoons Heinz Prepared Yellow Mustard
2 teaspoons Heinz Worcestershire Sauce
1 tablespoon Heinz 57 Sauce
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten

Combine all ingredients. Mix lightly. Shape into 10 patties. Sauté or broil slowly until browned.

Ask for it at eating-places
Have a bottle handy at home

Men really go for . . . the zesty, spicy flavour of Heinz 57 Sauce. This rich, thick sauce is still your most economical buy . . . a blend of 17 choice spices, it adds exciting flavour to leftovers and economy meals . . . peps-up every dish it touches.

Supplying this complicated apparatus is a mammoth task of Northern Electric, Canada's largest makers of telephone equipment.

Meinzinger Sees 'The Light', Changes Party

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — Joseph Meinzinger, elected to the Ontario Legislature on a Liberal-Labor ticket for Waterloo North in 1943, said yesterday he was forsaking the Liberals to throw his support behind the Progressive-Conservative Government.

Mr. Meinzinger said he is prepared to take a seat among the Government benches in the Ontario Legislature if Premier Drew will offer him one.

First indication of his new feelings was when he voted with the government on all Opposition amendments to the Throne Speech.

"I've seen the light," he called across the Legislative Chamber during one vote.

Each time he rose to vote with the Progressive-Conservatives he received a thumping ovation from the Government benches.

Doing a Good Job

He supported the Government despite the fact that he criticized it strongly during his speech in the Throne debate.

Outside the House yesterday he said: "What I have seen is that the Drew Government is doing a good job and a conscientious job."

"I'm still an Independent. I was elected as an Independent Liberal-Labor. Once I was a Conservative. But my interests are with the working man, and I think this Government is doing a good job for them.

"I think the working people of my riding will support me. It doesn't matter what platform I run on because the people in my riding know the job I am trying to do for them."

Western New York State Rid of Flickering Lights

By C. J. WELLNER

BUFFALO, NY, March 24—(AP).—Old-fashioned twinkling electric bulbs, which began to disappear with the advent of arc lights, are on the wane in western New York after half a century of progress. The final stages of a changeover from 25-cycle alternating current to 60 cycles for a quarter-million residential and commercial customers are under way.

Buffalo Niagara Electric Corp., which serves the eight counties in the parent Niagara Hudson Corporation's western division, plans to complete the project by 1952.

More than 253,000 customers have been transferred from 25 to 60 cycles. Only about 6,500 others remain to be changed over. All are scattered in rural sections of Niagara, Orleans and Genesee counties.

The first of these will be started next month at Middleport, near Medina, where work was interrupted by the Second World War.

Niagara Hudson's Western Division was developed in the early stages of the electrical era, principally because of its proximity to the vast generating facilities of the Niagara Falls hydro-electric plants.

At that time it was impossible to adopt electrical frequencies much higher than 25 cycles per second. Current alternating at this rate produces a relatively slow flicker in light bulbs that the eye can detect.

Begin Changeover.

The widespread development of 60-cycle current made 25-cycle equipment relatively rare and consequently more expensive. Buffalo Niagara Electric, noting that 98 per cent of customers' appliances were made for 60-cycle use, decided in the 1920's to convert from 25-cycle.

The first changes were made in 1925, but the majority were completed between 1929 and 1941. By the time the Second World War intervened, the company had spent $11,815,000 for changing customers' equipment. Additional funds were required for converting the company's transformers, sub-station equipment and other distributing apparatus.

Before undertaking any switch-overs, the company took inventory of every customer's equipment, whether residential, commercial or industrial.

Western Ontario Flood Damage Said 10 Million

LONDON, Ont., Harch 24 — Road and rail communications were nearly back to normal today as floods from swollen rivers receded leaving damage unofficially estimated at $10,000,000 in Western Ontario.

Train service into Wingham was restored and the Highways Department reported all the highways open except that between Bluevale and Listowel.

Wingham saw its first train since Friday when the Canadian National Railways yesterday began a cross-country taxi service bringing one train a day into the town's north-end. Transfer of passengers to another train in the south sector of the town was accomplished by taxis.

CNR workmen, striving to repair bridges in the Huron County town, ran into more difficulties yesterday when another column supporting the main trestle spanning the Maitland River was washed away. A second rail bridge is also out of action.

The Canadian Pacific Railway also started construction on a new bridge to replace the one swept away by the flood last Saturday. The bridge can be completed in two months, CPR officials estimated. Repairs to the CNR bridge are estimated to require 28 days.

Flood threats disappeared today in Chatham when that city passed through its flood peak without any Thames River water spilling into the town. No damage was reported at Thamesville, where the No. 2 Highway was opened yesterday, after three feet of water subsided.

Hit-Run Victim Given Burial

MARMORA, March 24—(ENS)—Funeral of William (Curly) Wright, who died in Civic Hospital, Peterborough, Saturday, from injuries believed to have been inflicted by a hit-and-run driver, was held Tuesday and was largely attended by relatives and friends.

The cortege arrived from the Comstock Funeral Home, Peterborough, at one o'clock.

The body was taken to St. Paul's Anglican Church where many came to pay their last respects. At two o'clock the burial service was taken by the rector, Rev. J. M. Brownlie, who also officiated at the burial in Mt. Nebo Cemetery, Springbrook.

Bearers were Donald Robertson, Nathan Mumby, Percy Gray, Warden Chrysler, Cecil Neal and Albert Bartlett.

Deaf Convention Silver Jubilee

WINNIPEG, March 24—(CP)—Any delegate knows that a convention will provide chatter, camaraderie—and noise.

Those attending a meeting to be held here June 29-July 3 will be able to raise the roof, however, without disturbing their fellows. They are members of the Western Canada Association of the Deaf. Winnipeg will be host to their silver jubilee convention.

Between 450 and 500 delegates, representing the United States, rural points and Canada's west and east coasts are expected to attend. The group met in Winnipeg in 1941. In 1945 it gathered in Vancouver.

Persons blessed with normal hearing might conceive of such a meeting as being rather spartan and stoic. But a glance at the program—so far as it has been arranged—dispels the idea.

A reception, picnic, banquet and dance have been arranged so far but those in touch with the work say an interpreter will be on hand to put the utterances of speakers into "finger language" for the benefit of their deaf audiences. Some deaf speakers do their own interpreting.

Ask Italians Write Relatives In Europe

MONTREAL, March 24—(CP)—Italian Roman Catholics in Montreal will be asked to write air-mail letters to their relatives in Italy urging them to vote against the Communist party in the elections of April 18, it was learned today.

Rev. Benoit Maltempi, pastor of Notre Dame de Mont Carmel, was in Hamilton recently when two priests there, Rev. J. F. Bonomi and Rev. C. T. Mascari, asked church members to write such letters, an appeal which started 6,000 Italo-Canadians writing air mail letters.

Father Maltempi praised the idea highly and said that he would urge his parishioners to do the same and hoped that all other Roman Catholic priests with Italian parishioners would take similar action.

FORCEFUL CAMPAIGN SIGN—At a spot where Leftists and police clashed frequently during last year's general strike in Rome, the Christian Democratic party has painted this huge sign as part of the current election campaign. It is striking in its extreme simplicity and forcefulness. The Christian shield and the word "Liberties" are emblems of the party. The election on April 18 may mean democratic liberties for Italy or Communism and the lack of liberties that goes with it.

Senators Object To Hurrying Amendments To Wheat Act

OTTAWA, March 24—(CP)—The Senate banking committee returned today to its study of Wheat Board Act amendments and the prospect of readying the legislation for passage this afternoon.

Since introduction in the Senate Monday, the amendments have mushroomed into a major controversy, with Liberal senators leading the attack on the government proposals.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba), one of the bill's chief critics, stuck to his guns last night on the issue of "rushing" it through because of the impending Easter adjournment.

Is it a "life-and-death" matter, he asked Trade Minister Howe in the initial committee stages, for the legislation to be disposed of today?

Mr. Howe said it is a matter not of 'life and death" but of $150,000 —boosts in initial wheat payments—which cannot be sent to farmers until the bill passes the Senate and receives Royal assent.

State Control Issue

The amendment providing for state control of the marketing of oats and barley has drawn most criticism. Siding strongly with Senator Crerar are Senator Norman Lambert (L-Ontario) and Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader.

The debate was packed with bitter criticism of the legislation and brought from Senator W. Rupert Davies (L-Ontario) the question

"What's the alternative to this bill?"

It was going to be difficult to vote intelligently on a measure about which only "condemnation" has been heard.

Refundable Income Tax was an unusual form . . . of Saving!

THE unusual feature of refundable income tax —Compulsory Saving—must have convinced some people that regular saving is not so difficult as they had imagined. It brought a double benefit and both should be treasured—the actual money saved—the "education" in saving money. When your cheque comes in, deposit it right in your Imperial Bank savings account. And as for the future, that regular habit of monthly budget for saving should not be lost.

PAPANEK BLASTS RUSSIA — Jan Papanek (seated, right) anti-Communist and friend of the dead Jan Masaryk, addressed the Security Council at Lake Success, N.Y., declaring that Russia engineered the Communist grab of Czechoslovakia. "God help me, I shall prove this to you," Papanek asserted. At left, looking a trifle glum, is Andrei A. Gromyko (wearing dark glasses), Soviet delegate. Papanek was seated by the Security Council, 9 votes to 2, with Russia and the Soviet Ukraine objecting.

U.K. Delegate Urges Caution In Czech Case

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Mar. 24—"In judging this case we must be careful, scrupulous, objective. Above all, we must be very careful not to be easily fooled."

Thus spoke the usually withdrawn and terse Sir Alexander Cadogan in the Security Council, after a review of the Czech case which for icy, almost savage irony has seldom been equalled at a UN meeting. There was surprise expressed that Britain should thus take a leading role in the prosecution of the USSR, for interference in Czechoslovakia; surprise, too, that the aloof Cadogan should be moved to such biting eloquence.

Czech States Case

Cadogan spoke after Dr. Jan Papanek, former Czech envoy at UN had told his version of the sorry events in his country which closed the door on western democracy. Dr. Papanek's was a tale of double-dealing, beginning with the 25th of October, 1944, when Czech envoys re-entered their country's former Ruthenian (Carpatho-Russia) province, only to find that Russia had taken it for her own. As some of his friends feared, Papenek's case was not lavishly documented but he told the Council that persons who had escaped the Gottwald regime were now in Germany on their way to Paris. Presumably they will be able to give evidence.

The British delegate made scathing reference to the fact that in yet another country of Eastern Europe an iron Communist minority had been able to impose a totalitarian dictatorship on the people.

The pattern never changed. Or rather it had changed in that the Soviet Union had had time to perfect its technique. It might be of course, that the masses of the people in these countries moved voluntarily under the iron dictatorship of a minority.

"But by some extraordinary coincidence with the visit to the country in question of a high Soviet official bearing special tidings from Moscow."

If that really were a coincidence, he thought it deserved investigation. After the Czech coup, said Cadogan, Jan Masaryk had made his own tragic protest. Nothing had been heard publicly from President Benes but "since the recent coup d'etat he does not seem to have any access to publicity."

After the meeting, which ended on a note of angry, blanket denial of all charges by Vasilly Tarassenko of the Ukraine, correspondents were invited to listen to the "other side of the story." Dr. Vladimir Houdek, the new Czech envoy, stamped and approved by the Gottwald regime, held a press conference.

Houdek made it clear that he was not going to ask to appear before the Security Council in the Czech case because he considered it an intrusion on his country's jurisdiction. He is a large, well pressed rather florid young man who looks like a successful sales executive.

Houdek said that he had no doubt Jan Masaryk committed suicide. And that he did so for two reasons. One was the flood of reproachful messages from old friends in the west. The other was his fear of a resurgent Germany.

He had spent two hours talking alone with Masaryk the day before the Foreign Minister made his fatal leap. They had dined together. Masaryk had presented him with a book, had marked it with the date, had inscribed it "to Vladimar Houdek in old friendship."

"What was the title of the book?" somebody asked.

"London Calling."

"Don't you think that title suggestive?" If Dr. Houdek did, he didn't say so. He flushed a little and passed on.

"Since the war," he said, "rights have been broadened (in Czechoslovakia) not only in the political sphere but also in the economic sphere. He went on to talk about parcelling up the land and nationalization of industry.

This reporter was interested in the news that rights of the ordinary Czech voter had been broadened "in the political sphere" Had the suffrage been extended? Had parliamentary immunity and the right to form political parties and to hold public meetings been extended? He asked Houdek "how have the rights of the Czech voter been broadened in the political sphere?"

Questions Unnswered

Houdek went into another long and rather scholarly explanation of the principles of "economic democracy" as it is preached by Marxists.

"Excuse me, sir," the reporter broke in after ten minutes of this. "You have not answered my question. Do you want the quotation read back to you?"

"I accept the quotation," said the Czech envoy.

"Then you accept your clear implication that political rights, as distinct from economic rights, have been broadened for the Czech voter."

Houdek brightened.

"I will give you an instance," he said. "Between the two world wars in little Czech village we had a functionary, a boss, appointed from above. What you might call a sheriff. Now instead of the one man, we have a committee of several people, elected by the village."

He gave no further instance. Apparently he was content to rest the case there for the "broadened" democracy of Thomas Garrigue Masaryk's nation. A village committee has replaced the village constable.

"Will there be elections in Czechoslovakia this year?" another reporter asked.

"I think so. Yes, about the second or third week in May," said Mr. Houdek Then he got up and shuffled his papers. The defence had rested.

CAPTURE ESCAPED "MAD" KILLERS—Police captured these two insane killed, Melville Wilkie (left), and Leo Cada (right), on Tuesday, ending a reign of terror begun when they escaped from the mental hospital at Penetanguishene, several days ago. The men were arrested in the French-speaking village of Lafontaine. Police said they were being returned to the hospital from which they escaped.

World Tension May Cost U.S. Three Billion More Next Year

WASHINGTON, March 24—(AP).—The present state of world tension may add $3,000,000,000 to the cost of running the United States Government next year. Government analysts said today rearmament plans now being discussed could shoot the spending figure even higher—possibly $5,000,000,000 above President Truman's present $39,700,000,000 estimate.

Truman called Budget Director James E. Webb in yesterday to go over the situation with the chiefs of the armed forces. No official figures came out of the meeting. But it was clear that even a 10-per-cent. boost in the budget would:

1. Just about wipe out the $4,800,000,000 surplus the President has estimated for the fiscale year starting July 1. That was based on holding spending at $39,700,000,000 and keeping taxes where they are now.

2. Give Truman a new argument for vetoing the $4,800,000,000 tax-cut measure scheduled to be put to him by Congress today. He could say such a reduction would put the government's finances back in the red and further increase the national debt.

3. Give business a boost just when there are signs of a levelling off or downturn.

Already several budget "extras" are apparent. More than $1,650,000,000 may be required to take care of universal military training and a temporary draft revival which Truman asked to back up the European recovery program.

ERP costs already are counted in the budget. So is a $400,000,000 fund for the first-year of a UMT program which Truman figures in January would later cost $2,000,000,000 a year.

But the $400,000,000 starter for UMT now looks small. Defence Secretary Forrestal said earlier this month that the first year's outlay would take $480,000,000 more than the budget estimate.

Expansion in men and planes now holds the spotlight. But there are reports of other projects such as a revised lend-lease to help arm potential allies at costs ranging up to $2,000,000,000.

Back Restaurant Drive

TORONTO, March 24 (CP). — N. B. Kirby, a director of the Canadian Restaurant Association, yesterday pledged association support to municipal, provincial and federal health authorities to maintain rigid sanitary regulations in restaurants. "We cannot afford to allow a few parasites to drag down the industry," he said.

Rudy Vallee Out To Conquer Television Next

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 24 (AP). —Rudy Vallee, the tireless troubador, is out to conquer yet another medium — television.

One of Hollywood's non-stop talkers, the former vagabond lover described his newest project, Vallee-Video. He believes that radio has passed its peak of popularity as a form of entertainment and will soon take a back seat to television.

Right now Vallee is experimenting with illustrated songs. For example, he takes a tune like "These Foolish Things" and flashes the "things" on the screen as the song is played. Such films take from one to four days to complete and the producer said he is in no hurry to release them.

"I can wait a year or two," he declared. "The market isn't one-hundredth the size it will be. When the demand goes up, prices go up and a backlog of programs is like gold in a vault." He'll have to get a bigger vault, then; Vallee is rumored to be one of the richest men in show business.

Thrill Seeker.

Olivia DeHavilland was telling about the thrill she got presenting the Academy award to Ronald Colman. When she was a teen-ager, he was her idol. She even wrote for and received an autographer photo from Colman . . . Note: I hereby resolve never again to try to predict Academy winners. Not this year, anyway.

Winner Colman told me he has no future pictures in mind. He is one of Hollywood's most crtical script readers. Some sources have suggested he do a stage version of "Othello," the high point of his "A Double Life" performance. "I'll stick to pictures," he said. "I know when I'm well off."

10 Second Review

"April Showers" (Warners) is that solid movie commodity—the nostalgic musical. This one is better than most, being enacted by two amiable preformers, Jack Carson and Ann Sothern, plus a talented kid, Bobby Ellis. It's about a vaudeville family, and the father takes to drink, and—well, you get the idea.

MAPLE SYRUP RUNNING — Five hundred sap buckets, each hung on its slanting spile, are scattered through this 20-acre woodlot on the farm of H. B. Culp, a mile south of Vineland. When maple sap is running, buckets must be emptied every day. Then contents are hauled to syrup and sugar shanty for processing. Samuel (Muggs) Culp, 2, is pictured watching his Uncle Harold (Left) drain a sap bucket into a pail. There is nothing just like the taste of freshly boiled maple syrup. At right, Elizabeth Rempel gets a sample from Margaret Macklin, while little Samuel Culp stands by.

Motor Export Increase

LONDON — (CP). — Britain is exporting more motor cars than ever before. In 1946 the monthly rate was 7,200, in 1947 11,900. In January of this year exports rose to 16,000, exclusive of 5,000 buses and commercial vehicles.

Ex-RCAF Instructor Killed In Air Crash

HAMILTON, March 24—(CP)—Ralph E. (Cash) North, 35, former RCAF instructor and a partner in Peninsula Air Services was fatally injured late yesterday when a light plane in which he was flying alone crashed into Hamilton mountain.

North died a few minutes after he was admitted to hospital. He was removed from the wreckage by city police and ambulance attendants who struggled up the wooded mountainside to the spot.

The aircraft circled low over the city for about 10 minutes before the crash. Shortly after the plane hit the mountain, more than 1,000 people converged on the area to view the wreckage.

North's widow and four children survive.

AROUND A LONG TIME

Anthropologists say man has existed in his present form for a period of from 800,000 to 1,000,000 years, or four per cent of geological time.

Lords Debate Child Welfare

LONDON, March 24 (CP). — The majority of Britons are indifferent to religion, Lord Amwell told the House of Lords in a debate on the Children Bill.

"They don't care about religion at all," he said. "They don't lead a religious life."

He said he believed in the necessity of spiritual training, but added:

"What a child wants first and foremost is a good home and a good moral training."

Lord Iddlesleigh had proposed there should be talks between local authorities and religious representatives before a child was boarded out with people of different religions.

But Lord Amwell feared some "poor little devil of a child" being tugged from side to side by religious authorities.

An amendment which gives State protection to all homeless children was withdrawn.

Hot Cross Buns Prove Not Difficult to Make

By MARY MOORE

In a never-say-die endeavour to simplify the making of yeast mixtures—especially hot cross buns—I have made myself late.

You will keep on eating the buns made from this recipe all Spring so do not put off tackling them, if you have yeast on hand or can still buy it after you read this tonight. They are simple.

But what these buns are like on the second day I will never know for every time I make a batch it disappears before bedtime down into you-know-who's stomach.

Emem's Hot Cross Buns

(A sweet-bun dough with limitless variations).

Note: I want to recommend granular yeast for this mixture for it adds to the simplicity of preparation).

Ingredients are listed in order of mixing: One-half cup milk, scalded, 4 tablespons each (¼ cup) sugar and shortening or lard, 2 teaspons salt, ½ cup cold water, 1 package dry granular yeast (or 1 cake compressed yeast), 1 unbeaten egg, 3½ cups sifted bread flour, ½ cup mixed cut peel or washed and dried raisins or currants, 1 teaspoon cinnamon,

When milk reaches the temperature where it bubbles around sides of pan remove from heat and add sugar, shortening and salt. Stir until shortening melts. Add the ½ cup cold water. Sprinkle granular yeast over surface of milk. Let stand 10 minutes. Then stir in 2 cups of the sifted flour and the unbeaten egg for about 3 minutes, or until this sponge is very smooth. Now add the remaining 1½ cups sifted flour, the ½ cup of prepared fruit and the cinnamon. (½ teaspoon nutmeg may be used in place of cinnamon if preferred). Mix well. Now the buns may be shaped into 2½-inch buns and put in greased pan or dough may be put in greased bowl and held, covered, in ice-box.

These buns require from 1½ to 2 hours to rise to double their bulk in a warm kitchen. If they have been chilled in refrigerator they require about 15 minutes longer. Place in greased pan about ¾-inch apart, and stand in warm place, covered, away from draft, to rise. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 15 minutes. Three minutes before they are finished, remove them from oven and brush with a mixture of 1½ tablespoons each white sugar and evaporated milk to give them an interesting glaze. Return to oven to finish browning. This batch makes 2 dozen buns, and as you can see, half of it may be made up at a time.

VARIATIONS: (1)—Use grated rind of 1 lemon in place of spices.

(2) Leave out the spices and fruit and use for coffee-cake. Spread dough in large greased pan about ½-inch thick; sprinkle with mixture made of ½ cup brown sugar, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon. Dot with butter and let rise to 1 inch in height and bake as above. Topping of this cake may be varied: chopped fruit of any kind may be added such as dates, raisins, currants, cherries, peel, candied pineapple.

(3) Swedish Braided Loaf: Omit spices and fruits from sweet dough and divide it into 9 parts. Roll each part into a long strip. Braid 4 strips and place on greased baking sheet. Braid 3 parts and place on top. Twist remaining 2 parts and place on top, tucking ends under. Cover and set in warm place to rise until double in bulk. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 45 minutes. When cool cover with simple butter frosting and sprinkle with chopped walnuts or pecans.

21st Anniversary Banquet Features Decorated Cake

A banquet to celebrate the 21st anniversary of Order of the Eastern Star in Peterborough was a delightful event of Tuesday evening for members and out-of-town visitors. Tables set in the Orange Hall were enhanced by mauve and yellow streamers, Easter rabbits and chickens, a centre bouquet of yellow daffodils and purple African violets. A handsome three-tiered birthday cake decorated in emblematic colors, blue, yellow, white, green and red held a prominent place in the setting. Twenty-one candles on the cake were lit by charter members present and the Five Point Star officers, with Morthy Matron, Mrs. W. H. Wheeler presiding.

Toastmaster was Mr. W. H. Wheeler, Worthy Patron. Mrs. Robert Hutton, PM, proposed the toast to Grand Chapter and Miss Rose Sexsmith, charter member and PDDGMM replied. A toast to charter members was proposed by Mrs. W. H. Wheeler, after which Hrs. Al Spencley, soloist for the evening, sang a fitting song, "Memories." The reply was given by Mr. George Moore. Guests were present from Havelock and Lindsay Lodges and a toast in their honor was given by Mr. R. Paris, charter member. Mrs. R. Smith of Havelock responded.

Convener in charge of arrangements was Mrs. Keith Armstrong. Decorations committee included Mrs. R. Hutton, Mrs. Wm. Beggs, Mrs. Angus Munro and Miss Vera Squire. The cake was made by Mrs. Thos. Squire and decorated by Mrs. A. Lashbrook.

Regular meeting of the Order was held after dinner, during which Mrs. Spencley again entertained with solos, the words being specially arranged to fit the occasion. Initiation of new members was conducted by the officers.

During business discussions plans were made for a rummage sale to be held at the Orange Hall on Tuesday afternoon, April 13, with a bridge and euchre party to follow in the evening.

Late in the evening the birthday cake was cut and served with coffee by Mrs. R. Hendry, Mrs. Percy Windrim and committee.

OF GERMAN ORIGIN

The idea of a kindergarten for young children was evolved by a German, Friedrich Froebel.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

Father's Night was held Tuesday by the Prince of Wales Home and School Association, and the activities were taken over entirely by the fathers. Mr. Jos. Gatfield acted as chairman. The secretary's report was given by Mr. Gordon Millen and Mr. Len Hollingsworth reported for the treasurer.

Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite was guest speaker on the topic "Education". He pointed out what education means to the parents who are equipping their children with ability to earn their own living. He expressed the hope another "r"—religion—would be added to the three "r's" of general education, as the church is really the home or centre from which modern education springs.

Mr. George Gatfield entertained with two pleasing violin solos. "Without a Song" and "Mother Machree" were the numbers chosen by Mr. Adam Hawley for delightful vocal solos. Mrs. E. Foster was pianist for the evening.

The speaker and artists were thanked by Mr. J. Donaldson.

After community singing, fathers C. A. Gilders, J. A. Goodson, F. Gray, L. Hollingsworth, C. Ross and H. Mouck donned aprons and caps to serve a tasty luncheon prepared by Mrs. G. Rowbottom, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Goodson.

Fashion Flashes

THE DEMAND by the younger element is for the suit with the full skirts. So a six-gore skirt is part of a handsome suit in beige gabardine designed for the deb type. The double-breasted jacket has a slim waist. Slit-back peplum, colar and button piping are of black gabardine.

✧ ✧ ✧

GOING BIG is the little spring fur garment. Caracul in black, brown or beige is used for a pretty little cape with a triangular look, achieved by having the front and back dip in points. Pert, stand-up collar.

✧ ✧ ✧

DESIGNED for those who demand something different is the meticulously tailored classic suit in fine tweed in pastel tones. Shoulders are narrower, but padded; waistline is slim and the jacket is padded at the hips to stand away from the figure. Beautiful in a small herringbone tweed in shades of blue and pale rose.

✧ ✧ ✧

ESPECIALLY PLEASING are new mid-season hats that tell of Spring. An off-the-face sailor of navy felt is trimmed with crisp white daisies arranged across the front and extending down over the right ear. The flowers are combined with emerald velvet ribbon bows, and the centre of each flower is yellow, and bright with a green sequin.

✧ ✧ ✧

PETTICOAT FEVER is mounting as Spring fashion trends crystallize. Navy crepe forms a pretty frock made with a snug bodice, three-quarter-length sleeves and a white wing collar with a bow of red, white, and black print. With the gored skirt a matching print petticoat.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL READY to do sartorial tricks in bringing a touch of Spring to late Winter wardrobes are beautiful scarfs. Silk chiffon is used for a beautiful scarf printed all over with green, yellow and pink butterflies ... ed in back and posed aga... background of white and whi... ue clouds.

✧ ✧ ✧

IMPORTANT shade for Spring and Summer is chamois-yellow, for both accessories and clothes. Chamois-yellow felt is used for a neat cloche which has a cushion brim. Elephant gray taffeta ribbon is used for trimming, with a neat little bunch of violets at the back—a nice color scheme.

Wives Often Make Work Hard for Themselves

DEAR MISS DIX: I have always taken pride in our home and have worked from morning until night to make it like a home, but my husband tells me that I do nothing at all and he only wishes that he could take life easy the way I do. That gets me down as I have none of the modern household conveniences and have to launder twelve shirts a week and all the sheets and heavy bedspreads. I am often so tired I could drop, but if I ask him why he doesn't dry the dishes for me once in a while, he answers: "When the day comes that your work is as hard as mine I'll wipe the dishes."

DOROTHY DIX

He works in an office where he sits down all day, but I jump from job to job. He thinks I am inefficient because I work eight hours a day just doing my own housework. What do you think?

ANSWER: I agree with your husband that you must dawdle if you put in eight hours a day keeping a small house and cooking for two people, especially as you have no children to track in mud and scatter their clothes and playthings all over the place. Think this over and I believe you will realize that you make extra work for yourself by having no system.

I used to know a woman whose house was always in such a state of confusion that there was never a place to sit down, or even move without danger of falling over a chair or something that was likely to break your legs. There was never a meal on time in her home. The children's clothes were always in the tub just going to be washed, and she always had to dash out at the last minute to buy the groceries for supper, and she was the hardest worked woman of whom you ever heard.

Worked Haphazardly

The reason of it was that she never finished a job. She would sweep a little on a floor, but not finish the room. She would half make a bed and then go off after something else. She would darn one stocking and leave the other with holes in it. Maybe that is the way you do your work and it explains why it takes you eight hours to do a two-hour job.

As for your husbands telling you that he wishes he had a soft job like yours, that is what every man in the world says to his wife, and every man believes it, and that because other peoples' troubles always seem lighter than our own.

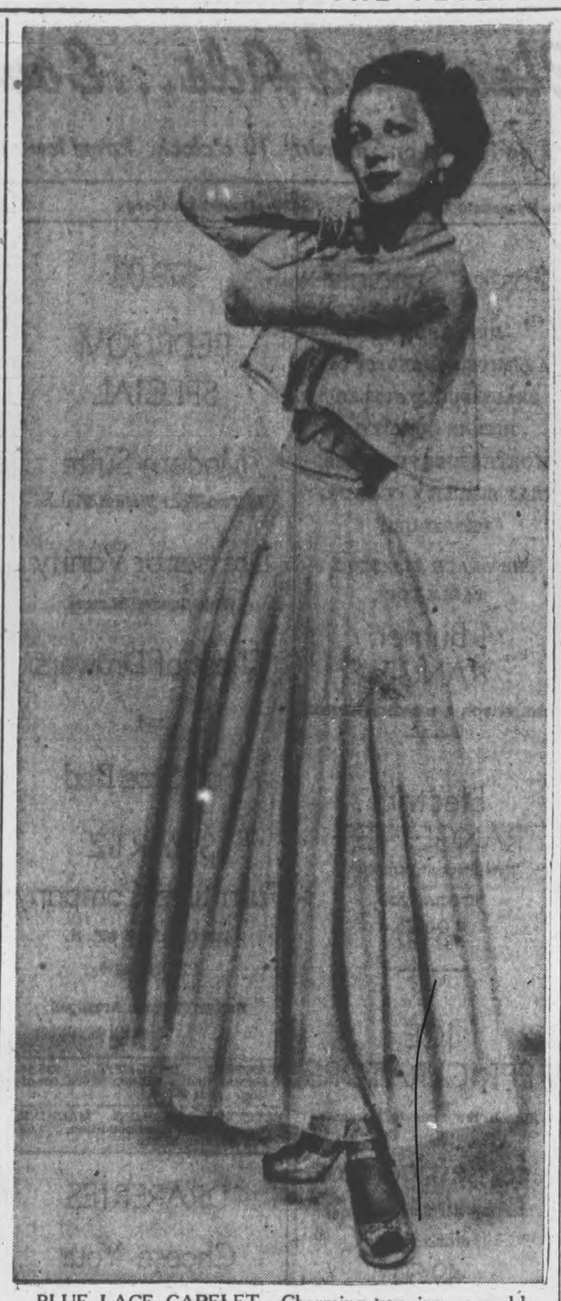
It is a pity that husbands and wives can't swap jobs every now and then. Then they would find out what the other was up against. The woman who thinks it would be so nice to sit in an office all day and do nothing but talk to people would have nervous prostrations by night if she had to wrestle with all the problems that confront her husband. And any man who had to cook and wash and scrub making a home for his family, and be up half the night with a howling baby, would be calling for help before ten o'clock in the morning. It is only women, whose work is never done, who can stand the gaff.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a small boy who has no playmates to play with and who is always begging for a brother near his own age. That being an impossibility in our case, how could I get in touch with a small child to whom I would give a good home and a mother's care and who would be a companion for my son? I have heard that there are organizations that board children out in return for a good home. How could I contact such a place?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Apply to the Children's Bureau in your city and it will give you the information you wish. Of late years it has been found that children, taken as a whole, do far better when they are placed in private families than they do in asylums. So it is a common thing for youngsters to be boarded out in homes where there are other children of approximately the same age as the little boarders, and where they become part of the family life, under the supervision of women who are real mothers.



✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man of 25. Single. Live with parents. I cannot get along with my father have no job and have been unable to get one. I am very anxious to join the Navy. What should I do? My mother objects.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You should decide what you want to do, not your mother. The Navy is the very place for you because it will give you the training and discipline that you evidently need. You will come out of it a different man.

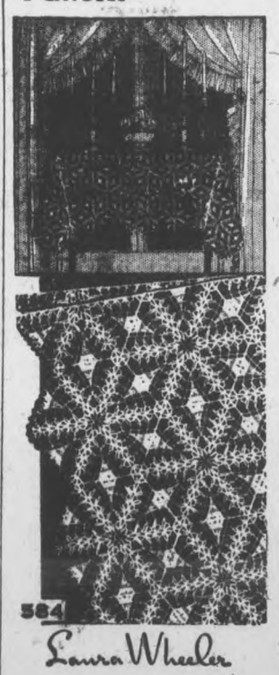
BLUE LACE CAPELET—Charming evening ensemble, with a look of grace and fragility that any woman knows will outlast both packing and wear, is this pale blue lace affair. The frock is poised over a crinoline petticoat to keep it swirling beneath a smooth hipline, and the bodice is very moulded and low. With the gown is a capelet which has long sleeves, and which buttons at the throat beneath a Peter Pan collar.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, March 25



WHILE there are auguries for a rather perplexing or obscure development concerning affairs of scope and importance, there is nothing that might not be accomplished in the way of circumventing such omens, if practical, concentrated, wise or shrewd manipulation be brought to bear on equivocal situations. Keeping within bounds of reason and common sense, where duty or obligation is involved, could indicate secure culmination.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are in line for some shrewd and sagacious work in sidestepping a difficult, obscure or perhaps tricky or perplexing situation, by being keen to a due sense of values and obligations or commitments, then hewing to the line with concentrated efforts, practical and long-range plans and vision, to cover peculiar or subtle probabilites, especially where character, reputation, integrity are involved. Emotional, personal or spiritual relations demand safe conduct through singular crises.

A child born on this day may be subject to peculiar or strange complications in life, with unique experiences or contacts. However, it will have stability, and practicality to defeat such unrealistic menace.

Fraserville News

Around 35 attended the crokinole and pie social sponsored by the WA of which Mrs. R. B. Lobb is president. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. O. Pue, Miss Marion Whitfield, John Lewis, Arnold Guthrie and Miss Nancy Padgett.

Ray Bothwell auctioned the pies. Proceeds of the evening amounted to about $20.

The community held a euchre on Saturday, with proceeds for the Canadian Appeal for Children. Over 40 attended. Prizes were won by Mrs. K. Moncrief, Glen Kellar, E. Fallis and Mrs. E. Fallis.

A lovely silk cushion had been made by Mrs. R. B. Lobb to be auctioned. The cushion was bought by Mr. Lobb for $5.60, returning the cushion to be sold again. H. Seabrooke bought it then for $3. Mr. Seabrooke also donated the cushion again and this time tickets were sold for the cushion. Marilyn Kellar made the draw for the lucky name which was Mrs. Chester Hall, Fraserville. Total proceeds for the evening were $28.30.

Mrs. I. Lewis, Fraserville, visited this week with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Beatty, Peterborough.

On Monday at Peterborough Civic Hospital a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Carl, Fraserville.

Easter service at Fraserville United Church will be at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Perhaps it is a ruined suit, or a damaged rug. $50 is a conservative estimate of replacement costs. Surveys show that Canadian families are robbed annually of $22,000,000 in moth larvae damage.

Moth-Tox is the swift, sure way to kill moth eggs, larvae and flying moths. Moth-Tox, made by the makers of Fly-Tox, has a pleasant, piney odour. Spray it regularly around baseboards, on rugs, piano felts, and in wardrobes.

6—In Memoriam

CASTLE—In loving memory of Thomas Castle, who passed away March 26, 1944.
When days are dark and friends are few
Dear father how we think of you
Friends are friends if they are true
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

DAYNES—In loving memory of Mrs. Marie Daynes, who passed away one year ago today.
Heavy are our hearts today.
Memory brings you back once more
To the time when you were with us
To the happy days of yore.
—Ever remembered by Annie and Alf Gardner.

DAYNES—In loving memory of Marie Daynes.
We mourn for her in silence
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
—Sadly missed by mother, sisters and brothers.

LOWES—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George J. Lowes, who departed this life March 24, 1943.
Only a memory of bygone days,
And a sigh for a face unseen;
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

ORBELL—In loving memory of William Orbel., who passed away a year ago today.
Oh, call it not death, it is life begun—
For the waters are passed, the home is won:
The ransomed spirit hath reached the shore,
Where they weep and suffer and sin no more:
He is gone from this world of sin and strife
To be with Jesus. Yes! this is life.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. George Kirk, wish to extend their sincere appreciation to the Rev. E. E. Pugsley, Dr. A. R. Atkinson, friends and neighbours, for their kindness and helpfulness, during the long illness and in their bereavement.

The family of the late Milton Black, wish to thank the staff of Civic Hospital, Rev. Semple and all the kind neighbours and friends for their thoughtfulness and floral tributes during their recent sad bereavement.

SPECIAL NOTICE!
RUMOR HAS BEEN SPREAD AROUND THAT FILTER QUEEN BAGLESS VACUUM CLEANER IS NOT MADE IN CANADA. THIS STATEMENT IS FALSE AND UNTRUE
Filter Queen
Vacuum Cleaner
is made in Canada, the factory is located at Welland, Ontario. The only vacuum cleaner built with a two-year guarantee. No other like it. Today the big switch is to Filter Queen. Over 1000 delivered in Peterborough district last year—over 300 since Christmas. No other like it. See this amazing new invention. It costs no more than old-style bag cleaner. Immediate delivery. Terms if desired.

BULAWAYO, South Africa — (CP). — Two native women were killed in an unusual accident when two oil drums they had set over a fire to boil clean exploded. The women had filled the drums with water but had screwed the lids of the drums on tight.

Will Decide On Taylor Case

SYDNEY, N.S., March 24 (CP). —A special three-man committee of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the National Hockey League and one independent member will probably be called on "very soon" to decide whether Billy Taylor, expelled NHL player, may play amateur hockey in Canada, it was learned here today.

Hanson Dowell, past president of the CAHA, said the committee will probably be appointed "very soon" to decide Taylor's hockey fate should he decide to join Canadian amateur ranks.

"... we have a working agreement with the NHL. We respect their rulings. But in such a case ... a committee of three will make a decision," Dowell said.

Taylor, a New York Rangers player, was recently expelled for life fro professional hockey by NHL president Clarence Campbell on charges of gambling.

Obituaries

ERNEST JOHNSTON FALLIS

The death occurred Friday at St. Joseph's Hospital, of Ernest Johnston Fallis, in his 72nd year. The funeral service was held from his late residence in Manvers township on Monday, with the Rev. T. W. Hazelwood of Humber Crest United church, Toronto, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gault of Bethany, in charge.

Mr. Fallis lived all his life in the Manvers community except for a few years in Toronto. The pallbearers were: Frank Hannah, Feversham; Aubrey Fallis, Millbrook; Garnet Porter, Toronto; Morris Bradley, Pontypool; Douglas Logan, Pontypool; Thomas Ward, Bethany.

Flower bearers were: Alfred Johnston, Earl Argue, Carlton Patton, Earnest Cavano, Walter Bradley, Reginald Fallis, Harry O'Brian, Weston Hutchinson, A. G. Gribble, Leslie Challice, Lavergne Fallis.

He was buried in the family plot in Fallis cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, the former Elizabeth Bradley, one daughter, Marjorie (Mrs. Harry M. Finnigan, Toronto), and three sisters, Mabel (Mrs. Henry Fallis), Millbrook; Clara (Mrs. Harry Hanna), Carnarvon; and Nettie (Mrs. Stanley Fallis), Saskatchewan, and one grandson, Rodger Fingan, Toronto.

ALBERT V. GERMAN

HASTINGS, March 24—(ENS). —Although in failing health for many months, the death on Tuesday of Albert Victor German came as a shock to friends, as he had been around as usual in the morning. He was in his sixty-fourth year.

He was born in Percy township, a son of the late Mary Amelia Storey and Byron German. He attended school at Brickley, and spent his early manhood on the homestead. After coming to Hastings, he was employed on the Trent Canal for some time before purchasing a grocery store on Front Street. His jovial disposition earned him a host of friends as a business man. He retired from bunsiness about three years ago.

He was married in Hastings to Ethel Stevenson in 1907. Rev. W. Elliott performed the ceremony.

The late Victor German was a member of Trinity United Church where funeral services were held today, with Rev. J. E. Glover officiating.

Surviving, besides his widow, are four sisters and two brothers: Misses Katherine and Florence of Hastings, Mrs. John Burgess of Norwood, Mrs. Susan Parker and Chris German, Hanna, Alta., and Roy German, Calgary.

SAVEVD FROM BLASTED DWELLING — Rescue workers are shown leading a semi-hysterical woman from the wreckage of the building recently demolished by an explosion in Centralia, Ill. Five persons died and 23 were injured in the blast, which firemen said may have been caused by gas. Most of the injured were patrons in a tavern and billiard hall housed in the building.

World News In Brief

Taken from Wires of Canadian Press

MONTREAL — Charles Ross Day, 59, superintendent of Quebec branches for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, died after a long illness.

OTTAWA—The Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association, representing 95 per cent of Canadian fruit and vegetable importers, announced today it could no longer import cabbages and carrots from the United States at present ceiling prices.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—Illumination will return to the Canadian and American falls during the Easter week-end, the Niagara Falls Illumination Board announced today. In darkness for several months due to Hydro power shortage, a three-night restoration is made possible due to industrial power consumption through Ontario dropping to a minimum during the Easter holiday.

VATICAN CITY —The Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith decreed that Roman Catholic priests who travel by air henceforth will have the some right to confess fellow passengers as those travelling by sea. Bishops now may authorize priests to confirm any person aboard a plane who may be in danger of death.

LONDON, England — Britain is asking German prisoners of war who have campaigned in extreme cold to volunteer as arm advisers on cold weather warfare.

BRANTFORD—Damages totalling $17,000 were awarded by a Supreme Court jury to Wilfred Druce and Miss Henriette Sinotte, both of this city, in a suit arising out of an accident on Sept. 6, 1946.

LONDON—Public school supporters must pay $1,466,011 to meet costs of education this year in London. It is an increase of nearly $300,000 over last year.

LONDON — The crash of an automobile into a hydro pole plunged all northeast London into a four-hour power blackout. Brief power interruptions were caused later by the repair work.

TILLSONBURG — Severely burned at school near here eight days ago, seven-year-old Margaret Szoradi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Szoradi, of Courtland, was transferred to Victoria Hospital, London. She is suffering extensive burns to her back, arms and legs.

Tug Dama[illegible]d

PORT STANLEY — A premature effort to navigate through Lake Erie ice put the tug Dover Rose out of commission as ice damaged her rubber, forcing her to be towed to port here by a sister ship, the Kentor.

MONTREAL — Six firemen were overcome while fighting a fire in a four-storey building on St. Catherine Street housing the Blue Sky Cafe and a clothing manufacturing plant. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

LONDON, England — William Francis Casey has been appointed editor of the Times in succession to the late Robert McCowan Barrington-Ward. Casey joined the staff of the Times in 1913 and had been deputy-editor since 1941.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SHOOT AT A LONG SHOT

AGAINST a contract of game or slam in rubber bridge, your primary objective on the defense is to set the declarer if you can. To do this, you should stand ready to assume any risk of handing the declarer extra tricks if it preserves your chance to defeat him. On many an occasion, that entails basing your action on the hope that your partner holds some one particular card with which he can win a trick. Even though you consider the odds against his having it, you should shoot at that long shot instead of playing to limit the number of extra tricks by the declarer.

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	2 ♥
3 ♣	Pass	3 NT

North required a good deal of nerve for that bid of his at the three level, but it was rubber bridge and he reckoned the showing of his clubs might be the key to a No Trump game. He read South for surplus strength especially because of West's jump bid in hearts, which might have been based on not much except great length in view of previous similar bids by the same chap.

West led his fourth-best heart 7, the 10 bringing forth the J, and South at once attacked the clubs. West won with his A and immediately laid down the heart A without any particular hope of dropping the K but to make sure South did not get all the rest of the tricks. Then he led a third heart to the K, clearing the suit. The diamond K, four club tricks and three more diamonds enabled South to get ten all told.

When in with that club A, West should have clung to his hearts in the hope that East had one left and also an early winning card in some other suit. The best chance would have been in spades, since South had bid diamonds. If West had followed this logic and led a spade to the next trick, East would have won, would have sent back his last heart and the suit would have scored six more tricks. These plus the black aces would have set South four tricks. In other words, that single play would have been worth five tricks.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should South play for 6-No Trumps after West leads the spade 2?

MillbrookCouple 25 Years Married

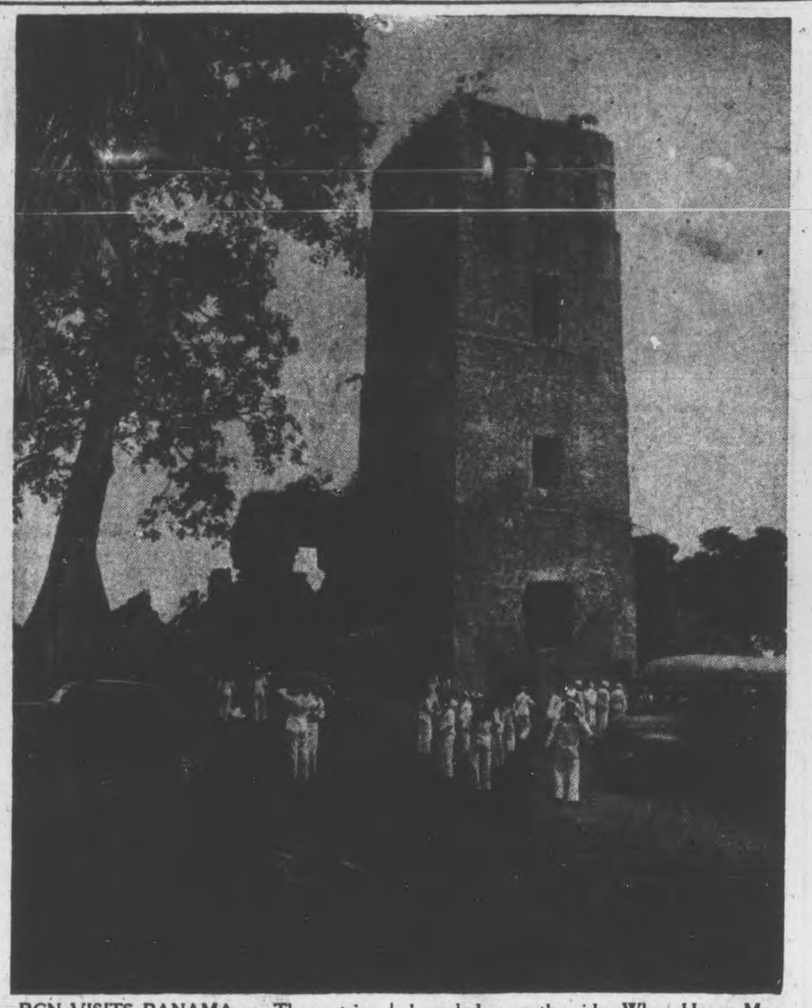
MILLBROOKK, March 24 — (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hubbeard quietly celebrated their silver wedding anniversary at their home on Saturday with immediate members of the family and more than 30 neighbors and friends present to mark the passing of the 25th milestone.

Rev. S. T. Tucker, now retired and living in Toronto, performed the ceremony at the wedding of the guests of honor, Cecil Hubbeard, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hubbeard, and Marian Spence, second daughter of the late John Spence and Mrs. Spence, who was home from Peterborough for the anniversary party. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, Main St., and the young couple were unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbeard lived the first 18 years of their married life at the farm homestead, Zion Line, west of Millbrook, and for the past seven years have resided at Millbrook.

Gerald Hubbeard, only son of the couple, attended the door on Saturday and assisting Mr. and Mrs. Hubbeard in receiving their guests were her mother, Mrs. J. Spence, Peterborough, and her two sisters, Mrs. Roscoe Peacock, Woodbridge, and Mrs. J. C. Hudson, Toronto, who were with their husbands and families.

The hostess table was covered with a lace cloth, and centred with a silver basket of golden daffodils, flanked on either side with tall white candles, burning in silver holders. On display in the tea room were gifts.



Mrs. Peacock and Mrs. Hudson helped with the service of the guests. Among other relatives from out-of-town for the anniversary were Mr. and Mrs. George McCullough and daughter, Newtonville and Mr. and Mrs. Norman G. McCullough, Port Hope.

Insulate Once In a Housetime

RCN VISITS PANAMA — The restrictions a Canadian winter sets on many other activities does not limit the seagoing training program of the RCN. It is simply a case of following the weather best suited to provide the seamen with maximum practical experience—and in the course of it they acquire a good deal of valuable geographical knowledge on the side. When Henry Morgan, the famous pirate, made his trip to old Panama City, the tower of the cathedral was all that remained upright after he had looted and fired the place. More than two centuries later sailors from a Canadian naval vessel make a trip as guests of the shore authorities to inspect the historic site.

OTTAWA CANCELS HOUSING PROGRAM

A BREAK FOR THEM—"It's a happy day for crippled kids," says ten-year-old David Sommer, "when the camp nurse comes around to ask if we can go to camp." Miss Isabel Fairfield, director of camps for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, points out to him a new addition to the camp this year. Actively supported by service clubs, the two camps operated by the society are a proven factor in the rehabilitation of Ontario's afflicted youngsters. Each year over 350 children from all parts of the province spend a summer holiday which is both training and vacationing. One main result of last year's Easter seal sales conducted by the Peterborough Rotary Club was raising enough funds to commence operations on a camp to be located in Eastern Ontario. This year's Easter campaign funds will help broaden this effort.

5,500 Houses Abandoned Howe Decides

Ontario Legislation On Wartime Housing Brings Cancellation

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP).—Reconstruction Minister Howe said today that because of housing legislation by the Ontario government the Dominion will be forced to terminate its efforts to relieve Ontario's need for rental housing.

He said the Ontario legislation is the Dominion Crown Tenants Provincial - Municipal Services Act, which has passed second reading in the Ontario Legislature.

At a press conference, the minister said the gist of the bill was that as far as Wartime Housing is concerned, the Ontario government can take action "where the arrangements for the payment of provincial and municipal services are not considered suitable by the municipality concerned."

The province can exclude any such Wartime Housing from the local municipality and order the cutting off of all services, including schooling, water, sewage, fire and police protection, garbage disposal and health and welfare.

Mr. Howe said this will affect 9,670 war workers' houses, including 5,000 occupied by veterans, and 5,560 veterans' houses.

Asked why he thought the Ontario government took this action, he replied:

Just to take a roundhouse swing at the (Federal) government, I think."

Hurts Tenants

But he emphasized: "It doesn't hurt us any. It hurts the tenants."

Mr. Howe said the Ontario legislation means cancellation of federal plans for construction of some 5,500 low-rental units in that province this year. They were to have been part of the Dominion's $75,000,000 program to build 12,000 units during 1948.

All units at present under construction will be completed.

"No one contests the municipality's, or even the province's, right to tax the tenants of wartime housing," Mr. Howe said in a statement distributed at the press conference.

Several municipalities, notably in British Columbia, had taken advantage of a federal announcement in July, 1946, providing for "extra taxes."

Under that arrangement, municipalities may tax wartime housing tenants if they consider inadequate the Dominion's payments in lieu of taxes. The additional levy by the municiapliy is collected by the federal authority in the form of an additional monthly payment by tenants.

The Ontario bill "appears" to end agreements between Wartime Housing and Ontario municipalities "where the provincial government accepts the representation of the municipality that suitable arrangements have not been made to pay for provincial and municipal services," Mr. Howe said.

"It is noted that no provision is made for discussion or consultation with the Dominion. The final decision can be made arbitrarily by the province.

Mad Air Force Veteran Holds Off 50 Police In Hour-Long Shot-Punctuated Siege

BOSTON, March 25.—(AP).—A man described by police as a deranged United States army air force veteran barricaded himself in a hotel room early today and in an hour-long, shot-punctuated siege held off 50 patrolmen before taking his own life.

Police surrounded the hotel after the man called police headquarters and said:

"My name is John Silva. I'm wanted for murder in San Francisco. I've got enough ammunition to last a week. No body's going to take me alive."

Shortly after he died in hospital he was identified by his father as Harold Benedict, 26, of Somerville, Mass. He served four years in China and India during the war.

Police said he had no police record either here or in California. He had been under treatment at a veterans' hospital recently for a mental upset.

Officers who first approached the door of his room quoted him as crying out: "Im going to kill all the cops I can before I go."

US Top Military Men Ask 349,500 Recruits Want To Draft Men 19-25

WASHINGTON, March 25—(AP).—Top military leaders of the United States asked Congress today for an immediate expansion of the armed services and the drafting of men 19 to 25 years of age. Defence Secretary Forrestal grimly outlined the recent turn of world events in urging steps to make United States military might match that of Communist Russia.

As Forrestal spoke before the Senate armed services committee, President Truman announced he is preparing to give the Congress a revised defence program.

Truman told his press conference he can't estimate yet how many additional billions of dollars the program will cost. Estimates from the Defence Department had not yet reached him.

Forrestal said the odds still favor peace and the free countries of the world.

Odds Favor Peace

But he asked Congress to approve immediately:

1. An increase in the present authorized strength of army, navy, marine and air force manpower by 349,500 officers and men.

2. Another $3,000,000,000 in cash and contract authority for the armed services to cover this expansion. This presumably would be in addition to $11,000,000,000 already in the budget.

3. Drafting by selective service of men from 19 to 25 years inclusive. He said this would provide 1,355,000 men but added that only about 220,000 probably would be taken. He estimated 500,000 probably would volunteer.

4. A permanent system of universal military training which would become fully effective within three years. Forrestal said this would provide some 850,000 men each year with basic training.

War Shipments To Soviet Rouse U.S. Ire

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (AP). — Indignation mounted in Congress today over testimony that American warplane engines and other supplies have been shipped to Russia at a time of critical world tension. Spurred by disclosures before the House of Representatives Investigating committee, Chairman Ross Rizley (Rep.—Okla.) told reporters these moves are under way:

1. A demand on the department of commerce for a complete breakdown of all United States materials sent to Russia and her satellites.

2. An immediate check into reports that boxes and crates marked for shipment to Russia "are lying all over the New York waterfront."

3. A full-scale inquiry into the operations of Moore-McCormack Steamship Lines of New York, described by a witness yesterday as the American firm handling all shipments to Amtorg, official Russian purchasing agency in the United States.

Rizley said committee investigators are "already on the spot" to go over Moore-McCormack's records. They also will check reports that 60 Russian-flag ships have been loaded in New York harbor since Jan. 1.

No Policy Yet

Committee members gaped when Carl Anderson, assistant chief of the state department's international resources division, testified yesterday that the department "has not yet worked out a policy of distinction between shipments to friendly and unfriendly countries."

21 Men Trapped On Ice As Sealing Vessel Crushed Off Newfoundland

RCAF Rescue Plane Scouring Ocean Area Will Drop Relief Supplies; Crew Marooned On Ice Pan Lashed By Gale

HALIFAX, March 25—(CP).—A searching RCAF Canso with relief supplies aboard was prodding through blinding snowflurries over Cabot Strait between Cape Breton and Newfoundland this afternoon looking for 21 crew members of the Magdalen Islands sealing schooner Teazer, who abandoned ship earlier today when an ice pack crushed and splintered their vessel. Search and rescue headquarters here reported the big Canso aircraft was "in the immediate vicinity of the shipwrecked men but hasn't been able to locate them yet." Headquarters said they expected the Canso to spot the sealers "shortly."

The men are huddled on the tearing jam of ice hoping their distress signal, sent out before they abandoned the sealer, has been heard.

Unknown to them the signal was picked up by the R.C.A.F. here and a search and rescue Canso with emergency supplies is on its way from here.

From Charlottetown, also, a plane took off to pick up Fred Barry, agent for the Teazer, and fly him over the stricken crew.

Lashed By Gale

Weather reports showed the ice pan on which the men are marooned was lashed by a gale gusting to 55 miles an hour and temperatures were bitterly cold. Visibility was good, however, and the weather was expected to abate late today.

Meanwhile the ice - breaker Saurel is also steaming to the rescue from North Sydney.

The crew of the rescue plane will drop sleeping bags, tents, rations and other equipment for use of the shipwrecked sealing men until the Saurel arrives to take them off.

The Saurel has 240 miles to cover but some of the course lies through pack ice and this will slow her down considerably. It also makes it difficult to estimate when the men will be reached.

Search and rescue said there was no immediate danger for the men but a sudden storm might break up the ice pack, separate the men and make their situation grave. The sleeping bags and other supplies would give them some shelter and remove some of the danger of exposure.

Veteran fishermen experienced in the hazards of the ice-fields said the Teazer must have been seized in a tremendous grip before its hull gave way.

Mother Of Six Acquitted In Axe Slaying

COCHRANE, March 25—(CP)—Mrs. Clara Irene St. Cyr, 32-year-old mother of six children, today was acquitted by a Supreme Court jury of the axe-slaying of her 34-year-old husband, Jerome.

She walked from the court a free woman after hearing the verdict. The jury had been out 90 minutes.

In a court jammed with spectators the jury heard yesterday how the woman led a life of misery and abuse during her 13 years of married life.

Mrs. St. Cyr rose to a half-standing position and seemed frozen by the tension. After that she sat down and continued praying.

Defence counsel Gregory T. Evans asked for an immediate dismissal and Mrs. St. Cyr walked from the court room.

The verdict brought to a close a four-day hearing before Mr. Justice Jean Genest. The jury heard his charge before retiring.

Alleged Thieves Buy Clothes For Two Girls

WINDSOR, March 25 (CP). — Three young men, two from Windsor, one from Amherstburg, were committed for high court trial yesterday, charged with the Feb. 16 armed robbery of a Royal Bank branch here.

The three charged are: Fred Bouzide, 18; Paul Stuart, 25, Amherstburg, and Alex Frazekas, 22.

Bank manager Donald Boynton, testified that $2,963 was stolen and the staff herded into the vault, and warned to stay there for five minutes.

Bought Presents

Two Peterborough girls, Miss Helen Compton and Miss Viola Whatman, said "the boys" bought them clothing, and took them to Hamilton.

A third witness, Mrs. Shirley Beaver, of Hamilton, said two of the trio, the two girls, she and her husband "did the town" in Hamilton, and said she was told the three youths robbed a bank.

Miss Compton said she and Miss Whatman came to Windsor to look for jobs. She said she met the three young men over a space of two weeks.

She said she saw them all the morning of Feb. 16 and met them again at 4 p.m. The boys offered to buy them new clothes.

She met them again at 6.30 p.m., and they had an automobile. They drove to Hamilton, arriving at noon the next day. She said Frazekas left them that night, and returned to Windsor.

Cannot Trust Communists But Purge Small—Attlee

LONDON, March 25—(CP).—Prime Minister Attlee today ended a raging House of Commons debate by citing the Canadian espionage inquiry in support of the Labor Government's ban on the employment of Communists, fellow-travellers or Fascists in secret work. Attlee replied to the angry assault on the Government's policy by William Gallacher, veteran Communist member for West Fife, who said that United States multi-millionaires sought to use Britain as an advance base in a war on the Soviet Union.

If war came "the royal family probably will go to Ottawa and the people will be left to perish," Gallacher asserted amid shouted protests from both sides of the Commons.

Both Conservative and Labor members asked the government to use carefully powers to remove Communists, fellow-travellers and Fascists from posts where they could imperil the security of the state.

Attlee replied that no general purge was planned and all cases will be examined to ensure fair treatment but, at the same time to protect security.

But Attlee insisted that 'as long as there is a possibility of war we must have defences and those secrets must be preserved."

The government must look at "the sapping from within" and apart from Communists and Fascists there are also Crypto-Communists.

Don't Trust Communists

"We are living in very serious times. I deplore these subversive movements. If they creep into the civil service they are enemies of the government service. I might be accused of many things, but I cannot be accused of ever trusting the Communist party."

CANNOT TRUST

Truman Calls Truce Parley

WASHINGTON, March 25 — President Truman said today he has instructed Warren Austin, United States United Nations representative, to call Arabs and Jews into a truce conference to halt bloodshed in Palestine.

The President told a press conference the United States reversed its original stand for partition of Palestine because partition could not be enforced without American troops.

He read a prepared statement saying a truce must be reached between Arabs and Jews "if we are to avert tragedy in Palestine."

Therefore he had instructed Austin to call responsible representatives of the Arabs and Jews to a UN council table to seek such a truce.

Unless something was done open warfare is just over the horizon."

He said that the United States would be prepared to back a United Nations trusteeship, but when asked if that mean troops would be needed, he replied, not necessarily. He did not believe force would be required to enforce trusteeship.

Russ Non-Cooperation Blow At Unification

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (AP)—State Secretary Marshall served notice today that the United States will look on further Russian refusal to co-operate in the Allied Control Council for Germany as "armed against the unification of Germany."

He did this with a press conference statement which also:

Threw the full weight of American prestige behind Gen. Loucius D. Clay's fight to keep allied machinery in Germany running and behind Clay's determination to remain in Berlin.

Endorsed completely Clay's "stop Russia" political policy which denies the Russian-sponsored German peoples congress the right to operate in the American area of Germany.

Marshall said the Communist-backed peoples congress "has no legitimate claim to represent the people as a whole.

Quintuplets Born To Louisville Woman

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 25.—(AP).—Mrs. Roman V. Gadlace, 31, was reported resting comfortably at hospital here today after giving birth yesterday to quintuplets—three girls and two boys.

The three girls were still-born. The boys lived in incubators for about 20 minutes.

Dr. A. J. Pauli, attending physician, said Mr. Gadlace was in her fifth month of pregnancy, and that if it had been a normal pregnancy the babies probably would have lived.

The babies ranged in weight from 8½ to 15 ounces.

Liner From Shanghai Makes "Jinx" Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25—(AP).—The liner General Gordon docked yesterday, 21 days out of Shanghai, with a log crammed full of trouble. The first day out of Manila a woman leaped overboard with her four-months-old son. A ship's officer was detained by customs at Honolulu for investigation of smuggling. Four appendix operations were performed on crew members in five days. Two babies were delivered. One, prematurely born, died. Five stowaways were discovered.

Mounties Seize New York Man

TORONTO, March 25—(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police and investigators of the Foreign Exchange Control Board last night arested a New York man at suburban Malton Airport and seized $8,100 in Canadian funds which investigators said were obtained on a money draft cashed at a Toronto bank.

Police said the man who was arrested as he prepared to board a plane may be a member of a ring engaged in the illegal export of Canadian funds to the United States.

In police court today, Edward Klein, 27, was remanded until April 1 on $5,000 bail.

He was charged with a breach of the Foreign Exchange Control Board regulations and was taken to jail when he failed to raise the bond.

Investigators said Klein had no permit to export the funds he was carrying.

Exchange Control Board officials said the ring's manipulations may have made some New York men "small fortunes." Investigators said members of the alleged ring apparently found a loop-hole in the exchange system whereby they could make money on the difference between Canadian and United States funds.

It was learned that the money is made by negotiating a money draft the discount between this and cash differs by three to four per cent. The draft is cashed in Canada and the money taken back to the U.S. and sold back at the prevailing price for cash.

Britain Rejects Russ Protest On Germany

LONDON, March 25—(AP)—Britain today rejected Russia's protest against the Anglo-United States-French negotiations for rebuilding western Germany's economy.

A firm note to the Soviet government said Great Britain wished "entirely to repudiate the accusations" made by Russia that the negotiations violated the Potsdam agreement.

The note blamed Russia for the breakdown of four-power co-operation for restoring Germany's economic unity.

$50,000 Blaze

PORTLAND, Me., March 25.—(AP).—Fire swept a four-storey building housing the H. H. Hay Sons, pharmacists, early today and threatened other establishments in the mercantile district before it was brought under control. Merrill A. Hay, president, estimated the damage at $50,000.

Rifles Crack In Jerusalem As Christians At Prayer

JERUSALEM, March 25—(AP). — (AP). — Christians knelt in prayer this holy Thursday in Jerusalem, while around them rifles barked in the bitter strife between Arabs and Jews.

Holy Week worshippers prayed in commemoration of Christ's Last Supper, his betrayal and arrest. While they knelt here gunfire clattered from an Arab village on a hillside where, the Bible says, Judas Iscariot hanged himself.

The danger of death cut to a mere handful the number of Christians of Roman Catholic and Protestant faiths who usually participate in day-long services.

At the spot on Mount Zion where Christ is believed by Christians to have had His Last Supper, pontifical mass was scheduled by Archbishop Msgr. Arthur Hughes, internuncio of the Catholic Church of Cairo.

After mass the churchmen were to walk to the Garden of Gethsemane for prayers at the spot where Christ is believed to have been betrayed by Judas and arrested by Roman soldiers.

Traditional night services in Gethsemane have been cancelled. After dark in Jerusalem has become a dangerous time to roam abroad.

Arab guards, however, have promised immunity to worshippers and will mount a sentry atop the old city wall. It is through a gate in this wall, the Bible says, that Christ walked on his triumphal re-entry into Jerusalem.

It is a day of celebration for the Jews, too. This Thursday is Purim, commemorating the legendary victory of Mordecai and Queen Esther over Haman, Persian premier of the time of Jewish residence there.

Danish Butter Deal Failure

OTTAWA, March 25 — (CP).—Recent government efforts to obtain a supply of 1,000,000 pounds of Danish butter to help Canadians through the current shortage failed because of the war-inflated Danish price structure, it was learned today.

Government sources said that when it became apparent Canada was to enter a period of shortage before entering the high-production butter season," negotiations were opened with a view to obtaining additional supplies from Denmark, one of the few markets where a source of the bread spread is available.

Preliminary negotiations disclosed, however, that the Danish product sells for 20 to 30 cents a pound higher than the Canadian ceiling, which stands around 70 cents a pound.

Guided Missiles Can Hit Ship Half Way On Ocean

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP).—Plane-maker Glenn L. Martin said yesterday that the United States navy has perfected guided missiles that can search out an enemy ship and destroy it "even if it is half way across the ocean."

The United States' present-day warfare developments, Martin said, also include a radio-active cloud that will kill anything it touches, new bacteria weapons and an A-bomb far more devastating than those dropped on Japan.

The navy's guided missile is equipped with a homing device which steers it to its target, Martin said at a press conference.

The missiles also can be used against iron foundries, and "it will be possible to eliminate a nation's steel industry in time."

The radio-active, or atomic, cloud is spread by wind, he declared. There's a danger of it backfiring on its user if turned loose when weather conditions are not suitable, but "it is effective over a much larger area than is the atom bomb and might make the area it touches radioactive for an indefinite time."

Martin also mentioned new bacteria weapons, some of them capable of lying dormant for a time and then 'making the victim ill, with an illness from which he does not recover."

If another war comes, the new weapons make it likely that its ultimate course would be determined within 65 days, he said.

In Washington, the Atomic Energy Commission had no comment on Martin's statemeents.

Labor Retains Seat In Brigg By-Election

BRIGG, Lincolnshire, March 25 — (CP). — The Labor Party retained its House of Commons seat for this north-eastern district in yesterday's by-election, results showed to-day. Labor candidate E. L. Mallalieu defeated Conservative Anthony Fell 27,333 to 22,746. The by-election, made necessary by the resignation of Labor member Tom Williamson, who won in 1945 by 8,104 votes, was fought by Labor primarily on agricultural issues.

Canadians Will Continue To Pay 25 Per Cent Excise Tax, House Rules

Opposition Charges Act Unconstitutional But Despite Heated Debate Measure Passes After Third Division

OTTAWA, March 25 — (CP). — Canadians—possibly amid muttered and unavailing protests—will continue to pay the 25-per-cent. excise tax imposed Nov. 18 on a long list of consumer goods. The contentious tax bill—one of several measures inaugurated precipitiously last fall to conserve dwindling supplies of American dollars — was given parliamentary approval and royal assent yesterday.

But approval and assent came only after Opposition members of the Commons made concerted efforts to have the bill defeated before they left on a 10-day Easter recess. Opposition was less pronounced in the Senate, which adjourned until April 19.

As a climax to arguments that the tax was unconstitutional, Commons' Opposition parties forced the division bells to ring three times before giving up their efforts to have the tax bill defeated.

Despite the solidarity of Opposition ranks, the Government, possibly aided by the fact that many members had reparted early, for the recess, won all votes handily.

Wanted a Voice

The Oppositon fight stems from the fact that the talk was imposed while Parliament was prorogued. John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, termed it "unfar, unjust and inequitable" and said it had been imposed "most illegally, most unconstitutionally and without precedent." It taxed articles essential to the Canadian way of living.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, branded the Government's action as "illegal from every historical point of view."

Finance Minister Abbott, sponsor of the bill, likened his announcement of the levy by radio Nov. 18 to the budget practice of announcing taxes budget night and later obtaining parliamentary approval. He argued that the goods taxed were in the non-essential class.

Opposition members, said the minister, neglected to point out that the bill also reduced taxes on sugar, tea, coffee and electricity for household use, a saving to the people of $21,000,000 a year. The new excise taxes had produced about $6,000,000 in revenue in the last four months.

British Troops Move To Trieste

TRIESTE, March 25.—(AP).—British soldiers moved up closer to the Yugoslav border line in Trieste territory Wednesday night and dug machine-gun positions for road blocks. Maj.-Gen Terence S. Airey, British chief civil affairs officer, said more British soldiers are being advanced to the frontier as a precaution.

Barely 2,000 persons attended a Communist political rally, the first since the United States, France and Britain announeed on Saturday they were proposing that all Trieste Free State territory be returned to Italian sovereignty.

The meeting was orderly and had been authorized by the Allied military government. It was small compared to about 50,000 who participated in a pro-Italian parade and celebration Sunday night.

Manchu Princess Shot For Serving As Spy

PEIPING, March 25 —(AP)— A rifle shot ended today the fabulous life of Manchu Princess Yoshiko Kawashima, convicted as a spy for Japan.

She died without a whimper, prison officials said, and in comparative privacy, as she had wished.

Asked if she had any last wish, she said she would like to write to her foster-father, Ninawa Kawashima. Then the prosecutor announced that her last appeal had been rejected and she would be executed.

County Council Demands Cut Income Tax

A motion to drastically increase income tax exemptions was passed unanimously in county council on Wednesday. It was introduced by Reeve Norman Wilson, Burleigh-Anstruther, and seconded by Reeve William Grant, Lakefield.

The motion proposed that the exemption for single men be increased from $750 to $1500; married men, from $1,500 to $3,000; and children, from $100 to $200.

Copies of this motion will be sent to Gordon Fraser, M.P., George White, M.P., and Hon. aHrold Scott, M.P.P. In addition Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Finance Minister Douglas Abbott will be notified.

"Exemptions are too low," said Mr. Wilson. "The cost of living has goneup, and it doesn't leave room for improvements on property."

Costs Up

"The cost of everything is going up. Why shouldn't we have an exemption? It has always been too high and it has tended to make people a little crooked," said Reeve E. J. Leeson, Havelock.

Reeve Melville Johnston, Monaghan North, agreed with the speaker and said he couldn't see how city dwellers in particular managed to get along.

Reeve Grant, doubted that people are generally dishonest, but pointed out that beating the tax collector was looked upon as a sort of game.

"Cheating the municipality is another way of cheating yourself," he warned.

Reeve James Gifford, Ennismore, was of the opinion that the present income tax was harmful as it made the farmer indifferent to the necessity of increased production.

More Production

"It is necessary to produce everything we can in the line of foodstuffs," said Reeve Gifford. "In order to promote the industry exemptions are too low. Farmers are different to those in other professions."

Everybody in the family on the farm works long hours, he said. And he contended that if the present rate of income tax is maintained "the ultimate result will be they will cut down on working hours, and extra production will be lost."

"We are supplying cheap food to the world; and it is all coming out of one section of society — that is agriculture."

Italy Willing To Deal Directly With Tito

ROME, March 25 (AP)—A foreign ministry spokesman announced today Italy is willing to negotiate directly with Yugoslavia on the question of Trieste and the free territory.

He added that such negotiations could be considered by the Italian government only in the spirit of the British-French-American note proposing return of the area to Italy.

Italy has agreed with Yugoslavia to exchange Slavs serving sentences in Italian jails for Italians doing time in Yugoslav prisons, the spokesman added.

Veteran Jeweller Dies At Apsley

APSLEY, March 25 —(ENS)— The death occurred here on Wednesday of Henry Thompson Everett, in his 81st year, following a short illness. A jeweller by calling, he lived in Peterborough more than 40 years and worked in jewellery establishments of the city. When he first came to the city, Charlotte street was a boundary of the occupied area at that time. Charlotte St. itself was a bog-road.

He was born in London, England, son of the late William Everett and Decima Jane Hegdon. He was educated and trained in his work in Midland, Ont. For the last 20 years of his life, he had lived in retirement at Apsley.

A member of St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Chandos, he was a member of LOL 1072, Apsley, and of the Royal Black Preceptory.

Surviving are his wife, the former Annie Elizabeth Roberts and two sons, Edwin, Chandos, and William, Apsley.

The body is resting at the Tedford Funeral Home at Lakefield for service on March 27 at two o'clock in St. George's Anglican Church, Apsley, conducted by Rev. C. A. G. Spence. Burial will be in the Anglican Cemetery, Apsley.

Fined For Theft

Frederick Kelly, Stewart St., was fined $15 and $2.50 costs or 10 days in jail on a charge of stealing five pints of milk from a city dairy. The accused had pleaded guilty previously to the charge and had been fined on another count, of being drunk in public. The evidence given had been that Kelly had been intoxicated when he had taken the milk from a parked wagon.

ROBERT FARRINGTON DIES

"In other words, the legislation places the province in the position of determining whether agreements between municipalities and the Dominion in respect of Wartime Housing are satisfactory."

This bill's provisions for cutting off services, particularly water, sewer, police and fore protection, would make the dwelling "quite unsatisfactory for habitation."

Stop Negotiations

"In the light of the foregoing, the Dominion will cease negotiations with municipalities for new Wartime Housing projects and we will be forced to terminate the Dominion's efforts, in the province of Ontario, to relieve the need for rental housing."

The Ontario legislation came at a time when the shortage of rental accommodation was "acute." Ontario had never taken "positive steps" to relieve the need.

"The Dominion and the municipalities have as a result had to bear the brunt of the problem. The Dominion cannot proceed, however, without the co-operation and agreement of the municipalities. And if the Ontario government is going to make such agreements between the municipalities and the Dominion impossible, then the Dominion has no other recourse than to withdraw from the field . . .

"This provincial legislation shows the difficulty of the Dominion entering the direct housing field without the co-operation of the province and the municipalities. It seems unfortunate that the province which has done so little to meet housing needs should use its powers to terminate a program which is helping meet the need.

"It may be that the other housing legislation forecast in the speech from the (Ontario) throne will have the effect of making the Dominion's activities in the housing field unnecessary in Ontario. The Dominion would be very happy to see this take place and would willingly turn over such activities to the Ontario government.

Attlee announced that the appointment of an advisory body of three retired civil servants before whom any civil servant suspended of Communist or Fascist activities could state his case.

He said he did not think there would be a great number of dismissals. There would be some—persons with fanatical loyalty to Communism—but most would be transferred to another department.

In backing up the government's security decision, Attlee delivered a ringing blast on Communist organization.

"Communists do not accept the obligation of loyalty and of ordinary moral dealings which enable us to deal with one another in our daily business."

There was "the vivid illustration" of the Canadian case which was extremely interesting because in Canada "they had the Communist, the fellow-traveller and also the innocent person who was brought into the net—dragged in a little way first of all and his loyalty undermined.

Hit Waiter, Then Door Disturber Fined $10

For creating a disturbance in the beverage room of a city hotel, James Leahy, Lakefield, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in court today. Police Inspector James F. Reid stated that Leahy had demanded more beer and had been refused. He had then knocked down a beverage room waiter and tore a door from its hinges. The alternative to the fine was 10 days.

James McMahon, 154 William St. North, Lindsay, paid $15 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession of liquor. He pleaded guilty.

TORONTO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, March 25 — (CP). — Hog prices were down 25 cents at Brantford, from $29.10 to $28.85 delivered to farmers $29.10, to truckers $29.25, in markets reporting early this morning.

Churches Plan Services For Good Friday

The regular three-hour Good Friday service will be held in Trinity Church this year as All Saints' Church is being decorated. The service will be centred around the seven last words upon the Cross. The first word will be by Rev. Dr. D. B. Gordon, followed by Major C. Watts of the Salvation Army, Rev. M. J. Aiken, Rev. Dr. C. Semple, Rev. I. Morgan, Rev. C. Boyd and Rev. H. G. Douglas. The service will be held under the auspices of the Ministerial Association of Peterborough and will be conducted by Rev. W. Kibblewhite.

At George St. United Church on Friday evening, the combined choirs of Mark St. United Church, St. Andrew's United and George St. United Church will present the sacred cantata, "The Holy City," by Gaul. Three outstanding artists from Toronto, Miss Dorothy Ross, contralto, Earl Dick, tenor, and Robert Ivan Foster, bass, will take part. The soprano soloist will be Mrs. James Goldie of Peterborough. The conductor will be Harry Northrop and the organist Charles E. Allen.

The Salvation Army Songsters Brigade of 65 voices under the direction of songster leader N. Smith will present the sacred cantata, "The Thorn-Crowned King," also on Friday evening at the Peterborough temple.

At St. Peter's Cathedral, Mass of the Pre-Sanctified will take place followed by the Veneration of the Cross. There will also be a Three Hours' Agony followed by Stations of the Cross. The Three Hours' Agony has never been held before in Peterborough.

Regular Good Friday services will take place in all churches in Peterborough.

Industrials Resume March On Exchange

TORONTO, March 25 (CP). — Steady trends prevailed in quiet trading with industrials resuming the forward march. The action was light as traders held back in face of Easter holidays extended from closing to-day until the Tuesday opening. The price range generally was narrow.

The Exchange's noon index showed industrials up .95 at 160.40, golds .28 at 94.18, base metals .06 at 83.23, Western oils .11 at 31.93. Volume for the first three hours was 417,000 shares, about 58,000 more than yesterday's similar period.

Selected industrials resumed the advance, the action to-day showing gains for Algoma Steel, Canada Wire A, Canadian Breweries, Canadian Celanese, CPR, Dominion Steel, Fanny Farmer, Walkers, Hamilton Bridge, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Moore, Winnipeg Electric, and Dominion Bridge.

Better golds were Coin Lake, Dome, Elder, Giant, Guyana, Negus, Norbenite, Wright-Hargreaves, Upper Canada, Sullivan, San Antonio, and Perron. On the losing side were Bobjo, Broulan, Campbell, Cochenour, Croinor, Hedley, Little Long Lac, Louvicourt, Springer and Pnoneer.

Noranda led the base metals on an advance of 1 at 45½, but Sherritt and Steep Rock were losers.

Early Thursday morning a car owned by E. Johnston, 157 Morrow St. caught fire when the starter stuck causing a short circuit. It was speedily extinguished. No damage was reported.

FESTIVAL OF PURIM

The Festival of Purim which concludes at sundown tonight, is being celebrated today by Peterborough Jewry. The holiday commemorates the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from the Persian Prime Minister Haman who planned a pogrom against them. The festival is celebrated by the exchange of gifts, children's games, cooked cakes, called Haman's hats, many of the customs of masks and play which characterize the Christian celebration of Hallowe'en.

JET JOB BARNSTORMS

Many residents witnessed aerial barnstorming this morning for a very few minutes when an aircraft, presumably a twin-boom jet fighter appeared over the city about 11:25 a.m. The pilot did about five tight anti-clockwise runs at 3,000 feet and as a finale, shot up to 12,000 like a rocket and disappeared southeast in the direction of Trenton airfield.

Throw Pepper In Man's Eyes, Steal $1,000

TORONTO, March 25 —(CP)— Charles Kamichaites said yesterday he was robbed of $1,000 by two racketeers who threw pepper in his eyes and dumped him in a muddy parking lot where they had lured him on the pretext of selling him an automobile.

Dazed and bewildered by his experience, his eyes smarting from the pepper, Kamichaites did not report the incident immediately to police. Instead, still fearful of his abductors, he wandered back to a bank at Queen and Bathurst St. and redeposited $1,000 of the $2,000 he had withdrawn earlier to purchase a car. Then he walked to Claremont St. station and told his story.

He was walking along Dundas St. W. in the afternoon. On the south side of the street he saw a shiny new model car parked at the curb near Grove St. It had a "for sale" sign on it. Kamichaites, with 15 years' savings in the bank, along with the money had had brought from his native Poland, became interested. He spoke to a man in the car.

Price of the car was $2,000, the occupant told Kamichaites. Eagerly he examined the auto and asked the man to go with him to the office of his lawyer to complete the deal.

Make Deal

'No chum. It's a cash deal. Do you have $2,000?" the man replied. Kamichaites liked the car, and said so. The man, joined by a second man, offered to drive him to the bank for the money.

At the bank the money was handed over to Kamichaites in various denominations. He placed $1,000 in his wallet, alongside $100 he had been carrying. He stuffed the remaining money in his pocket, and re-entered the car.

The two men started driving along Queen St. They didn't ask him for the money, but one said: "You've bought yourself a $2,000 auto. Can you drive it?" Kamichaites said he couldn't. "Well, the least we can do is to teach you. We'll take you out to the west end."

As the car stopped ostensible, to allow Kamichaites to take over the wheel, the man in the back seat threw the red pepper in the eyes of the startled buyer. While Kamichaites was trying to clear his eyes, the man pulled the wallet from his pocket, and then booted him out. The car swept away out of sight.

Restaurant Clean-Up Campaign Has Results

LINDSAY, March 25. (ENS)—Sanitary conditions in Lindsay restaurants are considerably improved as compared with the situation some months ago when the Sanitary Inspector and the Department of Health undertook a clean-up campaign on local establishments, states Sanitary Inspector T. H. Davies.

"Since the clean-up campaign started," reported Mr. Davies, "resulting in one eating place being closed until proper sanitation standards were complied with, there has been marked co-operation on the part of owners"

He added that the new sanitary regulations effective last Jan. 1 have resulted in new floors being laid, old sinks discarded for approved dishwashing and sterilizing equipment, and many other improvements designed to give the public clean service.

"While alterations and improvements are not all completed as yet owing to lack of time and scarcity of materials, things have definitely improved and Lindsay's restaurants should soon be above reproach," he stated.

Canada Returns 101 Million To Europeans

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP). — Residents of liberated and neutral European countries last year got back $101,350,000 worth of property impounded in Canada during the war. With few exceptions residents of enemy countries have not receeived any property seized here.

The property belonging to allied or neutral citizens was seized under the trading with the Enemy Act. In the case of allied countries, seizure was made when the Axis powers occupied these countries.

The figures on released property were contained in the annual report of the custodian of enemy property.

It disclosed that $218,750,000 is still held. Much of it belongs to residents of Italy, Hungary, Romania, Germany and Japan.

The peace treaties already signed empower the Canadian Government to retain enough property belonging to Italians, Hungarians and Romanians to meet claims by Canadians for damage to their property in those countries. The peace treaty with Finland, however, provided for the return of Finnish property and this is being done.

Exceptions have been made on compassionate grounds for a few Italians, Hungarians and Romanians and payment of pensions to Italians living in Italy now is permitted.

The report said that a simplified procedure has been adopted in dealing with applications from French nationals for assets blocked here during the occupation of France and that favorable progress is being made in releasing them.

JIM CAMPBELL

Jim Campbell To Retire, In Cobourg Service 52 Years

COBOURG, March 25.—(ENS). —Big, genial Jim Campbell, who is over six feet tall, about half that in diameter and doesn't care to knows it, is 80 and looks 50. He will retire this summer from his job as town foreman. Back in 1900 he joined the town streets department as a teamster, was made foreman in 1919 and in all those years, in good weather and bad, has been ready at any hour to jump to the job.

Jim is also fire chief of the town and is agile going up a ladder as any man half his age—a strong ladder that is. Fire Chief Campbell is highly regarded for his fire-fighting experience and three years ago was presented with a gold statuette by the St. Paul's Boulevard Fire Company of Rochester, N.Y. He joined the fire department in 1896 and he and ex-Chief of Police Ruse, are the only surviving members of the brigade of that year.

Fire Chief Campbell likes to get in behind the wheel of the slick fire truck of the Cobourg fire brigade, but he still remembers the "big greys" that hauled the engine to fires in the old days. Six years ago he took over the post of fire chief, after serving as assistant chief for 20 years.

He believes in keeping tab on the latest developments in fire fighting and is an interested delegate at the fire association conventions. Chief Campbell has not announced his intentions yet in regard to retiring from the fire department.

Foreseeing the day when Jim would retire as town foreman, a map of the town's sewer and water main system was made some years ago. Jim hasn't an X-ray eye, or radar, either, but he has a very excellent memory and when his workmen are looking for a main or a sewer, Jim says "dig there"—they dig, and there it is. When bad weather comes and there is trouble with sewers or when a water main breaks, Jim Campbell is right on the job. There have been many occasions when he has supervised a job for a 24 hour stretch, with his men working in two shifts.

A giant of a man with a voice to match, his confident booming voice as he directs operations gets things done. Old timers know he is 80, others would never guess it. Open air, hard work, good living, makes him look about 50.

When big Jim retires this summer, he will be hard to replace. Some say there will never be another town foreman, like him.

Chiang's Troops Badly Mauled

NANKING, March 25 (AP). — Government troops reeled yesterday under Chinese Communist blows at three points on the erupting North China front.

The three points, Fusin, Tzuchuan and Tatung, form a huge triangle. The sides are 450 miles long and the base 370 miles wide.

At the tip, up near the Manchurian border, the coal city of Fusin was captured by Communist troops. Some 450 miles southwest of Fusin, the coal centre of Tzuchuan in Shantung Province fell to the Communists after several days of bloody fighting.

The third point, Tatung, is 370 miles north-west of Tzuchuan. Pro-government dispatches said this fortified city was under a heavy Communist attack. Rail lines over which help must come were severed.

Gen. Cheng Chien, former Chief of Staff, said the Communists are fight with new weapons supplied by Russia, "and for that reason we must have American assistance."

He did not elaborate on the new weapons. Government officials frequently have accused Russia of turning over captured Japanese weapons to the Communists.

Saves Jewish Group

JERUSALEM, March 25 — (Reuters). — Britain's commander-in-chief in Palestine, Lt.-Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, arriving unexpectedly on the scene of an Arab-Jewish clash yesterday intervened with the Arabs to save the lives of Jewish survivors.

Answer Delayed

OTTAWA, March 25 — (CP). — Transport Minister Chevrier told the Commons last night he could give no indication when the Board of Transport Commissioners will announce its decision on an application by the Canadian railroads for a 30-per-cent increase in freight rates.

CZECH REDS TALK IT OVER — Andrei Gromyko, Russian delegate to the United Nations, at Lake Success, N.Y., is pictured conferring with two members of the Communist-dominated Czechoslovakian delegation. They had just heard Jan Papanek, former Czech delegate, who was admitted to the Security council by vote, blast the Russian policy of aggression in Czechoslovakia. They are, left to right: Dr. Vladimir Houdek, Andrei Gromyko and Gertrude Sekaninova.

Sportsmen Beat Army Team In Rifle Shoot

COBOURG, March 25—(ENS). —The Northumberland Fish and Game rifle team defeated the Amy team in a well-attended shoot here but lost to the "Old Sweats" when the Legion scored 1,193 to the sportsmen's 1,191. In the shoot with the Army, the Fish and Game boys scored 1,185 to the 1,152 made by the military men. In fairness to the Army it is pointed out, however, that they were shooting on a shorter range than accustomed to in the army with the club guns which have a light trigger-pressure in comparison with the double-pressure trigger of the army .22 rifles. After the shoot lunch was served, prepared by Mrs. Walter Warren, wife of one of the club members. The coffee was donated by Hughie Russell.

Shooting for the Fish and Game Club in the match with the Legion were Sandy Bull, Jack Henderson, Pete Swan, Murray Smith, Kingsley Cockburn and J. McCaig. Members of the Legion team were Gordon King, S. Smith, J. Jordan, G. Harris, D. Carr and W. Cockburn.

On the Army team were Colonel Gordon King, Sergt.-Major S. Smith, BSM Harold Coates, Sgt. C. Hobart and Captain George Mitchell. On the Fish and Game team in this match were Sandy Bull, Harry Landymore, B. Smith, Walter Warren and J. McCaig. Scorers were S. Smith and Harry Landymore; servisor of shoot, Pete Swan, and rangemaster, B. Smith.

Eisler Gets Sentence For Hiding Red Links

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (AP). — Gerhard Eisler, "No. 1 Communist" in the United States, today was sentenced to serve one to three years in prison for concealing his Communist links when he applied for a permit to leave the United States in 1945.

He was released on $20,000 bond pending appeal.

Eisler was convicted last August. Sentencing had been delayed while the court considered an application for a new trial and the government made moves toward Eisler's deportataion to Germany.

Doubt Grapevine Charge

KITCHENER, March 25 — (CP). — Rev. Joseph Capiga said last night he doubted a suggestion that Kitchener is the centre of an international "grapevine" assisting European girls to enter Canada. "Many of the girls who come to Canada have heard much of Kitchener through relatives," said Father Capiga. "This would account for a number heading for Ontario."

Newspapers And The Postmaster General's Department

The C.C.F., which does not like Canadian newspapers, occasionally causes a question to be asked in Parliament about the preferential treatment which newspapers receive from the Postmaster General's Department; the implication of these questions, and the reason why they are asked, is to suggest that the newspapers are to some extent subsidized by the Post Office. This is sheer mischievous nonsense, and we think that our readers would like to know the facts of the matter.

* * *

A low postal rate is extended in this country, as in many others, to newspapers and periodicals; the Postmaster General estimates that this costs the country about $7,200,000 a year. Now where does this money go? A good deal of it goes, first of all, to distributing weekly newspapers free by post within the area of their circulation; some more of it goes to the distribution of magazines, which are hauled all over Canada at very low postal rates, and which weigh a great deal more than any newspaper; the remainder of this sum goes to pay for carrying newspapers by mail. But it must be explained that comparatively few newspapers are distributed by mail because it is quicker and less expensive for the publishers to arrange to have them distributed by local carriers. No newspaper is sent by mail which can be distributed in any other way. The implication of the C.C.F. that the newspapers of this country receive a handout of $7,200,000 from the Post Office is quite unjustified.

* * *

The subsidizing of magazines is considerable. It is not generally known that daily newspapers pay an eight per cent. sales tax on all their paper, and that magazines and other periodicals — including such weekend papers as The Toronto Star Weekly—pay no sales tax on their paper whatever. The daily papers pay back many times the equivalent of their low postal rate in sales tax, but magazines do not. It is also a fact that if a daily paper occupies more than 55 per cent. of its total space with advertising, it pays a very heavy surcharge; this is not the case with magazines. The great beneficiaries of the preferential postal rate are the magazines, and not the newspapers.

* * *

The idea that the newspapers of Canada are coddled by the Post Office Department will not stand close examination. If the members of the C.C.F. want to believe it we cannot, of course, prevent them from doing so. Believing what is demonstrably untrue is one of their specialties. But we can say frankly that if the preferential newspaper postal rate were removed tomorrow it would not seriously handicap The Examiner, though we expect that Canadian magazines would feel the blow quite heavily.

The Significance Of Trieste

The proposal made by the French Foreign Minister and backed by Britain and the United States that the Free Territory of Trieste be returned to Italy is the cleverest diplomatic move the western powers have made in the "Cold War". It is also the most forthright. Its consequences will be important.

Trieste, on the east side of the Gulf of Venice and near the Yugoslav border, has had a troubled history chiefly as an integral part of the Austrian empire. It has always been a centre of Italian irredentist feeling, occupying in Italian minds and hearts a position equivalent to that of Alsace-Lorraine in French feelings. After the first Great War it was incorporated into Italy. After the last war—Italy having been an enemy and Yugoslavia an ally — it became a Free City, with Americans, Italians and Yugoslavs in occupation. U.N. has tried to appoint a Governor, but none acceptable to all parties (including the Russians) could be found. At present the Yugoslavs have virtually incorporated their part of the district into 'Titoslavia'.

The cleverness of the British-French-American proposal lies partly in its timing. Italian elections are only a few weeks distant. De Gasperi, the Prime Minister, supported by the western democracies, has been given a popular election plank. The proposal may have forestalled a similar overture to Togliatti, the Communist aspirant to the Premiership, which Russia might have made through Tito. It has put the Communists in a tricky position, domestically in Italy and diplomatically in the power plays between America and Soviet Russia.

It is the international element that is important. U.N. and the Security Council have been disregarded in the move, and the United States, France and Britain are openly, frankly trying to influence the internal situation in Italy. Russia and Yugoslavia may howl about foreign interference in Italy's domestic politics, but their cries will be unheeded by western democracies which have so lately seen a far more democratic state than Italy fall into Communist tyranny.

In practical politics the Security Council has shown itself impotent. Europe and the world has turned back to the game of power politics. It is a dangerous game but the Russians have made it unavoidable. The proposal to give Trieste back to Italy is dangerous but the risks have been gravely calculated. Russian expansion must be stopped, and Trieste has been made the challenging fulcrum. There are good reasons for believing that neither east nor west wants or can fight a war; nevertheless they might drift into war over such issues as Trieste. The western states have accepted the risk of Trieste; it may force Russia into compliance but it seems from the comparative moderation of the Yugoslav response to the Anglo-American-French proposal that it will not force Russia into war—not this spring.

The Price Committee's Investigations

The Parliamentary Committee investigating the rise in prices and related matters is continuing the hearings begun a month ago. It has so far inquired into the prices and merchandizing of fruits, vegetables, bread and butter. Though its findings will not be made until all hearings are concluded, statements already publicized show that the Committee is not investigating a mare's nest. Perhaps the Committee's inquiry and final report to Parliament will not cause a lowering of prices, but it is interesting to note that bread is retailing in some locally-owned stores two to four cents below the new standard prices set up last autumn.

The Canadian people are still greatly concerned about the cost of living which is now at a post-war peak only a fraction lower than the highest point reached after the Great War. Present prices present a domestic problem which makes the work of the Parliamentary Committee on Prices vitally interesting.

Cinderella's Fur Slippers

At least once each year an article appears in a newspaper about Cinderella's slippers; the writer is anxious to point out that they were made, not of glass, but of fur. The confusion arises from a mistranslation of the French of the story as it was told by Charles Perrault; he speaks of her "pantoufles en vair" (fur slippers) and someone mistook this for "pantoufles en verre" (glass slippers). But who cares? Glass slippers are more wonderful to a modern child than fur slippers, for hundreds of children today have fur slippers of their own. But who save a fairy tale character could wear slippers of glass?

The Cinderella story is a very old one. Indeed, its origins are lost in the mists of antiquity and some people think that is it a myth in which the Dawn (Cinderella) is oppressed by wicked clouds (evil relatives) until she is set free by the Sun (the prince). Certainly the story appears in the folk-lore of many lands, and varies in its details according to national character. In the German version, for instance, the heroine is called Cinder Breech, because she sat among the cinders. An unromantic name for a heroine, surely!

The Cinderella legend which most of us know was translated into English from Charles Perrault's Histoires ou contest du temps passe to which he added the subsidiary title "Tales of my Mother Goose"; the book includes Blue Beard, Puss In Boots, The Sleeping Beauty and several other nursery favourites, as well as Cinderella.

As for the glass slippers, they came into existence through a mistranslation which may be regarded as a stroke of genius.

Little Lake Cemetery

(From a History of Peterborough Published in 1884)

WITHIN easy distance of the City of the Living, but out of reach of the noise and turmoil of its busy streets, is situated the City of the Dead, the Little Lake Cemetery. The position and surroundings are so beautiful as to make the visitor, to use Shelley's words when referring to the cemetery at Rome, "almost in love with death!"

✧ ✧ ✧

THE primitive Canadian custom of setting aside a portion of ground on each farm as a private burial ground has been the cause of much desecration. By death or improvidence the best managed properties change owners, the old board-fence which once kept the sacred spot inviolate, becomes a ruin, and sooner or later the remorseless ploughshare demolishes the last resting place once regarded with affectionate veneration. The practice of having burial grounds within the precincts of towns, besides its hygienic ill effects, leads sooner or later, to desecration; it is a chance if re-interment is carried out; where it is, the bones of the uncoffined dead are piled in a common grave. Stacks of tombstones lie neglected piled one above the other in some obscure nook.

✧ ✧ ✧

WISELY, therefore, both as a matter of health and in regard to some of the best feelings of our nature, a leading citizen of Peterborough, Mr. W. S. Conger, in 1851, formed a Joint Stock Company for the purpose of purchasing and laying-out with proper regard to appropriate decoration, the site for a public cemetery, sufficiently near the town for convenience, but sufficiently remote to be secluded from secular associations, and from risk of endangering the public health. The site selected was the lovely wooded promontory, formerly known as Mole's Point, just below the expansion of the Otonabee, which is named Little Lake.

✧ ✧ ✧

SO fully were those engaged in promoting the Little Lake Cemetery impressed with the importance to the people of this county, of securing suitable resting-places for the dead when their surviving friends might have the consolation of feeling absolutely assured that they would remain undisturbed for all time to come, that they prepared a Bill, which, having passed through Parliament, has now become law, authorizing the formation of Cemetery Companies throughout the Province. Under this Act, passed 10th August, 1850, the Little Lake Cemetery was established.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE cemetery is about a mile from the market place. It forms a promontory jutting out into the lake, and is surrounded by the most beautiful view of lake, river and town. All round it is a shrubbery, the trees being mostly of a sombre green appropriate to the place, those with drooping and pendent boughs being preferred. The soil is in no place swampy, but dry and porous, and thus well adapted for the melancholy purpose of the grounds.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE blocks into which the cemetery is subdivided, are broken by occasional vistas, so as to increase the variety and produce an ornamental effect, all broken angles or fragments of lots being reserved for planting. There are numerous elegant and costly, many tasteful, and some really beautiful monuments. The visitor may notice the following curious inscription on a tombstone which stands only a few yards from the main gate:—

"Ye weak beware: here lies the strong
A victim to his strength;
He lifted sixteen hundred pounds
And here he lies at length."

This refers to a young man named Macdonald, who, some years ago, lifted and carried some distance a bale of dry goods weighing sixteen hundred pounds. He went home and died the next day, the result of his imprudent exertion.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS sacred garden of Death has been most carefully provided with flowers and ornamental shrubs. At intervals rustic seats are provided for the purpose of repose and rest, while a sufficient portion of this most beautiful of Canadian resting-places for the departed has been thoughtfully reserved by the proprietors, for the burial, without fee or charge, of the poor of all countries and creeds. No one should visit Peterborough without spending a few moments of grave but not surely unprofitable meditation in this place.

MORE NOISE

A teacher spent a considerable time driving the theory of vulgar fractions into the heads of her class.

When she felt that the class had grasped the fundamentals involved, she asked:

"Which would you rather have, one ounce of toffee or two half ounces of toffee?"

One of the boys shouted instantly, "Two half ounces, miss."

The teacher sighed. "Now why do you say that?" she asked.

"Please, miss," replied the boy "there's another bag to bust!"

THE SOLUTION

During the filming of a comedy, the director wished to get the effect of water being poured out of a barrel on to some boards.

They tried peas on oiled paper, and that wasn't it; they tried dropping pins on a taut square of silk, and that wasn't it.

Finally a quiet fellow who was standing by aid: "Suppose you try pouring water out of a barrel on to some boards."

They tried it. That was it.

HE WON

Employer: "Well, you can have the position, my lad, but you would not have got it if I had any choice. Fancy coming after a situation with a dirty collar, a torn coat and a black eye."

Boy: "That's nothing; you should have seen the other three chaps that were after the job."

THE TATTERED STANDARD

Big Jobs Murderous

(FINANCIAL POST)

THE responsibility of taking over the duties of high office has exacted a very heavy toll in recent years on Canadian banks and corporations. In the banks the toll has been unusually heavy since the policy was adopted of promoting members of the bank staff up to the office of president.

In the Royal Bank the new policy was established when the late C. E. Neill stepped up from the office of general manager to become president. At the time he was in the middle fifties, and it looked as though he might readily serve for a great many years. To the amazement of even his close friends, however, he was stricken with a fatal illness well before he reached the sixty mark. Then came as his successor Morris W. Wilson, who went ahead with giant strides. It was not long before he began to lose weight and had to start an uphill fight to get back to his normal health. He stuck closely to his many duties and was carried off in the early sixties.

Over at the Bank of Montreal George W. Spinney had been referred to as the youngest man to be promoted to the office of president. At the time he seemed to enjoy vigorous health, but it was not long before there were reports of heart strain, and in the end he slipped away before reaching the sixty mark.

Up at the head office of the Canadian Pacific there was also difficulty in holding on to top executives. Following the passing of Sir Edward Beatty in his early sixties Mr. C. D. Coleman was brought back from the West and given the two duties of president of the railway and chairman of the board of directors. After only a few years the wear and tear of office began to tell and the doctors advised that he give up the arduous duties as a member of the board of directors.

In his place there came from the West Mr. W. M. Neal. A big strong-looking man, he immediately gave the impression he might be at the helm for many a long year. During his first vacation in some years he was warned against going back to his big job, and he forthwith resigned it.

Unconsidered Trifles

"The modern girls don't seem to want to get married."

"What makes you say that?"

"I've asked them."

✧ ✧ ✧

"I'm giving notice, mum," said the newly-engaged maid. "I find you don't trust me."

"But, Mary, you only came two days ago. I gave you the keys of the master's desk, my jewel case and the cellar. Surely that was proof that I trusted you."

"No, 'twasn't, mum, none of the keys, fitted."

Maid—"Sorry, sir, the mistress has just gone out."

Debt Collector—"How absent-minded! I saw her head sticking out of the window as I came in the gate, so she must have gone without it."

✧ ✧ ✧

Blanche: "Isabel, what makes you so bad-tempered?"

Isabel: "Why, I've just had a communication from Jack, and he writes such a horrid hand that I can't tell whether it's a proposal, an ode to summer, or that cure for chilblains he promised to send me."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me....I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded. (Isa. 45: 5, 12.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. (Gen. 1: 31.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them....

But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.

And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof. (Gen. 2: 1, 6, 7, 19.)

Trustees Of Democracy

For a number of years it has been the policy of the Toronto Board of Education to allow "recognized political parties to hold meetings in school buildings." Now, however, it is proposed to forbid Communist groups, or their affiliates, the use of school auditoriums for their meetings.

It is extraordinary that trustees of the Toronto Board of Education, who have run for office and been elected through the processes of the democratic system of government, still do not know how it works. If democracy means anything, it means the free play of all points of view. This requires a tolerance and forbearance on the part of the majority, which is admittedly difficult for it to maintain. The tendency to suppress disagreeable points of view is the constant threat to the democratic system, and those who wish to do so, for whatever motives, are enemies of freedom. The "eternal vigilance" which is the price of liberty is directed against just this sort of suppression of minority opinion.

How better to destroy democracy than to assert that one view should not be heard! It is hard enough to fight their philosophy without handing them ready-to-use ammunition. It is one thing to deny Red agents admission to the country for disruptive purposes; it is quite another thing to deny Canadian citizens the right to express any views which are not in conflict with the statutory limitations on free speech imposed on all alike. So long as Communists are citizens, they have all the rights that belong to that status.

The members of the Board of Education are called trustees. They are not only trustees for the schools, but for the democratic system. The motion should not be passed.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Sunday Shooting Carried In House Bill

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, March 25 (CP). — The ghosts of sporting statesmen who once darkened the walls of Westminster with their cigar smoke must have shuddered when a modern Commons committee discussed deer shooting.

In days within memory the red deer was the monarch of the Scottish glen, sometimes cursed by the farmer whose field he invaded, but stalked with painstaking care by sportsmen who might spend £100 ($400) for every horn by the time the beast was carved for the table.

It was a royal sport, for only those with the wealth of kings could afford it — officially. Unofficially many a stag and hind, selected and shot with masterly skill, nourished Highland homes and distressed gamekeepers and others charged with preventing poaching.

But both the deer forest proprietor and the humble poacher with a muzzle-loading rifle observed one law. They did not shoot on Sunday. It was beyond their imagination that such offenders of the Sabbath could exist.

Can Shoot Sunday

Now the page of history has turned. When the Agriculture (Scotland) Bill came before its parliamentary committee it had a clause permitting deer shooting on Sunday.

William Gallacher, Communist member of Parliament for West Fife, thought this a good thing. J. H. McKie, Independent Conservative from Galloway, promptly asked him for his interpretation of the Fourth Commandment, insisting on Holy observance of the Sabbath.

Gallacher said it did not matter whether deer were shot on Sunday or any other day of the week.

C. N. Thornton-Kemsley, Conservative member for Kincardine, said people need not shoot deer on Sunday to protect their crops. A swing of a rattle would make them run two miles.

But the clause permitting Sunday shooting was carried.

Pope Will Broadcast At 5 O'Clock Sunday

VATICAN CITY, March 25 — (AP). — The Vatican announced today the Easter blessing to be delivered by Pope Pius from the balcony at St. Peter's Cathedral will be broadcast.

The Pope will give the blessing at noon (5 a.m. EST) Sunday.

Vatican short wave stations on 19.87 and 31.06 metres, and the long wave transmitter on 222 metres will carry the traditional "urbi et orbi" (for the city and for the world) messages.

HOW HAGANAH TRAINED — A typical squad of Haganah recruits is shown receiving rifle instructions from the military cadre, most of who received their training fighting in the British campaigns against the Germans. The Haganah was organized 30 years ago strictly for defence and has since grown to a powerful and efficient fighting force. It has instituted selective service for its battle for survival against the Arabs. Latest reports from the Holy Land state that the long-awaited all-out Arab attack has begun.

Congress Passes Lower Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (AP).—The House of Representatives today passed the $4,800,000,000 tax-slashing bill, sending it to President Truman.

The measure cuts taxes for all the 52,000,000 income tax payers and drops 7,400,000 low income persons from the tax rolls. Truman is expected to veto the bill quickly, perhaps with a message citing needs for more billions for military preparedness in the drive to stop Communism.

The question then will be whether the bill's backers in Congress can put it into law over his veto. It takes a two-thirds vote in both Senate and House to do that.

That test may come some time next week.

The vote today was 289 to 66. This is 52 votes more than the two-thirds which would be needed to override a veto.

Mrs. Grace McIlmoyl and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Hillman are visiting the former's daughters, Mrs. Howard Bell, Peterborough, and Mrs. Leonard Forsyth.

HAS OTHER ASSETS

Sixty-five per cent of Canada's land area is agriculturally worthless.

Easter Blooms In Good Supply But Expensive

Flower purchasers in Peterborough will find greenhouses well stocked with Easter blooms if they do not wait until the last moment for purchases. It is interesting to note that the Easter Lily was entirely a Japanese monopoly until 1939 and since then the western world has been drawing on the basic stocks in Bermuda. Naturally this limited supply could not appease the large market and American growers in Washington and Oregon states developed the Croft lilty which now accounts for the greatest percentage of Canadian sales. Bulbs are forced in nurseries throughout Canada and local growers advise that four-bloom plants are the ideal product. The Croft strain produces from three to ten blooms which is not quite as popular. The price locally is estimated at 75 cents per bloom this year.

Trumpet and double variety daffodils are selling at $2 and Narcissi at the same price depending on kind and colour. Hydrangeas possibly make the finest bloom showing in pink and white shades with pastel blues that are produced by chemical additions to the soil. Their price range is from $2 to $5. Easter is a "corsage" season and will sell in the city from $2 upward and will enhance the New Look fashions on George street's Easter parade on Easter Sunday.

BELLEVILLE HAD BOOTH

Peterborough and district missed a bet at the recent Sportsmen's Show at the CNE Coliseum, Toronto, by not having a booth to boost tourist and city expansion. Belleville had one attended by Alderman Claude Tice who reported to the council on his return that the display created a great deal of interest. Representatives of a textile firm indicated much interest in locating their industry in Belleville. It is also planned to man a booth at the Cleveland Sports Show.

WEATHER TO GROW LEMON PLANTS!—William Mackie, manager of a local implement company in Regina, Sask., has a dwarf type lemon plant growing in the window of his office. On it can be seen two large, juicy lemons all ready to go into a taste tempting pie. The plant, six years old, has produced four crops of lemons bearing two on each occasion. It is about 15 inches high and Mr. Mackie says that the lemons grown on his tree give four times as much juice as the store varieties because of the fact that they are tree-ripened. Dwarf lemon plant is native of California, produces about six lemons per crop in that climate. It requires considerable care, and a great deal of manufactured plant food to grow well.

Two Editors Won't Be Called

TORONTO, March 25 — (CP) — Wallace Reyburn, editor of New Liberty Magazine, said today he has been notified by the Alberta Attorney General's department that his presence and that of assistant editor Keith Knowlton would not be required at the trial of Jack Kent Cooke, publisher, and Harold Dingman, writer, on charges of conspiracy to publish defamatory libel.

Mr. Reyburn said he was informed by letter from J. J. Frawley, department solicitor, dated March 19, that the attendance of the two editors as winesses at the opening of the trial April 5 would not be necessary.

The charge was laid following an article by Mr. Dingman in the Dec. 27 issue of the magazine which was called, "Babies for Export." It was reported based on a study of child welfare administration of the Alberta Government prepared for delivery to the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire by Dr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, also charged on a conspiracy indictment.

SHOULD BATHE FREQUENTLY

There was an excuse for only the "Saturday night bath" years ago when water had to be heated on top of the kitchen stove. But, say health authorities, with modern conveniences we should try to bathe every day.

Whip Beats Davis In Main Bout But Chair Deserves An Assist

Whipper Bill Watson beat Wee Willie Davis—but the "chair" got an assist—in the main mat bout at the Brock Arena last night before a huge crowd. Each had won a fall in a hot tussle when Davis, out of the ring, had his arm caught in a chair with a fan yanking the chair the other way and he didn't get back in the ring in time to beat the count. It was a rather unsatisfactory finish.

The final fall came in just four minutes of furious grappling. The 270-pound Hollywood villain rolled bashed Watson twice across the turnbuckle in slams into the corner ropes, and then the 232-pound champ had almost got him with his unconscious hold, the "Canuck Commando," before they grappled each other out of the ring. It was hot and wild in the crowd with first one and then the other having an edge. Finally the Whipper kicked Davis into the crowd and it was then that Wee Willie got mixed up with a chair. The Whip got back in in time before Referee Cliff Fox had tolled the count, but Willie didn't quite make it. He argued bitterly over the decision.

Evened It Up

The champ had won the second fall to equalize the exciting bout and the fans cheered him heartily. He took it in 21 minutes with his "Canuck Commando" grip, leaping on Davis' back and applying the punishing grip on the side of his neck tell he gave in. He was in command most of this round and twice almost had Wee Willie pinned but the rough and wily Willie used the ropes to escape. And Willie at times proved plenty dangerous, too. He complained later that the Whip's hold was an illegal choke hold.

Davis won the initial fall in 18 minutes after three body slams to the floor and previously two slams into the rope turnbuckles. He had been beaten earlier in straight grappling as the Whip had more speed and experience. But Willie decided to play it rough and he built up a quick advantage with fists and feet—the Whip didn't get rough till late in the bout—and he kept the champion in trouble then till the finish of the first round of the lively go. The referee had trouble keeping him in line and the fans booed his rough tactics, including hair-pulling, thumbing and fists. He couldn't match Watson's speed but he was bigger and stronger, and definitely rougher. They turned in a fine fight from start to finish and kept the big crowd yelling.

Too Strong

In the semi-final, 330 pounds of Cardiff Giant had little trouble crushing 250-pound Pete Managoff, taking but four minutes to mash him as the crowd gaped. He was just too big and strong, though Pete showed plenty of aggressivness from the bell. He tested the Giant with drop kicks, a flying tackle and elbow smashes. And he had him by the ropes once but the big fellow just shrugged him over the hemp without using his hands. The Giant then caught Pete in a massive bear-hug, shook him like a pup and fell on him crushingly to gain the fall with a minimum of effort.

Go To Draw

The prelim lasted the limit between popular 233-pound Tommy O'Toole and Jack Dillon, at 249—with a "doughnut haircut," a hole in the middle. They started easily and did a lot of mat work with Dillon and the referee unpopular. Later it opened up and the ref broke up a headlock O'Toole applied, claiming it was a strangle. Dillon forced the issue for a time with rough stuff, with Tommy bouncing back at times to make it interesting, especially with flying tackles. They were hard at it at the end of 30 minutes and no decision was given, so it went as a draw.

Orme Gamsby Dies At Age 84

BOWMANVILLE, March 25.—The death of Mr. Orma A. Gamsby, of Orono, at the age of 84, is reported from the Bowmanville Hospital, where it occured on Saturday last. The funeral service was held Tuesday from the Orono United church.

'Orm" Gamsby was known and respected all over this district. He was a colorful figure whose loyalty for has native heath was so strong as to jutify the name of "Mr. Durham," if anybody ever had applied it to him. He spent his life doing things for others, such things as catching brook trout and then, instead of eating them himself, driving ten or 20 miles to some hospital and giving them to a stricken friend probably in Port Hope or Bowmanville. He was full of deeds of kindness such as this.

He would travel any distance, any time, to accompany one of his baseball or hockey team and help them win a game.

This city might possibly have a resident on the Canadian Olympic boxing team this summer. Not Jack Dugan, local middle who won the Canadian amateur title — as Jack later turned pro. But Frank Dohaney of New Brunswick, now working in the CGE here. He was intercollegiate lightheavy champion of the Maritimes three years, ere heading this way, and is now a 21-year-old 184-pounder in good condition. Trains with Ron Menzies, who acts as manager, and will be on a Toronto card next Monday. Frank has sent in his entry for the Olympic trials in May and meantime is getting some warmup fights under his belt. You'll be hearing more of him.

Plans proceed apace for the Civic Arena funds campaign and definite interest is being shown. Folks may leave their contributions at the committee office on George below Brock, rather than await a call at the home. The objective is $50,000 and it is hoped the sum is raised shortly. Firemen will have their mile-of-pennies on Saturday, and other organizations are swinging into the picture. All but one of the hockey clubs asked to aid in the canvass were well represented at the meeting the other eve and that one will probably pitch in, too. The time has really come for local puck interests to get busy.

Let George Do It

Just before the late lamented Legion-Petes' playoffs, one of the Petes said his club could only be strengthened by the addition of about two Legionnaires—and he mentioned Bob Greenlaw and Johnny Godfrey. At that time, the Petes were beating Legion regularly and a lot of fans felt likewise. Of course, it was an exaggerated statement as there were half a dozen Legionnaires who could hold their own easily with most of the Petes. And as it turned out, they defeated them four out of five games in group finals.

* * * * * *

And at a later date, one of the Legion hockeyists said there were only a couple of the veteran Petes who could help Legion much—Honey Tompkins and Joe Blewett. This, too, was laying it on a bit thick, as there were more than that (besides younger puckists like Garvey and Fred Mortimer) who could have done Legion a lot of good. It just goes to show how rival squads look at it. One Legion official told us that, apart from the few they have now, he didn't think the club should go after any player over 25 years of age. Well, we don't feel that any hard and fast rule should be made, as there are notable exceptions to every rule. And we still figure that a combined Legion-Petes' senior "B" squad would sweep anything in that class in the province. But 'tis most doubtful if they'll get together next year, either.

* * * * * *

Scugog scrivener rises to remark: "In Belleville Monday the Legionnaires ended their season. A most successful one from many standpoints, and Lindsay fans, officials and players all benefitted. Not only did the popular Vets help put the arena back into blue ink (they drew over 13,000 fans in 13 games) but they coaxed out local citizens whose only visits to the rink have been for the circus, dancing etc. However, the big benefit was in the play of local minor kids, who picked up many a trick from watching the senior 'B' brand of hockey. Nearly every kid has tried to smother a shot like Johnny Godfrey, kick out the puck like Ross Nicholls or swoop in from right wing like Bob Greenlaw. Yes, the Legion hockey club has been a big help in Lindsay, financially and otherwise, and no doubt they will be more than welcome next season, especially if the artificial ice is installed." Well, Legionnaires liked Lindsay, too.

Dit Clapper's battling Boston Bruins gave Toronto fans an awful scare last p.m. before bowing in overtime to the Leafs. Actually led most of the way and should have pulled out that first victory. Had they done so, the Leafs would be on the w.k. spot as they've never been able to do much on Boston ice. Even so, this hunk of the Stanley Cup semi-finals is a long way from being over yet, and the Bruins might just pull an upset. Certainly Leafs and Wings are favored to meet in the finals, but the Clapper crew may make it a mighty tight fit for the champions. Lot of local fans are pulling for Bruins because big Dit is a popular local resident in the off season.

Willie Got The Chair

While the Whip won from Wee Willie Davis (is a 270-pound villain very wee?) in the main bout at the Brock last p.m. it was a bit unsatisfactory for the large crowd. A chair—not the "chair" in Li'l Abner's strip—tangled up Willie's arm, as a fan aided, and Davis didn't get back in time for the count. The champ said afterward: "I can beat him anytime and yet he's squawking he had a raw deal. I'll take him on anytime anywhere." But the big guy gave him quite a go, just the same. That "Canuck Commando" is quite a grip and it gained Watson his equalizing fall after Willie flattened him with fists and slams. The final came when they mixed out in the crowd and Davis got his arm caught in a chair. The Cardiff Giant looked most impressive in flattening Managoff in the semi-final, while O'Toole and Dillon went to a prelim draw.

Very Expensive Boat Racing

LONDON, March 25.—(CP).—Every time a sweating student dips his oar into old Father Thames in the Oxford-Cambridge boat race Saturday, it will cost each university about £3 ($12). That's the conclusion of "figure filberts" who dare talk about London's greatest free show in pounds and shillings.

Each of the eight-man crews will average 25 strokes a minute over the four-mile, 374-yard course and the race is expected to take 20 minutes—or £1,500 for each university. And here's the cost to seat eight men in a boat for the honor of their side:

Purchase of a new boat £350; two sets of oars £17; housing and feeding of crew £325; cost of maintaing boathouse and paymen of staff £130; daily transport £90; hiring attendant launches and marking the course £150; use of launch for officials and coaches in practice £90.

In addition, Cambridge bought a cow for £110 to provide milk for the crew and Oxford's dark blues trained on whale meat steaks. Special energy foods cost £503 to each university and miscellaneous expenses totalled another £75 to £100.

The race draws nearly 1,000,000 spectators who line the banks of the river at no cost to themselves.

Junior Skaters Hold Spotlight

CALGARY, March 25—(CP)—Canada's star-studded junior figure skaters held the spotlight today as the annual two-day Dominion championships opened at Calgary's swank Glencoe Skating Club.

With ice queen Barbara Ann Scott of Ottawa and other senior competitors not scheduled to perform until tomorrow, the junior skaters held full sway for the singles and pairs awards.

Top-notch junior lassies from Montreal to Vancouver were slated to open the meet in the difficult compulsory figures competition, followed by the junior men's figures.

The girls are expected to provide one of the closest contests of the entire meet with almost every entry rated a strong contender for the junior women's crown held last year by 15-year-old Vivi Smith of Toronto, who automatically moved up to senior ranks as a result of her victory.

The final of the main event in the Neill Trophy will be played this evening at 9 p.m. between O. Price and S. Lowe. It is expected to reach the semi-finals of the consolation event late tonight.

The boys and girls playing up in Toronto at the annual mixed rink bonspiel have not fared so well. They are all out. It will be up to Dr. McKee and S. Lowe to see what they can do today.

Those who are playing in the first round of tomorrow's bonspiel are asked to be at the rink tomorrow morning sharp at 9.00 o'clock.

New Flyweight Champ Sings Over Victims

LONDON, Mar. 25—(AP)— Rinty Monaghan, the new world flyweight boxing champion, is an effervescent little Irishman who sings over the prostrate forms of his victims.

His theme song is "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and he crooned Tuesday night at Belfast after hammering Jackie Paterson a numb hulk in the seventh round of a fight to settle their claims to the world 112-pound title.

Singing got Rinty into the ring. He was admitted to a Belfast fight when only a kid to sing and jig between bouts.

He's been singing more than boxing ever since. During the war he retired from the ring for five years and sang to entertain troops at camp shows. The 25-year-old champion even plans on doing the vaudeville circuit between defences of his new world title.

What's What In Baseball

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—California weather is proving so disagreeable that Manager Mel Ott is sending some of his New York Giants back to Phoenix, Ariz., to complete their training. With more rain in prospect, Ott put six players and Coach Red Kress on a plane last night with the destination Arizona sunshine.

Outfielder Hank Sauer, whose timely hitting has been missed by Cincinnati Reds since he was sidelined three days ago with an ankle injury, has been sent back to the training quarters in Tampa, Fla., for an X-ray.

Manager Johnny Neun said he was disturbed because Sauer's left ankle, badly swollen, was not responding to treatment.

Versatility may land newcomer Ray Boone a position on Cleveland Indians' roster. The 24-year-old rookie can both catch and play shortstop. Boone prefers shortstop, but wouldn't mind hanging around as a utility man, he says. So he may be kept as No. 2 shortstop and No. 3 catcher.

Metz, Leafs' Oldest Player Scores Winning Goal As Toronto Whips Bruins

By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY

TORONTO, March 25—(CP).—Once during a Stanley Cup playoff Manager Conn Smythe paced the Toronto Maple Leafs' dressing room and declared Nick Metz "the best all-around player in the National Hockey League." That was six years ago, but if the Little Major repeated it today he'd still receive plenty of support from Nick's mates. Thirty-four last month and the club's oldest performer, Nick fired the deciding goal in overtime as the NHL champions came from behind three times to beat Boston Bruins 5-4 last night and successfully launch their defence of the Stanley Cup. The teams meet in the second game of the best-of-seven round here Saturday night.

"He can play anywhere," said Smythe in his 1942 tribute to the Wilcox, Sask., wheat farmer, and that's just what old Nick did last night as they moved him to right wing in overtime to replace his brother Don, who had tired in the heavy going.

They mobbed Nick in the dressing room but in typical Metz style he escaped to the showers with few words. He explained that just after the 17-minute mark Max Bentley's rebound landed on his stick and "I couldn't miss because Frankie Brimsek was out of position."

Only 12,982 fans saw the 77 minute-and-two-second thriller although every seat in the rink was sold out well before game time. There was room for 2,000 more to stand but after looking at block-long queues the day previous, cash customers figured their chances were hopeless.

There was no sign of despair in the Boston dressing room after the game. Frankie Brimsek had 53 shots directed at him but it broke his heart when Jimmy Thomson scored his first goal of the season with a 50-footer less than seven minutes from regulation time.

For defenceman Jimmy, who counted 29 assists but went scoreless in scheduled play, the goal was a great thrill. But he gave the credit to Howie Meeker who blocked Brimsek's vision as the puck sailed over his shoulder.

In the Toronto net Walter (Turk) Broda, Vezina trophy winner, had only 26 shots to handle but both clubs had numerous chances to salt the game away in extra time as they threw caution to the winds.

Held Advantage

The Bruins held a 4-2 advantage when Syl Apps fired a disputed goal at 12.02. Referee King Clancy backed the goal judge but Boston winger Grant Warwick claimed the puck hit the post—"All the people around the goal judge were laughing at him." In the first period Apps kicked the puck into the net but the goal was disallowed.

Murray Henderson sent the Bruins in front early with a screened back-hand shot but Bill Ezinicki evened the count before the first session ended. Max Bentley of the Leafs matched an earlier goal by rookie Ed Harrison to leave the teams on even terms at the close of the second.

Pat Egan and Ken Smith both counted for the Beantowners before the half-way mark of the third and they seemed headed for victory when Apps and Thomson came to the Leafs' rescue with two goals in one minute and 23 seconds.

Tigers Back In But Loop Has One Team Extra

TORONTO, March 25 — (CP) — Through a muddle in all the huddling, the Big Four found itself with five teams today and the problem, temporarily deferred, of shedding one of them before next football season rolls around.

Hamilton Wildcats now are in as Big Four members, an executive meeting of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union decided last night. So are Hamilton Tigers, the team the Ontario Rugby Football Union Wildcats were to have replaced.

But because the Union "wishes to restrict itself to four teams"—in the words of Big Four president, Eddie Emerson of Ottawa—one of the two will have to go—but fast.

With this end in view, the Big Four executive scheduled another meeting for Toronto next Wednesday "to decide the four teams that will actually comprise the Big Four," Emerson said. The meeting will be empowered to decide how the Hamilton franchise will be operated if Tigers and Wildcats are unable to reach agreement on amalgamation.

Acted Too Fast

The six-team ORFU lost Ottawa Trojans only a few weeks ago through the Trojans amalgamation with Rough Riders. The loss of their best drawing card in Frank Gaup's Wildcats would leave them with a four-team circuit for next season comprising Toronto Balmy Beach and Indians, Sarnia Imperials and Windsor Rockets.

Last night the Big Four executive held two closed conferences — the first, an informal affair in a downtown hotel room, dealt with Tigers request to reconsider the withdrawal decision they announced in Ottawa last Saturday after an argument over sharing gate receipts. It was decided the storied black-and-yellow, members since the Big Four's formation in 1907, would be permitted re-entry.

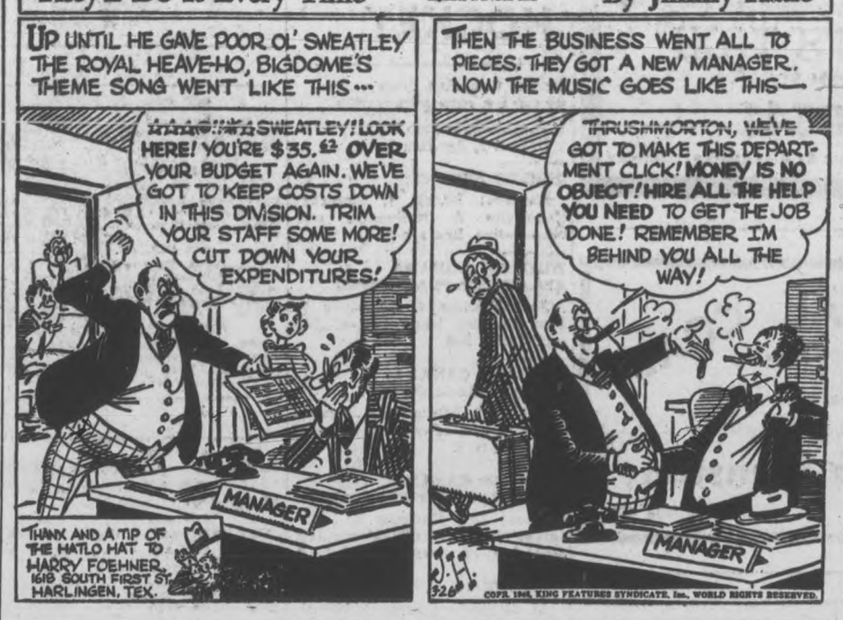
Then delegates of the league's other three teams—Montreal Alouettes, Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts—adjourned to the plush Engineer's Club to confer with the Wildcats representatives.

There the blow fell. It was disclosed that the executives, perhaps over-hasty had accepted Wildcats application at the same meeting that Tigers withdrew. So the Wildcats were members too.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario athletic division of the Canadian Secondary Schools Association announced yesterday the Ontario high school senior basketball tournament will be held at Toronto March 30-31. Five cage teams, representing all provincial associations, will compete in the event to be run off at the Hart House, University of Toronto, gymnasium.



The championship quintets participating are Sudbury high school from Northern Ontario, Windsor Patterson Collegiate from Western Ontario, Ottawa Glebe Collegiate from Eastern Ontario, For Erie Collegiate from Central Ontario, and Toronto Western Technical School representing the Toronto Association.

St. Michael's College Buzzers took the first game of their OHA junior B home-and-home semi-final series at Hamilton last night by edging Hamilton Aerovox 4-3. R. Corcoran led the winners with two goals while Holmes and McDonagh each had one. Russel, Sutar and Grenke scored for Hamilton.

Arthur J. Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) advocated yesterday in the British Columbia Legislateur that the B.C. government take over all race tracks in the province and set up a racing commission. He said the B.C. Turf and Country Club, Ltd., was largely an American institution 'out for blood" and determined to make the government surrender. The club recently closed Lansdowne and Brighouse tracks in Vancouver because it claaimed racing was "taxed to death" in British Columbia.

RCAF Flyers, Canadian Olympic hockey champions, last night trounced Ayr Raides 8-2 for their second victory in three starts in their Scottish tour. Tuesday night the Flyers defeated an all-Canadian club 7-1 at Perth, while in the first game of the tour they played to a 5-5 draw with Dundee Tigers at Dundee.

Wings Edge Rangers 2-1 In First of Playoffs

DETROIT, March 25 (CP). — Detroit's fast-stepping Red Wings, fresh from a 2-1 victory over New York Rangers in last night's opening National Hockey League playoff tilt here, were heads-up favorites today to repeat their performance when they again tangle with the New Yorkers here Friday.

More than 12,000 fans saw the Wings take the first game of the best-of-seven series late in the opening period by scoring two quick goals within four minutes. The lone Rangers tally came early in the final frame as the New Yorkers fought back desperately.

Left wingers Ted Lindsay and Jimmy Conacher gave the home team their margin of victory while Bryan Hextall averted a shut-out by meeting a 20-footer from in front of the Detroit nets.

Lindsay's goal was a neat rebound off Sid Abel's hook shot while Conacher's unassisted tally came when three Rangers and two Red Wings watched from the penalty bench.

Hostilities developed twice during the bruising contest. First, Abel and Bill Juzda were handed major penalties for fighting, Tony Leswick drew two minor penalties, one for roughing and the other for cross-checking, and Gordie Howe of the Wings went off for roughing—all the result of a single melee.

Another rough-house threatened midway through the second period but was promptly quashed when Jack Stewart of Detroit and Fred Shero of the Rangers were chased for roughing.

Lombardo Sets Speed Record

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 25.—(AP). — Bandleader Guy Lombardo set a speed record for Gold Cup supercharged racing boats yesterday when he clocked 113.208 miles an hour in his Tempo VI.

Wind and rough water later caused him to postpone an attempt to break the 125-mile-an-hour unlimited hydroplane mark set by Gar Wood 16 years ago. Lombardo will make the try today.

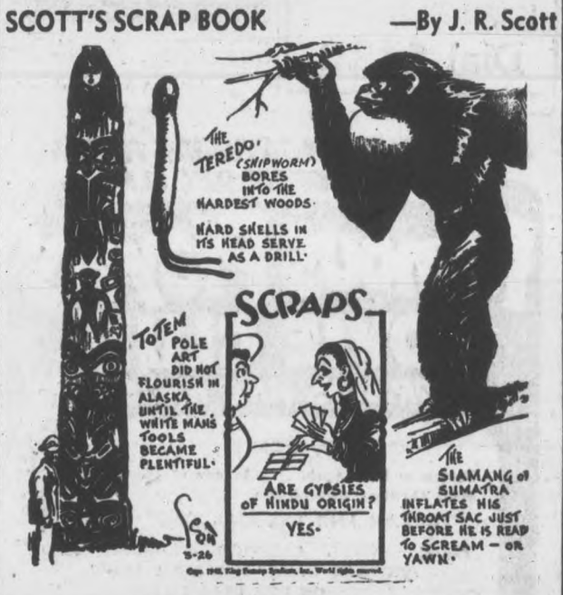
Lombardo, native of London, Ont., was clocked in the record-breaking Gold Cup trial at an average time of 31.8 seconds for the two runs on a measured mile course. The time bettered by about 12-miles-an-hour the 100.978 mph record established in 1940 by Herbert Mendelson at Detroit.

He hopes to break the 124.915-mile-an-hour speed set in 1932 by Gar Wood's Miss America today, and if successful, he will attempt some time this summer to beat the world's record of 141.74-miles-an-hour set by Sir Malcom Campbell in 1939.

Ball Managers Squawking On Exhibitions

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP)—Latest reports from the south seem to confirm the general impression that major league baseball clubs will return to their old training programs next year and forget about the March 1 starting dates . . . already managers are squawking that they've had to play too many exhibitions, so they haven't had time for plain practice.

. . . But, strangely, the pitchers on must clubs still seem to be "ahead" of the hitters, although they didn't get the benefit of a week's head start this year . . . Lincoln high school of San Jose, Calif., tossed six pitchers into a ball game against Campbell High recently and none of them gave a hit.



One-Minute Sports Page

After looking over Phillie pitching the other day, the Yankees had more praise for Pitcher Robin Roberts, fresh out of Michigan State College, than for the ballyhooed Curt Simmons . . . National Hockey League statisticians have figured out that the average number of playoff games required to settle the Stanley Cup during the last five years has been 16.

Rough Eloquence and Abuse Defence Tactics of Reds

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, NY. — "No case. Abuse the other side" is a fairly good rule for those lawyers versed in the rough and tumble of police court work. Not for the first time, in the UN and elsewhere, Soviet spokesmen have taken this strategy for their own.

They have attempted no answer to the charges of a Soviet-inspired coup in Czechoslovakia except a blanket denial. They have instead—Mr. Andrei Gromyko of the USSR yesterday and Mr. Vasily Tarassenko of the Ukraine the day before—devoted long speeches to the theory that there is a plot to enslave the world by the United States, with Britain as a junior partner." According to this theory, the Czech people would not fall for this plot and therefore they are being excoriated in the councils of the West.

No evidence has been adduced to support this theory but Mr. Gromyko sought to bolster it with a certain rough eloquence and by exercising his undoubted gifts for the caustic phrase. "It is Mr. Gromyko would wind up each of his indictments with "every doorman in the United States knows that." "Every cowboy in the United States knows that," or "every parrot in the United States knows that."

Senator Warren Austin in a heated rejoinder, wanted to know whether this was not a complaint to the United States—that people did know and did take part in their country's foreign policy. His retort drew applause from the visitors' gallery.

But many in the gallery asked themselves—what has this to do with Czechoslovakia? Senator Austin recognized the Soviet charges as "red herrings"—but he went haring after them.

A Candid Apprisal

So what of Czechoslavakia? For a candid apprisal of this topic observers of the United Nations could turn to another source—to a man of even temper and discernment, who has been neither pro-Western nor pro-Soviet in his past alignments. A man moreover whose position as an anti-Fascist hero is so safe that the Russians cannot besmirch it nor Americans dismiss it. Such a man is Alexandre Parodi—"Monsieur X" of the French Resistance — and France's mild and reasonable permanent delegate to the Security Council.

Mr. Parodi delivered himself of some comment on the Czech coup d'etat. To avoid any suspicion of coloring, one gives them here exactly as they were summarized by the UN Department of Information in its official transcript. Here is the transcript:

"The events in Czechoslovakia," he said, were well known. Against the will of the head of the state a minority had taken over all 'command posts' with the aim to establish the same regime in Czechoslovakia as in the Soviet union.

"The previous Czech government, Mr. Parodi declared, had had Communist ministers in prominent positions and could not have been reproached by the USSR for the policy it had followed, a policy of close collaboration with the USSR. Mr. Parodi recalled that about a year ago the Czechoslovak government had rejected the 'generous aid' offered by the United States under the Marshall Plan. Now, he said, a police state had replaced the previous democratic form of government. The voice of President Benes had not been heard since the February events. He was probably a prisoner of the new regime. With the death of Jan Masaryk the two men who had been the symbol Czech democracy had disappeared from the political scene; one was dead, the other was no longer free, Mr. Parodi said.

Mr. Parodi praised the democratic tradition of Czechoslovakia where democracy had been fuller and stronger than in any other state which had emerged from World War I.

"It had been said and it would be said again," he commented, "that the events in Czechoslovakia were purely internal affairs. But," said Mr. Parodi, "no one could deny that these events could not have happened without the previous knowledge and approval of another power and that the 'immediate proximity' of Soviet forces had not played a part in the success of these events. For these reasons," said Mr. Parodi, "it was necessary that the Security Council should attach full importance to the Chilean complaint."

A Summing-up

To any person who really wants to know what has been going on in Czechoslovakia and who wishes to consider the question apart from the clouds of suspicion and dust kicked up by the greater powers, one can only recommend this summary.

It should be remembered that Parodi, while a non-Communist, would be judged a left-winger in any North American context. He lacks affection for, or sympathy with, Wall Street, big business, American imperialism, war-mongers. These latter categories if one believes the Soviet delegate, or the Ukrainian delegate or even certain American apologists for them, represent all the sinners in the post-war world. Whatever M. Parodi thinks of them he regards them to be extraneous to the present argument. A model European democracy was raped and handed over to a minority rule. That was not done by big business or by Americans or by Western militarists. It was the peculiar accomplishment of Communists. Nobody can dispute that. The only question at issue is whether the perpetrators of the coup were Czech Communists alone or Czechs under Russian direction.

Canadian Music Receives Eastern Twist

By JOSEPH KING

HALIFAX, March 25 (CP). — Canadian musical compositions are following an Eastern trend today as a result of the introduction of the works of Walter Kaufmann, Bohemian-born composer who has settled in this old seaport because of its "stimulating atmosphere."

Compositions of the 41-year-old artist, said to be influencing Canadian music, have received reactions from Canadian audiences ranging from a "most positive reception" in Toronto to "extremes of approval and disapproval in Halifax. But his music has earned him an international reputation.

Kaufmann came to this country in 1947, forced to leave his home in India for health reasons.

His work in India, however, lives in his collections of Indian folk and art music which he assembled while on leave from his post as Director of Music with All-India Radio.

Kaufmann wrote only one of his four symphonies in Europe and turned to the mystery of the Orient for inspiration for three more symphonies and three operas.

It was Sir Adrian Boult, chief conductor for the BBC, who suggested that Kaufmann might find a "new source of inspiration" in Canada.

Concludes Kaufmann: "Because of the encouragement and stimulation provided here, I am in Canada and Halifax to stay."

Cool cloudy weather delayed tapping and shortened the syrup-making season.

MIDLAND—An old home reunion at nearby Mount St. Louis July 3 will mark the 300th anniversary of the death of the martyred St. Anthony Daniel. The French missionary met death near here by torture at the hands of the Iroquois during the Huron wars.

LONDON—London branch of the Ontario Retail Farm Equipment Dealers' Association installed E. G. Beatty as president. Speakers included A. L. Thompson, Chatham, past provincial president, Gordon Guest, Chatham, provincial vice-president, and Ernest Hansen, president of the Chatham branch.

MEAFORD — Fire completely destroyed the Euphrasia township home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Haines, Laverne, 14, and his brother, Brian, 2, escaped with their parents as the blaze, which started in a partition, quickly swept through the home. Loss is estimated at $7,000.

SYDNEY, N.S.—RCMP recaptured 23-year-old William Jewers, who escaped from the crowded county jail here branishing a revolver. Two other prisoners who attempted to follow him were subdued by an armed guard. Jewers was recaptured at his home at nearby New Waterford. He offered no resistance.

It has been estimated that there are probably less than 1,000 Trumpeter Swans in the whole of North America. Every remaining pair of these beautiful birds is vitally important to the continued existence of the species, and the protective legislation which has been enacted on their behalf must be carefully observed in order to save these birds from total extinction. More detailed information concerning this and other elements of our natural resources, and full-color reprints of our wildlife pictures, without advertising, are available free by writing to The Carling Conservation Club, Dept. Senate Barely Averts Wheat Crisis

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, March 25.—(CP).—A pre-Easter threat of revolt ran out its brief course in the Senate yesterday.

By a vote of 25 to 17, the Upper Chamber overrued its banking committee which had recommended deletion of a clause in a government bill that would have empowered the Federal Wheat Board to handle sale of oats and barley in the same way it handles wheat.

The committee, on a motion by Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, had voted 15 to 8 to delete the clause from a bill to amend the Wheat Board Act. It started study of the bill Tuesday.

The Upper Chamber, in a far more unanimous mood, give swift reading to all three phases of study of a bill to extend for another year the government's powers to bulk-purchase foodstuffs to fill contracts with Britain. It adjourned until April 19.

The Wheat Board bill, given third reading, also authorizes an increase in the initial wheat payment, establishes a pension fund for its employees and empowers the board to control inter-provincial movement of wheat products.

Haig Support

Senator Haig got the support of 10 Liberals, including two former cabinet ministers—Senators T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba) and W. D. Euler (L-Ontario)—in the Senate vote that saw the committee recommendation go down to defeat.

All other Liberals backed Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, who said the government considered the marketing clause most important and added that the cabinet would reinsert it if the bill went to the Commons without it.

Senator Haig asked for a year's delay of the marketing clause. If, in that time, the three Provincial Legislatures passed complementary legislation, "then I'll keep quiet."

Customs Official Swoons At Only 22 lbs. Clothes

MONTREAL, March 26 (CP)—Miss Honey Hansen, stepped daintily from a big airliner at Montreal airport today and promptly announced she was on a three-month round - the - world jaunt.

The immigration officer gasped a bit. Then the customs man nearly swooned.

Miss Hansen had just one piece of baggage and it held only 22 pounds of clothes.

That would be quite enough, said the pretty brunette, for she merely will be flying here and there setting up travel bureaux for a Seattle company.

The secret of the compact little wardrobe apparently was color. Miss Hansen said her white rawhide overseas bag was packed with clothes that fit into one color scheme. Anything can be worn with anything else—that's what she said—and a lot of accessories are useless.

She began to enumerate some of the "anythings." There were three pairs of shoes, a couple of lightweight wool suits, a lightweight silk dress, a dark brown dress with gold buttons, a yellow three-quarter-length coat, couple of blouses and two sweaters, a roll-up string hat (her own description) and 24 pairs of nylon stockings.

Ontario Will Take Over Amusement Tax As Soon As Ottawa Quits

TORONTO, March 25—(CP).—Ontario Government plans to take over the amusement tax field just as soon as the Dominion vacates it were supported to the tune of a 60 to 4 vote during second reading of the bill in the Legislature yesterday. The standing vote, called by Premier Drew, recorded two things: objection by the two Labor-Progressive party members and Alex Parent (Ind—Essex North) who usually supports them; and deviation from party line by George Harvey (CCF—Sault Ste. Marie). He voted against the bill while other members of his party supported it along with the Liberal Opposition.

Two bills, including the Southern frequency conversion measure, were approved in committee. Premier Drew replied to Opposition questions on the Hydro changeover.

Eight bills from private members and seven Government bills were read for the second time and four were given third reading.

Provincial Secretary Michener tabled the 80th annual repoct of the Department of Health, hospitals division.

He explained the provisions of a bill to establish the Ontario research commission as a permanent body. The bill was one of those given second reading.

In amusement tax debate both J. B. Salsberg (LPP—Toronto St. Andrew) and A. A. MacLeod (LPP—Toronto Bellwoods) declared it was taxation which hit unfairly at the pockets of the average wage earner.

As an alternative way of raising money for hospital expansion and development—the purpose of the tax—they suggested a two per cent addition to the current corporation profits tax.

Attorney General Blackwell said it was a small sum the average wage earner would pay for what he would receive in benefits of hospitalization. In effect, he said, the amusement tax was a form of insurance.

Means Higher Prices

There woud be no advantage in increasing corporation taxes, he said, since the boost would be passed on to the buyers in the form of higher prices.

Mr. Frost said he hoped the Dominion would vacate the field of amusement taxation by the end of this month so that the province could get started on its program of hospial development.

At present hospital facilities were not sufficient to allow implementation of a national health plan. But Ontario's program to be financed with amusement tax would bring closer the day when hospital facilities could support a national health scheme.

During discussion of the power changeover bill, Opposition members directed numerous questions at Premier Drew.

Farquhar Oliver, Liberal Opposition leader, said he was in favor of the proposed conversion in Southern Ontario from 25 to 60-cycle power.

He asked if it were wise to continue putting 25-cycle equipment into farm areas when the plan will require its change in a few years.

The premier said rural electrification would not be held up on account of the conversion.

Mr. Oliver: Would private manufacturers be inclined to continue production of 25-cycle products during the changeover period?

Premier Drew: Wise manufacturers would watch progress of the program and set production plans accordingly, decreasing 25-cycle manufacture and increasing 60-cycle production as conversion continued.

No Solution Yet Of Food Problem

By The Canadian Press

Noting a turn for the better in the world food situation, the current monthly commercial letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce nevertheless, states that it is doubtful whether such betterment in itself can solve the serious food difficulties of recent years.

"Before the war continental Europe was noted for its high cereal yields from intensive cultivation, good seed and extensive use of fertilizers, the letter says.

"Adequate labor, quality seed and fertilizers are still lacking in that area and until these shortages are overcome pre-war yields will not again be recorded.

"Furthermore, the estimated world population has increased by 200,000,000 or 10 per cent, in the last decade."

Noting that winter wheat is the major variety grown in the United States and Europe, the report comments that the present favorable condition, "can, however, change rapidly before the harvest period in June and July."

Canadian Ships Used

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (AP). — Legislation to permit Canadian ships to transport iron ore between U.S. ports on the Great Lakes was approved yesterday by President Truman. The law is effective only for the present calendar year. It was recommended by government agencies to help move an unusually large tonnage of ore needed to meet demands for steel.

Leave Taxation Alone

REGINA, March 25 — (CP). — Provincial treasurer Fines said yesterday the province would not enter pari-mutuel and amusement tax fields if the Federal government relinquished them. Mr. Fines said they would be left to municipalities to levy and collect in those two fields of taxation.

TOKYO—A special meeting of the Japanese cabinet was called to consider wage demands of 1,350,000 government workers threatening to strike. Employees of the commerce ministry, tax collectors and some other workers walked out today for 24 hour "vacation."

Claxton Urges Recruits To Boost Armed Forces

OTTAWA, March 25—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton in the Commons yesterday called for recruits for the Canadian active and reserve services.

He said that the active and reserve forces are needed "so that we can be ready to meet any emergency and maintain the existence of our country and the freedom of our people, so that we shall continue to say what kind of life we want to lead."

In reply to a question by Alan Cockeram (PC-York South), Mr. Claxton said that with respect to recruitment for the army "it is contemplated that it will be brought up to strength by March 31, 1949."

He did not have the dates for the navy and air force, but said they are "approximately the same."

Earlier, in a re-statement of the current and authorized strength of the armed forces, he said that at the end of February the strength was 34,276, representing 80 per cent of hte authorized strength of 42,145.

"It is interesting to note that the proportion of regulars on strength compared with the target for March 31, 1949, is the same in Canada as in the United Kingdom.

"Unlike other countries which still have men who were enlisted for the duration of hostilities or who were called up for a limited period, all Canadian forces are permanent or regulars."

Allies To Stay In Berlin; Need Prestige

BERLIN, March 25 — (AP)— If the Russians are trying to force the United States, Britain, and France to get out of Berlin, they have a scrap on their hands.

The Western Power commanders say they are staying. More than that, they have put the pressure on the Russians to find out exactly what the Soviet boycott of four-power German governing machinery does mean.

Germans here interpreted yesterday's White House announcement that the United States Army would continue indefinitely its occupation of the American zone as full backing for Gen. Lucius D. Clay's determination to keep United States forces in Berlin, which is in the heart of the Russian zone.

Short of war, then, there appears little the Russians can do to throw the Western Powers out of Berlin, despite the tirades in the Communist-controlled press.

The stakes and prestige involved in Berlin are so great none of the Western Big Three can afford to abandon them.

Intend To Stay

They have given their word, publicly and privately, to the Germans and to the world that they will stay in Berlin, come what may.

In Berlin each of the Big Three have thousands of their nationals.

The spectacle of these thousands moving out of Berlin with their belongings because of Soviet pressure would shake Western prestige from one end of Europe to the other.

It would make it virtually impossible for the Big Three to find sound German support in Western Germany. Germans would see in the abandoning of Berlin the first move to leave all of Germany to Russia. They would act accordingly.

There is no doubt that the Soviet Union finds Allied presence in Berlin an irritating island in the Red sea of Communist tranquility stretching from Finland to Albania.

Report Atom Bomb Only Damaged Hiroshima In Split Second That It Burst Over City

TOKYO, March 25—(AP)— The top scientist studying Hiroshima said today the atomic bomb has not damaged that Japanese city since the split second in which it burst.

Dr. Philip S. Owen said the long study by the Atomic Bomb Casualty Survey Commission "disclosed no residual radio-activity." He termed false speculation that the area would be deadly for possibly 80 years.

Dr. Owen is executive director of the Commission. The scientists are studying residents of Hiroshima and those of nearby Kure, for comparison.

He told The Associated Press it "is eight years too soon" to say whether the bomb caused heriditary changes. But he emphasized that, if there are any, they would result from the split second of the blast, not from subsequent atomic action.

He shrugged away previously published reports of luxuriant plant growth, curiously twisted vegetables and twin onions.

"We haven't found any such startling results," he commented. "They could happen anywhere, but in Hiroshima people seize on radio-activity as an explanation. It's probably just potash in the soil, ashes of burned buildings and human bones."

Kicked, Beaten, Loses Teeth Toronto Laborer Charges Police

TORONTO, March 5.—(CP).—A Toronto paper in a copyright front page story by Jean Poitras, today quotes the Ottawa-born laborer as saying he was beaten up the night of March 13 by Toronto police officers who took him into custody after a scuffle.

"For eight to 10 minutes . . . I was kicked and beaten while six policemen stood by without raising a finger," Poitras says in his first person story. "They seemed amused by the brutality.

"Even when I lay on the police station floor, bleeding and bruised and dazed and pleaded with them for help, they just smiled.

"Three of my front teeth were kicked out. I held them in my hand so they could see. I was beaten some more."

First word of the incident came when John MacLeod, a university student, wrote Mayor Hiram McCallum that he and three friends saw policemen beating a man late March 13. The mayor promised an investigation.

The 26-year-old Poitras says in his story that he came here from Ottawa in January to look for work.

Describes Scuffle

Poitras says he broke up a closing-time scuffle outside an east-central beverage room after a stranger tried to fight two of Poitras' companions. A policeman grabbed Poitras by the collar —"very rough"—and told him he was under arrest.

"He hauled out his blackjack and started to swing it. He was trying to bring it down on my head so I grabbed him by the neck and pushed him away."

In the patrol wagon "the policeman sat on the bench nearest me and he stamped his foot in my face. He kept on banging my face and shoulder with his foot and yanking on my arm with the chain as the wagon went on to the station....

Thrown On Floor

"The two other policemen grabbed me by the shoulders and threw me as hard as they could to the garage floor. I guess that is where the people who complained to the Mayor later first saw what was happening. When I tried to get up the first policeman punched me in the face. Another policeman kicked me on the head.

"They dragged me into the police station through a connecting hall. My head bumped. Inside the station I stood up against the hallway wall. That's where they really laid it on....

Poitras says he pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk—but claims he wasn't drunk—and was fined $10, and costs, or five days. He took the five days and scrubbed floors in the Don Jail.

"I insist I wasn't drunk and there are two reasons why I pleaded guilty. First the other boys warned me that if I didn't I'd have to stay in jail four or five days, anyway, on remand, and secondly, I didn't want any person to see me in the shape I was in. The best place for me, I thought, was in jail."

Tunes Organs But Can't Play

By SAMUEL SOLOMON

WINNIPEG, March 25 (CP). — For 45 years Alberta Blanchard has installed, tuned and repaired pipe organs — but he can't play one.

Not that he finds this out of character to any great extent.

"I consider the pipe organ the royal instrument . . . with it you can imitate any instrument in the world. It's my regret I've never learned to play this instrument . . . but my pleasure comes in the thrill I get from good playing on the pipe organ," he said.

Mr. Blanchard, who has repaired or tuned most of Winnipeg's pipe organs said that the sound of a pipe organ could vary depending on the amount of clothing worn by the members of an audience.

Weather conditions also play a part in the tone of a pipe organ, Mr. Blanchard said that the dry climate of the Prairie Provinces is helpful to the sounding of clear notes. He is now at work on the installation of an ultra-modern 40,000-pound organ in St. Matthew's Church.

The organ has 3,000 pipes, ranging in height from 16 feet to ⅛ inch and in weight from 300 pounds to a few ounces.

Two-Year-Old Heifer First Patron At Theatre Takes Uptown Jaunt After Gaining Freedom

The first patron to attend the new theatre abuilding on George St., came in on the run through the open facade and pulled up short in the theatre pit-to-be at 9:30 a.m. The orchestration of rivetters drills and hammer blows came to an abrupt silence as Patron Number One snorted in disgust when the curtain failed to rise and the spotlights were not ready to feature the big moment. Heaven knows how far she had come to make this public appearance, by train, at least, even though it was an open cattle car. So much for all this suspense. She was but a two-year-old heifer that got away from the cattle handlers at the CPC stock yards, jumped the fence and loped up George St. The construction workers and panting stockmen, when they arrived, chased the flightly country girl back where she belonged less than an hour later. Several families may be enjoying roasts from the First Lady of the Paramount over the Easter weekend.

Decisive Victory

LARISA, Greece, March 25 — (AP).—A starving guerrillas captured on Mount Olympus said yesterday he and his fellow fighters were forced to eat pack mules and grass during the recent battle on the mountain's slopes. Ragged and frost bitten, nearly 100 Communist-led guerrillas were herded into a detention camp here as the Greek army claimed one of its most decisive victories of the civil war.

Will Present Merrie England

The Canada Packers Musical Society which is one of Toronto's valuable musical institutions is coming to Peterborough on Saturday, April 3, to present in PCVS Auditorium its current offering, "Merrie England." The society is being brought here by the Young Married People's Club and the Men's Association of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. There will be two presentations: a matinee in the afternoon at 2.15 and in the evening at 8.00 o'clock.

A recent reviewer said of their presentation in Toronto that the big choruses were joy. With freshness of voice and sparkle in action the girls and men in those choruses recreated the spirit of a day when England was debonair.

Steel Firms Keep Their Output High

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP)—Steel firms keeping output high this week are gambling that the coal tie-up in the United States will not last long, the Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today.

The publication estimated the ingot rate at 96.5 per cent of rated capacity, down ½ points.

Assessing probable effects of the gamble by steel companies, it said:

"If they lose, it means that in the next few weeks the steel rate will fall rapidly, shipments will be held up and the general hysterical cry for steel will again be raised."

It described the coal strike situation "as far more serious than either the public or the government realizes."

Robinson was released today on $500 bail when an inquiry board adjourned a hearing of deportation orders brought against him.

Trappers See Short Season

From the look of the Otonabee River this morning at Auburn the rat marsh on the west side should be in shape for trapping within a week or 10 days' time. Flooding over the last weekend drove the animals from their houses but they should have returned to them by now since the water has receded. Local fur buyers and trappers say the skins should be in fair condition but due to late ice and snow, the season will be reduced to about 10 days. The season is going well in Prince Edward county marshes and a few local men, such as Roy Whetung and his boys from Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, are reaping their spring harvest.

Down Belleville way, George Woodhouse, an ex-navy veteran trapper, caught an albino muskrat in one of his Trent Road traps Monday. Last year he took a pure black which was worth more than prime browns. He estimates that trapping this year in his area will be favorable with that of other years.

Police Certain Car Killed William Wright

The investigation into the highway death of William Wright, Marmora, on March 18, is "narrowing down" to a field of "a few vehicles," Inspector E. V. McNeil of the Ontario Provincial Police, stated today.

OPP's Lloyd McClure, Peterborough, and Donald Nicol, Cobourg, have been engaged in a painstaking check of all possible vehicles which could have been involved in the fatality.

The death, the officers believe, was decidedly the work of a hit-and-run driver, and stated that, in their opinion, it would not have been possible for a vehicle to inflict such injuries on Wright without the driver being aware that he had struck someone.

Spring Came Fast Creeks Filled To Brims

Spring came with such a rush this year it is difficult to imagine just how short a while ago that the ground was snowcovered. No great excitement really happened to drive home the fact that spring arrived in a hurry. Jackson Park Creek did its best to put on its annual show and failed. A trip through the country these days shows bare fields with little, if any, snowdrifts in the fence corners. Creeks are filled to the tops of their banks with occasional marooned cakes of ice rotting in the warm sun.

Observers report great activity on the Otonabee River at Lakefield as large ice fields bear down on the flood from Lake Katchawanooka. One sheet, so large that it practically covered the river from bank to bank Wednesday afternoon, was broken by the first river island in the north reach. The splintered cakes caromed to either shore sweeping small docks and diving towers with them.

Central School Swimmers Capture Examiner Trophy

Central School swimmers won the Examiner Trophy in the finals of the interscholastic swimming championships on Wednesday evening at the YMCA. With 52 points, they were 23 points ahead of the second-place winners, Queen Mary School, with 29 points. The Central School team, David Shantz, Ray Yelland, George Spalding and Hugh Outram, set a new record for the interschool free style relay—160 yards with a time of 1:41.4. The Queen Mary School team also beat the old record of 1:49 set by Central School in 1940, with Warren Marshall, Vic Griffen, Burt Young, and Gord Wallace.

With a time of 15.8, Jim Heffernan, Central School, beat his own record of 16.3 for the 11 years and under—20 yards breast stroke, which he set the previous evening. The two outstanding individual swimmers were Murray Grafstein, Queen Mary School, and Jack Boorman, Central School. Murray Grafstein was first in two events, was in a second-place relay team and was second in the under 13 diving. Jack Boorman was also first in two races and at the same time broke the records for both events.

In the interschool medley relay —120 yards, three teams beat the old record of 1:32 set in 1944 by Central School, with Don Campbell, Bill McKenzie and Jack Dormer. The new record of 1:26.2 was set by Queen Alexandra School, with Arthur Harrison, Bill Watson and Ray Seabrooke. Queen Mary and Prince of Wales School teams also beat the old record.

Says Today Parallel To Pilate's Time

Leaders Of Society Then As Now Helped Crucify Christ

The story of the Cross is of God's victory, not of His condemnation, was the message of Rev. F. R. Harback of Belleville, speaking at a special Holy Week service in George Street United Church Wednesday evening.

The speaker drew a comparison between the actions of the world's society today and the four individual and group entities which are "blamed" for the sin of the crucifixion of Christ—the shouting mob, Pontius Pilate, Judas Iscariot and the leaders of the church. As he showed the condemning parallels of today, he asked: "Were you there when they crucificied my Lord?"

"Sometime, I tremble, when I think that perhaps the sandals of Judas would just fit..."

Of the unruly mob which had shouted for the death of Jesus, he said that it was made up of individuals who had ceased to think as individuals and thought only in terms of a group. So today, he warned, we have "certain groups" throughout the world who are trying to form a pattern of thought and action which allow no room for individual thoughts, and which attempt to supress all those who disapprove with the general line of thought of the groups.

Pilate's horrible choice he described as something which Pilate himself had regarded as a choice of the "lesser of two evils" —the death of one Man then or of hundreds later in riots. Perhaps, he suggested, the choices of our day—the recent war, the dropping of the atomic bomb—were similar choices of the lesser of two evils.

"So often," he said, "life gives us only the choice of a lesser of two evils. We then attempt to justify that choice by picturing the chosen evil as a virtue."

The crime of Judas was that he permitted his lust for power and the power which money would give to overcome his sense of loyalty to the Master. The speaker referred to many practices of today—the "business-and-business" attitude, the rule of charge all the traffic can bear."

"Sometimes, I tremble..."

The leaders of the church who played a part in the crucifixion —the priests, the Pharisees, the head members of the established church—"were blinded by their pride and their own self-righteousness."

"They belonged to the best lodges, service clubs and business groups of the day," he said.

"Were you there..."

These disturbing similarities of our own conduct can be overcome by the message of Christ on the Cross, Mr. Harback declared. He held forth to us the promise of redemption for these sins:

"Forgive them, Father, for they know not what they do."

The service was in charge of Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church. Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' offered the prayer.

The solos, "Open the Doors of the Temple" and "I Know That My Redeemer Livest," were sung by Samuel Castle.

Horse Show Plans Stall Old Home Week

LINDSAY, March 25.—(ENS).—"We're up in the air as far as the horse show for old home week is concerned," Chairman D. McQuarrie told members of the Lindsay and Victoria County old home week committee at a meeting Wednesday night. Mr. McQuarrie explained that Mr. C. A. Gravenor, noted Montreal horseman with whom arrangements had been made to conduct the horse show on July 2 and 3, had notified him that he (Mr. Gravenor) might not be able to be here on those dates. "At this late date the situation is getting serious," he added. "You can't organize a horse show in two or three days."

At the suggestion of Reeve H. H. McFadden, it was decided to contact Mr. Gravenor and clarify the situation.

The committee received a letter from B. L. McLean, manager of the Lindsay Central Exhibition, offering them the use of the fair grounds during old home week July 1 to 10. Mr. McQuarrie said that Mr. Victor Gladman, provincial architect, Toronto, and a former Lindsay resident, was taking charge of preparations in that city for a "Toronto day," to be held here during old home week. He said about 800 names of former local residents now in Toronto have been forwarded to Mr. Gladman.

It was not thought necessary to organize a committee in Peterborough owing to the proximity of these two centres. "I've talked to a number of Lindsay people in Peterborough and they'll all be here," said Reeve McFadden.

A pipe band of the 48th Highlanders is expected to be here for "Scotsman's day," the chairman stated.

Union Loses Case To Lock Company

The recent arbitration case between the Peterborough Lock Co. and UER and MWA, Local 527, arose out of dismissal of two employees for violation of the company's "no smoking" regulation.

The judge ruled that the company regulation was both reasonable and proper, and upheld their right to dismiss employees for breaking this rule.

In this case the company was represented by Mr. T. J. Carley, KC, and the union by Rev. Dr. H. F. Forster. The chairman of the arbitration board was Judge A. Cochrane of Brampton.

Rambling Reporter

THIS MODERN AGE

Maybe it's because the world is travelling at a terrific rate, that everything seems mixed up nowadays. Three weeks ago, there was at least three feet of snow in some backyards, but on Wednesday afternoon, the firemen had a call—to douse a grass fire. Just another of March's vagaries. A stretch of tinder-dry grass in a vacant lot near Lisburn and Vinette streets in the Auburn district burst into flame probably through the carelessness of someone and the firemen after getting over the shock of a grass fire in March, had the blaze under control in short order.

HARSH SPRING NOTE

Bronze grackles better known as the common blackbird were sending their harsh, screechy notes across the morning air in Ashburnham this morning. Their more respectable and melodious red-winged namesakes are said to have returned to the marshes of Rice lake during the past week also.

'Y' STAFFER ADDRESSES Y'S MEN

Guest speaker at the weekly dinner-meeting of the Y's Men's Club on Thursday night will be Jack Dunderdale of the Y.M.C.A. staff in India. Mr. Dunderdale who is home on furlough, is expected to speak on his experiences in that country.

HATS OFF TO SPRING

Another sign of spring is the change in official dress of the Police Department. The fur caps have been discarded now for the usual summer flat caps, and the short coats are now the order of the day for the force. Not taking any chances on a change, though, the men have the winter wear ready in case the temperature dictates a return.

TAKING NO CHANCES

At least one wary motorist—seen on Water St. about noon—was as attentive to the matter of the new licence plates for his car as are the police. He had evidently purchased the 1948 markers but not had time to screw them into place. So, just to let everybody know his good intentions, the plates were stuck prominently in the front window of the car.

ABLE TO BE OUT

Friends of William Howes, Queen street, were agreeably surprised on Tuesday to see Mr. Howes strolling downtown. He was one of the more seriously hurt, in a car-train crash on the Lindsay highway two weeks ago last Friday. Mr. Howes has his left arm is a cast, and outside of being a bit shaky appears to be well on the way to recovery.

Will Ask Municipalities For Their Opinions; Two New Buildings Needed

Division of the county into three High School districts was discussed at the Wednesday afternoon sitting of the County Council. Municipalities will be asked if they favor this High School area plan, and if so which of the three areas they wish to be in. This would entail the building of two new High Schools: one, to serve the Havelock-Norwood area, and the other, the Lakefield area. PCVS would continue as the Peterborough area school.

It is proposed that these new schools be large enough to offer academic courses to Grade 13, and general shop, home economics, agriculture and commercial to the end of Grade 12.

Rural pupils would be transported to their particular High School by special buses which would pick up the pupils in the morning and return them at the end of the school day.

Gordon L. Duffin, executive assistant in the secondary school branch, Department of Education, appeared before the Council to give a detailed explanation of the plan and answer questions.

Mr. Duffin pointed out that all but one county in Ontario was reorganizing along these lines in an attempt to give rural pupils a better opportunity for secondary school education. More than half of the counties have already enlarged their high school areas, he said.

Transport 8,000

Some 350 vehicles are transporting 8,000 Ontario children to 161 high schools, he said. Gradually continuation schools are being eliminated, he said, and 14 have already gone.

To establish the plan, it is necessary for each township and village council to request the County Council to approve their joining an area. Or, the municipality could be served by two areas. The County Council would then pass a bylaw at the June session approving this, and the new areas would be effective on January 1, 1949.

Composition of the district school board would be—one representative from each municipality in the district. The largest public school board and the largest separate school board in the district would each appoint a representative. In addition the County Council would be represented by a member.

Mr. Duffin said the optimum size for a school was 500 pupils, but 300 was regarded as satisfactory, particularly in county schools. If there were fewer pupils the additional courses proposed would be too small, and it would be uneconomical to maintain them. Experience had shown that if there were 800-900 public school pupils in the district the minimum standard of 300 high school pupils could be found.

At present PCVS is the only secondary school building in the county. Lakefield, Norwood and Havelock lease rooms from the public schools. All are overcrowded.

Could Get Grants

For schools such as the two proposed it is believed the Department of Education would help by extending grants. These would be 75 per cent. of the cost of operating the school, including debentures, plus 75 per cent. of transportation costs. The ceiling would be $200 per pupil, plus $100 for pupil transportation.

At the end of the school year, the high schools would send bills to the County Council covering the cost of non-resident pupils attending the local school. One-half of this cost would be charged to the municipality from which the pupil comes, and the other half would be charged to the county on the basis of equalized assessment. Both sums would then be included in the county rate.

"Secondary education has been noon today. The campaign will sadly neglected in rural education," said Mr. Duffin.

Reeve Mahoney expressed concern that agricultural subjects were not given more prominence on the school curriculum. When Mr. Duffin said that 90 per cent. of the boys and girls who graduated from Ridgetown, Kent County, since 1927 had become farmers, Mr. Mahoney exclaimed, "That's what we want."

Reeve Grant said he hoped townships considering Lakefield as part of their area would "get at it and decide before July."

Municipalities will be contacted by letter to see if they wish the three-area plan to come into operation. They were requested to reply by April 30, so Council could act on their decisions at the June sitting.

Abbott Weighs Tax Cuts As Budget Day Approaches

OTTAWA, March 25—(CP). — Budget day is relentlessly approaching — it probably will be some time in April — and Finance Minister Abbott must be giving deep thought to changes in tax rates. Total surplus for the year ending March 31 may reach $800,000,000, and if this is so the Minister would find difficulty defending present rates.

He has a great variety of taxes from which to pick and choose for reductions. They are:

Customs tariff—tax on imports; corporation income tax—levied on the profits of companies; personal income tax; succession duties—on estates when the owners die; 50 different excise taxes; excise duties on liquors and tobaccos.

So many changes were made in tariff rates Nov. 18 to make Canadian schedules conform with the Geneva trade agreement that these may be left pretty much alone. Practically all the November changes were downward, which was some tax relief.

Opinion has been fairly pronounced in parliament and across the country that further relief should be given to income taxpayers in the lower brackets. It has been argued that exemption for married men should be increased from $1,500 to $2,000 and for single men from $750 to $1,250.

Big Revenue Cut

The difficulty is that the change would make tremendous inroads into government revenue and would help every other taxpayer more than the man in the lowest bracket.

The married taxpayer receiving $2,000 pays $70; so if the exemption was raised to $2,000 he would save $70. However, it would lower the assessable income of taxpayers in all other brackets. A man with $4,000 income would have his tax reduced $100; one with $5,000 by $110; $10,000 by $175; $20,000 by $250; and so on.

President Truman recently proposed to the United States Congress that a $40 tax credit be allowed every taxpayer instead of an increase in exemptions. While Congress didn't think much of it, the idea may prove more acceptable to Mr. Abbott. Instead of increasing exemptions or reducing rates he could declare a $70 credit for everyone. This would give the lowest brackets the same relief as increasing the exemption and would pile up the relief for bigger incomes.

Assuming the number of taxpayers this year will be about the same as last, a $70 credit to everyone would take $175,000,000 out of Mr. Abbott's surplus.

There is real clamor for reducing the excise tax commonly called the sales tax which stands at eight per cent. It is a terrific money-maker and does affect the cost of living, although most foods are exempt, such as bread, butter, cheese, meats, fish, fresh vegetables, fruits, flour, poultry, milk—in fact most bulk products. It applies on nearly all canned goods, nearly all package goods and other processed articles found in a grocery store. It applies to almost everything sold in clothing, hardware, drug and jewelry stores. An important reduction would lower living costs.

Hidden Tax

The sales tax is what is termed a hidden tax. When it was boosted the average man did not notice it because it was hidden in the total cost of the article he bought; similarly if the government lowers the tax the average purchaser probably won't recognize the change. Accordingly, in such a reduction, the government doesn't get the pat on the back it figures it deserves.

So if the government decides to reduce a tax that has little window-dressing possibilities, it might also make a reduction that millions of people would recognize right away, such as the tax on cigarets which the government has really pounced on to produce revenue. It put on an excise duty and then an excise tax and now is collecting one cent on every cigaret sold, more than half the purchase price. If the price of a package of 20 cigarets was dropped 10 cents, that would make an impression.

Another commodity carrying a heavy tax is alcoholic spirits; but observers who have watched the course of governments do not expect a reduction from a Liberal government. Prime Minister Bennett reduced the excise duty to $7 a proof spirit gallon in 1932 and to $4 in 1935. The Liberal government in 1939 raised it back to $7, and then to $9 in 1942 and $11 in 1943. For liquor 30 under proof that means a levy of $7.70 a liquid gallon. The expectation is that with Canadians consuming spirits at the present rate there will be no inclination to reduce the duty from its all-time high.

The excise taxes announced Nov. 18 placed a 25 per cent ad valorem duty on passenger automobiles up to $1,200 and rates ranging up to 75 per cent on the highest priced cars. This is in addition to the sales tax and was imposed in common with the campaign to conserve United States dollars.

Stores dealing in jewelry and photographic supplies carry heavy loads because most of the articles they sell have a 25 per cent excise tax. In the cases of jewelry, clocks, watches, diamonds, gold and silver plate, china and similar articles the retail purchase tax is in addition to other taxes.

Other Taxes

Other excise taxes that make up the 50 items in the excise tax act following the Nov. 18 changes are:

Chartered bank note circulation—one-quarter of one per cent (this is a diminishing revenue as chartered bank notes are being withdrawn and Bank of Canada notes take their place); bets on horse racing—five per cent; net premium income of insurance companies—two to 10 per cent; long distance telephone calls — 15 per cent over 20 cents and special taxes for pay phones; telegraph and cables — seven cents each; domestic telephone extensions—25 cents a month; transportation tickets—15 per cent if over 75 cents; sleeping berths — 15 cents; parlor car chairs—15 cents; cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, money orders, travellers' cheques—three cents up to $100 and six cents over $100; security transfers—three cents on each $100 bond and a graduated scale for stock shares; postal notes—one cent up to $1 and three cents over; letters and post cards—two cents in addition to postage; matches—one cent per 100 plus sales tax; cigaret papers and tubes—8 cents per 100 papers, 14 cents per 100 tubes; motor buses—five per cent; toilet soaps — five per cent; lighters—25 per cent; phonographs, radios and tubes—25 per cent; slot and vending machines—25 per cent; candy—30 per cent for each five cents in the case of bars; trunks, luggage, purses, golf bags—35 per cent; pipes and other smokers' accessories—35 per cent; fountain pens and other desk accessories—35 per cent; cigars—25 per cent plus an excise duty of $1.00 per 1,000; manufactured tobacco 2 cents per ounce plus excise duty; tires and tubes except for original equipment—five cents a pound; carbonic acid gas—50 cents a pound; dressed furs—10 per cent of market value; playing cards—20 cents per pack plus sales tax; non-sparkling wines—50 cents a gallon; sparkling wines and champagne—$2.50 a gallon; special excise tax on articles imported under the general tariff—three per cent (as this applies only to countries with which Canada has no trade agreement the field is distinctly limited); admission to places of amusement—20 per cent of prices of admission before any other amusement tax is added; places of entertainment (cabarets, night clubs)—25 per cent of each charge made to patron; electrical appliances, electric and gas refrigerators, fire arms, outboard motors, motor cycles—25 per cent.

Teacher Training Held Tuesdays

KEENE, March 25—(ENS)—"The Bible and the Christian Religion" is the book being studied at the teacher training class held Tuesday in the club room of the United church. It will continue for the next four weeks. All Sunday school teachers and any others who desire this course are invited to attend.

The Palm Sunday service was well attended, the topic of the sermon being "The Son of Man is not come to destroy men's lives but to save them." Mrs. Stuart Mitchell sang with splendid voice, "The Palms," which was much enjoyed. During the sermon, reference was made to the decision Christ made, 'He set His face to go to Jerusalem," which meant eventually Calvary's Cross. In His decision the salvation of mankind was involved. The Rev. Geo. Murray pointed out that life for all of us involves making decisions, choosing the higher ways in preference to the lower ways. It is in these higher ways that blessing comes not only to ourselves but to others. Jesus for the joy that was set before Him endured the Cross.

Good Friday service will be held in the United church March 26 at 8 p.m. On Easter Sunday at 11 a.m. special music will include three anthems by the choir, with Mr. David Potter at the organ. The topic of the Easter message will be "This Is Our Victory."

National Steel Union Parley In Hamilton

SYDNEY, N.S., March 25 (CP)—Four Sydney local officers of United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL) were en route to Hamilton today for a national union conference beginning March 27 on current negotiations with the three basic steel producers in Canada for wage increases.

Sault Ste. Marie and Hamilton locals also will have representatives at the conference, as well as the union's national directorate.

Current contracts expire April 1. Steel Company of Canada workers at Hamilton have rejected an offer for a 10-cents-an-hour increase while results of negotiations at Sault Ste. Marie and Sydney have not been made known. Basic wage at the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's plant here is 82½ cents an hour.

Find 8 Bodies In Plane Wreck

WOODLAND, Wash., March 25—(AP).—The Washington state patrol radioed from the scene of a crashed United States air force transport late last night that searchers had found eight bodies in the snow-banketed mountains. Two others survived.

Two bodies were found by searchers at considerable distance from the shattered plane several hours after six others were located in and near the wreckage.

The six bodies and two survivors earlier had tentatively accounted for the eight men listed by the air force, but the search was continued after Maj. John B. Harding, pilot, reported 10 men were aboard the aircraft.

The last two bodies found were located by following tracks down a stream on the north slope of the mountain side where the plane struck.

The plane vanished Sunday during a torrential rain storm while approaching Portland for an instrument landing. It had left Fairfield-Suisun air base in California.

Give your Wednesday Night Bridge Club something to talk about in the way of refreshments! Fruit Salad—coffee and fluffy chocolate cake topped with this BAKER'S CHOCOLATE frosting . . .

MELLOW CHOCOLATE FROSTING
3 cups sifted icing sugar
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
4½ squares Baker's Unsweetened Chocolate, melted
½ cup milk

Combine ingredients in order in deep bowl, beating with rotary beater until blended. Place bowl in pan of cracked ice or ice water and continue beating until just thick enough to spread. Remove from ice water (frosting will continue to thicken). If necessary, add 1 to 2 tablespoons additional milk or cream until of right consistency to spread. Make enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 8- or 9-inch layers, or top and sides of 8 x 8 x 2-inch cake (generously).

An Odd Crackling Sound startled little, 11-year-old Marcelle Laplante as she played in the kitchen of her home. It was early evening and her mother and father had gone out for a few minutes, leaving her in charge of her two little sisters and baby brother—all asleep upstairs. At almost the same instant as Marcelle heard the crackling, she noticed the unmistakable smell of burning wood. Rushing to the second floor, she was met by clouds of smoke . . . and, in a few seconds, she aroused her little sisters and sent them running downstairs and out the front door. From the door of her little brother's room, she saw that the fire had spread from the cupboard to the bed. The little fellow was still asleep—although the bed clothes were by this time a mass of flames. Taking him in her arms, she flew down the stairs and then, after leaving him with his sisters outside, she phoned the fire department. As a tribute to her quick-thinking courage . . . the DOW AWARD, including a $100 Canada Savings Bond, is being presented to young Marcelle Laplante of Thetford Mines, P.Q. The Dow Award, presented from time to time to a Canadian hero or heroine for outstanding bravery, is sponsored by DOW BREWERY in Montreal.

Big Game Animals Popular On Menus During Stone Age

BY MAX BOYD

CAIRO, March 25 (CP)— Discoveries of the University of California's African expedition suggest that the blue special of the New Stone Age may have been elephant au natural or hippopotamus on the half acre.

Exploring the ancient shoreline of Fayum Lake suothwest of here, where man is believed to have hunted and fished in the New Stone Age some 10,000 years ago, scientists of the expedition found the broken bones of a number of elephants and hippopotimi.

The bones of each great animal were scatterod over a separate small area. Around them were were flints and other stones from which a few chips had been flaked or broken.

Scientists believe these finds are probably the remains of feasts in which the game was killed and eaten on the spot. They think the crude stone instruments were used to break up the bones to get at the marrow inside.

How the huge animals were killed is not clear. The tip of a pointed instrument, was found among the bones of one elephant, but expedition members doubt that such large game was killed by spears. Some think hunters may have crept up behind the great beasts and, with sharpened stones, cut tendons in their legs. Then they starved and harassed the crippled creatures to death.

The expedition lists its conclusions as probabilities rather than certainties because many of the bones lay on the surface instead of being imbedded in structures that would help to fix the date when they were deposited. Some were in place, however, and a few pieces of pottery were discovered to help indicate the period.

Resemble Modern Elephants

The elephants that died along the ancient shore were much like those of today. They were far larger than the world's earliest known elephants, fossil remains of which have been found by this and previous expeditions a few miles away.

Remains of these earliest elephants were discovered by the University of California scientists in deposits which geologists say are 40,000,000 years old. The fossils are about the size of a donkey, have many teeth instead of the four big molars of present-day elephants, and only the beginning of tusks.

Even older are the fossils of primitive whales, some 45 feet long, a school of which the expedition found in an eroded valley below sea level 60 mile west of its camp at Kom Ausheim. These whales are believed to have lived about 45,000,000 years ago, when the valley was ocean floor.

Many of the bones found by the expedition appear to have accumulated in pools in flood plains or the delta of a large stream some 35,000,000 years ago. The fauna included not only fish, crocodiles and turtles which lived in the stream, but also a large variety of mammals, which must have washed downstream, as well as a few sharks and rays which may have lived in the estuary and come upstream at times.

The expedition had one disappointment. Its hopes of finding new and more complete specimens of propliopithcus, an early ape which may have been one of the ancestors of man, have not materialized. So far, science has only one small fragment of propliopithcus, found in this region many many years ago.

Women Prove Unpopular Buying Suits For Hubby

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP).—Man still wears the pants in New York, but a woman buys them for him.

It's a post-war trend. Men don't trust themselves nowadays. They bring their wives along when they buy a suit of clothes.

An alarming thing—that's what a number of salesmen think about it.

Says one:

"A man comes into my store alone. He wants a suit, he looks at it, he likes it, he buys it. If he doesn't like it, he walks out. But when he brings a woman in, she starts an argument. Even when she doesn't want it, she argues.

"Before the war, 25 per cent of the men brought women in here with them when they bought clothes. Today, women do 60 per cent of the selecting. And sometimes they don't even have the man with them."

Move Spreading

There is evidence this movement may be spreading. Louis Rothschild of Washington, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, cautiously indicated his organization recognized the development.

The association recommends its members make their stores pleasing to women. "It is a problem to make a man's store masculine," he says, "but at the same time keep it attractive to women."

One store manager, who does not wish to be named for fear of reprisals from his wife, is blunt about it. Says He:

"We should keep them out. Women, that is. Women think men are better dressed when they select their suits. That's a woman's version. Men don't really look better dressed. Thank heavens, they still look like men.

"There are only three colors for men's suits—blue, brown and grey. But women even come in here and want a suit to match the color of their husband's eyes."

Protests Rush

OTTAWA, March 25 — (CP).—Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative Leader, told the Senate last night it had received more legislation from the Commons in the last three days than during the rest of the session. Protesting against the pre-Easter rush of bills, he said there should be "a more even stream" so that more intelligent consideration could be given them. Parliament lost "some of its usefulness" because of the rush.

Ontario Grants $175,000 For Research

TORONTO, March 25 (CP). — The Ontario Research Commission being established as a permanent body will receive $175,000 in provincial estimates this year, Provincial Secretary Michener said yesterday in the Legislature.

Discussing the bill setting up the Commission permanently, Mr. Michener said $25,000 would go for administrative expenses, $50,000 for scholarships, and $100,000 for encouragment of smaller industries to combine together in group research projects and activities.

The Provincial Secretary said that 58 scholarships were awarded last year under the system, which is already established and operating. Particular powers given the Commission will enable it to carry on where the temporary group, set up in 1945, leaves off.

Dr. R. C. Wallace, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston, wil continue as chairman. Others are: Dr. Sidney Smith, President of University of Toronto, Dr. W. Sherwood Fox, former President of University of Western Ontario, Dean C. E. Burke of McMaster University, Hamilton, and Dean C. R. Young, of Toronto.

Also on the committee are Dr. G. I. Christie, former principal of Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Dr. T. H. Hogg, former chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and representatives of industry.

Freight Service Reduced In U.S.

WASHINGTON, March 25 — (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday ordered a 25 per cent reducation in coal-burning freight service, effective at midnight next Tuesday.

The ICC said the cut is necessary because of the dangerously low level of railroad coal supplies and the continued work stoppage in the soft coal mines.

The cut in freight service follows a recent office of defence transportation order for a 25 per-cent reduction in coal-burning passenger train service effective last Sunday.

Under the ICC freight order, coal burning locomotives may be used to haul coal or empty coal cars without restriction.

With this exception, the commission ordered railroads to hold their coal burning freight service to 75 per cent of that provided during the week ended March 6.

A system of priorities was set up. A number of items will have first preference for available freight space when the service is curtailed.

Ready for fun when the day's work is over?

WHY NOT TRY THIS?

● Don't envy those who are fresh and vital when the evening begins. Do as thousands of smart people are doing — drink a cup of Ovaltine night and morning.

For Ovaltine does three things to help you feel fresh and vital all day through:

First, taken warm at bedtime, it fosters sound refreshing sleep, without drugs.

Second, it supplies essential food elements to rebuild vitality.

Third, it also furnishes important vitamins and minerals in a delicious, more natural way for all-round health and vigour.

So why not start using Ovaltine regularly for morning freshness and buoyant days.

Most DP's Keep Contract

OTTAWA, March 25 — (CP). — Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, last night said that the thousands of immigrants and displaced persons brought to Canada appreciate what Canada is doing for them and, except in a few instances, have not broken work contracts. He was commenting on a statement made earlier yesterday by a Polish immigrant, Vita Beorovit, who said she had entered Canada claiming single status although married and that many immigrants were entering the Dominion by giving false information.

ADDITION TO HOSPITAL

Chairman Karl Weber of the Kitchener-Waterloo hospital commission has announced that the contract will be let for the construction of a $2,000,000 five-storey hospital pavilion with work to start early in April. Construction will take two years.

EUROPEAN GARMENT WORKERS ARRIVE—Arriving in Montreal were these European garment workers, part of a group of 174 ready to start life a-fresh in Canada. Also were 205 displaced persons, all relatives of Canadians, who were disembarked at Halifax from the Greek ship Nea Hellas.

Check Fruit Importers On Orange Prices

OTTAWA, March 25 (CP). — To prevent Canadian importers bidding excessive prices for oranges from points elsewhere than California, the Prices Board today announced a system basing all prices on those obtainable at the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

Under the new system, the importing wholesaler's price of any oranges will be limited to the price at which he could sell the same variety, size and pack of California oranges purchased from the California exchange, recognized as the pricing centre for the world.

Final In Series Kaiser Program

The Examiner presents to-night the fourth and concluding program over CHEX n a series of song recitals by baritone Peter Kaiser of Pickering. These programs are presented with a view to bringing radio listeners the world's finer music and song. Gwen Craw will be accompanist. The program will be heard at 9:30 p.m.

Mr. Kaiser's program will consist of the last two songs from the cycle Eliland by Alexander von Fielitz. They are titled Anathema and Ergebung (Resignation).

Also on the program will be: I Know a Hill, with words by Harriet Boyer and music by Benjamin Whelpley; Walter de La-Mare and C. Armstrong Gibbs' number, Five Eyes, and Albert Hay Malotte's setting of The Lord's Prayer.

Next Thursday at 9:30 p.m. Agnes Logan Green, Peterborough's distinguished concert pianist, will present her final recital for this season.

EARLY SEWING MACHINE

The sewing machine was invented in ancient Rome, re-invented in England in 1795 and again in France about 25 years later.

Not Enthusiastic On Wage Move

LONDON, March 25—(AP)—London's newspapers were cool today to Britain's Trade Union Congress decision to support the government fight against inflation. The program calls for freezing wages and profits.

The TUC voted 2 to 1 yesterday to throw its 7,500,000-man membership behind the government's two-front struggle.

The Financial Times viewed the TUC announcement as a vote of confidence in the government.

The Conservative Daily Mail termed the wage plan a "false freeze," and said a condition of the support action hinges on a pegging of both wages and profits.

The Liberal News-Chronicle said union leaders appear firm that nothing effective will be done about wages until profits are tied down.

The Communist Daily Worker commented on the size of the minority vote and said the decision did not bind individual unions now asking wage boosts.

Gas Shortage Problems Solved

TORONTO, March 25 (CP).—Unless unforeseen difficulties arise, shortage of gas which plagued Western Ontario industry this past winter, may be avoided next year.

This view was expressed in the Ontario Legislature yesterday by Mines Minister Leslie Frost.. He was discussing the government-sponsored amendment to the Natural Gas Conservation Act, given second reading.

Mr. Frost said the shortage of the past winter was largely the result of shortage of oil and oil derivatives. Oil gas plants at Port Stanley and Windsor would be brought into production to alleviate this situation.

The minister, replying to a question from A. A. MacLeod (LPP-Toronto Bellwoods), said nothing can be gained in solving the problem by making gas a public utility.

"I think we would be increasing our problem," Mr. Frost said. "The gas companies have been in business a long time. Perhaps they might be glad to have us take them over. It would gain us nothing."

TO HOLD HORSE SHOW

The Kinsmen Club is organizing a horseshow to be held in Peterborough on June 11 and 12. A bigger and better show than ever before is planned, and it is hoped the Canadian Army team will be present.

DEMANDS DISMISSAL — Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, above, demanded that President Truman fire defence secretary Forrestal for opposing the partition of Palestine to protect American oil interests in Arabia. Taylor, vice-presidential candidate on Henry A. Wallacel's ticket, said in a letter to Mr. Truman that Forrestal "has been most aggressive" in trying to have U.S. foreign and military policy shaped to "the interests of the oil companies.

De Marigny Leaves Canada Voluntarily

OTTAWA, March 25. (CP) — Count Alfred de Marigny, whose appeal against deportation proceedings recently was rejected by the Supreme Court, has left Canada voluntarily, the Resources Department said today.

The department said "information has been received" that Nancy Oakes' former husband, who was acquitted in the Bahamas of a charge of murdering Sir Harry Oakes, left the country March 22 en route to Haiti. He is a native of the Indian Ocean island of Maritius.

"De Marigny is understood to have secured a United States transit visa, enabling him to proceed to Haiti via New York and Miami," the statement said. "He left by plane from Dorval Airport."

De Marigny, who came to Canada nearly three years ago, and was admitted on a temporary 30-day permit, was ordered to be deported after his application to remain in Canada as an immigrant was refused.

MILITARY SUPPLIES FOR TURKEY—Ready to to be hoisted aboard the Turkish ship Yozgat, a big 105 mm. Howitzer dominates the scene on an Erie Basin pier in New York, where military equipment for Turkey is being loaded. In background, an M24 tank is being lifted up and swung into the hold.

Baseball Gets Big Nod From Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 25 (AP). —At last, baseball is getting the nod from Hollywood producers.

American's favorite game (wanna argue?) has long been neglected by the movies, and for an important commercial reason. Movie-makers were afraid of diamond yarns because they figured foreign audiences wouldn't savvy. Things are different now that the overseas market is not so important. Also, it is figured that American troops carried baseball to far corners of the world.

M-G-M is preparing two baseball films — the Monty Stratton Opus and the Kelly-Sinatra Musical. Allied Artists is already at work on "The Babe Ruth Story." The latter is going all-out for authenticity. Coaching the star, Bill Bendix, is Pat Flaherty, who played with Ruth for Boston Red Sox. He's also technical advisor and will portray Bill Carrigan, former Red Sox manager.

The film will feature other Ruth contemporaries — Red Ruffing, Bob Meusel, Mark Koenig and Umpire Ziggy Sears. Bob Feller is being sought for a part. Baseball sequences will take up 20 minutes of the film.

Second Award

Loretta Young's Oscar was only the second award for an actress' comedy performance. Previous one: Claudette Colbert in "It Happened One Night." Producers may well note that Loretta's award went for the only really entertaining film in the female list. That's the temper of the times, boys . . .

Van Heflin faces his toughest job to date in "Act of Violence," which will be the first of M-G-M's semi-documentaries. He plays a Nazi captive who squeals on his fellow prisoners. Only one of them escapes alive and he later finds Van in the United States . .

10-Second Review

"The Search" (M-G-M) brings vitality and heart to the screen. Filmed in Europe with authentic backgrounds and cast, it's the story of a Czech boy orphaned by war and befriended by an American soldier. Its stark view of today's Europe is a strong argument for United States aid.

CALLS AT WHITE HOUSE —Michael, right, deposed king of Romania, went to the White House, at Washington, D.C., accompanied by state department protocal chief, Stanley Woodward, left, and discussed the present state of affairs in Romania which is now dominated by the Communists.

A WELCOME GIFT

Albert Jewell, Albert street, who has been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital for six weeks received a welcome gift on Monday. It was a large box of fruit from his half-brother Wesley Cory of Florida. Mr. Jewell who is a city employee had an operation six weeks ago and is doing well.

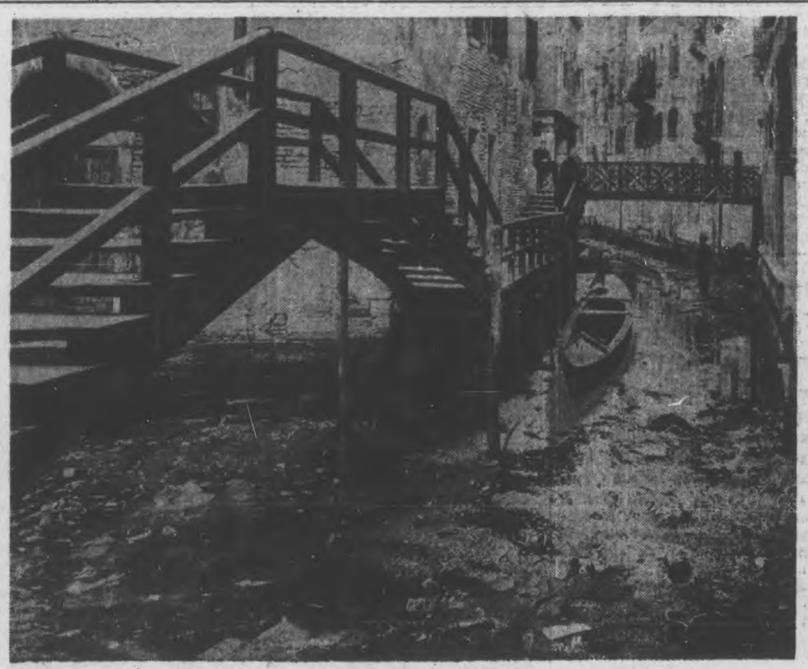
Jungle Railway Never Built Dispute With Guatemala

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, March 25 — (CP). — A jungle railway through steaming swamps and mighty forests, often talked about but never built, is at the heart of disagreements between Britain and Guatemala. The story goes back to April 13, 1859, when an Anglo-Guatemalan convention was concluded and ratified by both parties. One article delimited the frontier between the two territories and another bound the parties to construct a means of communication between the capital of Guatemala, Guatemala City, and a point on the coast near Belize, British Honduras.

In a supplementary convention signed in 1863 the British Government agreed to pay £50,000 ($200,000) towards construction of the railway, but Guatemala failed to ratify the convention, which lapsed.

British officials said Guatemala had taken no steps to fulfil her obligations on railway building, but in 1895 Britain again offered £50,000 for the work, offered a road over the same ground in 1934 and in 1936 again made an offer of £50,000.



Blames Britain

Guatemala, on the other hand, claims Britain has repudiated obligations and the whole 1859 convention is null, including provisions covering boundaries. She claims the whole of Britain Honduras, or alternatively the southern part of it between the Sibun and Sarstoon Rivers, on the ground that she is the successor of Spain, former owner of the territory.

In 1945 the Guatemalan Government said it would like to resume negotiations, but at the same time passed legislation which included provisions in the Guatemalan constitution declared British Honduras to be Guatemalan.

Apart from other considerations, the British Government said it could not, with instruction from an international court, disregard the wishes of British Honduras residents who have stated they wish to remain within the British Commonwealth.

WITH FLOODS IN CANADA, VENICE IS DRY—There's no singing gondolier nor romantic lapping of canal waters when a low sea drains the smaller canals of Venice. Normally three feet of water runs through the streets. During this unusually low tide, the city's transportation system is crippled because flat bottom boats and small barges are the only means of getting around.

Babies Born In Canada Most Expensive In World

OTTAWA, March 25 —(CP)— Babies born in Canada are expensive. They may be, if a Toronto professor is right, the most expensive babies in the world.

But it's not only babies. It's a matter of economic pressures, housing crises, taxes and no jobs for older men.

In fact, said Dr. John Morgan, associate professor of social work, University of Toronto, the economic pressures of family life "make it economically desirable to live in sin."

He addressed the regional welfare supervisors of the health department at their second annual conference here yesterday and declared:

"It costs more to be born in Canada than anywhere else I know." Children are expensive to rear, feed, clothe, house and educate.

Heavy Burden

Children do not enter productive employment until much higher ages than formerly, said Dr. Morgan, and the present industrial system discourages the employment of older persons. Hence, he declared, the burden falls on young married people between the ages of 24 and 35.

But Dr. John Morgan did not see everything gloomy. In the United Kingdom, for instance, things were brighter.

The health and welfare measures in the United Kingdom currently being put into effect as well as such wartime programs as free milk and hot lunches for children in schools, pre-natal and post-natal clinics and special allowances for expectant mothers were all showing benefits.

The benefits were showing up in higher birthrates, lower mortality rates and healthier, heavier and more intelligent children, said Dr. Morgan.

This concept may be the beginning of an idea, said the professor, an idea which might easily be used to fight the Communists' way of life.

Vegetable Famine Likely Soon Because Of Dollar Restriction

TORONTO, March 25.—In a couple of weeks there may be a shortage of both cabbages and carrots, George H. Reynolds, secretary of the Toronto Wholesale Fruit and Produce Merchants, said yesterday. This, he claimed, is because the Canadian retail price ceilings do not make it profitable to import them from the United States.

At the same time, he added, Canadians must do without other United States vegetables because of the government's efforts to restrict currency.

"That seems a shame," he commented, "because otherwise we could buy iceberg lettuce and fresh beets with edible tops from the United States at most reasonable prices.

"The last report I have from Arizona indicates that they can hardly give iceberg lettuce away. The producers' sheds have closed down until the market corrects itself. We could be taking advantage of that."

Because the currency ban also applies to United States spinach and tomatoes, Canadians have been buying more carrots and cabbage at a retail ceiling of 10 and nine cents a pound, respectively.

"Until a few weeks ago," said Mr. Reynolds, "United States producers were selling cabbage below cost, but that situation has now changed. As for carrots, you can't make any money at 10 cents a pound after paying the duty and freight. A 12-cent ceiling would help."

Mr. Reynolds said that the statement made by a price board official that Canadian imports of carrots since March 15 was four times greater this year than last "is ridiculous as far as Toronto is concerned."

In 1947 Toronto imports for March were 65 cerloads, while since March 15 this year there have been only 44.

The cabbage problem may not affect Toronto as severly as other Canadian centres which have higher transportation costs to meet, said Mr. Reynolds. But for everyone the picture is none too bright.

In Ottawa the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association announced that the cost of cabbages and carrots has "reached a point where importations to sell within the ceiling are impossible and now will cease."

Orange Leader To Speak Tuesday

On Tuesday evening next, March 30, Mr. Robert Hardy-Small, Toronto, Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, will pay an official visit to this city, when Duke of Manchester, Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 50, will celebrate its 40th anniversary. Mr. Small is in his first year as Grand Master and Sovereign, and his territory extends from St. John's Newfoundland on the east to Vancouver Island on the west. Last July he was elected to succeed the Hon. T. Ashmore Kidd, who had been grand master since before the war.

Mr. Small is prominent in the affairs of Toronto. He will be the chief speaker at the anniversary banquet to be held in Mark St. United Church at 6.15 p.m. The ladies of the church are doing the catering. Mr. Eddie Payne, County Master, will be chairman and a good program has been arranged.

Duke of Manchester Lodge was organized on March 23, 1908, in the hall on Simcoe St., over the present Utilities office, by the late W. H. G. Armstrong who was its first master and who later became organizer for the Grand Orange Lodge of Saskatchewan and died while holding this office. This lodge sent 77 members into the armed forces in the First Great War and 23 in the last war, and is now one of the largest lodges in Eastern Ontario.

Nova Scotia Has Surplus

(By The Canadian Press)

Provincial legislatures rise today, some proroguing their 1948 session and others taking an Easter recess.

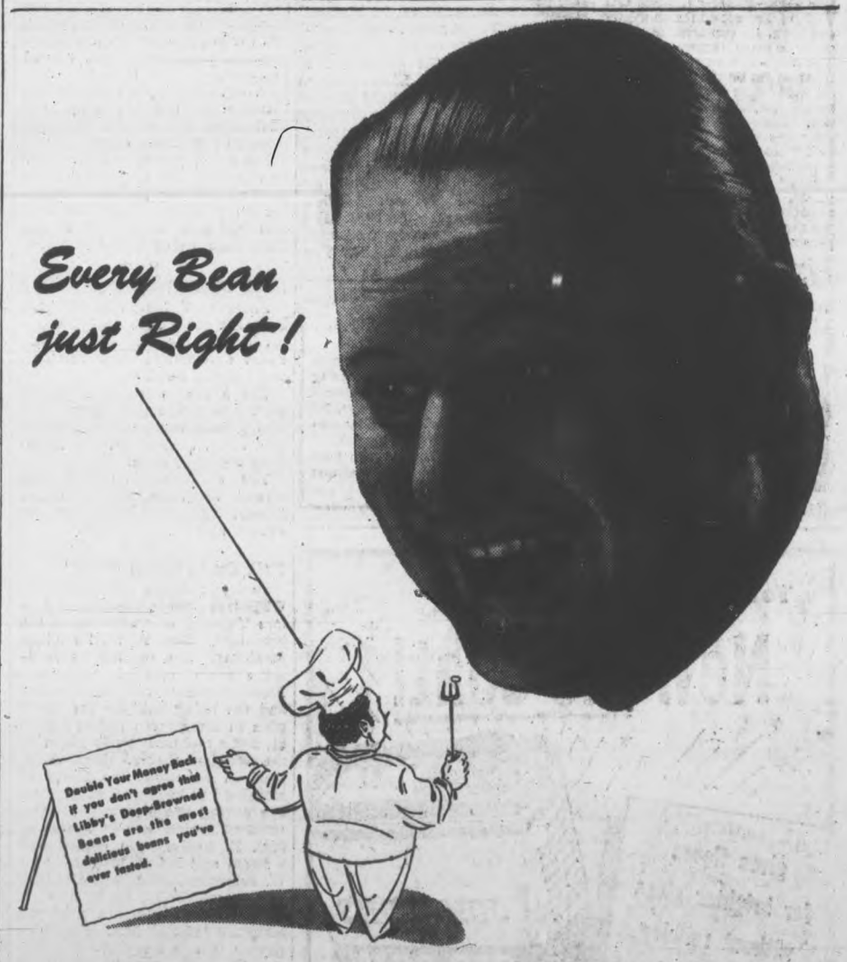
The end of this year's deliberations in the Prince Edward Island legislature came early today. In closing hours the House passed a Temperance Act. To become effective if authorized by a plebiscite next June, the Act replaces a Prohibition Act which now requires a doctor's prescription for liquor purchases.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald who also is provincial treasurer, brought down the Nova Scotia public accounts yesterday. He reported a surplus for the last fiscal year of $9,507,215 which he said resulted from a Dominion-Provincial tax agreement bringing $9,493,914 to Nova Scotia.

The Quebec legislative assembly studied the $14,000,000 budget of the roads department with discussion of winter roads policies and highways contracts. It sat afternoon and evening.

Freighter Missing

LONDON, March 25 — (AP). — Fifty-one days ago the freighter Samkey, bound for Cuba out of London, radioed she was north of the Azores. Nothing has been heard since. Last night Lloyds officially listed the 7,219 ton ship with a crew of 43 aboard as missing.



3 Die At Steel Plant

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 25 — (AP). — Three men were killed and 14 injured last night when they were trapped by a slippage of hot coke from a furnace at the Bethlehem Steel Corp., works. WAR NO NEARER—Because its effects were more psychological than physical, the Soviet coup in Czechoslovakia did not bring war nearer but it did alert the democratic nations of the world to the danger threatening them, Dr. Jan H. July 1 Deadline For CWPC Contest

OTTAWA, March 25—(CP).—Closing date for entries in the Canadian Women's Press Club's annual memorial award competition is July 1, Elsa Herwig, chairman of the award committee, announced today.

For the second consecutive year the award will be based on "the best handling of a Canadian news event of significance," said Miss Herwig. All entries must be submitted in published form, and may have appeared in the daily or weekly press, in popular magazine or periodical, produced on the radio, or presented in advertising copy.

The award, which consists of a gold medal and $100 in cash, is offered annually as a tribute to past distinguished newspaper women and members of the club.

LARGE ECONOMICAL SIZE 65c.

SOFTLY ROUNDED LINES are the suit story for spring and this model has a softly rolled collar that matches the rounded pocket effects. The skirt is straight to add an illusion of a slightly rounded hipline.

With The Girl Guides

1st St. Andrew's Brownie Pack

The last meeting before Easter found St. Andrew's Brownies busily decorating cards with bunnies, chicks, eggs and various other Easter designs. During pow-wow it was discovered that the Easter bunny had left a basket full of Easter candies for the Pack, and there were very much enjoyed. There will be no meeting this wek, owing to the Easter holiday period, and the next meeting will be on April 3.

3rd All Saints' Brownie Pack

Tme pack met Friday night with Packy taking charge of the game. During the meeting much time was spent on the very important task of learning semaphore. We would remind Brownies of this Pack that their next meeting will be held on Friday, April 9.

3rd All Saints' Guide Company

Before three brightly burning candles, symbol of the Guide Promise, Anne Lynn Hamilton repeated her Promise to Captain and was welcomed into the Sisterhood of Guides. During the meeting another special event took place when Helen Bradley was presented with her Second Class Badge.

4th Salvation Army Guide Co.

This company held their regular meeting Friday night at which the following tests were passed: Flag, Marlene Lucas; Tenderfoot Knost, Betty Guthrie, Marilyn Wright. Doreen Shaer has now successfully completed all the tests for the Second Class Badge.

Due to their regular meeting night falling on Good Friday this company will hold their meeting tonight, March 25, at 7 p.m.

We have been asked by the Scouts to join with them in presenting a Hobby and Craft show on May 12 and 13 in the Market Hall. Would all leaders encourage their Brownies and Guides in this direction, so that we will have a good display of Craft work at this show.

Emergency Helper Badge

We would remind all Guides who are preparing for Emergency Helper Badge, that the next lesson will be Tuesday at the Salvation Army Hall, 4 p.m. sharp. It is most important that all girls who are taking this course be present and please be on time.

Guide Swimming Meets

Would the Guides who are attending Thursday afternoon meets please take note that they are asked to be at the Y at 3:30 instead of 4 o'clock on Thursday, April 1.

We trust all are practicing up on swimming as competition for the silver cup at present held by St. Luke's Guide Co. will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 3 in the YWCA pool. Even if you aren't swimming, come and cheer for your company, they are looking for support and we want a full gallery. Besides the main event there will be smaller contests, so an evening of fun and enjoyment is in store for everyone.

At a recent meeting Commissioner Whalon and Capt. Gladys Bridcott of 3rd All Saints' Guide Company were presented with special ribbons in recognition of long service in the Guide movement. We heartily congratulate these leaders, especially Com. Whalon who holds the admirable record of 34 years in Guiding.

We hope all the Guides are planning to take advantage of Easter holidays to hold at least one spring hike. Signs of spring are everywhere, and will help to make the log books interesting, so pack up your dinner in your haversack, and hike, hike, hike.

Circle Hears Temperance Talk

Mrs. Walter Seabrooke, Prince St., was hostess Wednesday evening to the girls of Jean Wagar Mission Circle.

"The church and the tavern" was the theme of a temperance talk by Mrs. C. Davis, in which she stressed the results of alcoholism. The liquor industry heartlessly discards its casualties, but the church tries to reclaim these lives wrecked by drink. As christians we ought to reveal by our lives and service the power and love of God and take a firm stand for the temperance cause.

The offering was received and Mrs. A. Fife gave the dedicatory prayer. "The church unites" was the topic from the study book, and was presented by Miss Constance Wagar, by means of a poster, quiz and story. The period closed with an interview, with Miss Louisa Mayowna, a Czechoslovakian missionary to northern Ontario, is doing fine work among new Canadians.

Business was conducted by the president, Miss G. Langton, who announced a special program for the Easter meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Ivan Butler. A drive for new members will be made during the next month, and an open meeting is being planned for June.

While refreshments were being served, an Easter contest provided much interest and was won by Miss Mabel Dulmage. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Jack Huggins and Mrs. George Martin.

Toronto Wedding Of Interest Here

A wedding of local interest took place in Toronto Saturday, March 20, when a niece of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richardson, Peterborough, was the bride. She is the former Doris Elizabeth Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worrell Cooke of Toronto, and her husband is Mr. Herbert Lindsay Coons of Kingston, son of Mrs. M. A. Eppiett and the late Willis W. Coons. During the signing of the register, the Leslie Bell Singers, of which group the bride is a member, sang "Ave Maria" and "Where'er You Walk." Soloist, Miss Margaret Earl, sang the "Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered. Mr. Henry Attack was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a portrait gown of white satin which had a low bertha colar of heirloom lace. The richly gathered skirt which swept into a circular train had a draped peplum that was caught in a bustle at the back. A coronet of the lace held her full length veil of tulle illusion, and she wore white satin mittens and carried a bouquet of roses and white friesia.

Maid of honor was Miss Natalie Heath, wearing daffodil yellow, and bridesmaids were Misses Kae Croucher, Elizabeth McIntosh, Mrs. Peter S. Calhoun of Peterborough and Mrs. Donald Bellinger, all wearing turquoise. The attendants' frocks were fashioned alike in marquisette over matching satin, and they wore matching coronets and mittens and carried old-fashioned nosegays of freisia, daffodils, iris and pansies.

The groomsman was Mr. William W. Smallman and ushers were Ronald T. Cooke, brother of the bride, Gilbert Coons, brother of the groom, Douglas Lockead, Stewart A. Robertson and Douglas Porter.

The reception afterward was at the Prince Arthur House where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of turquoise crepe with matching hat trimmed with white roses and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's mother, who assisted, was in plumage blue crepe with matching hat trimmed with shaded pink and crimson roses and a corsage of similar roses.

For her wedding trip to the Laurentians, the bride wore an ensemble of forest brown with matching topcoat trimmed with beige foy, off-the-face hat with beige roses tucked under the brim, and brown accessories.

Of Interest to Women

Parents Unfair to Children Too Strict or Too Easy

REARING CHILDREN is one of the things in which it is apparently difficult for parents to strike a happy medium. They are prone to overdo it or underdo it, and this gives us the horde of youngsters who have been so Mama'ed and Papa'ed that they have had all of the courage and initiative of youth crushed out of them by their tyrannical parents until they are just puppets who only move as their elders pull the strings.

DOROTHY DIX

Or else only too often they belong to that army of delinquent children who practically have no parents at all, for their fathers and mothers are too busy with their own affairs to waste any time on forming Johnny's and Susie's manners and morals. Many a child rears itself, with no help from its parents, and makes a good job of it.

Now whether it is better for fathers and mothers to be too strict with their children, or not strict enough, is a moot question. There are arguments both ways. You can't drive all children on the same rein. Some revolt at being held too tight. Others are broken by it. Probably just as many boys and girls jump the bars because they were locked in as take to the primrose path because it looked alluring.

And the pathetic part is that so many of the over-strict parents who ruin their children's lives by their typranny are actuated by the noblest motives. They are trying to protect them. They are attempting to keep them unspotted from the world. So they deny them every vestige of personal liberty and all the pleasures that belong to youth.

Enslaved Daughters

Especially do these strict parents enslave their daughters in their effort to protect them from the wolves. Every day my mail is heavy with the letters from desperate girls protesting against the strictures of their fathers and mothers. They have never been allowed to have a date, or a Boy Friend, or to go to any place of amusement, not even to the movies, unless accompanied by some member of the family who is delegated to spy upon them and report all suspicions to Mother and Father.

If they go to a party, Mother holds them by the hands. If a youth comes to see them, Papa reads the paper where he can eavesdrop on every word that is said. And if a lad lingers beyond Dad's bedtime, he is politely shown the front door. And the result is that the boys never date Mary or Sally or Susie but once. Or else she becomes a little liar who deceives her parents, who has secret dates with pickups and goes God knows where, with God knows whom.

Among my acquaintances are four sisters, who are up to their knees in their thirties, who tell me that they have never had a date; they have never had a beau; they have never stepped out with a boy because their parents were so strict with them that they kept them so isolated from masculine society that it made them timid and awkward and so dumb they couldn't carry on a conversation with a man. This not only predestined them to old maidenhood, but it lessened their ability to succeed in business because they could not deal with men on their own ground. They were as scared of every man as if he were about to kidnap them.

Naturally it is every mother's duty to protect her daughters, but she best does that when she makes them wise to the pitfalls that are in every girl's pathway, not by keeping them under lock and key. The big bad wolf never gets the Little Red Riding Hood who has learned the technique of dealing with the lady-killer at her mother's knee and knows how to handle him.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, March 26

A quick and decisive grasp of a sudden and perhaps sensational opening to advance the interests and to stimulate growth, expansion and production in some unfamiliar or experimental line, is shown by interesting stellar operations. There should be no time or effort lost in attacking this with strenuous, concentrated and aggressive action, since the aftermath may prove revolutionary or of long-term benefit. Fortify all resources and possessions along the way of high adventure with perhaps romantic side issues, even though there may be some hazard.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are urged to be ready for a new, possibly strange, adventure, in which quick grasp, keen insight, creative energies and foresight may prove rich in final results, albeit there might be an element of chance. With practical and audacious but ingenious tactics, results may have radical and far-reaching denouement on the life. Romance and adventure, novelty and skill could have dramatic and perhaps public rewards or recognition.

A child born on this day might be endowed with some rare creative talent or inventive genius, which could take it far on the road to a dramatic and adventurous career.

For Saturday, March 27

The astral stimuli to the mental and nervous system should forecast a particularly lively and eventful day, with travel, change, fresh plans and ideas, also substantial new contracts or agreements. These cover advertising, publicity, all writings and publishings, as well as speechmaking and everything concerning youthful activities and interests, general progress and lively doings in all lines, commercial and intellectual.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively and progressive year in which affairs generally prove lucrative, interesting and pleasant. Travel, communications, writings, publicity, new contracts and agreements may be shrewdly and safely engineered, even though change and rearrangements are in order. The wits are keen and far-seeing and the nervous tension keyed to the accomplishment of high adventure and productiveness.

A child born on this day should be exceptionally versatile and adaptable with much creative talent for a progressive and pleasant career.

SMALL AND COLORFUL HAT—The small hat, bright with colorful trimming that is well handled, is the ideal suit hat. Shown is a real charmer, tiny, but very important. Gay red and yellow straw, chenille and sequins make up the hat which is a base for red flowers that climb the soaring feathers.

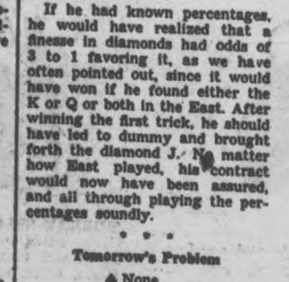
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

IS IT COMMON SENSE?

"I JUST use common sense" is the boast of some supercilious players who disdain such mundane things as percentages. They would not waste their time learning the odds for and against different plays. Stooping to such measures would, in their opinion, constitute an admission that their own superior brains are not infallible. Some players have that type of inferiority complex to such an extent that they won't bother to learn the difference in probability between the simplest measures. Even if they did happen to stumble on such knowledge, they probably are above using it.

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♦
Pass	5 NT	Pass	6 ♦
Pass	6 NT



South was prepared to try the grand slam if North had shown both missing kings in response to the Blackwood 5-No Trumps, as he has unbounded confidence in his ability to figure out the right way to play any contract without the aid of any props such as knowledge of probabilities, etc.

So he considered this problem a cinch after West made the favorable lead of the spade 2, which gave him a trick with the 10. Now he could count ten tricks—four in spades, three in hearts, two in clubs and one in diamonds. Two more could be added easily by winning the club finesse and establishing a thirteener in the suit. So he led to the club K and finessed the J. When that lost to the Q he was sunk, even though the suit broke for him. He wound up losing the setting trick in diamonds to East.

If he had known percentages, he would have realized that a finesse in diamonds had odds of 3 to 1 favoring it, as we have often pointed out, since it would have won if he found either the K or Q or both in the East. After winning the first trick, he should have led to dummy and brought forth the diamond J. No matter how East played, his contract would now have been assured, and all through playing the percentages soundly.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

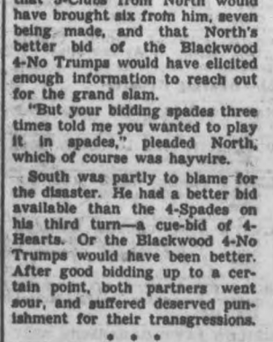
WISHES NOT EXPRESSED

BIDS do not express wishes. They give information. It is up to the partner to use that information the best way he can or perhaps in return give additional information with his own next bid—or both. "You said you wanted to play the hand in your suit when you bid it three times" is a kind of plaint often heard at the bridge table. To that the answer should be: "I didn't say anything of the sort; I only told you my suit was of at least six cards, so you could use that knowledge in whatever way it might benefit us."

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♥	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♠

What a debacle after North passed that. Following the diamond 2 lead to the J and K, South laid down the spade A and K to get the bad news from East's discard. West was destined to win three trump tricks and East a diamond, no matter what South did, so his big hand was set a trick at a mere game when a grand slam could have been scored at either clubs or No Trumps.



South hollered at North for passing that spade game without a solitary trump. He pointed out that 5-Clubs from North would have brought six from him, seven being made, and that North's better bid of the Blackwood 4-No Trumps would have elicited enough information to reach out for the grand slam.

"But your bidding spades three times told me you wanted to play it in spades," pleaded North, which of course was haywire.

South was partly to blame for the disaster. He had a better bid available than the 4-Spades on his third turn—a cue-bid of 4-Hearts. Or the Blackwood 4-No Trumps would have been better. After good bidding up to a certain point, both partners went sour, and suffered deserved punishment for their transgressions.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

If you feel you have a slight lead in a pair tournament and get in 5-Diamonds in the South after normal bidding, how should you play after the heart 9 is led?

6—In Memoriam

CROSS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946
Only a memory of bygone days
And a sigh for a face unseen
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.
—Ever remembered by daughter and son-in-law.

CROSS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Ann Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid
One who was better God never made
A wonderful worker, loyal and true
One in a million that mother was you
Just in your judgment always right
Honest and liberal ever upright,
Loved by your friends and all you knew
A wonderful mother that mother was you.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by son Jim and daughter-in-law Kay and family.

CROSS—In loving memory of a dear mother, who passed away two years ago March 26, 1946.
You can only have one mother,
Patient, kind and true
No other friends in all the world
Will be as true to you,
For all her loving kindness
She asked nothing in return
If all the world deserts you
To your mother you can turn,
So all we can do dear mother
Is go and tend your grave
And leave behind a token of love,
To the best mother God ever gave.
—Lovingly remembered by her son Bill, daughter-in-law Lill and grandchildren.

CROSS—In loving memory of a very dear sister, Mary Ann Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946
O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still;
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
—Lovingly remembered by sister Alice and brother-in-law Will.

DOIG — In loving memory of my husband, Stewart Doig, who passed away four years ago, March 26.
No one heard the footsteps
Of the angels drawing near—
Who took from earth to heaven
The one I loved so dear.
—Ever remembered by his loving Wife, Anne.

HALL—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Annie Ethel Hall, who passed away March 26, 1946.
Her memory is a dear today
As in the hour she passed away.
—Remembered always by husband, son, daughter and families.

HAMILTON — In loving memory of Richard Hamilton, who passed away March 26, 1947.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear father, how we think of you;
Friends are friends if they are true—
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by his Wife and Sons.

HARRISON—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Frank C. Harrison, who passed away March 26, 1947.
'Tis but a year ago today
Since God called you away
And we who loved you most of all
Miss you more each day.
—Sadly missed by his wife Olive and one son Gordon and daughter-in-law Dorothy and grandchildren Bobby and Lynda.

PAGETT—In loving memory of Roger, who passed away March 25, 1946.
Not just today but every day.
In silence we remember.
—Fondly remembered by his grandparents, uncles Gerry, Don, Tom and auntie Mary.

PAGETT—In loving memory of Roger Pagett, who passed away two years ago today March 25, 1946.
No one heard the fast steps,
Of the angels drawing near
Who took from earth to Heaven
The one we loved so dear.
—Granny, grampa, and aunt Norma.

PAGETT—In loving memory of a dear son and brother Roger Pagett, who passed away two years ago today.
We loved him, ah, no tongue can tell
How much we loved him and how well,
God loved him, too, and thought it best
To take him home with Him to rest.
—Always in our thoughts, mom, dad Glenn and Grant.

Resort Hotel Destroyed By Flames

$275,000 Blaze Begins In Kitchen; All Guests Escape

MONTREAL, March 27—(CP)—Fire early today destroyed the Maple Leaf Hotel in the Laurentian town of Shawbridge, 45 miles from here, causing damage estimated at $275,000 and bringing total loss in three Quebec province fires during the holiday period to nearly $1,000,000. All guests made their way out of the 50-room hotel safely.

Another fire Thursday night laid waste half the small town of Berthierville on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River 50 miles east of Montreal, causing damage estimated at $600,000.

The third fire wiped out the saw mill and lumber stock pile owned by Claude Forget at St. Jovite in the Laurentians with loss set at $50,000.

Started In Kitchen

The Shawbridge fire broke out about 6 a.m. in the kitchen where the staff was preparing breakfast for 100 guests. It spread quickly through the three-storey structure as the help dashed about the building awakening guests who escaped in their night attire.

Destruction of the Maple Leaf Hotel brought to five the number of Laurentian resorts burned this winter and raised estimated losses there to $2,000,000.

Early in the season the Pinehurst Inn at Val Morin was destroyed. This was followed by a $600,000 fire in the Roney Terrace at Ste. Marguerite. Then came the destruction of Val Morin Lodge and last week the Hotel St. Jerome was destroyed.

Drew Denies Howe Affected

TORONTO, March 27 (CP). — Premier Drew said in the Legislature before it recessed for Easter on Thursday that the Ontario Crown Lands Bill has "no earthly relation" to the action of the federal government in cancelling $40,000,000 housing project scheduled for the province.

The premier apparently at first had not intended to refer to the statements made in Ottawa on Thursday by Trade Minister Howe on housing.

The premier said Ontario's bill is simply to straighten out the complex taxation problem that has arisen in wartime housing districts.

The bill would give Ontario power to cut off public services to any wartime area, leaving the full responsibility on the dominion, if it refuses to make "suitable" agreements on money in lieu of

Police Sound Alarm As 4 Men Steal Car

HAMILTON, March 27 (CP).—Four armed men early today were reported speeding away from here in a stolen automobile. Provincial Police broadcast a general alarm.

City police said a resident reported seeing four men, brandishing revolvers, leap into a 1946-model sedan in Central Hamilton and drive away.

Officers who searched the area found another stolen car which they said they believed the quartette had abandoned before taking the sedan.

Thieves Take Safe From Postmaster

BELLEVILLE, March 27 (CP). —Thieves escaped with a 900-pound safe containing blank postage notes and money orders valued at more than $1,000 when they forced their way into the store of J. W. McLaurin, Pointe Anne merchant and postmaster, five miles east of here. The safe also contained a small sum of cash.

The safe was found open, its contents gone, on a garbage dump two miles from the store by police.

Centuries-Old Pageantry To Mark Easter

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP).—Centuries-old prayer, pageantry and song will solemnize the Easter festival tomorrow as millions of Christian worshippers gather in hamlets, towns and cities in the United States to extol the story of the risen Christ.

As the first rays of the morning sun reach across the land, the throngs will come together in churches, stadia and picturesque outdoor settings where they will hear anew the message of the Cross of Calvary and the resurrection.

The third Easter since the ending of the Second World War, it will be marked traditionally in the country with sunrise services at the amphitheatre in the national cemetery at Arlington.

In Arizona, the 14th annual Grand Canyon Easter services will be held at the Shrine of Ages on the canyon's south rim.

Southern New Mexico residents will gather at the White Sands national monument to commemorate the crucifixion and the resurrection of the Prince of Peace.

Some 65,000 are expected at sunrise services in Chicago's Soldier Field where a 110-foot white cross spanned by the words, "Christ Is Risen," has been erected.

In Southern California, a throng of 35,000 was expected at Forest Lawn memorial park in Glendale and another 20,000 at the Hollywood Bowl.

3 Buildings Razed

BERTHIERVILLE, Que., March 27 — (CP). — Damage of $500,000 was caused by a 12-hour fire that razed three business buildings in this town, 30 miles east of Montreal on the north shore of the St. Lawrence.

Czech Government Ignores US Demands About Coup

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, March 27—(AP).—The Czechoslovak Communist Government will ignore a United States demand for an explanation of its rise to complete power, a spokesman said today. He said the new regime takes the position that the coup last month was an internal affair and the United Nations has no business investigating. The spokesman for delegate Vladimir Houdek added that the American demand that Prague and Moscow lay their cards on the Security Council table does not alter the situation. Houdek has refused to take part in the debate.

Neither were there any indications here that Russian delegate Andrei Gromyko would be prodded into doing any explaining. Instead Gromyko is expected to keep countercharging that the United States is interfering in Italy and Greece.

These developments put the next move up to the western powers. Council debate resumes Wednesday.

On the Spot

So far Britain has said the spread of Communism must be stopped even at the risk of war. The United States has demanded Czech and Russian explanations. France has expressed the belief that President Eduard Benes is a prisoner of the Communists.

U.N. observers admitted the council would have difficulty making a decision after hearing only one side of the Czechoslovak case.

The United States may move for a U.N. investigating commission to be sent into Czechoslovakia to get facts and evidence. This would raise the question whether the Communist regime would allow the commission inside Czechoslovakia.

$50,000 Paper Fire

TORONTO, March 27 (CP). — Fire in an east-end waste paper plant yesterday caused an estimated $50,000 damage before firemen extinguished the baze after a two-hour battle. Fireman Don Kelsey was injured slighty when he fell 20 feet from a ladder while fighting the fire at the National Waste Paper Company.

Deny U.S. Asks Palestine Delay

LONDON, March 27 (AP). — The Foreign Office denied today negotiations are under way with the United States to delay departure of British troops from Palestine.

"I am able to confirm that there has been no approach, formal or informal, by the United States with a view to retarding our departure," a spokesman said.

Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, said in Washington last night he knows of no basis for London newspaper reports the United States intends to ask Britain to stay on in the Holy Land.

The Foreign Office spokesman said his own statement of Britain's position applies both to her intention to surrender the Palestine mandate May 15th and to her plan to withdraw all her troops by August 1.

The Daily Herald and Daily Express both carried stories last night saying the United States will ask Britain to retain her troops in the Holy Land.

RCAF Mercy Plane Leaves Coral Harbor

WINNIPEG, March 27 (CP).—The RCAF Dakota aircraft, dispatched from here to pick up two persons reported ill at Arctic Bay, took off from Coral Harbor at 7:31 a.m. EST today.

The sick persons are Mrs. Sam Dodds, wife of a meteorological officer, and an unidentified Eskimo. Mrs. Dodds was reported seriously ill, but the condition of the Eskimo has not been disclosed.

The plane has been grounded at Coral Harbor, 600 miles northeast of Churchill, Man., since Wednesday due to bad weather. It is expected to land at Arctic Bay, 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg, at 12 noon EST.

Ferguson Injunction

TORONTO, March 27 (CP). — Robert Lindsay, of Pat Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, obtained an injunction Thursday against Dewar Ferguson, vice-president of the rival Canadian Seamen's Union, restraining Ferguson and his union from watching and besetting Lindsay's place of business. The injunction also restrains Ferguson from interfering with Lindsay in his occupation as a lake seaman. A court injunction granted by Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland, is set for March 31.

Russians Charge Norway Now Selling Out To US

MOSCOW, Mar. 27—(AP)—Izvestia, Russian government newspaper, today accused what it called Norwegian government rightists of "selling out Norway to the United States."

Meanwhile, Finnish-Soviet talks were scheduled to continue today on a friendship and mutual aid pact proposed by Prime Minister Stalin.

Both the Finnish legation and the Finnish delegation are maintaining a policy of silence on the substance of the negotiations.

(The Finnish cabinet met last night at Helsinki but nothing is known about the meeting or the reason for it. The atmosphere in well-informed political circles there is serious. It generally is presumed that the question of the proposed pact now has entered a decisive stage.)

Izvestia said Norwegian military collaboration with the United States had progressed to the extent that it envisaged use by the United States war department of Norway's Jan Mayen and Svalbard Islands.

(Jan Mayen island is about 700 miles southwest of Norway's Spitsbergen, where the Russians have coal mining concessions.)

"According to latest information in Oslo," Izvestia said, "thew ar departments of Norway, the United States and Britain, in obvious preparation for a western union, have agreed on far reaching measures such as the standardization of Norwegian armaments according to the American pattern and the leasing of Norwegian territory for American and British bases."

Claims City Unaffected By New Bill

New Law Intended To Protect Minor Municipalities

Announcement by Hon. Clarence D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, that federal authorities are cancelling a $40,000,000 house construction program as a result of new Ontario legislation is entirely unwarranted, and in any event should not apply to Peterborough, Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Provincial Government, stated today to The Examiner.

"There is a new bill," Mr. Scott said, "but it is directed only to the special circumstances and conditions at Ajax in Ontario county."

The Howe statement is that "as a result of Drew government legislation abrogating agreements between municipalities and the Dominion on wartime houses, the national $40,000,000 housing program planned by the federal government will be cancelled. The press report intimated that the government had stopped plans for building between 5,000 and 5,500 new housing units in Ontario this year because of meddling effect of provincial legislation.

The new Ontario Act is known as the Dominion Crown Tenants Provincial - Municipal - Services Act, 1948. Mr. Howe apparently interpreted the substance of the bill as excluding any wartime housing area from a municipality where the arrangements for payment for municipal and provincial services are not considered suitable.

Peterborough Clear

The new legislation certainly does not relate to Peterborough or to any other communities with similar arrangements for a housing program, Hon. Mr. Scott said today.

"Most people will remember the murder case at Ajax," the Minister explained. "In fact there were two or there outside cases involving police and legal expenditures amounting to $16,000. That cost was saddled on the township in which the Ajax housing was situated, because no previous arrangement was made by Wartime Housing Limited when they went in there. This is the only place which I know of in the province as coming within the new Act. Two others, at Nobel and Malton, are somewhat similar, but I believe arrangements have been made in those two instances with the parent municipalities."

Mr. Scott said the scope of the new bill was that if representations were received from the council of a local municipality, in which a housing area is situate, setting out that no arrangements have been made between the Crown company and the municipality for payment for necessary services, then the [redacted] may exclude that h[redacted] from the local munici[redacted]y or all purposes. S[redacted] include, education, highways, police, public health, hospital care, sewage disposal and so on.

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP). —The Board of Transport Commissioners will hand down its decision on the railways' application for a 30-per-cent. general increase in freight rates at 10 a.m. EST next Tuesday, it was officially announced today.

Lewis Forces 72-Hr. Delay In Coal Strike

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP).—John L. Lewis forced a 72-hour delay today in government efforts to bring the soft coal strike to a speedy end.

He brought President Truman's special inquiry board to a standstill by failing to appear at its first hearings yesterday.

The three fact finders finished the miner pension dispute in less hearing the coal operators' side of than two hours.

When the United Mine Workers' chief didn't show up, the board recessed until Monday. The bushy-browed Lewis was given until then to decide if he will appear voluntarily. Otherwise the board could force him to appear by getting a court order.

Lewis stayed away, he informed the board, to study "legal question involved." But his absence threw a monkey-wrench into board plans to work steadily through the Easter weekend to speed a report to President Truman.

That report must be in Truman's hands before he can seek a court order to halt the walkout under terms of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Meanwhile the strike, nearing the end of its second week, was Secretary Krug appealed to the paralyzing industry. Interior few coal mines still operating to dole their production only to essential consumers. And Krug asked everyone to help save coal.

Greek Guerrilla Losses 1,614

ATHENS, March 27 — (AP). — Premier Themistokles Sophoulis says guerrilla losses in the Pierria area since Feb. 21 total 1,614, while government casualties were 177.

Rebel dead were 754, he said, 571 were taken prisoner and 289 surrendered. Government casualtis were 43 dead, 102 wounded and 32 missing.

Sophoulis said loyalists routed an insurgent force of some 3,500 men in the Olympus-Pierria mountains and are pursuing the remnants. Pierria is west of Olympus in north central Greece.

Cambridge Wins

LONDON, March 27.—(CP).—Cambridge University today defeated Oxford by five lengths in the 94th boat race between the two universities, as the light blues rowed the 4¼-mile course in a record of 17 minutes, 50 seconds.

38 Crewmen Escape Death On Ice Packs; Rescue Boat Breaks Ice

Sealers Walk Across Miles Of Grinding Ice To Reach Lighthouse; Planes Watch As Men Struggle To Safety

SYDNEY, NS, March 27—(CP).—The government icebreaker Saurel, with 38 crew members from two ill-fated sealing schooners aboard, was picking her way slowly towards North Sydney, NS, today. The Saurel itself was caught all night in an ice pack 40 miles from here. But at daybreak the thick - hulled ice - breaker again started the battle against the ice floes. She expected to make port about noon.

Meanwhile earlier reports that two more sealing vessels were in trouble were discounted by search and rescue officials.

Rescue of the crews of the sealers Teazer and Monica Walters from lonely St. Paul's Island in the Cabot Strait, between Cape Breton and Newfoundland, climaxed a rugged saga of the sea. The men had trekked wearily over miles of grinding ice floes, constantly haunted by the fear that they might be crushed between the huge cakes of ice, to reach safety after their ships were sunk.

Overhead five aircraft had droned in a monotonous search all day Thursday as a blinding snowstorm swept in from the Atlantic to make their task of spotting the men almost impossible.

Reach Safety

They returned to Reserve Airport, near Sydney, Thursday night, ready to take off at dawn yesterday to continue the search. But before they were in the air, word had come through from the island lighthouse radio station that the crew of the Teazer had reached safety.

But the aircraft went out to hunt for the men from the other sealing schooner and a short time later spotted the men as they were within a mile of the island. The aircraft hovered overhead until the last man had crawled to safety, then headed home.

The rescue operation was completed by the Saurel which bucked and bronched its way close to the shore to take the men aboard.

Undaunted by their brush with death a number of the men from the two lost ships were believed ready to accept berths on the Sydney sealing vessel Inverleigh which is almost ready to depart for the sealing grounds.

Good Friday Truce Ends In Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, March 27 (AP).—The undeclared Good Friday truce ended here last night as mortar and machine-gun fire echoed through Jerusalem.

Unoccupied Jewish houses were blown up by Arabs in the Sheikh and Jarrah quarters and sporadic sniping resumed throughout the city. No casualties have been reported so far.

Six Jews and four Arabs were reported killed yesterday in scattered violence throughout the Holy Land.

Tourist Camps Licensed By March 31

TORONTO, March 27 (CP). — New regulations which require licensing of all tourist camps in Ontario go into effect next Thursday, Ontario Premier Drew announced last night in a broadcast on the tourist industry.

"For the first time in our history, every tourist camp in the province, large or small, will be under government supervision," he said. "They will be subject to careful inspection.

Every tourist operator will require a license and these licenses will only be issued by the local authorities if the camp provides accommodation which complies with the basic standards established by the Department of Travel and Publicity.

"There is no thought of imposing severe conditions which will put any camp operator out of business. We are insisting that the general reputation of our camps shall not suffer by unsuitable accommodation and by carelessness and unsatisfactory operations."

The Premier said he believed the flow of United States visitors into Ontario this year would exceed last year's influx of more than 14,000,000. He predicted 1948 tourist traffic would bring more than $200,000 into the province.

Concentration Camps In Use

WASHINGTON, March 27 — (AP). — The United States has charged Russia with smashing political opponents in Eastern Germany by throwing them into concentration camps without a trial.

In a sharp note to the Russians last night, the State Department said Russian-backed political parties in the former enemy country are "the new bulwark for a totalitarian regime" and added:

"Concentration camps are being used anew for individuals unwilling to accept this totalitarianism." A diplomatic official, meanwhile, identified two of the camps as Buchenwald — where millions perished at Nazi hands during the war — and Oranienburg.

Congress Seeks War Export Padlocks

Will Dig Deeper Into Disposal Of Second World War Supplies

WASHINGTON, March 27 — (AP).—A Truman administration clamp-down on export of war goods to Russia failed today to stifle demands in Congress for extra padlocks.

Representative Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) said he intends to go right ahead with an amendment to the $6,205,000,000 House of representatives foreign aid bill which would give the director of the European recovery program veto power over "war potential" exports.

The chairman Ross Rizley (Rep. Okla.) said his House expenditures sub-committee is going to dig deeper into the disposal of second world war surplus supplies to the Russians.

Committee investigators, he told a reporter, are going to New York to check goods being loaded onto Russia-bound ships. He said they also will look into reports that speculators are selling export licenses.

Tighten Controls

President Truman stepped into the export dispute yesterday. He issued a proclamation tightening controls, particularly on exports of plane engines and radar equipment.

Folowing that move these developments occured:

1. Commerce Secretary Harriman told a press conference that Russia and her satellites are getting no exports except those the army and navy approve.

2. The war assets administration said it is delaying for at least 30 days taking Finland's high bid of $1,666,900 for 46 unused steam locomotives. Finland and Russia are talking over a military treaty, but WAA didn't mention that, or any other reason for its action.

New Rule March 1

Harriman said the new policy on shipments to Russia has been in effect since March 1. He said the idea is to keep Russia and the satellites from getting United States goods that might build up their "war potential."

All export licenses for any such goods, he said, now are reviewed by a special advisory board. Represented on it are: the army, navy, air force, atomic energy commission, national security resources board and the departments of state, commerce, agriculture and interior.

Mundt said in a statement that this is a "gratifying, constructive move." But he added it is "an open admission that their program of export controls to date has been inadequate and inept."

Southern Koreans Invited By Soviets

SEOUL, March 27—(AP)—American occupation officials said today south Korean political leaders can—if they wish—attend a Russian-sponsored meeting in North Korea April 14.

One high authority, who requested anonymity, observed:

"It might be a good thing for the rightist leaders, who object to the United Nations-approved election in South Korea scheduled May 9, to go north and find out for themselves how the Soviets operate on their home grounds."

Rightists and other dissidents in the United States zone were invited yesterday to Pyongyang, Russian occupation headquarters city, to help the Russian-backed North Korean regime establish a government for all Korea.

19 Victims Lose Lives In Indiana Tornado; Other Centres Hard Hit

Bulldozers Plow Through Rubble Seeking Remaining Storm Casualties; Second Twister In Week Strikes Mississippi

DANVILLE, Ind., March 27—(AP).—Nineteen persons were known dead in Indiana today as bulldozers growled through the rubble left by a tornado in search of other victims of yesterday's wind. Coatesville, town of 350 persons in southwestern Hendricks county, counted 13 dead and three persons missing. Survivors searched in dread through the wreckage of 25 homes and several business houses, expecting to find several more bodies.

The Red Cross named 11 dead at Coatesville, and police said two other unidentified bodies had been removed from the wreckage.

Danville, Hendricks county seat of 2,000 population and 20 miles west of Indianapolis, was half flattened by the storm but listed only one death.

Hadley, community between Danville and Coatesville, listed three dead.

37 Injured

Dozens of persons were injured, several of them severely. Thirty-seven were listed as admitted to hospitals.

The gales, which struck West Central Indiana, parts of Missouri and Illinois and Alabama were the third to sweep over the country's mid-section within a week. The death toll from the twisters and storms was about 75. More than 40 died in last week's tornadoes while 13 lost their lives in the gales which hit Oklahoma Thursday.

Yesterday's twisters left their biggest path of destruction in West Central Indiana. The known dead was 19. Scores were injured. Buildings in several communities were demolished.

Another twister swept over an area along the Mississippi River near the Missouri-Illinois line at St. Charles, Mo. No deaths were reported in the region, where last week's tornadoes took the lives of more than a score of persons.

A mother and her two sons were killed near Paris, Ill., near the storm area, in an automobile-truck collision during a driving hail storm.

Promise Pirate Probe

LONDON, March 27.—(CP).—The Admiralty yesterday promised an investigaton of a "pirate raid" by foreign trawlers which allegedly broke an unwritten rule of the sea and fouled the fishing lines of a tiny Cornish fleet.

No Disruptions

If a suitable arrangement has been made for payment on the basement of fixed sums "in lieu of taxes" then this bill does not apply. It is effective only on complaint of local municipalities that satisfactory negotiations have not preceded a housing enterprise.

Hon. Mr. Scott said there were no circumstances in Peterborough or elsewhere in the province where satisfactory arrangements were made which should cause any disruption of housing plans for this year.

Peterborough City Council has applied for 200 houses, and was recently informed that details of plans and types of those houses would be submitted to the Council for approval, and also that tenders were about to be called. Mayor Ovens has been concerned since the Howe announcement as to the possible effect locally of the drastic suspension of work threatened by the minister of reconstruction.

The bill also provides that if any such area is excluded from a local municipality on the request of its representatives, and if the Crown provides services for a housing area, the house of that area shall receive the ordinary provincial grants and other assistance, such as education, hospital care, police protection and so on.

Mr. Scott said the provincial bill was intended only to protect minor municipalities, such as Ajax, and to prevent repetition of its experience. In Peterborough satisfactory arrangements were made between municipalities and the Crown housing company, hence there was no complaint to the province and no cause for complaint, and no reason for Mr. Howe threatening to cancel the 200-house project.

by the operation of the Holy Ghost. Truly He is sensitive to the sorrow and love of a woman. "No man ever lived the right life who had not been chastened by a woman's love, strengthened by her image and guided by her discretion" says Ruskin. Christ was truly Man.

Like as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 27 (AP). — Grans were mostly higher at the opening on the Board of Trade to-day. Dealings were not active. The slight upturn mainly reflected a lack of selling pressure.

Wheat started ¼ lower to ¾ higher, May $2.41¾-¼, corn was ¼ to 1 cent higher, May $2.15½-¾, and oats were unchanged to ¾ higher, May $1.09⅝.

Good Friday Is Snowless Birds, Snakes, Ducks Out

It is interesting to be able to drive back to summer spots at the end of March on a snowless Good Friday. The sudden disappearance of snow into the thirsty earth makes for dry fields and roads and few drifts in the deep bush. Indian River was the spectacle but on arrival at Gilchrist Park, the later was lower than it had been in the Fall while the Bay above the little dam and Stony Lake was still choked with ice. It was possible for children to wade in low rubber boots in the stream bed.

All this lack of snow and water made it feasible to browse around in the bush on either side of the highway. The rocky sections to the north had small patches of ice in deep crevasses where they were sheltered by dull rusty juniper bushes. Swamps along the edge of the Bay were fairly dry and wadeable, but the noise of crucnhing snow drove off several pairs of ducks that were diving for food around open water areas of sunken slash.

Beavers had been busy too and one poplar tree about five inches in diameter was tumbled into the water and the limbs neatly chewed off and carted away. There was a Lodge somewhere in the vicinity and, since the cuttings and chips were old, the work had been done in the Fall.

Except for a good deal of bird life there was little other in the bush except for a pair of grass snakes taking the kinks out of their coils on an old pine log. They were fat and full of spunk and did a lot of harmless lunging when disturbed.

Driving south on the Hall's Glen concession, one farmer had tapped several hundred maples. The sap dripped steadily in the light rain which raised the volume but not the quality of the maple product.

In contrast to comparative trickle of water in Indian River, Burleigh Falls and the Otonabee ran full to Spring high marks. Tons of water a minute thundered down the Falls in such a manner that the picturesque rocks, that form the rapids in summers, were drowned out. It was interesting to watch the mill races below dams to see the water piling up to a great depth above the flow level in an attempt to move on downstream. Some places, chiefly against the confines of cement abutments appeared to build up a mound of boiling water at least three feet higher than the rest of the stream.

Bitterness, Strife Rules Over Love and Peace Today

The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 28 is John 21: 1-14, Colossians 3:1-4, 12-17, 1 John 5:11, 12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In these troubled times, when the Soviet Union is extending its rule over more and more formerly free nations, using suppressive measures to all who do not submit to its ideology, we are reminded again and again of the time of Jesus, when to confess to beng a Christian was to invite persecution.

In the Holy Land, too, where the Lord lived, died and rose again, at this Easter time there is bitterness and strife, as the Jewish people battle for a homeland in the country that once was theirs.

After His resurrection, Jesus had appeared twice to His disciples. Now He appears to them again on the beach at the Sea of Tiberias (or Galilee). It happened in this wise: Simon Peter, Thomas, Nathaniel, the two sons of Zebedee, and two other disciples, were together. Peter said he was going fishing, and so all said they would go too. They boarded a small fishing ship and fished all night, without catching a fish.

Memory Verse

"The Lord is risen indeed."—Luke 24:34

When morning came they were near the shore and saw a man on the beach. It was Jesus Christ, but "they knew Him not." He called to them, "Children, have ye any meat?" or as we would say, "Have you caught anything?" They answered, No.

"And He said unto them. Cast the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find. They cast therefore and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes."

John, the beloved disciple, first recognized Jesus and said to Peter, "It is the Lord." When Simon Peter heard this he threw himself into the sea, presumably to swim or wade ashore to meet the Master. The other came in the little ship dragging the net with the fishes.

When they came to land they saw there was a fire on the beach and fish laid thereon, and bread. Jesus told them to bring the fish they had caught. Peter drew the net to land full of "great fishes," 153 of them, but even with so many the net had not broken.

Jesus said to them, "Come and dine," and none of the disciples dared ask Him, "Who art Thou?" knowing it was the Lord.

Jesus took bread and gave it to them, and also fish. And this was the third time the Risen Lord had shewn Himself after His resurrection.

At first thought it might seem strange that Jesus should address these men, many of whom were older than He, as "Children," but it was a sweet, affectionate way of greeting those who had for so long been His constant companions.

After these appearances of Jesus, and after He had left them and gone to His Father, they preached His gospel everywhere, without fear and with great success. He had gone, but His spirit was with them, and they would one day share His glory. Whether death came to them by martyrdom or naturally, their future was sure and they were not afraid.

In his letter to the Colossians, Paul pleads with them to look up to things above, not down on things of the earth. "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God."

Their reward would come, he wrote, for "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with Him in glory." This was his promise to these friends who were often in danger of their lives merely by being known as followers of Christ.

John, in his first epistle, also pleads with his fellow Christians in Colosse, a great city in the province of Asia, and he urges them to live in love with one another while still on the earth.

"Beloved, if God so loveth us, we ought to love one another.

"No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and His love is perfected in us."

These early Christians, those who had known Jesus when He was on earth, and those who followed shortly after, had the spirit of the Risen Lord in their hearts and in their lives. "Go thou, and do likewise!"

Communist Drive

RANGOON, March 27.—(AP). —Thakin Than Tun, Burma's Communist party leader, publicly called today for support of the Communist drive against the present government. Than Tun spoke at a Communist-sponsored rally of the All-Burma Workers' Union. He promised Communists would form a government entirely representing the people.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

A TIMELY QUESTION

For placing the remains of a dead horse in the Beech River in Haliburton, a Cameron mink rancher was fined $25 and $50 costs. James Gates, former employee of the Filtration plant asks why the City of Peterborough is not prosecuted for dumping its sewage into the Otonabee River.

A SPECTACULAR BLAZE

Malden Jones, who lives in Otonabee about a mile south of the Locks Bridge, didn't figure on causing any excitement when he decided to burn a field of weeds Thursday evening. The flames presented an awesome appearance from the city, as the field is on a side hill, and there were 22 telephone calls to The Examiner in less than 20 minutes. The city fire-fighters went to the city limits in answer to a call, but no further, because they had not received a call from the clerk of Otonabee. When a reporter reached the blaze, Mr. Jones and his wife were working away quite unconcerned, and as Mr. Jones put it: "When the ground is damp is a good time to get rid of a fire hazard."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 27.—(CP) —All grains showed a firmer tone Thursday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, with oats closing 1¼ cents higher to unchanged, barley 1⅜ to ½ cent higher, and rye 10 to ¼ cent higher. Buying by shippers and mills contributed to the advance in oats, while barley prices scored gains on shipper demand. Offerings were liberal but well taken and prices closed near their highs of the day.

The near-by months of rye futures both scored maximum gains of 10 cents on demand attributed to United States interests and commission houses. Offerings were liberal at times, but also well taken.

The United Kingdom was allocated 770,000 bushels of wheat under the Canadian wheat agreement. Prices of class two wheat were increased two cents from Wednesday.

Greatest Battles Of China War To Be Fought In Few Weeks

By THOMAS ALDEGUER

SHANGHAI, Mar. 27 (Reuters) —The geratest battles of China's 20-year-old civil war are expected to be fought in the next few weeks as, with the advent of warmer weather, both Chinese Communists and Nationalist commands complete plans for a considerable intensification of operations.

These are likely to dwarf in ferocity, number of men engaged and firepower anything hitherto witnessed in the protracted struggle in China.

Complete capture of the rich territory of Manchuria is known to be still the primary objective of the Communists, while the National command, under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, has drafted a new timetable calling for a stepping-up and speeding-up of the anti-Communist suppression campaign.

Use 20 Divisions

The new Nationalist plan is reported to include the use of some 20 divisions of American-trained infantry which training centres in various parts of the country will be turning out this spring.

At least 10 of these divisions are earmarked for Manchuria, where a decisive battle will probably be fought some time within the next two months.

One pro-Government spokesman here said that the reinforcements for Manchuria will be "mostly crack units" and that their main task will be to re-establish land communications between Peiping and Mukden — in other words, to reopen and keep open the government lifeline in Manchuria, the Peiping-Mukden Railway, their next will be to recover all government positions lost since the Communist autumn offensive.

Some of the newly-trained Government divisions are also expected to be sent to North China, where Gen. Fu Tso-Yi is facing what the Chinese press describes as "the most difficult task of his life" — suppressing the Communists in the five provinces — Hopei, Jehol, Chahar, Suiyuan and Shansi — under his jurisdiction.

Good Friday Taken Lightly

Significance of the death of Christ and of Good Friday was the subject by Rev. B. Simpson Black of Bonar Presbyterian church, Toronto, who was the guest preacher at morning service on Friday at George St. United church.

He said it was a matter of regret that so many people make light of Good Friday and that it has no vital and gripping interest for these times. He pointed out that Christ of Nazareth and Jesus of the 20th century are one and the same person. 'The Christian religion," he maintained, 'is a historical religion, built upon facts. The death of Jesus is one of these facts."

"The only religion that is going to save the world of to-morrow is the religion of Christ crucified," he declared. "The meaning of the death of Jesus was not the darkness that it would seem, because by the triumph on the Cross, all are redeemed." Any explanations," he said "of the crucifixion, are inadequate." He continued by saying that the uniqueness of the Bible as the charter of salvation would be lost without the Cross. It is the Christ of Calvary, who takes our imagination. He pointed out that the main sacrament of the church was the Lord's Supper, which commemorates the death of Jesus.

'On the Cross, in some mysterious way," Mr. Black declared, "Christ did something for men that they haven't been able to do for themselves. To live the conventional life that puts self first is to crucify Christ again. The doctrine of the Cross would be something living and powerful leading those who accepted it to a life of self-denial.' He ended by saying that if we do not betray the Christian cause, it stands firm and secure.

Rev. C. G. Boyd presided and Rev. Dr. Semple introduced the guest speaker.

Induct New Minister To Woodville Charge

LINDSAY, March 27 (ENS). — Rev. Louis Shein, MA, PhD, formerly dean of a student residence at Saskatoon, Sask., was inducted as minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, Woodville, and also South Eldon Church, at a meeting of the Lindsay Presbytery, Thursday. The service of induction was conducted by the Moderator of the Presbytery, Rev. R. C. McDermid, DD, of Uxbridge.

Cantor Story Too Happy, Has No Conflict

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 27 (AP) —The movie makers speak:

Bryan Foy, Eagle-Lion boss, knows a film trend when he sees one. The man who played the gangster cycle to the hilt years ago now is hopping on the semi-documentary. Now filming the Canon City, Colo., prison break, he is also planning "29 Clews," about a real-life murder mystery, and "Wetbacks," story of the United States border patrol. Says he: "This film cycle is good for 10 years."

Producer Harry Kurnitz was telling his troubles in getting a script for "Banjo Eyes," Eddie Cantor's biography: "The life of a man like Cantor, who rose from orphan to millionaire, is dull screen fare because it is nothing but a chronicle of success." His problem is to inject conflict, but how can he, when millions of radio listeners believe Eddie and Ida have a perfect married life. "Tampering with that would be like changing the ending of the Passion Play," the producer added.

It's a Long Road

Danny Dare, who produced the last "road" film, says Bing, Bob, and Dotty will probably make another, although there are no present plans. "The problem is to find another uncivilized place for them to go," he said. "They are not as funny when they get too cuose to civilization."

Madeleine Carroll and Buddy Rogers were a nervous pair at the start of "Innocent Affair." She hadn't made a Hollywood film in five years, he in eight. Bob Hope goes to Phoenix, Ariz., next month to watch his Cleveland Indians train and broadcast with the team.....Greer Garson is fortified for her rain and mud scenes in "Julia Misbehaves" by a protective oil, plus plastic underwear....

Sights and Sounds

Lana Turner being welcomed back to "The Three Musketeers" set with an antique wheelchair ....Don Defore writing a play on a noiseless typewriter in a corner of the "One Sunday Afternoon" set....Ruth Hussey acting as crossing guard once a week for her children's school....

Peter Lawford lunching with bobbysocked fans at the Brown Derby.....Winnipeg's Deanna Durbin singing "Moonlight Bay" with a quartette of Supreme Court Justices in "Washington Girl"....Dana Andrews telling about a 75-mile wind (he says) on his Mexican boat jaunt.

LAST MINUTE HINTS FOR EASTER—Canadian women from Sydney, N.S., to Vancouver, B.C., are no doubt clothes-conscious these days with Easter just around the corner. Confidentially, the secret being shared by the Easter bunny and his pretty listener (above) may be last-minute fashion hints to help her shine in the Easter parade. The white rabbit brought along a basket of eggs all ready to be delivered on Easter Sunday morning.

Cattle Prices Shade Lower During Week

TORONTO, March 27 (CP). — Cattle prices were steady to a shade lower on the livestock Market this week although the calves, sheep and lambs were unchanged. Hogs dropped 25 cents in price.

The moderate cattle run of 4,600 head found a dull market with few Eastern buyers present. Some 300 or 400 head were unsold at the close. Top for the weighty steers was $17 for a few head, others from $16.75 downward to $14.50. Butcher steers were $13.75-$15.75, with choice up to $16.50. Butcher heifers were mostly $13-$15.50. Fed yearlings closed at $15.50-$17.75. Butcher cows were $9.50-$12.50, with a few tops at $13. Bulls moved slowly at $10-$12 cwt. Stockers and feeders were strong at $14-$15 for best quality with plain downward to $10.50. Ordinary quality milkers and springers were $85-$145 each.

Calves were 1,200 head and steady at $21-$23 for choice vealers, with plain lights downward to $13. Grassers for slaughter were $11-$12 cwt.

Hogs totalled 2,400 head. Grade A closed at $29, and $28.60 for Grade B. Sows were $20 dressed.

Sheep and lamb receipts were 450 head. A few good feed-lot lambs, including Westerns, were $18.50-$19 cwt. A few early spring lambs were $23 cwt. Sheep were $5-$9 according to quality.

Weekly summary of receipts:

Norwood WI Quilting

NORWOOD, March 27 (ENS). —The Norwood Women's Institute held a quilting in the Library on Wednesday afternoon. One One large quilt was almost finished and one bound. Ladies attending included Mesdames G. Oitment, F. Andrews, Sam McGee, G. R. Baker, K. C. Edmunds, Ross MacNaughton and S. Brooks.

LIVE EASTER EMBLEMS—Diane Richardson of Lang was not content with viewing a box full of Easter chicks through the hatchery window but went inside to handle a few of them and wish she could take one home as an Easter pet instead of the store-made variety. She will compromise with one made of chocolate, however.

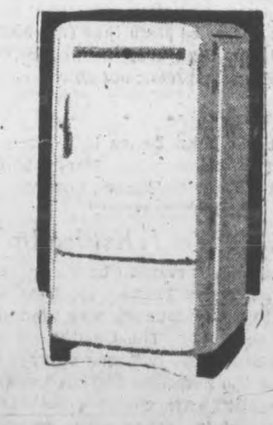
Refuses To Go To Jail Prisoner Escapes

NEWARK, O., March 27 — (AP).—When the Judge said: "10 days," Harold Offenbaker, 20, of Newark, gasped:

"For goodness sakes, you aren't going to send me to jail are you?"

"Yes, sir," replied Judge Charles B. Holtsberry.

"I'm not going," Offenbaker cried, jumping from his seat and running out of the room where he had appeared on a contempt of court citation.



That was yesterday afternoon. Authorities still sought him today.

"The Better Resurrection"

There is nothing that God hath established in a constant course of nature, and which therefore is done every day, but would seeme a Miracle, and exercise our admiration, if it were done but once; Nay, the ordinary things in Nature, would be greater miracles, than the extraordinary, which we admire most, if they were done but once; The standing still of the Sun, for Joshuahs use, was not, in its selfe, so wonderfull a thing, as that so vast and immense a body as the Sun, should run so many miles, in a minute; The motion of the Sun were a greater wonder than the standing still, if all were to begin againe; And onely the daily doing takes off the admiration.. But then God having, as it were, concluded himself in a course of nature, and written downe in the booke of Creatures, Thus and thus all things shall be carried, though he glorifie himselfe sometimes, in doing a miracle, yet there is in every miracle, a silent chiding of the world, and a tacite reprehension of them, who require, or who need miracles.

• • •

Now what was this that they qualified and dignified by that addition, The better Resurrection? Is it called better, in that it is better than this life, and determined in that comparison, and degree of betternesse, and no more? Is it better than those honours, and preferments which that King offered them, and determined in that comparison, and no more?. Or better than other men shall have at the last day, (for all men shall have a Resurrection) and determined in that? Or, as S. Chrysostome takes it, it is but a better Resurrection than that in the former part of this Text, where dead children are restored to their mothers alive again?. Is it but a better Resurrection in some of these senses? Surely better in a higher sense than any of these; It is a supereminent degree of glory, a larger measure of glory, than every man, who in a generall happinesse, is made partaker of the Resurrection of the reighteous, is made partaker of.

• • •

When I consider the past, and present, and future state of this body, in this world, I am able to conceive, able to expresse the worst that can befall it in nature, and the worst than can be inflicted upon it by man, or fortune; But the least degree of glory that God hath prepared for that body in heaven, I am not able to expresse, not able to conceive.

• • •

Thus spoke John Donne in a sermon preached on Easter Day, March 25th, 1627, in St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

The Cold War Is Hotting Up

International events have moved quickly since the Truman Doctrine of "containing" Communism was promulgated a year ago. The Cominform—a revised Comintern—has been organized. In Greece the notorious Markos has set up a so-called government and taken military offensive action with the support of Yugoslavia, Albania, Bulgaria, and Moscow. Communist Bulgaria has discarded the terms of its peace treaty, for its armed forces have not been reduced as required, and the border with Greece and Turkey is not demilitarized. The Danube has not become the free trade and navigation artery agreed to. Russia has not co-operated in a unified administration of Germany. Instead, its zone is a police state. By refusing to make a peace treaty for Austria, Russia has deliberately created an economic situation there which is making existing parliamentary government almost impossible. Communists in Italy under Nenni and Togliatti (with support from the Kremlin) are attempting to seize control of the state. In France the C.G.T. (Confederation Generale du Travail) has come completely under the control of the Communist Party. Czechoslovakia has disappeared as a liberal free state. Communist cries against Britain and the U.S. have become wilder.

The action and reaction of the western democratic states has been sharp and quick. Recent developments include E.R.P. (now being implemented at an astonishing speed); the fifty-year, five-power West-European Union pact; President Truman's demand for compulsory military training and selected conscription. Large sums of money are being poured into Greece and Turkey for military purposes. Britain and the U.S. are standing firm in Greece. Palestine partition has been shelved because Arabian oil seems more important now than a Jewish National Home. Canada, Britain, Holland and the U.S. are showing a careful intolerance of communism within their borders. The Scandinavian countries are quickening their defence interests. France, Britain and the U.S. are combining their zones in Germany to give the Ruhr and western Germany a chance to live. Declarations of peace with Austria have been made by Britain. Italy is being groomed for membership in the West European union, and the national elections are not being merely watched with interest but participated in vigorously—the Anglo-American-French offer to return Trieste to Italy is an example. France and Italy have reached post-war concord in trade and diplomacy. The major democratic powers have given up using soft words which might turn away Soviet wrath but cannot bring co-operation. War words are in the air.

As Anthony Eden said lately, "the 'cold' war is hotting up". That is no reason for undue pessimism; after the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan were conceived, the process was inevitable. There is good reason to believe that Soviet Russia does not want war. Success might come out of the Cold War if it can be shown to the supremely realistic Kremlin that "free nations without the iron curtain possess both the means to restore their collective prosperity and the dynamic leadership to enable them to do so". The words are Mr. Eden's, who stresses the need for constantly attempting to improve relations with Russia and thinks that "once they (the Russians) have understood that our system is strong enough to withstand their propaganda barrage, or any other method of undermining", the task of achieving an understanding with Soviet Russia will be easier than it is now. The 'cold' war is raging, but a fighting war is not therefore inevitable.
